McLean, Mrs Margaret Prendergast
Good American speech. new and rev ed 1930 Dutton $2 421

1 English language—Phonetics [28-21166]

A reprint of the first edition, 1928, with two pages of transcription added

"The book is technical throughout in its exposition of how phonetics and intonation can be so applied as to simplify, standardize and make more pleasant the pronunciation of English. Mrs. McLean stresses the need of general speech education and training in this country as the only remedy for our provincialized, indistinct and inelegant speech, and she sees the training of teachers in normal schools as the primary necessity. She marshals her arguments logically and presents them forcefully." N.Y. Times

The author is, 1930, head of the department of English diction in the Leland Powers school of expression, Boston, Massachusetts

1 English language—Etymology 2 English language—Semantics 3 English language—Hist. A27-292

"In 1851 he established his fame as a philologist by 'The Study of Words,' originally delivered as lectures to the pupils of the Diocesan Training School, Winchester. His purpose, as stated by himself, was to show that in words, even taken singly, 'there are boundless stores of moral and historic truth, and no less of passion and imagination laid up' – a truth enforced by a number of most apposite illustrations. It was followed by . . . 'English Past and Present' (1855). [Both] have gone through numerous editions and have contributed much to promote the historical study of the English tongue." For abridgments of this dictionary see "Desk Standard dictionary" and "Practical Standard dictionary"

"First edition 1893 had title 'Standard dictionary;' the 'New standard' is a thorough revision of the 1893 edition, reset and printed from new plates throughout. Later issues or reprints of this edition show changes in the plates, insertion of new words, etc.

"A serviceable one volume work. Its special feature is emphasis upon current information, i.e. present day meaning, pronunciation, spelling, and the subordination of the historical to the current information. Full vocabulary, about 450,000 words including 65,000 proper names, aims to include all live words of the language in standard speech and literature of the day and terms commonly used dialectically by large numbers of people in different parts of the English speaking world. Prefers simpler spelling. . . Contains considerable encyclopedic information and many illustrations and good colored plates. Published in both a 'regular' and a 'subscription' edition. The regular edition does not contain the appendix 'History of the world day by day.'" Mudge been in preparation since 1902. While in the main an abridgment, it includes also some additional material, especially new words too recent to have been included in the original work or older words omitted there, and also some later illustrative quotations. Important therefore in the library which already has the larger work, as well as in the small library which has not been able to afford the complete 'Oxford dictionary.'" Mudge

"A complete dictionary of the English language from Chaucer to the present day. Exhibits the words in an historical way, showing their earliest meaning and any changes that they have gradually undergone." Ontario library review

The great dictionary of the language is Sir J. A. H. Murray's "New English dictionary" published 1888 to 1933 at £90. It is now obtainable in a reprint on thinner paper "Oxford English dictionary" (12v and supplement 1933 Oxford $125; 420s). Its scope includes all words in use since 1150 with usage illustrated by numerous quotations. Either the original or the reprint is indispensable in large libraries

"Universal dictionary of the English language" edited by H. C. K. Wyld (1932 Dutton $10.50; Routledge 42s) is an excellent less expensive recent dictionary which contains some words not in the "Shorter Oxford dictionary"

Baum, Paull Franklin

Principles of English versification. 1922 Harvard univ. press $2; Oxford 10s 6d 426

1 English language—Versification 22-20127

"A clear and not too technical account of the rhythms of prose and of poetry, with a discussion of some of the finer variations in the music of verse, at the end. The comments on the vexed question of free verse are sane and worth noting. The book shows us the underlying principles whereon the beauty of poetry is built." Springfield Republican

"Mr. Baum is a safe and conservative guide not over-anxious for rigid accuracy of rule, but content to give their proper value to the old-fashioned qualities of music and fancy. His volume is to be recommended both for soundness of judgment and refinement of taste." Saturday rev.

Two other well-recommended titles are Egerton Smith's "Principles of English metre" (1923 Oxford $4.25; 12s 6d); and J. B. Mayor's "Handbook of modern English metre" (2d ed 1923 Macmillan $1.25; Cambridge univ. press 3s 6d)

Spanish grammar, with practical introductory lessons. 1917 Ginn $1.48; 4s 6d 465
1 Spanish language—Grammar 17-21712

"Pt. 2, which follows the introductory lessons, provides a survey of the entire field of Spanish accidence and syntax. Exercises for translation and drill are abundant. For students whose main object in learning Spanish is its use commercially, Coester's Spanish grammar is especially suited. Vocabulary of the exercises provides the colloquial expressions necessary to social and commercial intercourse with Spanish-speaking peoples. The book gives more than usual attention to letter writing." Publisher

Wilkins, Lawrence Augustus
New Spanish reader for beginners. 1930 Holt $1.36; Harrap 4s 465
1 Spanish language—Grammar 30-33992

Largely a reprint of his "Beginner's Spanish reader," published 1921, and highly recommended. Entirely reset with some minor changes and additions. Exercises and vocabulary are included

"New Spanish reader" by H. E. Ford and Juan Cano (1934 Holt 96c) is another good reader, based on a graded Spanish word book

A revision of the 1908 edition of this standard grammar useful for reference work. Gives "the essential facts of Latin grammar in a direct and simple manner, and within the smallest compass consistent with scholarly standards. While intended primarily for the secondary school, it has not neglected the needs of the college student, and aims to furnish such grammatical information as is ordinarily required in undergraduate courses." Preface to the first edition
Another good standard grammar is "Complete Latin grammar" by Albert Harkness (1898 Am. bk. $1.48)

480 GREEK

Sandys, Sir John Edwin
Short history of classical scholarship from the sixth century B.C. to the present day. 1915 Macmillan $3.50; Cambridge univ. press 10s 6d 480
1 Classical education [E15-2366]
"An abridgement of the author's important work on the subject which has been widely known for many years. To reduce three large volumes into one small one, severe compression was necessary; but the author has avoided the mistake of attempting merely to popularize. While he has had to omit or pass by summarily a good many minor scholars, he has taken care that the greater men shall not suffer injustice. In particular we are glad to see that he has retained sufficient indication of titles and editions, and while shortening, has not suppressed his foot-notes. He has even been able to include a fair proportion of the illustrations which formed an interesting feature in the larger book." Eng. hist. rev.
The author's "History of classical scholarship" (3v 1906-08 Macmillan v 1 $7, v2-3 ea $5; Cambridge univ. press v 1 20s, v2-3 ea 15s) is the full treatment, a scholarly and readable book which will interest large libraries

490 OTHER LANGUAGES

491.2 Sanskrit

The average public library will not need books on Sanskrit. A good dictionary is A. A. Macdonnell's "Practical Sanskrit dictionary" (1924 Oxford $8; 30s) a reissue with new preface and rearranged addenda but no change in text, of his "Sanskrit-English dictionary" (1893 Longmans). A well-recommended Sanskrit grammar is W. D. Whitney's "Sanskrit grammar, including both the classical language and the older dialects, of Veda and Brahmana" (2d rev ed 1921 Harvard univ. press $4.50; Oxford 22s 6d)

491.6 Gaelic

Malcolm Maclennan's "Pronouncing and etymological dictionary of the Gaelic language" (1925 Caspar $12.50; Grant, J. 30s) is recommended for libraries that need the material

Guide to modern thought. 1933 Stokes $1.75; Faber 6s 500

1 Science—Philosophy 33-8123

"A widely useful, authoritative introduction for the general reader, to the views current today in physics, biology, psychology and psychical research, including the reasons for them, their implications and their influence on contemporary thought. The scheme of the author, head of the department of philosophy at the University of London, does not include criticism but his occasional witty comments are illuminating." N.Y. libraries

Philosophical aspects of modern science. 1932 Macmillan $3.75; Allen, G. 10s 6d 500

1 Science—Philosophy 2 Philosophy, Modern 32-22725

"An attempt to correlate the evidence of special sciences in such a fashion that it fits into a coherent scheme of the universe as a whole." Introduction

"The book is logical and—when allowance is made for a clumsy style—lucid, while it introduces a new and acceptable note of humility into the arrogance of human speculations on the cosmos." Spectator

Malisoff, William Marias

Meet the sciences. 1932 Williams & Wilkins $2.50; Bailliere 13s 6d 500

1 Science 32-10185

"The author begins this panoramic survey of the sciences with two introductory chapters on science and the scientist in general, and then discusses individually the nature and history of each of the major sciences: mathematics, logic, physics, chemistry, biology, psychology and sociology. He concludes with a chapter on the place of science in modern life." Book rev. digest

Scientific outlook. 1931 Norton $3; Allen, G. 7s 6d 500

1 Science 2 Civilization 31-25032

This volume in considering the effect of science upon human life examines: first, the nature and scope of scientific knowledge; second, the increased power of manipulation derived from scientific technique; and third, the changes in social life and in traditional institutions which must result from the new forms of organization that scientific technique demands. Condensed from Introduction

"This book, though eminently readable, is not a cheerful one." Spectator

Thomson, Sir John Arthur

1 Science 22-7935

"A series of four volumes, giving the essentials of present day science in 'a plain story simply told,' edited by J. A. Thomson, professor of natural history in the University of Aberdeen. The series is designed for the general reader, who lacks time and opportunity for special study but takes an intelligent interest in the progress of science. The editor maintains that technicalities, altho clearly necessary for terse and precise scientific description can be reduced to a minimum without sacrificing accuracy when the object in view is to explain the gist of the matter. For further study a list of books is given at the end of each chapter. There are numerous half-tone and color plates." Book rev. digest

"Delightfully readable, many facts well known to a teacher of science appearing in so novel a form that they are invested with new interest that impels the reading of familiar subjects which cruder handling would render wearisome. Inaccuracies are rare, although some have been noticed; they are, I imagine largely due to oversight." R. S. Lull in Yale review

The author's "Modern science; a general introduction" (1930 Putnam $3.50; Methuen 6s, school ed 3s 6d) is an informal review for able minded readers. His "Science for all; an outline for busy people" (1926 Ward, Lock 6s) is a collection of articles on astronomy, physics, geology, botany, zoology, human physiology, and the story of man

Certain chapters have been simplified and the glossary and index have been enlarged. Also available in the Star series (Garden City pub. co. $1). Sixteen lectures given by members of the faculty of the University of Chicago outlining our present knowledge of the physical and biological world

"With all its multiplicity of authorship, the book has (in the words of the 'Chicago Tribune') 'taken on the unity, coherence, the march of one great epic poem.' More specialized courses in thinking, man in society, or the arts, may well follow, but this course, being more informational, more inclusive, and easier for the beginner should be the point of departure." 1 Science—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Science—Methodology 30-25389

"A symposium of twenty-four essays by men prominent in the world of science. The essays are arranged in six groups: science; the scientific mind; the scientific motive; science and culture; science and civilization; science and the future. Among the contributors are E. E. Slosson, R. A. Millikan, Bertrand Russell, J. W. Mackail, J. S. Haldane, Thomas H. Huxley, John Tyndall, J. W. N. Sullivan, Michael Pupin, and Thorstein Veblen." Book rev. digest

"Any one who will carefully study this book and bring to it reasonable intelligence will understand how science has developed, what its victories have been and what its limitations are." Outlook

Slosson, Edwin Emery

1 Science—Addresses, essays, lectures 28-11296

"A collection of papers treating many scientific topics in brief and entertaining style. The title is based on the idea that with anything moving as rapidly as science to-day, a snap-shot is the only kind of picture that can be taken; but, in his preface, the author tells the reader that 'any one of these snapshots will improve by enlargement, which you can easily do for yourself by developing the subject on a wooden table in a well-lighted room of a good library.'" Pittsburgh

Riddles of science. 1932 Liveright $3.50; Williams & Norgate 10s 6d 504

1 Science—Addresses, essays, lectures 32-10825

Published in England under title: Scientific riddles

"It is the chief end of science to make things clearer, but it is one of its educative aims to foster the inquisitive spirit, and that is the aim of this book, to select a few fair samples of the thousand-and-one scientific riddles, and to discuss them a little so that they suggest others—and others—to the increase of the interest and efficiency of our life." Preface

"The lucidity of treatment, the scientific caution, and the fine spirit in forming the whole are still there, and the interest, though scattered over a wide field, never flags. The scattering, by the way, make one wish for an index more worthy of the book." Times (London) lit. sup.

1 Science—Study and teaching 25-19421

"The book is written as a text for the teacher-in-training and as a source of suggestions for the science teacher, particularly for those who are beginning their service. One of the authors is engaged in training students in the teaching of science, while the other is head of a science department in a large city high school." Book rev. digest

A helpful book for the teacher of science in secondary schools is "Enriched teaching of science in the high school," by M. N. Woodring, M. E. Oakes and H. E. Brown (1928 Teachers college $2.75). It is chiefly a list of low cost materials for supplementary use. F. W. Westaway's "Science teaching; what it was, what it is, what it might be" (1929 Blackie & Son 10s 6d) is an extended work dealing with general principles, purposes and methods which also discusses actual instruction in some specific scientific subjects

First published 1929. In the new edition, corrections have been made

"Scholarly work tracing the subject from ancient times through the developments of modern physics, biology, and anthropology." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Taking the book as a whole, as in the first instance it should be, it is a fine and bold piece of work. The narrative is always clear and concise and the sequence orderly; it never degenerates into the dismal catalogue of names and dates which sometimes masquerades as the history of science. The mutual relations between scientific discovery and other phases of contemporary thought are generally well brought out, particularly the relations between science and philosophy." Nature

"The work forms a connected story of some of the broader movements in the field of the physical and mathematical sciences, no attempt having been made, owing to limitations of space, to include the biological or chemical branches. The great names chosen are Aristotle, Roger Bacon, Copernicus, Johann Kepler, William Gilbert, Galileo, Descartes, Newton, Robert Boyle, Ampère, Davy, Ohm, Faraday, Kelvin and Einstein. The 120 illustrations, many from old and unusual prints, add value to the volume." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

"It is full of interesting anecdotes and unknown information, though not 'popular' writing in the American sense of the word." New republic

* Short history of science. 1917 Macmillan $3; 15s 509

1 Science—Hist. 17-31086

"Addressed to the student and the general reader this volume goes back to the origin of scientific knowledge, and of the scientific method which has not only revolutionized scientific study but has been widely applied to all kinds of human activity. The writers begin with the ancient Babylonians, Assyrians, Egyptians and Phoenicians whose monuments and inscriptions have furnished the material for the beginnings of scientific study. The development of the science of mathematics, astronomy and medicine and the contribution made by different nations occupies nine chapters. The second half of the text starts with the quickening influences of the age of discovery at the end of the fifteenth and the beginning of the sixteenth century and traces the progress of modern national, physical and mathematical science to the beginning of the twentieth century." Book rev. digest

"We appreciate the authors' scholarly and careful work, which will be of great value to serious students. The task attempted was perhaps too ambitious; for twenty authors, rather than two, would be required to show the true inwardness of the progress of scientific inquiry in its various departments. . . We admire the solid competence of the whole work." Nature

1 Number concept 2 Arithmetic—Foundations 33-5594

A study of the evolution of the modern number concept first published 1930. "The revision has been confined to the correction of errors, typographical and other, to the classification of some obscure passages, and the recasting of several paragraphs deemed infelicitous. There has also been added a page of bibliographical notes suggesting further reading to those interested." Preface to the second edition

"Described in its sub-title as 'a critical survey written for the cultured non-mathematician.' Technicalities are avoided as far as possible, and any reader with a foundation of high school mathematics should be able to follow much, perhaps not all, of it." Wis. bul.

Dull, Raymond William

Mathematics for engineers. 1926 McGraw $5; 30s 510

1 Mathematics 26-14168

"A revision of notes which the author prepared for use in his engineering practice. Comprises arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, the calculus, graphical methods, and the use of the slide-rule. Considerable space is given to the treatment of absolute and relative errors. A practical book for 'engineers who want a quick and convenient reference, engineers who have grown somewhat rusty in their mathematics, and engineers who feel the need of a text for the study of mathematics.'" N.Y. public lib. New technical books

1 Astronomy 2 Solar system (26-19822)

"This is a revision of Young's 'Manual of Astronomy,' and hails from Princeton University Observatory. It is fuller, however, than the now out-of-date 'Manual.' The authors do not employ the calculus, and an elementary student could master a great deal of the contents here so admirably arranged. The illustrations are profuse and beautiful. There is a great deal of disputable matter in these volumes, especially Chapter xxvi, which deals with star evolution and may, at any time, have to be scrapped. But the book, just because it is not mere mathematics minus imagination, is in a class of its own." Spectator

1 Astronomy 29-1109

"Significant excerpts from the writings of sixty-three great astronomers from Copernicus to G. H. Darwin. Includes the papers of Adams and Leverrier on the discovery of Neptune. Heavy technicalities and complicated mathematics have been avoided. Dr. Shapley is [1933] the well-known Professor of Astronomy in Harvard University." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Shapley, Harlow, and Payne, Cecilia Helena
(eds.) Universe of stars, based on Radio talks from the Harvard observatory. rev ed 1929 Harvard univ. observatory $2 520

First edition, 1926, had title: Radio talks from the Harvard observatory; the universe of stars

A series of radio talks broadcast by nine of the investigators of the Harvard observatory. Each one deals in a non-technical way with some particular department of astronomy. There are chapters covering telescopes, eclipses, American observatories, shooting stars and comets, the classifications, measurements and evolution of stars, star clusters and the Milky Way. The amateur's work in astronomy is also covered and some space is allotted to speculation as to the existence of life in other worlds

Heaven and earth, a modern astronomy; tr. by Bernard Miall. 1930 Norton $2.75; Allen, G. 7s 6d 520

1 Astronomy 2 Universe 30-13150

Published in England under title: Heavens and the universe

"A popular treatment of present-day astronomical knowledge which answers such questions as: What are the canals on Mars? Why do comets have tails? Why is there a shower of meteors in August? What causes sun spots every eleven years and what effect do they have on our lives? How large is the Milky way? How many stars are in the sky? How large is the universe? The author was formerly chief of the Urania observatory at Vienna." Book rev. digest

"Astronomy made vivid and realistic and practically understandable." Providence

1 Astronomy—Hist. 27-26605

"Up-to-date work for the layman, with an historical background and portraits of famous astronomers." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"A book of great value, and though the later chapters dealing with the nature and the origin of the universe are likely to prove tough meat to the milkteeth of the average reader, he should be encouraged to persevere. Without higher mathematics he could find no better way than this book offers to a general idea of the articulation of the heavens." Spectator

522.2 Telescope

Hale, George Ellery

Signals from the stars. 1931 Scribner $2; 7s 6d 522.2

1 Telescope 2 Astronomy 31-32914

Four illustrated articles written for the intelligent layman, by the honorary director of the Mount Wilson observatory. Contents: The possibilities of large telescopes; Exploring the solar atmosphere; Signals from the sun; Building the 200-inch telescope. The articles originally appeared in somewhat different form in Scribner's, Harper's and Popular astronomy

"These chapters are stimulating reading, alike to the scientist and to the man who, though no astronomer, likes to live in the light of the universe." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

The author's "Beyond the milky way" (1926 Scribner $1.50; 7s 6d) is an entertaining discussion of the development of astronomical instruments, of determining the heat from the stars, and of the new knowledge of spiral nebulae

Contents: Mirror making for reflecting telescopes, by R. W. Porter; Amateur's telescope, by W. F. A. Ellison; Methods of silvering glass, reprinted by permission, from Letter circular 32, of the United States Bureau of standards; Telescope oculars, by C. S. Hastings; Serviceable telescope mounting from discarded automobile parts, by C. Ions; Telescope that anyone can make, by J. M. Pierce; New HCF lap, by A. W Everest; Solar research for amateurs, by G. E. Hale; Contributions by advanced amateurs; Miscellany, by A. G. Ingalls (including Dr. Elihu Thomson's article on the theory of the polishing operation); Books for the amateur astronomer; Periodicals on astronomy

"Homely and amusing but thoroughly practical symposium." Nature

Louis Bell's "The telescope" (1922 McGraw $3; 15s) a book of a somewhat different character, tells of the evolution of the telescope, the construction of its parts, etc.

523 Descriptive astronomy

Two good books when additional material is needed are:

Dobinson, C. H. Earth and sky, a brief account of the earth's situation in space with some account of its internal structure. 1930 Macmillan $1.75; Black, A. & C. 3s 6d A simple presentation with excellent illustrations

Smart, W. M. The sun, the stars and the universe. 1928 Longmans $4.20; 12s 6d A well illustrated readable book giving an account of modern astronomical discoveries and present-day theories

Eddington, Sir Arthur Stanley

Expanding universe. 1933 Macmillan $2; Cambridge univ. press 3s 6d 523

1 Nebulae 2 Universe 33-5593

"An expanded version of a public lecture delivered at the meeting of the International Astronomical Union at Cambridge (Mass.) in September, 1932. . . Hale, George Ellery

New heavens. 1922 Scribner $1.50; 7s 6d 523

1 Astronomy 22-7665

"A brief non-technical account of the modern methods and instruments which have brought new heavens within our range. By the director of the Mount Wilson observatory. A part of the book has appeared in 'Scribner's Magazine.'" Wis. bul.

"The entire book is written for the reading of the layman, and it is hard to conceive of a better layman's primer to conversance with modern astronomy." Literary rev.

The author's "Depths of the universe" (1924 Scribner $1.50; 7s 6d) continues the series of articles contained in "The new heavens." The three chapters relate to observations and discoveries made at Mount Wilson

Jeans, Sir James Hopwood

* Stars in their courses. 1931 Macmillan $2.50; Cambridge univ. press 5s 523

1 Astronomy 2 Stars 31-8522

"This is a publication of a series of simple, non-technical, conversational radio talks on the wonders of modern astronomy, by an author who has justly won eminence for his ability to popularize astronomy in a dignified way. There are good photographs." Providence

"In less than 200 pages, the author touches practically every phase of modern astronomy. . . Every part of it can be comprehended by an intelligent person with no scientific training, yet there is no feeling that he is 'writing down' to the layman. Even to the astronomer and to the scientist, familiar with the subject, this work should be of intense interest." Journal of the Franklin institute

* Universe around us. rev 1931 Macmillan $4.50; Cambridge univ. press 12s 6d 523

1 Astronomy 2 Universe 31-3820

In this second edition the author has "inserted discussions of the new planet Pluto, the rotation of the galaxy, the apparent expansion of

the universe, and other subjects which have become important since the first edition was published, and in general [has] tried to bring the book up to date." Preface to the second edition
"Sir James Jeans has amply fulfilled his ideal in making this account of modern astronomy 'intelligible to readers with no special scientific knowledge.' If it is a trifle overwhelming to read at one sitting, that is simply because of the gigantic data and concepts which it introduces to the lay reader." Spectator

* Half-hours with the telescope. 1926 Longmans $1.75; 5s 523
1 Astronomy 2 Telescope 26-26517
"A popular guide to the use of the telescope as a means of amusement and instruction revised and brought up to date by Dr. W. H. Steavenson." Subtitle
"More than half a century has passed since this book was first given to the public [1868] and it has since been reprinted fourteen times. This speaks well for its value as a popular guide to assist the amateur to observe the heavens with a small telescope. The illustrations are entirely new and instructive. So has this classic been made serviceable and highly useful for amateur astronomers of today." Boston Transcript

523.3 Moon

Serviss, Garrett Putnam
Story of the moon. 1928 Appleton-Century $3; 10s 6d 523.3
1 Moon 28-17984
First published in 1907 under title: The moon
"Really a story, but a true one, told by the author to an imaginary friend. The four chapters are on the four phases of the moon and one who reads it will never look at the full moon again without trying to trace the craters, mountains and plains so graphically described. Remarkable photographs from pictures taken at the Yerkes observatory." Wis. bul.

An equally good and interesting book is Mary Proctor's "Romance of the moon" (1928 Harper $2.50; 7s 6d). It includes legends and folklore of the moon as well as accurate scientific information

523.5 Meteors

Enough information on meteors for ordinary purposes can usually be had from the general astronomies

1 Meteorites 2 Meteors 33-12585
"A popular account of meteorites, their origin, kinds and composition, sizes, etc., together with chapters on ancient and modern views of meteorites and descriptions of famous falls. The author is curator of meteorites in the Colorado Museum of Natural History and director of the Nininger Laboratory. An appendix lists, by countries, all recorded meteorites up to January 1, 1932, with their locations fixed upon maps drawn by the author. Index." Book rev. digest

C. P. Olivier's "Meteors" (1925 Williams & Wilkins $6; Bailliere 27s) is a more comprehensive and technical text but somewhat expensive for the small library

523.6 Comets

Olivier, Charles Pollard
Comets. 1930 Williams & Wilkins $2.50; Bailliere 17s 6d 523.6

1 Comets 30-23918

"The magnitude, mass, movement and return of these once terrifying visitors are explained simply, clearly and without mathematics. If the author has lessened their mystery, he has increased their interest. Several famous comets are discussed in some detail." Amer. assoc. for the advancement of science

Romance of comets. 1926 Harper $2.50; 7s 6d 523.6

1 Comets 2 Meteors 26-14004

"Miss Proctor, an astronomer and daughter of an astronomer, knows as much about comets as anybody. Nobody knows much. She tells of the superstitions concerning comets, about the sport of hunting them, and how to make out time-tables for them. 'The Romance of Comets' tells, in popular style and short space, nearly all that one needs to know about these 'strange wanderers of the heavens.'" Outlook

523.7 Sun. Eclipses

"Sun lore of all ages" by W. T. Olcott (1914 Putnam $5; 22s 6d) will be useful in filling requests for material on the legends, superstitions and traditions concerning the sun

Abbot, Charles Greeley
‡ The sun. 2d ed 1929 Appleton-Century $3.50; 12s 6d 523.7

1 Sun 29-1821

"Revised to include developments since the publication of the first edition (1911). While not strictly of a 'popular' nature there is much to interest the general reader. There are chapters on the influence of the sun on plant life; utilization of solar energy; and the relation of the sun to other stars. Numerous illustrations and tables. Author is [1933] Director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"To the astronomical reader, Dr. Abbot's book is a standard work of reference, containing a number of useful tables, and also first-hand information on the measurement of the solar-constant of radiation—a work long associated with the name of the author and the Smithsonian Institution. It is therefore thought to be a regrettable omission that this revised edition does not include a table of collected results of measures of the solar-constant. . . But Dr. Abbot has renewed, by this timely second edition, the usefulness of his very readable book." Nature

Lewis, Mrs Isabel Eleanor (Martin)
Astronomy for young folks. rev ed 1932 Dodd $2 523.7

1 Eclipses 2 Astronomy 32-21046

First published 1921. This revised edition incorporates in an appendix the material in "Handbook of solar eclipses" formerly published separately. The revision includes material on the 1932 total eclipse of the sun

"The author writes from real knowledge, and while the book is designed for an average child of 14 the general adult reader, desiring a book of this type, will find it interesting. Few illustrations. Interesting tables list the principal constellations, the brightest stars, etc." Bkl.

Mitchell, Samuel Alfred
Eclipses of the sun. 3d ed rev and enl 1932 Columbia univ. press $5; Oxford 25s 523.7

1 Eclipses 32-23551

"Some revision of old material and forty additional pages incorporating the results of study of five eclipses which occurred since the second edition (1924) bring this book up to date in scientific knowledge of solar eclipses and in research in the structure of the atom. Does not include the 1932 eclipse." Bkl.

"Describes some of the wonders of modern astronomy in language that, without sacrificing scientific accuracy, is not too technical for the average reader and senior high school or junior college student. Of especial interest are the chapters telling of early historical eclipses, Chinese, Babylonian, Egyptian, Biblical and classical, followed by a discussion of the spectroscope and an account of modern eclipses and entertaining personal experiences in Spain and elsewhere, and an intelligible account of the structure of the atom and the Einstein theory." Bkl.

Romance of the sun. 1927 Harper $2.50; 7s 6d 523.7

1 Sun 27-23999

"Popular work dealing with methods for determining the sun's distance from the earth, the constitution of the sun and its atmosphere, and eclipses. In the latter connection there are interesting personal experiences of the author and others." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"The principal function of Miss Proctor's book is to show how the spectroscope has been developed, so that we now have marvellous instruments by which the sun, in all its fiery eccentricities, may be photographed, and so measured and named in its constituent elements. The amateur should find the book very useful." Spectator

523.8 Stars

Two books on special phases of astronomy that will prove useful if the need for them arises are:

Olcott, W. T. Star lore of all ages. 1911 Putnam $5; 22s 6d Supplies interesting material on the mythology of the stars, relating for each constellation the traditions concerning it

Orr, M. A. Stars of the southern skies. 1915 Longmans $1.25; 3s 6d A popular and attractively written volume

Baker, Robert Horace
Universe unfolding; the story of man's increasing comprehension of the universe around him. (Century of progress ser.) 1932 Williams & Wilkins $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 523.8

1 Stars 2 Astronomy 3 Universe 32-3101

"Popular presentation of developments in astronomy. Not concerned with the sun and planets but with the distances of the stars, the galaxies, and the magnitude and structure of the universe—fields in which most of our information has been gained in the past century." Pittsburgh

Ball, Sir Robert Stawell
Popular guide to the heavens. 4th ed completely rev and ed by T. E. R. Phillips 1925 Van Nostrand $7.50; Philip 15s 523.8

1 Stars—Atlases 2 Astronomy [26-4674]

"After an interval of fifteen years since the publication of the third edition, this book now appears rehabilitated under Mr. Phillips' able revision. To the usual planetary diagrams, numerous lunar and stellar charts, drawings of planets and comets, a number of photographs have been added to represent the work of modern astronomical photography, together with a concise summary of such topics as methods of measuring the distances of the stars, the classification of stellar spectra, and new information on variable stars. . . . It can be said with confidence that everyone interested in astronomy, whether possessing a telescope or not, will be well equipped with this popular guide." Nature

Barton, Samuel Goodwin, and Barton, William Henry
* Guide to the constellations. (McGraw-Hill astronomical ser.) 1928 McGraw $3; 18s 523.8
1 Stars 28-8180

"A book of a size to admit charts large enough to show plainly the positions of the constellations and their important stars at any hour and in any month. There is a chart for each month, besides two giving the southern constellations, with concise directions for their use and clear descriptions of each star and constellation, the Milky Way and other wonders of the sky." Boston Transcript

"Although it is not intended to be a textbook, and treats each topic only briefly, still the text does contain much accurate astronomical information as well as the essential facts about the various astronomical bodies. All astronomical terms are clearly and simply defined, so that even the beginner will have no trouble in understanding the meanings. Furthermore, the definitions are well arranged, and the book contains such a complete index that it should prove to be a very satisfactory reference book for many purposes." Science

Eddington, Arthur Stanley
Stars and atoms. 1927 Yale univ. press $2; Oxford 7s 6d 523.8
1 Stars 2 Atoms 27-15694

" 'Stars and atoms' was the title of an evening lecture given by Professor Eddington at the meeting of the British association in Oxford in August, 1926. The discourse, which aroused great interest and comment, has been expanded into three lectures. He deals with some interesting developments in astronomy to which our advancing knowledge of atoms and radiation has led." Book rev. digest

"The modern theory of the stars and the way it fits in with and makes use of the modern theory of the atom is a fascinating story, however told. But Prof. Eddington tells it with full vigour of a powerful and gifted imagination." Nature

Forbes, George
Wonder & the glory of the stars. 1926 Dodd $2.50; Benn 8s 6d 523.8
1 Stars 26-27710

"This . . . book of the stars is based upon lectures delivered at the Royal Technical college, Glasgow, in which the lecturer 'looked upon himself as a tourist-guide in a series of excursions over various parts of the heavens.' There is included an interesting account of the author's own theory regarding the origin and formation of the moon, and a description of the experiments he conducted to support it." Book rev. digest

"This is an admirable book for anyone who wants to begin to study astronomy. Professor Forbes has the faculty of making even difficult modern theories intelligible, and also of making rather dull facts, which occur in astronomy, interesting." Nation and Athenaeum

King, Edward Skinner
Pathfinder star maps. 1926 Cosmos press pa $1.25 523.8
1 Stars—Atlases A28-156

"Twelve accurate maps prepared by the Professor of Astronomy at Harvard University a decade ago and now issued for the first time in book form. There is one map for each month, good for any year, and provided with descriptive text. The paper is semi-translucent, so that the map may be illumined by a faint light from behind, thus permitting the map to be easily seen at night." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Martin, Mrs Martha (Evans)
Friendly stars. 1907 Harper $2; 7s 6d 523.8
1 Stars 7-14831

"A personal friendship with the stars which the author shares with her readers. It is an untechnical study and points out to the naked eye the most interesting facts about the stars. Their rising and setting, their number, colors, distances, movements and distinguishing characteristics are made clear to the observer who has had no preparatory instruction." Book rev. digest

"This volume will appeal to the beginner in astronomy and to the general reader quite as much as to the astronomer." Nature

Murphy, Edgar Gardner
* Beginner's star-book; an easy guide to the stars and to the astronomical uses of the opera-glass, the field-glass and the telescope, by Kelvin McKready [pseud]. 3d ed 1929 Putnam $5; 22s 6d 523.8
1 Astronomy 2 Stars A33-529

The third edition which was revised by Maud King Murphy incorporates new matter in the chapter on star distances, star motions, star magnitudes, etc. The rest of the book is practically the same as the 1923 edition

"Author's purpose is to present a popular guide 'with astronomy left out.' The practical advice on selection and use of instruments and the simplicity of the star maps make this one of the best books available for the novice." Pittsburgh

The author's "Beginner's guide to the stars" (1924 Putnam $1.25; 5s) is a condensation and rearrangement of "A beginner's star book," with the most elaborate features omitted. It is a good practical guide to the stars

Proctor, Mary
Evenings with the stars. 1925 Cassell o.p. 1933 523.8
1 Stars 2 Astronomy 25-21712

"The arrangement of this book provides a systematic method of learning the constellations, giving 12 evenings to the task. The charts are unusually good, but the fact that they are planned for England will call for some readjustment in the time tables. For this reason it will not be the best first book for small libraries." Wis. bul.

"Much interesting information as to the origin of the constellation groups and the names of the bright stars adds greatly to the attractiveness of the book." Times (London) lit. sup.

Serviss, Garrett Putnam
Astronomy with the naked eye; a new geography of the heavens. 1908 Harper $3; 7s 6d 523.8
1 Astronomy 2 Stars 8-14345

"This book by means of star-charts is intended to acquaint the casual observer with the appearance of the constellations, as viewed with the naked eye, with their histories and mythologies and with the stories of their chief stars and star groups. The constellations are studied according to the months during which they approach the meridian, the north and south line of the sky. A separate chapter is given to the study of the planets." Book rev. digest

"It has been the authors' chief purpose to produce a text-book which shall include the essentials of a comprehensive knowledge of practical surveying and at the same time be adapted to the use of teachers and students in technical schools. . . Considerable stress is laid upon the practical side of surveying. The attempt is made not only to give the student a thorough training in the fundamental principles and in approved methods of surveying, computing, and plotting, but also to impress upon him the importance of accuracy and precision in all of his work in the field and the drafting-room." Preface to the first edition, v 1

* Surveying theory and practice. 1928 McGraw $5; 30s 526.9

1 Surveying 28-15140

"Although intended primarily for use in engineering schools there is sufficient advanced material to be of use to practicing engineers and surveyors. Unusual attention is given to the subjects of errors and field astronomy. Chapter 26 presents the principles of photographic surveying and more especially describes in some detail the processes of aerial map making. There are numerous problems." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

The authors' "Elements of surveying" (1930 McGraw $4; 20s) is essentially an abridgment of their earlier book. Written in response to requests from teachers for a briefer treatise for an elementary course. Designed to give immediate familiarity with approved methods of surveying, and to cultivate skill in keeping good field notes and in calculation." Pittsburgh

Bowditch, Nathaniel
American practical navigator: an epitome of navigation and nautical astronomy. (U.S. Hydrographic office. Pub. no 9) 1933 The office $2.25 527

1 Navigation 2 Nautical astronomy [29-27511]

"Dr. Bowditch. . . did more than any other person to combat the guesswork of the 'old' navigation and to place navigation on a scientific foundation in the United States. His book, first published over a hundred years ago, stood for decades as the best book on the subject. Although it has been completely revised many times to meet the needs of changing conditions, his name has been retained as the author of the standard American work on navigation. It is invaluable as a reference book." Alfred E. Burton

"Whys and wherefores of navigation" by Gershom Bradford (2d ed 1919 Van Nostrand $2) is a clear and concise statement of nautical facts written with the idea in mind that it serve as supplementary reading to Bowditch's "American practical navigator"

Dutton, Benjamin
Navigation and nautical astronomy. 5th ed 1934 U.S. naval inst. $3.75 527

"A clear and simple treatment of the subject without theory or algebraic formulas." Donald Hendry

Hosmer, George L.—Continued

"The adoption of Civil Time in the Nautical Almanac in place of Astronomical Time has made it necessary to re-write a large part of this book. In addition to the changes in all astronomical calculations necessitated by this change of time the matter of compass deviations and compass adjustment is treated more fully; methods that are now considered obsolete have been dropped; and the latest tables for laying down position lines are described. Several minor improvements have been made and many cuts added." Preface to second edition

Vosseller, Perry

Navigation; a simple explanation of modern navigational methods in theory and practice. 1932 Rudder pub. $3 527

1 Navigation 32-20129

"A practical book explaining in detail the methods of recent years. Instruments and accessories, the compass, piloting, reading of charts, how to chart courses, the sextant, azimuth, declination, latitude, and longitude are some of the subjects discussed. Examples of the necessary arithmetic are given." Bkl.

* New practical physics; fundamental principles and applications to daily life. 1929 Macmillan $1.64; 8s 6d 530

1 Physics 29-2484

Formerly published under the title: "Practical physics." Both text and illustrations in this edition have been simplified and amplified. More material on airplanes, radio communication, and the elements of television and colored and talking motion pictures has been added and other changes have been made which improve the work

"One of the best texts, well arranged and abundantly illustrated from the common devices in modern life, such as vacuum cleaners, fireless cookers, optical instruments, automobiles, etc. Index." Standard catalog for high school libraries

Ferry, Ervin Sidney

General physics and its application to industry and everyday life. 3d ed rev 1928 Wiley $4; Chapman 25s 530

1 Physics 28-20748

"The present edition contains a list of some sixteen hundred problems, many of which are original, new articles on gravitational and electric potential, counter electromotive force, the photo-electric effect, television, talking movies and color harmony, together with more than one hundred changes throughout the text." Preface to the third revised edition

"Designed for that large class of students who in the early part of their college career require a coordinated elementary course in the fundamental principles, the methods, and the industrial applications of physics. . . The bases for the selection of the laws to be included in the text have been the frequency of their occurrence in the ordinary affairs of life and the wideness of their application in the arts." Preface to first edition

Fuller, Robert Warren; Brownlee, Raymond Bedell, and Baker, Davis Lee

First principles of physics. 1932 Allyn $1.80 530

1 Physics 32-4502

An excellent text-book for beginners. All three authors are teachers in Stuyvesant high school, New York city. A revised edition of the authors' "Elementary principles of physics" published in 1925. The material has been rearranged and largely rewritten. Reprinted 1933. "Outstanding achievements of the last few years in such fields as radio communication, talking pictures, television, the applications of the photo-electric cell, and airplane mechanics, have been presented." Millikan, Robert Andrews, and Gale, Henry Gordon

Elements of physics. 1927 Ginn $1.64; 8s 6d 530

1 Physics 27-3118

A textbook for high school students written with the aim "to present elementary physics in such a way as to stimulate the pupil to do some thinking on his own account about the hows and whys of the physical world in which he lives"

A revision of the authors' "Practical physics" done in 1922 in collaboration with W. R. Pyle which was itself a revision of the authors' "First course in physics" published in 1906. It does not differ greatly from the previous edition. There is some new material, particularly a brief section on the growth of physics in the last thirty years. The number of illustrations has been considerably increased

Millikan, Robert Andrews; Gale, Henry Gordon, and Edwards, Charles William

* First course in physics for colleges. 1928 Ginn $4 530

1 Physics 28-20558

"Modification and revision of Millikan and Gale's 'A first course in physics,' well known through its several editions during the past twenty years. Originally intended for both secondary schools and colleges, it is now adapted to meet the requirements of a full year's college freshman course. There are many problems (with answers) test questions, and excellent illustrations, including portraits of eminent physicists." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"The book is written in an exceedingly clear style and is so well illustrated that anyone earnestly desiring to improve in an elementary way his or her knowledge of the whole field of physics will find its perusal a source of interest and pleasure." Journal of the Franklin institute

Elements of physics. 3d ed 1932 McGraw $3.75; 22s 6d 530

First published 1923. Considerably enlarged, rearranged and partially rewritten for this third edition. "Especial emphasis is placed on the quantum theory of radiation and the structure of matter. The conduction of electricity in gases and a consideration of other phases of electronics have been made a separate part of the book." Preface

"An elementary college textbook in which emphasis is placed upon recent advances in modern physics, and applications of physics to agriculture, engineering, and everyday life. Many worked-out examples are included. The author is professor of physics, The Ohio State University." Donald Hendry

Whitman, Walter George

Household physics. (Wiley technical ser.) 2d ed rev 1932 Wiley $2.75; Chapman 16s 6d 530

1 Physics 2 Home economics 32-8900

"In this revision of a well-known textbook 'for girls both in general and in home economics courses,' much new material has been added, particularly in the fields of heating, refrigeration, radio, television, and the various forms of radiant energy." Journal of home economics

"The method is almost entirely instructional as distinct from educational, and every device used in the home, from electric lamps to 'talking picture' projection, and from carpet sweepers to twelve-cylinder motor cars, that depends in any way upon physics, is fully described. . . The illustrations are numerous and excellent, and the subject matter is dealt with in a very interesting way." Nature

James MacKaye's "Dynamic universe" (1931 Scribner $3.50; 10s 6d) is a critical commentary on the new physics, especially Einstein's theories, by a philosophical scientist

R. A. Millikan's "Time, matter, and values" (1932 Univ. of N.C. press $1; Oxford 4s 6d) consists of lectures which summarize the changes in fundamental concepts which have resulted from the advances made in recent years in the field of experimental physics

Allen, Herbert Stanley

"This book is the outgrowth of a series of addresses broadcast in Berlin during the winter of 1929-30, attempting to give a general view of modern physics in language suited to the understanding of intelligent laymen. It is divided into four parts dealing respectively with: Space and time; Light and radiation; Matter; Philosophical consequences. Index." Book rev. digest

"It is primarily an exposition of the world of modern physics, but every chapter has a philosophical tinge. . . 'Atom and Cosmos' is a work of popularization, but popularization of an unusually dignified kind." N.Y. Evening post

"The historical as well as the theoretical and experimental steps by which physical science has arrived at its present development are set forth with remarkable simplicity. There are no mathematical formulas or technical devices to bewilder the layman." Chicago

"What Mr. Sullivan has done, and done well, is to give us, without bewildering and unnecessary detail, and without the intrusion of ugly mathematical formulae, a history of the growth and development of physical science from the time of Copernicus to the present day. Mr. Sullivan has selected the material for his purpose well, and has marshalled it with skill. . . The non-scientific reader who is interested in scientific thought might be very well advised to attempt this book. He may not find it easy, but it is unlikely that he will be able to acquire any real understanding of the matter on easier terms." Nature

First published 1916 as a text for students required to cover a wide field of hydraulics in a limited amount of time and to serve as a foundation to those who desire to specialize in hydraulics. The third edition has been considerably rewritten and additions made to bring it up-to-date

"The book is clearly written, and will serve admirably the purpose for which it has been published." Engineering record

Mansfield Merriman's "Treatise on hydraulics" (10th ed rev 1916 Wiley $4; Chapman 25s) is an older text intended for technical students but because of its thoroughness and clearness of treatment it is also useful as a reference book for practicing engineers

King, Horace Williams

Handbook of hydraulics for the solution of hydraulic problems. 2d ed 1929 McGraw $4; 20s 532

1 Hydraulics 29-5113

"A new chapter on critical depth and hydraulic jump, including tables for solving the more important formulas, has been added, and the entire text has been rewritten and revised to include new data. Some of the tables and material in the first edition [1918] have been omitted." Bkl.

"A large amount of data, including 112 tables, is closely packed into this little book. It is stated that efforts have been made to simplify calculations and to secure an accuracy consistent with the best experiments. Older and commonly accepted formulas are given preference except where a gain in accuracy or simplicity or both will result from the adoption of new formulas or methods. A knowledge of the fundamental principles of hydraulics is presupposed and derivations have been largely omitted." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

534 SOUND. ACOUSTICS

S. E. Slocum's "Noise and vibration engineering" (1931 Van Nostrand $2.75; Lockwood, C. 21s) is a technical work on vibration which contains material on acoustic corrections, noise abatement, etc. Libraries may prefer to class it in 620.1

535 LIGHT

For the curative value of artificial light see class 613.8

Thomas Preston's "Theory of light" (5th ed, ed by A. W. Porter 1928 Macmillan $8; 25s) is a standard work presenting the most important optical researches from the earliest times. A reliable, comprehensive work when material of this special nature is needed

E. C. C. Baly's "Spectroscopy" (3d ed v1-3 1924-1927 Longmans v1 $5, v2 $6, v3 $7.50; v1 14s, v2 18s, v3 22s 6d) is a standard text on the subject which is noted here for the benefit of large libraries. To be complete in 4 volumes

Luckiesh, Matthew
Color and its applications. 2d ed enl 1921 Van Nostrand o.p. 1933 535.6
1 Color 21-5168
"Authoritative work on the science of color, with special reference to applications, including color mixture, color vision, color photography, color in lighting, in painting, and in stage and display effects. Embodies results of author's own valuable research work." Pittsburgh
"A very useful general treatise on colour which includes 130 well-selected diagrams, curves, and tables, so that for very many purposes the book will be found sufficient in itself. But at the end of every section references are given to other text-books and to original papers to facilitate a more extended study." Nature
The author's "Language of color" (1918 Dodd $2.50) is a psychological and historical treatment of color which attempts to calculate the effect of color in arousing emotions and in portraying ideas

Miskella, William James
Practical color simplified. (Practical finishing ser. v1) 1928 Finishing research laboratories $3.50 535.6

536.5 Pyrometry

Wood, William Platt, and Cork, James Murle
Pyrometry. 1927 McGraw $3; 18s 536.5
1 Pyrometers and pyrometry 27-18668
"Intended as a textbook for college students, but useful to the operating man as a reference. Describes the apparatus employed, their construction and use, and has chapters on transition points and thermal analysis, and on refractory materials used in pyrometry. An appendix contains a list of applications of pyrometry and useful tables. Problems and laboratory experiments accompany some of the chapters. Authors are [1933] respectively professor of mechanical engineering and associate professor of physics, University of Michigan." Donald Hendry

537 ELECTRICITY

Two college texts which are recommended where more books of this type are needed are:

Loeb, L. B. Fundamentals of electricity and magnetism. 1931 Wiley $4; Chapman 20s

Zeleny, Anthony. Elements of electricity. 1930 McGraw $3; 18s

Burns, Elmer Ellsworth

‡ Electricity; a study of first principles. 1930 Van Nostrand $1.75 537

1 Electricity 2 Electric engineering 31-554

"Designed as a high school textbook for beginners in the study of electricity. Has a place in general libraries for home study purposes." Donald Hendry

Gibson, Charles Robert

Electrical conceptions of to-day; a lucid explanation of the latest theories concerning atoms, electrons & other matters relating to electricity. 1933 Lippincott $5; Seeley 12s 6d 537

1 Electricity 33-36975

A reprint of a book first published 1928 under title: "Modern conceptions of electricity" and still available in England under that title

"For the benefit of the non-scientifically trained reader the author discusses the electrical structure of matter, the positive particle, radium and radioactivity, crystal construction, ether waves, vacuum tubes, the spectroscope, terrestrial magnetism, etc." Donald Hendry

"Dr. Gibson's is the kind of book whose study definitely enlarges the mind as to the plan of the universe. A study such as this of the nuclear structure of atoms, of the orbits of electrons, of thermionic valves, spectroscopes, and modern ideas about matter will reveal how sadly deficient is the knowledge of the average middle-aged person who considers himself educated. . . If our descendants are to use these powers aright, we should at least come to nodding terms with them ourselves. Dr. Gibson acts the part of introducer with charming courtesy." Spectator

Greenwood, Ernest

Amber to amperes; the story of electricity. 1931 Harper o.p. 1933 537

1 Electricity—Hist. 31-2449

"The story of electricity in its relation to the social and historical background of its development. Thales, the Greek philosopher, in 600 B. C., studying amber and wondering why it attracted other substances when rubbed, is Mr. Greenwood's starting point, and he ends with Dr. George W. Crile of our own day wondering if that same property of amber created and constructed the living organism." N.Y. Times

"A welcome influence to poetize prosaic electricity. . . The book is a mine of information, from which the engineer can enliven his thinking, his speaking, and his literary efforts." Elec. world

* Elementary book on electricity and magnetism and their applications. rev and enl by N. H. Black. 1919 Macmillan $2.20 537

1 Electricity 2 Magnetism 19-6431

This textbook has been rewritten and enlarged by one of the authors of the Black and Davis' "Practical physics." The authors "have in mind two types of readers: first, the student who has had one year's work in physics and who wants a course in applied electricity; and second, the general reader who is interested in or handles electrical machinery and who wants to know how and why it works."

Another elementary book on electricity is "Practical electricity for beginners," by G. A. Willoughby (rev ed 1932 Manual arts press $1) It was written for boys and intended to be used as a textbook in schools or for home study

First published in 1910

"The present edition is a complete revision, enlarged by 71 pages. An excellent textbook especially adapted for use in trade, industrial and technical high schools. Each chapter is provided with problems, the answers to which may be obtained in a separate pamphlet at a cost of twenty-five cents." Donald Hendry

537.5 X-rays. Photocells

Clark, George Lindenberg

* Applied X-rays. 2d ed 1932 McGraw $5; 30s 537.5

1 X rays 32-33283

This book on applied X-rays, first published in 1927, has been almost entirely rewritten in order to make the material up-to-date. It "is concerned primarily with the practical side and, of the two parts into which it is divided, the first and shorter part is concerned with the details of tubes and equipment, spectra, chemical analysis, absorption and scattering, radiography and chemical, physical and biological effects. In the second part, nearly 300 pages are devoted to the X-ray analysis of the ultimate structures of materials." Nature

"The author does present a clear and understandable picture for the layman, and likewise provides the serious student with copious references to the original literature." Industrial and engineering chemistry

X-ray technology; the production, measurement and application of X-rays. 1930 Van Nostrand $4.50; Chapman 21s 537.5

1 X rays 30-6967

"It has been the purpose in preparing this book to present the practical rather than the theoretical aspects of X-ray measurements as they are inevitably encountered by all who choose to work in the X-ray laboratory." Preface

Zworykin, Vladimir Kosma, and Wilson, Earl de Witt

Photocells and their application. 2d ed 2d printing 1934 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 537.5

1 Photoelectric cells 34-7643

In the 1934 printing the chapter on the photocell in television is revised and expanded

"The second edition is a considerable enlargement of the first. It constitutes a valuable account of photoelectric cells of all kinds, but more particularly of the photo-emissive type. The history of the photoelectric effect is given and is followed by an account of the production of alkali metal films and composite films and of the various processes of manufacture of cells. Circuits suitable for detection are described for all types of cells, photoconductive and photovoltaic as well as emissive, and sufficient theory is given to make the account of value. Applications to photometry, facsimile transmission and television are also included." Nature

"Photoelectric cell applications" by R. C. Walker and T. M. C. Lance (1933 Pitman $2.50; 7s 6d) is an English book which describes the uses of the photoelectric cells in television, talking pictures, electrical alarms, counting devices, etc.

537.85 Electroplating

Blum, William, and Hogaboom, George Byron

* Principles of electroplating and electroforming (electrotyping). 2d ed 1930 McGraw $4.50; 27s 537.85

1 Electroplating 2 Electrotyping 30-5924

First published 1924. The second edition has been brought up-to-date and a chapter on chromium plating added

"Presents the principles underlying electrodeposition, to assist those in the industry to understand and apply the results of research work. The practical plater will find many sound suggestions on his everyday problems and on the many details leading up to successful electrodeposition." Pittsburgh

Georg Langbein's "Electro-deposition of metals; tr. with additions by W. T. Brannt" (9th ed 1924 Baird $7.50) is a standard comprehensive work now rather out of date in some sections

"Electroplating with chromium, copper and nickel" by Benjamin Freeman, and F. G. Hoppe (1930 Prentice-Hall $5; Pitman 21s) is a practical manual which will be useful when this material is needed

Richards, Edward Samuel

Chromium plating; a text-book for the practical electro-plater, the production engineer and the student. 1932 Lippincott $3.50; Griffin 7s 6d 537.85

1 Chromium-plating 32-25120

"Intended for those who are already acquainted with the process . . . and deals chiefly with the practical production of the plate and the best methods of ensuring outputs of the highest class. The chemical and theoretical considerations are not given a great deal of space." Preface

538 Magnetism. Electromagnets

Underhill, Charles Reginald

Magnets. 1924 McGraw $4; 20s 538

1 Electromagnets 25-335

"A practical treatise on electromagnetic devices, their circuits, and the specific forms and characteristics of electromagnets and permanent magnets employed." Subtitle

"Up-to-date and authoritative treatise on a subject which has had but a meager literature in monograph book form." Donald Hendry

The author's "Solenoids, electromagnets and electromagnetic windings" (2d ed rev 1914 Van Nostrand) supplies practically all the material available in English on solenoids. It is now, 1933, unfortunately out of print

539 Molecular physics

Crowther, James Arnold

Molecular physics and the electrical theory of matter. (Textbooks of chemical research and engineering) 4th ed 1927 Blakiston $2.50; Churchill 7s 6d 539

1 Molecular theory 2 Electrons 3 Atoms 4 Matter [28-12229]

"Fairly simple account of electrons and atoms. To make room for developments since publication of the 3d ed. the accounts of early theories have been abbreviated. Author is [1933] Professor of Physics in the University of Reading, England." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Excellent when needed but perhaps not necessary in all small public libraries

539.7 Radioactivity

"Radiations from radioactive substances" by Sir Ernest Rutherford, James Chadwick and C. D. Ellis (1930 Macmillan $6.50; Cambridge univ. press 25s) is an authoritative work, noted for the benefit of larger libraries. It is an account of the radiations from active matter and their applications to physical problems

Hevesy, Georg, and Paneth, Fritz
Manual of radioactivity; tr. by R. W. Lawson. 1926 Oxford $4.50; 15s 539.7
1 Radioactivity 26-17699

"The present edition is not a literal translation of the original; it is essentially a new edition, and we have availed ourselves of the opportunity of incorporating the results of scientific advances made since the appearance of the first German edition." Preface to the English edition

"For students of physics, chemistry and medicine, who have had no special grounding in the subject. Covers the whole field in the manner of a text-book. . . . First German edition was published in 1923." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

* First principles of chemistry by R. B. Brownlee, R. W. Fuller, W. J. Hancock, M. D. Sohon, and J. E. Whitsit. 1931 Allyn $1.80 540
1 Chemistry 31-14510

Based on "Elementary principles of chemistry" by the same authors. Increased emphasis is placed on chemical principles and on teaching. Learning exercises have been added in each chapter. Planned primarily as a text for use in high schools

Clarke, Beverly Leonidas
* Marvels of modern chemistry. 1932 Harper $3; 12s 6d 540
1 Chemistry 32-24660

Planned as a successor to Ellwood Hendrick's "Everyman's chemistry"

"A popular book for the general reader on organic and inorganic chemistry, introducing him to theories, facts and new discoveries, and their application to industry today. The many marginless photographs have no apparent connection with the text. Short bibliography, index." N.Y. libraries

Deming, Horace Grove
Introductory college chemistry. 1933 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 540

‡ Spirit of chemistry; an introduction to chemistry for students of the liberal arts. 1930 Longmans $3.75, students ed $3; 10s 6d 540
1 Chemistry 2 Chemistry, Technical 30-27091

"The form and content of this book have been chosen so as to make appeal to the imagination and intellectual interests of those who are not destined for a scientific career, but who desire to understand something of the intellectual progress of recent years and to gain some knowledge of a branch of science on which much of our present-day civilization is based." Preface

"A sound and carefully planned treatment of chemistry for the non-professional student, framed withal in a very attractive and readable form. In evolving it, the author has carried out a noteworthy experiment in chemical exposition, and, in our opinion, has amply fulfilled the purpose indicated in his preface." Nature

Foster, William
Elements of chemistry. 2d ed 1932 Van Nostrand $3 540
1 Chemistry 32-25969

First published 1925. In the second edition the text has been rearranged, some new material and problems added, and the whole book revised in accordance with suggestions and criticisms made by other teachers

"Course for beginners, but presents more material than will be taught in most secondary schools. Includes considerable descriptive matter, a little history, and many portraits of chemists." Pittsburgh

* Romance of chemistry. 1927 Appleton-Century $3; Allen, G. 12s 540

1 Chemistry 27-9437

"A well written, non-technical account of the part which chemistry plays in everyday life. Covers the fields of medicine, manufacturing, and domestic industry." Pittsburgh

Kendall, James

* At home among the atoms; a first volume of candid chemistry. 1929 Appleton-Century $3; Bell, G. 7s 6d 540

1 Chemistry 29-4889

"The author has a disarmingly informal approach to his subject. He manages this introduction to chemistry with a maximum of ease for the reader, striving to make him feel as much as possible at home among the atoms and the men who live with them. The book is good supplementary reading for high school and college courses in chemistry." Book rev. digest

"A readable popular exposition. . . If you read this book you'll have a fairly clear idea of what modern chemistry is trying to do." Outlook

McPherson, William; Henderson, William Edwards, and Fowler, George Winegar

Chemistry for today. 1930 Ginn $1.80 540

1 Chemistry 30-10528

"This volume may be classed as one of the elementary texts to be used by the younger student or the reader who understands very little of chemistry and wishes to study by himself." Providence

Naylor, Nellie May, and Le Vesconte, Amy Marie

Introductory chemistry with household applications. (Century chemistry ser.) 1933 Appleton-Century $2.60 540

1 Chemistry 33-12005

"The principles of chemistry required as a foundation for more advanced courses are here studied in their relation to the field of home economics with illustrations familiar to the experience of the college freshman and drawn mainly from home life. The authors are [1933] teachers of chemistry at Iowa State College and Baylor College, Belton, Texas." Journal of home economics

Prescott, Frederick

Modern chemistry; the romance of modern chemical discoveries. 1932 Van Nostrand $3; Low 12s 6d 540

1 Chemistry 2 Chemistry, Technical [32-18224]

"Copiously illustrated general chemistry, written in a semi-popular style, with chapters on the scope and development of chemistry, the atom and beyond, the chemical elements, the story of radium, chemistry in the service of electricity, metals and alloys, fuels and illuminants, the nitrogen problem, explosives, cellulose products, color chemistry, harnessing microörganisms, and chemistry versus disease." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Sadtler, Samuel Schmucker

Chemistry of familiar things. 6th ed rev and enl 1930 Lippincott $3; 15s 540

1 Chemistry 2 Chemistry, Technical 30-19930

In the sixth edition a chapter on rayon has been added. Otherwise it is practically a reprint of the fifth edition

"A non-technical survey and explanation of the chemistry of everyday life, for the general reader. Discusses such subjects as air, water, food, metals, rocks, soil, textiles, chemical evolution and physiological chemistry. Readable and interesting." Cleveland

Smith, Alexander

Intermediate chemistry. rev and rewritten by James Kendall and E. E. Slosson 1922 Appleton-Century $3.25; Bell, G. 10s 540

1 Chemistry 22-10788

A work of high rank which gives much attention to practical applications

Two other texts by Alexander Smith which have been revised by James Kendall are "Smith's college chemistry" (rev ed 1929 Appleton-Century $3.75) and "Smith's introductory college chemistry" (1931 Appleton-Century $3.25; 10s 6d) written for those who have not had high school chemistry. James Kendall's "General chemistry" (1927 Appleton-Century $3.50) is a text based on those by Alexander Smith

Timm, John Arrend

Introduction to chemistry, a pandemic text. (International chemical ser.) 2d ed 1932 McGraw $3.50; 21s 540

1 Chemistry 32-12930

First published 1930. In the second edition, the mathematical treatment of the theory has been made less difficult, a chapter on the ceramics industry has been added, and all the subject matter has been brought up to date

"Intended not only to serve as a general text, but also to give liberal arts students some idea of the philosophy and early application of physical science." Cleveland

540.3 Chemistry—Dictionaries. Tables

"Chemical synonyms and trade names; a dictionary and commercial handbook" by William Gardner (3d ed 1926 Van Nostrand $8; Lockwood, C. 30s) is a book which will be useful to industrial chemists especially

Chemical rubber company, Cleveland

Handbook of chemistry and physics. 18th ed comp. by C. D. Hodgman 1933 Chemical rubber pub. co. $6 540.3

1 Chemistry—Tables, etc. 2 Physics—Tables, etc. 34-832

Frequently revised. In the 18th edition the table of "Physical constants of inorganic compounds" has been revised and enlarged

Gives "in condensed form as large an amount of accurate, reliable and up-to-date information in the fields of chemistry and physics as was consistent with convenience in form and the possibility of wide utility and distribution. A very large proportion of the tables have been compiled especially for the Handbook from various authoritative collections of data and from the current journals." Preface

Another valuble handbook for the industrial chemist but less up-to-date is "Van Nostrand's chemical annual" (Van Nostrand $5; Chapman 21s) First volume published 1907 but not issued yearly

Hackh, Ingo Waldemar Dagobert

* Chemical dictionary. 1929 Blakiston $10; Churchill 45s 540.3

1 Chemistry—Dictionaries 29-24910

"A cross between a dictionary and a small encyclopedia. In addition to defining terms, it states theories, laws and rules, describes elements and compounds, lists important reactions and processes, mentions chemical apparatus and equipment, and notes names of investigators who have built up the science, with their dates and an indication of their line of specialization. Arrangement is alphabetical and pronunciations are indicated." Mudge

"One of the most valuable contributions to chemical literature that has appeared in recent years. . . Places the English-speaking chemist practically independent of similar works in other languages." Henry Leffmann in Journal of the Franklin institute

"Condensed chemical dictionary" (2d ed rev and enl 1930 Chemical catalog co. $10) is another good reference tool "for all requiring quick access to a large amount of essential data regarding chemicals, and other substances used in manufacturing and laboratory work."

Kingzett, Charles Thomas
Chemical encyclopædia; an epitomized digest of chemistry and its industrial applications. 5th ed 1932 Van Nostrand $10; Bailliere 35s 540.3

1 Chemistry—Dictionaries [Agr32-1212]

First published under title: "Popular chemical dictionary." The fifth edition has been enlarged by over 200 pages. Many new subjects are added and the bibliographical references augmented

"The information, without extending into long articles, is usually full enough to give a good idea of the subject, and care seems to have been taken to bring it as nearly as possible up to date." Chemical age

Patterson, Austin McDowell
French-English dictionary for chemists. 1921 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 540.3

1 Chemistry—Dictionaries 2 French language—Dictionaries 21-8638

The use of this book and the similar German-English one listed below will depend largely on how many foreign periodicals and reference books the library has. Some libraries will not need either of these books

"A helpful work, for which there is a distinct need. It contains nearly 400 pages of dictionary matter, embracing most terms in ordinary use. Apart from words of exact chemical significance, most lay terms accessory to technical expressions are included." Chemical trade journal and chemical engineer

German-English dictionary for chemists. 1924 Wiley $2.50; Chapman 15s 6d 540.3

1 Chemistry—Dictionaries 2 German language—Dictionaries 24-24878

First published 1917. Reprinted with addenda

"The scope of the book is broader than the title would seem to indicate. It gives English meanings, not only of German words occurring in the literature of general and industrial chemistry, but includes words used in scientific and technical German literature generally, as well as a good German vocabulary. Very useful to anyone who has occasion to read German scientific or technical books or periodicals." Donald Hendry

540.9 Chemistry—History

Two books tracing the history and development of chemistry which will be useful if more titles are needed are:

Cushman, A. S. Chemistry and civilization. 2d ed 1925 Dutton $2.15; Livingstone 15s

Masson, J. I. O. Three centuries of chemistry; phases in the growth of a science. 1926 Macmillan $3; Benn 10s 6d

Darrow, Floyd Lavern
‡ Story of chemistry. Blue ribbon bks. $1 540.9

1 Chemistry—Hist. 27-21151

A reprint of the revised edition published by Bobbs Merrill, 1930. The 1930 edition has a new introduction. The rest of the book is a reprint of the 1927 edition and tells of the development of chemistry since the days of the alchemists

"Intelligent readers without up-to-date knowledge of industrial chemistry will learn a lot from the book and perhaps even catch some of the author's evident enthusiasm for his subject." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

Bibliography: [illegible]

Hale, William Jay
Chemistry triumphant; the rise and reign of chemistry in a chemical world. (Century of progress ser.) 1932 Williams & Wilkins $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 540.9

1 Chemistry—Hist. 2 Chemistry, Technical—Hist. 33-1128

"The author begins with a discussion of civilization at the chemical threshold and in a series of brief paragraphs describes the fundamental forces which have contributed to what we call modern civilization. The second and third chapters, in which chemistry is introduced more specifically, are evidently not intended to engage the attention of those without some chemical background and some familiarity with chemical terminology. . . The triumph of chemistry is to come when nature and man effect that which only nature heretofore controlled, and the author foresees the time when whatever the race requires will be produced without fear of exhausting natural resources, through chemical application in a degree as yet little imagined." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Making of chemistry. 1930 Day $2 540.9

1 Chemistry—Hist. 30-6166

Published in Canada under title: Chemistry in the making

"A history of chemistry interpreted thru a study of the personalities who have most affected its progress. The book is written for the non-scientific reader, and therefore disconcerting technical expositions have been avoided. The important discoveries are discussed, and their significance in modern industrial chemistry stressed. The final chapters are given over entirely to the relation of chemistry to industry." Holmyard, Eric John
* Makers of chemistry. 1931 Oxford $2.50; 7s 6d 540.9

1 Chemistry—Hist. 2 Chemists 31-28021

"Dr. Holmyard's 'Makers of Chemistry' is something more than a series of biographical sketches of eminent chemists. . . The book is, indeed, a history of 'the noble science'; further, it is decidedly the best and brightest of the short histories of chemistry with which the present reviewer is acquainted. . . The presentation of the chemical story is enhanced by the author's knack of providing it at intervals with a thumb-nail suggestion of its general historical setting. There is a wealth of illustrations, admirably selected and reproduced. The text, moreover, abounds in quotations from original sources." Nature

Moore, Forris Jewett
History of chemistry. (International chemical ser.) 2d ed 1931 McGraw $3; 15s 540.9

1 Chemistry—Hist. 31-27238

of American chemists. "The general plan of the book remains unchanged, though with the addition of new material the content has increased approximately five per cent. Recently discovered data have in a few cases necessitated the restatement of facts." Preface to the second edition

"A brief history of the progress of chemical science based on talks to the author's classes of senior students of chemistry in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The book would also interest the educated general reader. . . Literature references accompany each chapter." Donald Hendry

Tilden, Sir William Augustus

* Chemical discovery and invention in the twentieth century. 3d ed rev 1919 Dutton $4; Routledge 12s 6d 540.9

1 Chemistry—Hist. [17-21524]

"In this edition some additional information has been supplied in several chapters, notably in connection with the introduction of poisonous gases into modern warfare." Preface

"A work as useful as it is accurate and interesting. The book is admirably got up and excellently illustrated, and constitutes a worthy addition to popular chemical literature." Nature

541 THEORETICAL AND PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY

Nernst, Walther

Theoretical chemistry from the standpoint of Avogadro's rule & thermodynamics; rev. in accordance with the 8th-10th German ed, by L. W. Codd. 5th ed 1923 Macmillan $7; 28s 541

1 Chemistry, Physical and theoretical 30-5714

A standard and extensive treatment of the field of physical and theoretical chemistry. Some smaller libraries may not need this book. First English edition published in 1895

541.2 Atomic theory

J. C. Gregory's "Short history of atomism from Democritus to Bohr" (1931 Macmillan $3.50; Black, A. & C. 10s 6d) is a detailed history with good indexes

Harrow, Benjamin

Romance of the atom. 1927 Liveright o.p. 1933 541.2

1 Atoms 2 Chemistry, Physical and theoretical 27-5577

"Good non-technical account of the nature of atoms and of atomic structure, written from the historic point of view. Contains three chapters on 'Science and life.'" Pittsburgh

"What Dr. Harrow does in this and his other books is to restore in part the human and historic alloy and so present science as a growing, living thing. In 'The Romance of the Atom' he has not added fairy fancies and rhetorical flourishes; he has simply put back the pure crystal into the earthly matrix from which it had been freed." E. E. Slosson in Literary rev.

Hudson, Ralph Gorton

Electronics. 1932 Wiley $2; Chapman 12s 6d 541.2

1 Electrons 32-21779

"An excellent book of its type. An attempt to explain to the general reader the electron the reader. Author is [1934] professor of electrical engineering, Massachusetts Institute of Technology." Donald Hendry

The electron, its isolation and measurement and the determination of some of its properties. (Univ. of Chicago science ser.) 2d ed 1924 Univ. of Chicago press $2.50 541.2

1 Electrons 24-28280

"The purpose of this volume is to present the evidence for the atomic structure of electricity, to describe some of the properties of the electron, and to discuss the bearing of these properties upon the two most important problems of modern physics: the structure of the atom and the nature of electromagnetic radiation." Pratt quarterly

Russell, Bertrand Arthur William Russell, 3d earl

1 Atoms 23-15056

"A very clearly written summary of recent knowledge regarding the constitution of matter. The style is so simple that the book may be intelligently read by those without previous knowledge of physical science." Pittsburgh

"Mr. Russell's little book is a masterpiece of lucid exposition. It is written for the layman and demands practically no previous knowledge of the subject, yet it is the kind of book which may be read with profit by persons of every degree of knowledge of modern physics and chemistry." New statesman

Soddy, Frederick

1 Atoms 2 Radioactivity 32-31894

"Written to take the place of 'The interpretation of radium,' first published in 1909, the fourth edition of which has long been out of print. Like the earlier work, it is intended primarily for the general reader interested in the great advances in our knowledge of the nature of matter and the structure of the atom." Preface

"This is a highly valuable treatise, complete in its information, both on the historical and on the theoretical side, and enriched with many diagrams and plates. It has the added interest of coming from one of the first experimenters in the field. But Professor Soddy's interests extend beyond science, and we may pardon his few diversions into economics for one striking and apparently true epigram: 'Mankind, which has struggled so long to exist, now exists to struggle.'" Times (London) lit. sup.

Hilditch, Thomas Percy
Catalytic processes in applied chemistry. (Monographs on applied chemistry, v2) 1929 Van Nostrand $6; Chapman 16s 541.3

1 Catalysis 2 Chemistry, Technical [29-16998]

"Gives the general principles of catalytic action and their application in chemical practice, both organic and inorganic." Pittsburgh

"Professor Hilditch's book on catalysis is a straightforward readable statement of the facts. He covers the field in a most excellent manner and though he hasn't gone into any great detail concerning specific cases, nevertheless he has proportioned his material in a common sense manner." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

Introductory course in physical chemistry. 1932 Van Nostrand $3.75; Chapman 21s 541.3

1 Chemistry, Physical and theoretical 32-25874

"The usual material of physical chemistry is well presented. In addition the authors discuss new developments such as Stern's work on molecular rays, para and ortho hydrogen, wave mechanics, Debye-Huckel theory, etc." Journal of chemical education

Taylor, Hugh Stott
Elementary physical chemistry. 1927 Van Nostrand $3.75; Macmillan 16s 541.3

1 Chemistry, Physical and theoretical 27-13804

"It is adapted from the two-volume 'Treatise of Physical Chemistry' which appeared under the author's editorship some three years ago. A need has been felt in several quarters for a single volume of a more elementary nature which should follow the general lines of development in the larger treatise, without, however, its detail. This book is offered in response to such a demand. . . The treatment seems to the reviewer to be distinctly formal and essentially superficial." Journal of physical chemistry

The author has edited "Treatise on physical chemistry" (2d ed 2v 1931 Van Nostrand $15; Macmillan ca 30s) for the advanced student and research specialist, a co-operative effort by sixteen eminent chemists

Walker, Sir James
* Introduction to physical chemistry. 10th ed 1927 Macmillan $4.50; 16s 541.3

1 Chemistry, Physical and theoretical [22-20980]

"Room has been found in the present revised edition for the incorporation of new material, and for the presentation of certain newer points of view and newer methods of treatment, without the volume being augmented in size." Preface to the tenth edition

"It need only be said that the salient features of the new knowledge are expounded with admirable clearness, and if the reader has a grievance, it will probably be in the nature of a complaint that Professor Walker's account of these entrancing developments is all too brief. . . It not infrequently happens that a pioneer work of this character is superseded in the course of time by competitive treatises, but the care with which the successive editions have been revised is such that Walker's book may be said to stand almost alone in its class as an introductory exposition of the principles of physical chemistry." Chemical age

541.34 Colloids

Alexander, Jerome
Colloid chemistry; principles and applications. (Industrial chemical monographs) 3d ed 1929 Van Nostrand $3; Chapman 15s 541.34

1 Colloids 30-435

The third edition has been enlarged in both the theoretical section and in the practical applications. An appendix has been added to aid the modest experimenter

"Effort has been made to develop the subject in a simple, coherent, and interesting manner, using as far as possible, non-technical language and homely illustrations." Preface to second edition

Emil Hatschek's "Introduction to the physics and chemistry of colloids" (5th ed 1925 Blakiston $2.25; Churchill 7s 6d) has been suggested as desirable for a general elementary work

Bancroft, Wilder Dwight
Applied colloid chemistry; general theory. (International chemical ser.) 3d ed 1932 McGraw $4; 24s 541.34

1 Colloids 32-24240

First published 1921. Arrangement remains the same in this third edition, results of recent research are included and references to recent literature have been collected in a 35-page bibliography

"Reviews the present knowledge of adsorption, surface tension, Brownian movements, coalescence, preparation and properties of solutions. Later chapters deal with jellies and gelatinous precipitates, emulsions and foams, non-aqueous solutions, fog and smoke, gases and solids in solids, and the thickness of surface films. . . Abundant foot-note citations." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Weiser, Harry Boyer
Inorganic colloid chemistry. v 1 1933 Wiley $4.50; Chapman 28s 541.34

1 Colloids 2 Chemistry, Inorganic 33-19070

Contents: v 1 The colloidal elements

"A critical survey of the colloidal behavior of the elements and their inorganic compounds with particular reference to the rôle they have played in the development of the theories and applications of colloidal science." Preface

"The treatment is admirably clear and practical and the literature has been exhaustively covered to within a recent period. . . This is an authoritative work which cannot fail to be useful both in research and industrial laboratories, whilst students will find it a very clear introduction to general colloid science." Nature

541.37 Electrochemistry

Creighton, Henry Jermain Maude
Principles and applications of electrochemistry. v 1 Principles. 2d ed 1928 Wiley $4; Chapman 25s 541.37

1 Electrochemistry (28-12522)

Volume 2, Applications of electrochemistry by C. G. Fink, in preparation 1934

"The work is intended to be used as a textbook by students of chemistry and as a reference for chemical engineers and others interested in the subject. The present volume considers the principles and general theory of electrochemistry. Problems accompany the chapters, and literature references are provided.

An acceptable contribution which has met with a favorable reception in a field where up-to-date English language literature was wanting. Author is [1932] professor of chemistry, Swarthmore College." Donald Hendry

Bibliographical footnotes and references at ends of most chapters

Thompson, Maurice de Kay

Theoretical and applied electrochemistry. rev ed 1925 Macmillan $4.50; 22s 6d 541.37

1 Electrochemistry 25-2889

"Ed. 1 appeared in 1911 with title 'Applied electrochemistry'; the present ed. has been made to include the theoretical aspects of the subject, which presupposes on the part of the reader a general knowledge of physics and chemistry and preferably a course in physical chemistry. It is an excellent textbook, and a useful reference for the chemical engineer. Author is [1933] professor of electrochemistry in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology." Donald Hendry

"This volume of over 900 pages, by chemists of the United States Bureau of Standards, stresses the careful preparation of the solution for the determination that is to be made. Part 1 deals with apparatus and reagents, common and special operations, and the methods of volumetric analysis. Part 11 treats of the determination of the elements, the analysis of silicate rocks, carbonate rocks, soda lime glass, and minerals of high alumina content." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"No one in this country, perhaps in the world, was better qualified to write such a volume than the distinguished senior author with his great analytical experience. His death in 1925 interrupted the work which has now finished in a most competent manner by the junior author." American journal of science

"Chemical analysis of iron and steel" by G. E. F. Lundell, J. I. Hoffman and H. A. Bright (1931 Wiley $7; Chapman 42s) is an expensive book useful for both the beginner and the experienced analytical chemist in this field

The book cannot fail to be of great service to food chemists and others who desire to learn how these groups of foods are constituted structurally and chemically." American chemical society. Journal

William Clayton's "Colloid aspects of food chemistry and technology" (1932 Blakiston $8; Churchill 36s) is another expensive book which deals with a special aspect of food chemistry

544 QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS

Prescott, Albert Benjamin, and Johnson, Otis Coe

Qualitative chemical analysis. 1933 Van Nostrand $4.50 544

1 Chemistry, Analytic 2 Chemistry, Inorganic 33-10396

This textbook for college students was first published more than thirty years ago. The present adapters [Roy K. McAlpine and Byron A. Soule] professors at the University of Michigan have attempted "to retain the excellent features of the older text, and at the same time to expand or to modify certain parts of it in such a way as to make it more useful as a text to accompany the present courses in qualitative analysis." Preface

"While not so detailed as to exact procedures as some other good texts, mastery of this book affords a sound and ample basis upon which to build an enduring structure of chemical analytical knowledge. . . . The style is simple, direct, and understandable." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Smith, Donald Pritchard, and Miller, Henry Keppele

Introduction to qualitative chemical analysis and the related chemical principles. (International chemical ser.) 1928 McGraw $2.25; 11s 3d 544

1 Chemistry, Analytic 28-28563

A good book for libraries needing a separate volume on the subject

"The present textbook has been made to embrace alternative outlines for courses of laboratory instruction, a manual of qualitative analytical methods, a discussion of principles and theories, and appendices which deal with manipulations, reagents, and other subsidiary matters." Preface

546 INORGANIC CHEMISTRY

Two comprehensive treatises which will be useful in larger or special libraries are:

Friend, J. A. N., ed. Text-book of inorganic chemistry. 11v in 16 1914-31 Lippincott ea $10 to $20; Griffin ea 18s to 42s Two additional volumes in preparation, 1934

Mellor, J. W. Comprehensive treatise on inorganic and theoretical chemistry. v 1-12 1922-33 Longmans ea $20; ea 63s Volume 13 is in preparation, 1934

Foster, William

* Inorganic chemistry for colleges. 1929 Van Nostrand $3.90 546

1 Chemistry, Inorganic 29-14014

"An excellent textbook, clear, comprehensive, attractively printed and up-to-date. Valuable features are unusually full lists of exercises, reading references and problems. The author gives more than he promises to in his title, for he includes in his 'Inorganic chemistry' seventy pages on carbon compounds with useful information about the foods of animals and plants." Science news-letter

Latimer, Wendell Mitchell, and Hildebrand, Joel Henry

Reference book of inorganic chemistry. 1929 Macmillan $3.75; 20s 546

1 Chemistry, Inorganic 29-1446

"Essential chemical facts are presented concisely and in due relation to other facts and principles in such a way as to prove useful not only to college freshmen but to advanced students, teachers and industrial chemists. Includes a glossary and numerous tables. Authors are [1933] professors in the University of California." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Mellor, Joseph William

Elementary inorganic chemistry. 1930 Longmans $1.50; 3s 6d 546

1 Chemistry, Inorganic 30-17416

A textbook somewhat more advanced and yet more compact in form than the author's earlier "Introduction to modern inorganic chemistry"

"The present little work for beginners presents essentials in a clear, simple manner with numerous illustrations and interesting references to the men who have developed the science. At the chapter endings are questions 'to make the reader think.'" N.Y. public lib. New technical books

The author's "Intermediate inorganic chemistry" (1930 Longmans $3; 7s 6d) originally published as "Introduction to modern inorganic chemistry" is for less advanced students than his "Modern inorganic chemistry"

* Modern inorganic chemistry. 8th ed 1933 Longmans $4.25; 12s 6d 546

1 Chemistry, Inorganic 34-8183

First published 1912; thoroly revised for the sixth edition, 1925. The eighth edition contains only minor additions and corrections

"Comprehensive work, well arranged and well written. Valuable text-book for advanced students." Pittsburgh

The author believes that the student receives more lasting benefit from the method rather than from the facts themselves and that from a general course of chemistry he should develop skill in observation, memory and knowledge of relevant facts, ability to reason and think in a logical systematic way, cultivation of the imagination; development of a critical and impartial judgment, and has planned his textbook on these lines. It gives a foundation knowledge of the principles and properties of the more important elements and compounds

Partington, James Riddick

Text-book of inorganic chemistry for university students. 4th ed 1934 Macmillan $4.25; 15s 546

1 Chemistry, Inorganic [33-15379]

First published 1921. Recent and rapid advances in research in this subject necessitated the present revision. Special emphasis is placed on Werner's theory, careful revision has been made on the material on active nitrogen and on the theory of atomic structure. Careful and thoro revision brings the entire book up to date

A text-book intended for students who have completed an introductory course, altho the treatment is elementary. First published 1921. In this edition new sections have been added and some of the old material has been simplified

Weeks, Mary Elvira

* Discovery of the elements. 1933 Journal of chemical educ. $2, pa $1.50 546

1 Chemical elements 2 Chemistry—Hist. 3 Chemists 33-13609

"Collected reprints of a series of articles published in the Journal of chemical education by Mary Elvira Weeks. Illustrations collected by F. B. Dains." Title page

An attempt to tell the stories of the discoveries and the discoverers of the chemical elements as a connected narrative

547 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY

Four useful textbooks in addition to those noted below are:
Bernthsen, August. Text book of organic chemistry. new ed 1931 Van Nostrand $4
Conant, J. B. Organic chemistry, a brief introductory course. 1928 Macmillan $2.60; 13s
Lewis, H. F. Fundamentals of organic chemistry. 1930 McGraw $2.75; 13s 9d
Williams, R. J. Introduction to organic chemistry. 2d ed 1931 Van Nostrand $3.50

Deming, Horace Grove

‡ In the realm of carbon; the story of organic chemistry. 1930 Wiley $3; Chapman 15s 547

1 Chemistry, Organic 30-13368

"This book is intended for the general reader who would like to know something of the manner in which organic chemistry grew and developed, and something of its contributions to the comforts and conveniences of modern life." Preface

" 'In the Realm of Carbon' undoubtedly will furnish a fascinating story for the lay reader and for students not specializing in chemistry, but it will be equally interesting and useful to research chemists, research directors, and also to many college professors. The book could have been improved by a more liberal use of charts and tables." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Holleman, Arnold Frederick

Textbook of organic chemistry. 7th ed rev 1930 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 21s 6d 547

1 Chemistry, Organic 30-23795

A well written college textbook which has been revised frequently. Emphasizes the theoretical side.

Lowy, Alexander, and Harrow, Benjamin

* Introduction to organic chemistry. 3d ed 1932 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 547

1 Chemistry, Organic 32-11889

First published 1924. The third edition brings the material up to date, adds information on aliphatic compounds. A new chart is included and various additions and revisions occur thruout the book

"Concise college text, presenting principles and important applications. Not intended as a laboratory manual but gives a brief outline for identification of organic compounds. Unique features are the glossary, the chapter on nomenclature, and the valuable charts on technology and uses of various products." Pittsburgh

Perkin, William Henry, and Kipping, Frederic Stanley

Organic chemistry. new ed by F. S. Kipping and F. B. Kipping 2v in 1 1932 Lippincott $3.50; Chambers 8s 6d 547

1 Chemistry, Organic (32-13554)

A textbook on theoretical chemistry which aims to treat the subject from a practical point of view as far as possible. The 1932 edition has been completely revised to bring it up to date

Porter, Charles Walter

Carbon compounds. 2d rev ed 1931 Ginn $4; 21s 547

1 Carbon compounds 2 Chemistry, Organic 31-8527

First published 1924. "The latest edition of this well-known text is not only revised but is, to a very large extent, rearranged and rewritten. . . The author has taken full advantage of the opportunity to improve an already excellent text." American chemical society. Journal

Reid, Ebenezer Emmet

Introduction to organic research. 1924 Van Nostrand $4.50; Constable 24s 547

1 Chemistry, Organic 2 Research 24-28865

This book, which will be valuable in libraries that serve the research worker, may not be needed in all small libraries

"A well written book on an important subject hitherto inadequately treated. Will be serviceable in a much more extended field than indicated by the title. It will be invaluable to research workers, and the discussion of laboratory and plant research should be suggestive to all chemists. Approximately one-third of the book is devoted to chemical literature, the use of libraries, and the writing of papers and reports. The information given on these latter topics should be of value to scientists and technical men in general." Pittsburgh

Chemical literature: p60-90

548 CRYSTALLOGRAPHY

E. S. Dana's "Text-book of mineralogy" (class 549) will be found to cover the field of crystallography sufficiently for most small libraries. If the library needs an entire book on the subject the one listed below is a good one

Barker, Thomas Vipond

Study of crystals; a general introduction. 1930 Murby 8s 6d 548

1 Crystallography 31-4803

"An excellent introduction to geometrical, chemical and physical crystallography, because it is so clearly and simply written. It can be understood by anyone who has an elementary knowledge, and who wishes to acquaint himself with modern aspects of the subject, especially from the point of view of theory." Economic geology

Evans, John William, and Davies, George MacDonald

Elementary crystallography. 1924 Van Nostrand $3.75; Murby 7s 6d 548

1 Crystallography [24-16637]

"The present text-book more than meets the requirements of the beginner. It is a clear, concise exposition of the external forms and symmetry of crystals as exemplified by eleven (the most important) of the thirty-two recognized classes of crystals; mineral substances are taken as types. . . To the private student especially, it should prove invaluable." Mining magazine

An authoritative and more advanced work on crystallography is "An introduction to crystal analysis," by Sir W. H. Bragg (1929 Van Nostrand $4.25; Bell, G. 12s)

549 MINERALOGY

Dana, Edward Salisbury

Textbook of mineralogy with an extended treatise on crystallography and physical mineralogy. 4th ed rev and enl by W. E. Ford. 1932 Wiley $5.50; Chapman 34s 549

1 Mineralogy 2 Crystallography 32-15714

"Certain additions and much revision, as compared with the third edition of 1922, have been made in this new edition of E. S. Dana's well-known textbook. The chief additions are two. The crystallography section now includes a short account of crystal structure, as revealed by X-ray analysis, which provides a good introduction to an increasingly important branch of mineralogy. A section entitled 'Origin, Mode of Occurrence and Association of Minerals' is new to this book, though much of it has appeared in Dana's 'Manual of Mineralogy.' " Nature

Dana, Edward S.—Continued

"This book is not to be confused with the author's more complete 'System of mineralogy,' of which the descriptive part of this volume is essentially an abridgement. The longer work has not been revised since 1909, however, so that the present book is more up-to-date in several respects. . . This volume covers the subjects of crystallography and physical mineralogy with particular emphasis." Engineering and mining journal-press

Dana, James Dwight

Dana's manual of mineralogy, by W. E. Ford. 14th ed 1929 Wiley $4; Chapman 20s 549

1 Mineralogy 29-20302

First published 1848. "A brief direct and non-technical treatise on minerals for elementary students of minerology, mining engineers, geologists, prospectors, and collectors." Detroit

Evans, John William

Determination of minerals under the microscope, with special reference to the interpretation of interference phenomena. 1928 Van Nostrand $2; Murby 7s 6d 549

1 Mineralogy [GS28-278]

"Amply diagramed introductory work devoid of advanced mathematics." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Kraus, Edward Henry, and Hunt, Walter Frederick

Mineralogy; an introduction to the study of minerals and crystals. 2d ed 1928 McGraw $5; 25s 549

1 Mineralogy 2 Crystallography 28-19779

"A direct and simple textbook for beginning students, including photographs and sketches of distinguished mineralogists. Describes one hundred and fifty minerals, and gives a tabular classification, showing elements of symmetry and the simple forms of the thirty-two classes of crystals. To this new edition has been added a chapter on crystal structure and X-ray analysis. The illustrations are numerous and excellent." Bkl.

Loomis, Frederic Brewster

‡ Field book of common rocks and minerals. 1923 Putnam $3.50 549

1 Mineralogy 2 Petrology 23-12584

"A simple, direct guide for the identification of minerals and rocks found in the U.S., together with explanations of the conditions under which they were formed. The arrangement is by groups about the chief metal. Well illustrated in color, and black and white." N.Y. state lib.

Bibliography: p269-71

Miller, Willet G.

Minerals and how they occur. rev by A. L. Parsons 1928 Copp $1.25 549

1 Mineralogy [GS6-646]

First published 1906. The revised edition retains the work of Dr. Miller as far as possible only changing it to make it in line with recent discoveries and location of important mines and minerals. Intended primarily for secondary schools but useful also to prospectors. Gives the chief characteristics of the more commonly occurring and more useful minerals and includes a brief outline of their origin. Especially valuable for Canadian libraries but good for other libraries, too

Spencer, Leonard James

World's minerals. 1916 Stokes $5; Chambers 12s 6d 549

1 Mineralogy 17-2694

First published 1911. The 1916 edition is a reprint with an appendix, by W. D. Hamman giving more recently discovered elements

"A popular work, describing the important minerals with mention of their practical uses. There are fairly accurate coloured reproductions of forty minerals." Ontario library review

Whitlock, Herbert Percy

* Story of the minerals. (American museum of natural history. Handbook ser.) 1925 Am. museum of natural hist. 75c 549

1 Mineralogy 26-10236

"The mineral curator [1933] of the American Museum of Natural History puts into simple and popular form the 'hows and whys' of mineralogy, the mathematics of crystals, the mimicry of minerals, the wonders wrought by water, and the change and decay of minerals, with descriptions of the better known types as shown in the collection under his charge. Well illustrated." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

550 GEOLOGY

"Elementary geology with special reference to Canada" by A. P. Coleman and W. A. Parks (1922 Dent 15s) is a good general geology for Canadian readers

Agar, William Macdonough; Flint, Richard Foster, and Longwell, Chester Ray (comps.)

Geology from original sources. 1929 Holt $3.75 550

1 Geology 29-14175

"A volume of collateral readings for the college student in general geology. Selections from the best literature on the various phases of geology are here organized for convenient use with any standard text." Industrial arts index

Bibliography at end of each chapter

Benson, Allan Louis

Story of geology. 1927 Farrar $1 550

1 Geology 27-19549

"Having absorbed the findings of the leading investigators, Mr Benson presents the facts underlying the modern theories of the earth's evolution and structure in a readable story, understandable to the average layman." Book rev. digest

"He is, obviously, subject to all the pitfalls awaiting anyone who attempts to sugar-coat the pill of organized knowledge for the benefit of the semi-serious reader. And one is forced to admit that he has avoided about as many of them as anyone can. He frequently sacrifices completeness; but completeness in such a book is out of the question. . . Mr. Benson's expository style is lively, frequently jocose. . . Yet when all is said, the story is interesting." American journal of science

Bibliography: p299-300

Bradley, John Hodgdon

* Earth and its history; a textbook of geology. 1928 Ginn $2.60; 13s 6d 550

1 Geology 28-2257

"This clearly written story of the earth is intended for use as a textbook in short elementary courses. The author has attempted to make the presentation as non-technical and as vivid as possible." Book rev. digest

"Richly illustrated account of structural and historical geology, including interesting chapters concerning the men who have made the science, and what practical results mankind owes to geological knowledge. Adapted to a one year's course and to the needs of the general reader." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Brewster, Edwin Tenny

This puzzling planet. 1928 Bobbs $4 550

1 Geology 2 Earth 28-22838

"The earth's unfinished story; how men have read it in the past, and how the wayfarer may read it now." Subtitle

Brewster, Edwin T.—Continued

"Both the author and the reading public are to be congratulated upon the appearance of this work. The method of treatment is clear and unencumbered by unnecessary details. Mr. Brewster is well read in his subject and has the faculty of expressing himself clearly without too great an attempt at profundity." Sat. rev. of lit.

Chamberlin, Thomas Chrowder, and Salisbury, Rollin D.

College text-book of geology. 2d ed rev by R. T. Chamberlin and Paul MacClintock. 2v 1930-33 Holt v 1 $3, v2 $4.50 550

An authoritative and well written text for first year college students. Contents: v 1 Geologic processes and their results; v2 Historical geology

Two other textbooks for college use are: "Introductory geology; a text-book for colleges" by T. C. Chamberlin and R. D. Salisbury (1914 Holt $3) an abbreviation and simplification of their "College textbook of geology" and A. W. Grabau's "Textbook of geology" (2v 1920 Holt ea $6; Harrap ea 25s) a useful reference book containing many examples and illustrations

Hotchkiss, William Otis

Story of a billion years. (Century of progress ser.) 1933 Williams & Wilkins $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 550

1 Geology 33-1832

"Mr. Hotchkiss provides a good account of the principles of geology, the subjects treated including the evolution of surface features, origin and age of the earth, the palaeontological and stratigraphical record, and the Great Ice Age. As befits a book connected with the Chicago Exposition, the planetesimal theory of the origin of the solar system is regarded as generally accepted. The last chapters examine the question of the geological factors that may affect the future evolution of mankind." Nature

Lahee, Frederic Henry

Field geology. 3d ed 1931 McGraw $5; 25s 550

1 Geology 31-4521

In the third edition description of several new methods of scientific research in structural geology has been added, the subject of field surveying has been expanded, the bibliography has been enlarged, and new material added to bring the book up to date

"Excellent practical work, well adapted to the use of engineers. Contains information on preparation of geological reports and maps." Pittsburgh

Merrill, George Perkins

First one hundred years of American geology. 1924 Yale univ. press $6; Oxford 27s 6d 550

1 Geology—Hist. 2 Geology—U.S. 3 Geologists 24-21175

Recommended for reference use rather than for general reading

"This . . . volume, with its wealth of detail and attention to personal achievements, erects a worthy literary monument to the men who, whether alone as university professors or as members of societies, contributed unselfishly to the building up of American geology during the first hundred years of its work." Boston Transcript

Reeds, Chester Albert

Earth; our ever-changing planet. (University series; highlights of modern knowledge) 1931 Univ. soc. $1.46 550

1 Earth 2 Geology 32-647

Well-illustrated volume in a series which is planned to include simple, attractive books written by authorities in the fields covered. Brief bibliography

Schuchert, Charles, and Le Vene, Clara Mae

* Earth and its rhythms. 1927 Appleton-Century $4; 15s 550

1 Geology 27-22334

"Scientifically accurate exposition of the science of geology for the layman. Considerable attention to historical geology." Pittsburgh

"Two very excellent features are the remarkably clear, concise, and non-technical statement of the principles of organic evolution and its geologic and paleontologic evidences, and the fact that less than a dozen of the drawings and photographs are from non-American localities. Altogether the book is one with which the geologist can meet the frequent inquiries for a general, cultural reader." Journal of geology

Snider, Luther Crocker

Earth history. (Century earth science ser.) 1932 Appleton-Century $4.50; 21s 550

1 Earth 2 Geology 32-22048

"The geological history of the earth and the story of the rise and differentiation of the forms of vegetable and animal life, with the disappearance of some whose records remain only in fossils, form the subject matter of this very comprehensive treatise. Too crowded with details to be very readable, it will be very valuable to those who want a one-volume reference book in these fields." Christian century

Textbook of geology. 2v 1932-33 Wiley v1 $3.75, v2 $4; Chapman v1 23s 550

1 Geology 32-26906

Contents: pt. 1 Physical geology, by C. R. Longwell, Adolph Knopf and R. F. Flint; pt. 2 Historical geology, by Charles Schuchert and C. O. Dunbar, 3d ed

A standard work based on Pirsson and Schuchert's "Textbook of geology." Planned for college and university use

Both parts have been condensed and are available under titles: "Outlines of physical geology" by C. R. Longwell, Adolf Knopf and F. R. Flint (1934 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d) and "Outlines of historical geology" by Charles Schuchert (2d ed 1931 Wiley $3; Chapman 15s)

551 PHYSICAL GEOLOGY

Daly, Reginald Aldworth

Our mobile earth. 1926 Scribner $5; 21s 551

1 Geology 2 Geophysics 3 Earth 4 Earthquakes 26-19363

"Deals with the forces that have made the earth what it is in form, but is particularly concerned with volcanoes and earthquakes. Is based on a series of public lectures at the Lowell institute, Boston, and is as little technical as such a work can be. Well illustrated and a good index adds to its reference value." Wis. bul.

"He has given a clear and readable exposition of the whole problem, with a minimum of technicalities. . . . It should be welcome to many classes of readers: geographers, biologists, and palæontologists, as well as astronomers and physicists, will find much useful information summarized in it: while perhaps the general reader will like it better still." 1 Physical geography 2 Geology 3 Meteorology 31-24150

"A needed revision of the text published in 1912. The errors of the first edition have been corrected, new and up-to-date information is added, text figures are revised and the reading references at the end of each chapter have been almost entirely rewriten. Two added chapters on meteorology are profusely illustrated with diagrams of the sort most helpful to the student and to the general reader." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Age of the earth; an introduction to geological ideas. (Things-to-know ser.) 1927 Benn 6d 551

1 Earth—Age [27-27600]

Formerly carried also by Harper

Not the same as the author's "Age of the earth" published in 1913

"The subject matter of the book is quite readable and the ideas are presented in a simple and attractive way. So many wild statements have been made with respect to the age of the earth, and particularly with regard to the duration in years of certain divisions of the time-scale, that the reviewer is very well pleased to find the whole problem of geologic time presented so simply and so clearly, and withal in an authoritative way." Nevin, Charles Merrick

Principles of structural geology. 1931 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 7s 6d 551

A study of the framework of the earth's crust and the forces that are distorting it

"This admirable book is one of the most competent and stimulating of the contributions to geological literature that have appeared in recent years . . . Prof. Nevin has enriched geological literature with a treatise that is at once a textbook of outstanding importance and a discussion of earth problems that no geologist can afford to overlook." Nature

Salisbury, Rollin D.

Elementary physiography. (American science ser.—Elementary course) 1910 Holt $1.92 551

1 Physical geography 10-22102

A text book for high schools with many illustrations and diagrams. Abridged from the author's "Physiography. Advanced course" (3d ed rev 1919 Holt $4; Murray, J. 25s) a good college text which some libraries may prefer to the briefer text. References at end of most of the chapters

Shimer, Hervey Woodburn

Introduction to earth history. 1925 Ginn $3; 15s 551

1 Earth 2 Geology 3 Paleontology 25-25204

A text book for mature minds which is "an attempt to present a picture of the earth and its life as a consequence of processes which for unmeasured time have operated throughout the universe." Preface

"Both the physical and historical aspects of geology are considered. However, the historical character of the subject is emphasized and the dynamical processes are discussed merely as a key to the geologic record. An outstanding feature . . . is a lengthy discussion devoted to the history of life upon the earth, placed after the section dealing with the stratigraphic history by eras and periods." American journal of science

Tarr, Ralph Stockman, and Engeln, Oscar Diedrich von

1 Physical geography 26-15612

"A thoroughly revised second edition which is practically a new book, but retains the 'distinctive characteristics' of the original edition. The new edition is particularly rich in illustrative material—drawings, photographs, maps and diagrams." Bkl.

An excellent high school text, which was originally published in 1903, the original edition being the work of Professor Tarr alone. It contains a full and interesting treatment of life in its relation to the land, air and ocean

"College physiography" by R. S. Tarr (1914 Macmillan $4.50; 22s 6d) is another excellent text of its grade

551.2 Earthquakes. Volcanoes

"History of British earthquakes," by Charles Davison (1924 Macmillan $8.50; Cambridge univ. press 25s) is a good book which, however, is of interest to British readers primarily

Bonney, Thomas George

Marmer, Harry Aaron
The sea. 1930 Appleton-Century $3; 10s 6d 551.4

1 Ocean 30-6425

"A non-technical presentation of the important and interesting facts known about the sea. The volume is not a textbook on oceanography, altho written by a technical authority. The variety and fascination of the subject are indicated by a selection of some of the chapter headings: The sea of ancient times; The Sargasso Sea; The attainment of the poles; The bottom of the sea; The surface waters; Ice in the sea; The Gulf Stream; The science of the sea." Industrial arts index

"A most welcome contribution to this field. This book, the product of years of careful work based on a lifetime's study and research by the author, brings the science of oceanography within reach of the general reader. The author is to be congratulated on producing a work of such interest in a field familiar only to the few who have had special opportunities for study and research. I heartily recommend his book to all interested in a popular but authoritative survey of physical oceanography, including its vital relation to human affairs from the earliest times to the present." 1 Great Barrier reef, Australia 2 Corals 31-26887

"A brief history of corals and coral reefs, including an account of their scientific investigation, precedes the main object of the book, wherein Dr Yonge describes his study of the Great Barrier reef of Australia. He tells of the activities, observations and discoveries of the Great Barrier reef expedition, stationed on Low island July, 1928-29." Book rev. digest

"In this well-illustrated volume Dr. Yonge successfully addresses the general reader. Avoiding technical detail, he describes the structure and habits of corals and the nature of the problems the members of the expedition hoped to resolve. He gives many fascinating pictures of the beauty and the strangeness of the reefs and islands." Times (London) lit. sup.

1 Paleontology [22-26489]

A comparison of the seventh edition with the one preceding it reveals slight changes in text

"Describes the better-known or more remarkable fossil animals and discusses the question of why animals become extinct. The author endeavors to correct the impression that animals of the past were so much larger than those of the present. The illustrations are the result of careful study and are regarded as among the most accurate that have been made." Pittsburgh

1 Mammals, Fossil 2 Paleontology 10-24457

New edition in preparation, 1934

"The author has endeavored to prepare a course of lectures of value both to paleontologist and the general reader. His work is a study of the birth places of the several kinds of mammals, of their competitions, migrations, and extinctions and of the times and places of the occurrence of these great events in the world's history. Geology, geography, botany and climate are treated as leading to a clear understanding of each of the successive groups and movements of mammalian life." Book rev. digest

"The peculiar feature of Prof. Osborn's book, indeed, is its stimulating freshness, and he is to be congratulated on the impulse which it is certain to give to the studies with which it deals." Nature

"Comprehensive reference work, describing for each of the states and countries between the Arctic Archipelago and the Amazon Valley, the territory as it was before being modified by civilization; general physiographic features; general and local plant and animal communities; and natural areas, such as forests, parks, and reserves. Contains introductory matter on the uses, values, and management of natural areas, and the original biota of the Americas north of the Amazon." Pittsburgh

"The various accounts contain a vast amount of valuable descriptive information in readily accessible form. It would be necessary to consult hundreds of volumes or papers to find what is here concentrated in one, and there is in addition much that is new. The sixteen line maps will prove valuable to many students who desire a graphic view of the broad biogeographical relations. Naturally these different regional accounts are of unequal value." "The 'Home University Library' has made a valuable addition to its series in Biology. There is a wealth of information in this attractively-written little book, which, considering its size, manages to give a very comprehensive view of its subject in a form which is easily comprehensible to the lay mind. The style is graphic and rich in colourful metaphor." Spectator

"The book is definitely intended for the non-technical reader, and only differs from other books of the sort in being very much better and more readable. The authors are both such masters of their subject as to write with a transparent, effortless lucidity that leaves the reader with the feeling he understands it as well as they." Spectator

"The book is both decidedly readable and thoroughly scientific. As might have been predicted, the authors have made a contribution of distinct value to anyone aspiring to make an entry into the field of animal biology." American anthropologist

Nature of living matter. 1930 Knopf $3.75; Routledge 15s 570

1 Biology [31-6978]

"The book is a collection of essays falling into three parts. The first and third, which are more philosophical, may be said to centre round an attack on the views, or rather the linguistic behaviour, of Professor J. S. Haldane, General Smuts, Professor Eddington, and all other actual or potential Gifford lecturers. The second part is an equally unsparing criticism of Darwin, Lamarck, Weissmann, and their followers, and of eugenics as popularly preached." Spectator

1 Biology—Hist. [8-21045]

A popular introduction to the history of biology

"The chief purpose of the book will have been met if I have succeeded in indicating the sources of biological ideas and the main currents along which they have advanced, and if I have succeeded, furthermore, in making readers acquainted with those men of noble purpose whose work has created the epochs of biological history, and in showing that there has been continuity of development in biological thought." Preface

The author's "Growth of biology" (1925 Holt $4) also deals chiefly with the work of individuals and covers the growth of zoology from Aristotle, botany from Theophrastus and physiology from Harvey to the middle of the nineteenth century

"Comprehensive in scope, without inclusion of laboratory work. Clear in statement and very fully illustrated. Cites many definite references for collateral reading." Pittsburgh

"Biology and human welfare" by J. E. Peabody and A. E. Hunt (new ed 1933 Macmillan $1.60; 8s 6d) is another textbook useful for high school students

Scott, George Gilmore
Science of biology; an introductory study. rev ed 1930 Crowell $3.75 570

1 Biology 30-13340

The author states in his preface that he has deleted, added to, rewritten and revised his earlier text, shortening some chapters, and lengthening others. The general arrangement of the 1925 edition has been kept; part 3, general biology, has been considerably enlarged. The illustrative material has been carefully worked over and improved

"About one-half of this college textbook is taken up with an account of the various types of plants and animals, and the characteristics of each group. The rest of the book is given to a discussion of general biology—comparative anatomy, embryology, physiology of animals, distribution of animals in space and time, heredity, evolution and man's place in nature. Each chapter has a list of selected references. [Index]" Book rev. digest

Story of living things; a short account of the evolution of the biological sciences. 1931 Harper $5; Oxford 18s 570

1 Biology—Hist. 31-29639

Published in England under title: Short history of biology

"Dr. Singer, one of the most eminent historians of science, has filled a real need in this comprehensive volume. The first chapters discuss the outstanding figures of past centuries, but the bulk of the book gives a stirring account of the development of some of the theories of plant and animal biology. Although the book contains considerable detail, it is closely related and continuous in its theme, with plant biology receiving due attention. The last chapters give an excellent view of what is going on in the biological field." Amer. assoc. for the advancement of science

Erik Nordenskiöld's "History of biology; a survey; tr. from the Swedish by L. B. Eyre" (1928 Knopf $6; Routledge 25s) is a more advanced general history of biology

Life: outlines of general biology. 2v 1931 Harper $15; Williams & Norgate 63s 570

1 Biology 2 Biology—Bibl. 31-28333

"In these two substantial volumes, two old collaborators, Professor J. Arthur Thomson and Professor Patrick Geddes, survey every department of biological science. The first nine chapters, which form the bulk of this work, are a detailed study of the various branches of the subject—characteristics of organisms, habits, interrelations (ecology), physiology, reproduction, sex, psychology, followed by sections on morphology and taxonomy, embryology, palaeontolgy, and a long discussion of organic evolution. The last four chapters are of rather a different kind, discussing, as they do, the position of biology among the sciences, the biology of man, the wider aspects of biology and its applications to the problems of human life, and ending with an outline theory of life." * Economic biology; a text for students of agriculture and general biology. (McGraw-Hill vocational texts) 1929 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 570

1 Biology, Economic 29-7751

"This text attempts to arouse an interest in some of the sciences that have a close bearing on agriculture and which are, therefore, closely related to the most important problems concerning human welfare. Zoology, entomology, botany, plant pathology, bacteriology, and pomology, in their relation to biology, are discussed. It emphasizes the economic phases of animal and plant life, and contains practical information on common insect pests, plant and animal diseases, and their control. A book for the farmer as well as the student." Bkl.

"A concise and useful introduction to the study of the Mesolithic, Neolithic and Copper Ages. . . Mr. Burkitt refers to recent finds, including those of the American expedition in the Gobi desert. As the study of early man has been much hampered by the use of an excessive variety of names for different types of cultures, this lucid and workmanlike textbook is welcome. It is suitably illustrative and each chapter has a list of authorities." Spectator

"Sir Arthur Keith has the art to make his book read like a romance. For one thing, he can draw lively pen-pictures of the conditions presented in the form of a geological riddle by each site; and, though his primary purpose is to provide a clue to the chronology, he manages at the same time to impart something of that feverish excitement which turns all field archaeology into a glorified treasure-hunt." 1 Man 2 Evolution 30-30303

"Eight lectures, delivered at Lowell institute, form a connected narrative of the geologic history of mankind. It is a successful presentation, for the layman, of the progress of life on the earth, from the uni-cellular plant-animal to man, and it is ably written by a geologist." Bkl.

"Prof. Mather's book is both thoughtful and readable, not austerely authoritative, perhaps, but calculated to arouse the scientific and imaginative interest of the average person. It is pleasantly illustrated." Springfield Republican

Civilization and climate. 3d ed rev 1924 Yale univ. press $5; Oxford 23s 573

1 Man—Influence of environment 2 Anthropogeography 24-30863

In the third edition four new chapters are added, and others are enlarged. There are many maps and charts and a bibliography

"A careful study of the effect of climate on man's energy and development, based on questionaires filled out by expert observers in many countries. Only 5 of the 50 observers were Asiatics, so that the judgment given represents in the main the opinion of the white race, based on their conception of what constitutes a high type of civilization." Standard catalog for high school libraries

Human habitat. (Library of modern sciences) 1927 Van Nostrand $3; Chapman 15s 573

1 Anthropogeography 2 Man—Influence of environment 27-23682

"Emphasizes the effects of climate on human adjustments in various parts of the world. Informative chapters on rice-eating peoples, tropical plantations and the world's food supply, the contrast between Japan and China, the civilization of Europe, America past and present, and the relation of the soil to aristocracy and democracy. Intended for the lay reader." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Principles of human geography. 4th ed 1934 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 573

1 Anthropogeography 34-27081

"The prefatory note of this edition states that 'the changes are so extensive that scarcely a single page is the same as in previous editions, and the whole work has been reset in fresh type.' Map making, slopes, the soil, and the farmer are some of the subjects receiving fuller treatment; a discussion of the geographic significance of Russia is added, and there are several new maps, including railroad maps." Bkl.

"'Principles of human geography' is, first of all, a full résumé of the main points of contact between man and the physical world: his relations to climate, land and water bodies, animals, plants, minerals, etc., all of it discust from the 'human' standpoint, showing how far and in what ways civilization is molded by geographical elements. But it is much more than a scientific summary. It touches the problems of to-day in politics, international dealings, economics, food supply, immigration, tariffs, conservation, and use of natural resources." Literary digest

Semple, Ellen Churchill

Influences of geographic environment. 1911 Holt $4; Constable 21s 573

1 Anthropogeography 11-12727

A careful and able presentation of the importance of geographic environment in man's development, based upon Ratzel's "Anthropogeographie"

"Miss Semple's volume is particularly valuable, especially as it is not simply a restatement of the principles embodied in Ratzel's work but comprises such amplification of some portions and abridgment of others as were necessary to make a more even presentation of the subject; at the same time as much evidence as possible of typical peoples of all races and all stages of cultural development living under similar geographical conditions has been incorporated." Baitsell, George Alfred

(ed.) Evolution of earth and man, by L. L. Woodruff [and others]. 1929 Yale univ. press $5; Oxford 22s 6d 575

1 Evolution 2 Earth 3 Man 29-23863

Contains the material, with additions and revisions, originally published in "The evolution of the earth and its inhabitants," edited by Richard Swann Lull, 1918, and "The evolution of man," edited by George Alfred Baitsell, 1922

Contents: Origin of the earth, by J. Barrell; Earth's changing surface and climate, by C. Schuchert; Origin of life, by L. L. Woodruff; Pulse of life, by R. S. Lull; Antiquity of man, by R. S. Lull; Natural history of man, by H. B. Ferris; Evolution of the nervous system of man, by G. H. Parker; Evolution of intelligence, by J. R. Angell; Cultural evolution, by G. G. MacCurdy; Societal evolution, by A. G. Keller; Climate and the evolution of civilization, by E. Huntington; Trend of evolution, by E. G. Conklin; Mechanism of evolution, by W. R. Coe

"A cooperative work such as this, where so many branches of knowledge are dealt with by specialists, may make hard reading but it is really the only way in which so wide a field can be at all surveyed. There is in this work no blind, uncritical use of the evolutionary conception, such as, in particular, is often found in 'sociological' discussion. There is throughout, as might be expected when we have specialists writing on their own subjects, a marked caution and restraint." Times (London) lit. sup.

* Where evolution and religion meet. 1924 Macmillan $1; 5s 575

1 Evolution 24-4281

"The purpose of this book is not to unsettle the faith of anyone in some creed that has proved satisfactory and stimulating to him. We are not seeking to make converts to a belief in the doctrine of evolution. The purpose is simply to give some information that may prove interesting and useful, and that will serve to correct a good deal of misinformation that is current." Introduction

"The book would be valuable enough for its clear setting forth of the doctrine of evolution; it has the additional recommendation . . . of coming from authors who can combine both outlooks in a single view, without injury to either." Boston Transcript

1 Evolution 2 Natural selection 3 Heredity 4 Man—Origin and antiquity 13-3392

A classic which presents the theory that man is descended from ape-like animals

"The 'Descent of Man, and Selection in Relation to Sex,' was published in 1871; as the title implies, it really consists of two distinct works. The first, and by far the shorter, was the full justification of his statement in the 'Origin' that 'light would be thrown on the origin of man and his history.' In the second part he brought together a large mass of evidence in support of his hypothesis of sexual selection." Encyclopedia Britannica, 11th ed

* Origin of species by means of natural selection; or, The preservation of favored races in the struggle for life; with additions and corrections from 6th and last English ed. 2v in 1 1925 Appleton-Century $4 575

1 Species, Origin of 2 Evolution 3 Natural selection 26-673

"The great classic of biology and evolution. It gave, for the first time in the history of science, a convincing account of how organic evolution is chiefly accomplished. Every student of evolution should read and reread this classic. It is as vital and suggestive now as when it was first published (1859). The real significance of the accurately worded title is often ignored and much is now written about Darwinism and Evolution by those who have only the vaguest ideas as to what evolution is or what Darwinism means." Dartmouth

"What Darwin really said" by J. S. Huxley in the "Introduction to modern knowledge" series (1929 Routledge pa 6d) consists of "judiciously selected extracts from the 'Origin of Species' presenting the pith of Darwin's argument in support of the theory of natural selection, so that the layman can understand the essentials." "In this lucid explanation of organic evolution, Dr. Gruenberg presents the facts on which theories of evolution have been based, discusses different theories, and shows the practical significance of evolution. Well illustrated with drawings and photographs. A useful book for the layman who wants a general, non-technical treatise." Bkl.

"The facts on which the theory of evolution has been based and the theories which try to explain how these changes came about are often confused, the author believes. Therefore, he devotes about half of this very lucid exposition to the marshaling of the facts. Being a specialist in biology and a long time student of evolution, he is able to speak with the voice of authority." Providence

"As Professor of Physiology in the Royal Institution, reader in biochemistry in Cambridge University and head of the department of genetics in the John Innes Horticultural Institution (Merton), and as one of the three founders of a mathematical theory of natural selection where inheritance is Mendelian in character, Professor Haldane's views must be of more than casual interest to any student of biological evolution. While the book under consideration is apparently addressed more or less to the lay reader, it presupposes at least some familiarity with the literature of modern genetics, based upon Mendelian heredity." "The present volume is concerned simply with the process of evolution and not with Darwinism in the narrower sense of the word and furnishes an excellent summary brought well down to date by the reasons for the acceptance of evolution by biologists as generally as gravitation by astronomers. The volume suffers somewhat from the fact that the essays are quite independent of each other and so involve a certain amount of repetition. [Also] on account of the lack of editing of the essays there are occasional discrepancies more or less disconcerting." Sat. rev. of lit.

1 Heredity 2 Mendel's law Agr29-127

A condensed yet thoro and sane exposition of the great theory of heredity. In preparing this seventh edition the author has rewritten certain chapters in order to include some of the recent advances in genetics in connection with certain classes of hermaphrodites known as intersexes. Illustrations in color and black and white

Shull, Aaron Franklin

Heredity. (McGraw-Hill publications in the zoölogical sciences) 2d ed 1931 McGraw $3; 18s 575.1

1 Heredity 31-15072

First published 1926. In this new edition some parts have been rewritten and new material has been added to nearly every chapter. The first edition was based on lectures to students, many of whom were without previous training in biology. By a professor of zoology at the University of Michigan

Sinnott, Edmund Ware, and Dunn, Leslie Clarence

Principles of genetics; a text with problems. (McGraw-Hill publications in the agricultural and botanical sciences) 2d ed 1932 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 575.1

1 Heredity 2 Variation (Biology) 3 Eugenics 32-24972

"Research in genetics since 1925 has made obsolete some of the material of the first edition. Results of recent investigation are incorporated in this revision, the chapters on the application of genetics to plant and animal breeding and to human inheritance have been dropped, and the text is partly rearranged for more convenient use." Bkl.

"The text of Sinnott and Dunn is an extremely clear and well-balanced discussion of 'principles of genetics' illustrated by well-chosen examples, many of them taken from materials with which the authors themselves have worked, one of them being a botanist, the other a zoologist. A wide range of subjects is covered and the very latest discoveries in genetics are reported with a due sense of the proportion demanded in an elementary treatise." Science

Walter, Herbert Eugene

Genetics; an introduction to the study of heredity. 3d ed 1930 Macmillan $2.50; 12s 6d 575.1

1 Heredity 30-12269

"To meet these new advances in the practice and theory of the fundamental laws of Genetics, it has been found necessary to overhaul thoroughly the presentation of the subject in this book. Nearly every page has been modified . . . in some particulars, and considerable additional matter has been supplied." Preface to third edition

"Simple, clear, comprehensive and scientific statement of the fundamental principles of heredity based upon experiments made by himself and others in this field. . . Professor Walter faces the problem fearlessly and scientifically. His suggestions for improvements are practical and based upon facts." American journal of sociology

576 Origins and beginnings of life

"Cell in development and inheritance," by E. B. Wilson (3d ed rev 1925 Macmillan $9; 36s) is a valuable and authoritative work which is noted here for the benefit of larger libraries needing a work of this kind

Thomson, David Landsborough

* Life of the cell. (Home univ. lib. of modern knowledge) 1928 Holt $1.25, student's ed. $1; Butterworth, T. 2s 6d 576

1 Cells [28-29349]

"[Gives] in brief compass . . . a discussion of cytology, with emphasis on the dynamics of cell chemistry, and on the cell's life history." Cleveland

"Another attempt to present a brief survey of a very extensive subject in a palatable, flowing manner. Most of the topics under cellular biology are touched upon in this book, and it is fairly up to date. . . The chapters on chemical structure, chemical dynamics and physical dynamics of the cell are the most useful in the book and would make excellent supplementary reading for modern general courses in biology." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

578 Microscopy

Beavis, Gerald

* Book of the microscope. 1931 Lippincott $2.50; Low 6s 578

1 Microscope and microscopy [31-21785]

Intended primarily for the beginner or for the student who has begun at school, has dropped microscopy, and now wishes to take it up once more. The aim is to foster interest and to show how the more simple apparatus may be made use of. Since both microscope and telescope are now frequently used in conjunction, several chapters dealing with the more interesting aspects of the telescope are included. Adapted from Foreword

Belling, John

Use of the microscope; a handbook for routine and research work. 1930 McGraw $4; 24s 578

1 Microscope and microscopy 30-10389

"Describes in detail the various types of microscopes, their construction, care, testing, and how to use them. Includes chapters on microscopical objects of biological interest, fixing and staining microscopic objects, and practical exercises with the microscope. Bibliography." Pratt quarterly

Gage, Simon Henry

The microscope. 15th ed 1932 Comstock pub. co. $4 578

1 Microscope and microscopy 2 Ultra-violet rays 32-7639

First published 1881. For the fifteenth edition the entire book has been revised and a wholly new chapter on ultra-violet radiation in microscopy has been included. Well illustrated

"Designed for mature students and investigators. This book by a professor emeritus at Cornell, presents the difficult and fascinating subject of microscopy so that every one who desires to become master of the instrument for serious study will gain the training necessary. All forms of microscopes are discussed, a brief history of lenses and microscopes given." Amer. assoc. for the advancement of science

Neill, Robert M.

Microscopy in the service of man. (Home univ. lib. of modern knowledge) 1926 Holt $1.25, students' ed $1; Butterworth, T. 2s 6d 578

1 Microscope and microscopy 26-6963

"Sets forth in a simple way the construction and use of the microscope and its services to health, biology, geology, and industry. Has an interesting section on the ultramicroscope; also an historical survey of microscopy and a bibliography. Author is [1926] lecturer in the University of Aberdeen. [Bibliography]" N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"To skim the cream of the subject for the general reader in fifty or sixty thousand words requires a light and dexterous hand, which the author apparently possesses." Times (London) lit. sup.

Another good, little book which is intended as a guide for the beginner is C. A. Hall's "How to use the microscope" (2d ed 1925 Macmillan $1.25; Black, A. & C. 2s 6d)

1 Taxidermy 2 Zoological specimens—Collection and preservation 4-9009

"A complete handbook for the amateur taxidermist, collector, osteologist, museum-builder, sportsman, and traveller . . . with chapters on collecting and preserving insects by W. J. Holland . . . [and] with 24 plates and 104 text illustrations." Title page

"In these pages I have sought to give, in clear language, the detailed information which I have found deplorably lacking in all 'manuals' on this subject that I have ever seen, save one, in French, published many years ago, and which, while very tiresome to write out, are precisely what the practical worker wants." Preface

Rowley, John

Taxidermy and museum exhibition. 1925 Appleton-Century $7.50; 25s 579.4

1 Taxidermy 2 Zoological specimens—Collection and preservation 26-36

"Authoritative, detailed information on skinning, preserving, mounting, and care of specimens, and making of accessories for exhibition purposes. Has a chapter on museum groups and exhibition. Author has been associated with several large museums, and was formerly chief of the department of taxidermy in the American museum of natural history." Pittsburgh

"Mr. Rowley has had many years' experience in building up the museum groups of animals in which the United States are now so rich, and gives an admirably clear, detailed and suggestive account of every phase from catching the hare to immortalizing it in a spacious well-lit hall. His book is both a complete technical manual and the exposition of an art." Times (London) lit. sup.

Many excellent full-page illustrations

A well-recommended textbook "designed to serve as an introduction to the ecology of plants. It treats the subject of plant life comprehensively rather than intensively, and the term 'ecology,' defined as 'science of the interrelations of living things and their environments' is given a wide connotation." Nature

"Plant ecology" by J. E. Weaver and F. E. Clements (1929 McGraw $5; 25s) is designed as a comprehensive textbook for workers in related fields

Bower, Frederick Orpen
Plants and man; a series of essays relating to the botany of ordinary life. 1925 Macmillan $4.25; 14s 581.6

1 Botany, Economic 25-19284

"The scope of the book, the immense stores of its knowledge, the brilliance and clearness of its style, recall Fabre. Mr. Bower is already well known as one of our distinguished botanists, and this book will certainly add much to his fame." Spectator

"Many readers with no special botanical knowledge will appreciate a review of the mutual relations of plants and men which goes a little deeper into the subject than most popular surveys and is kept as free as possible from hard technical phrases. The author is never content with secondhand repetitions, but by working out each aspect of his subject in plain language helps the reader to understand it." Times (London) lit. sup.

Photographs and line drawings, regional and name indexes, bibliographical footnotes. Addressed to country dwellers, campers and nature students." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

581.9 Geographical distribution of plants. Flowers

In this Catalog 581.9 includes wild flowers, following the suggestion of the editor of the Dewey decimal classification. Some libraries use 580, and others 582 or 583. The books on wild flowers listed here relate principally to American flowers. No effort has been made to include flowers of individual states. Local libraries will be able to find the best of these from their state library. Books covering flowers of special sections have been included in order to cover this sectional interest in a general way

An interesting book now, 1933, unfortunately out of print is "Wild flower preservation" by May Coley and C. A. Weatherby (1915 Stokes). It gives the best methods of pressing, mounting and identifying wild flowers for the amateur botanist

Another useful book to have in connection with the books on wild flowers is M. G. Peterson's "How to know wild fruits" (1925 Macmillan $2). Identifies plants not in flower by means of fruit and leaf

Contains many illustrations from photographs and outline drawings. A short bibliography for amateur fern students. No index

588 Mosses

Dunham, Mrs Elizabeth Marie
How to know the mosses. 1916 Houghton $2.50 588

1 Mosses 16-11726

"A popular guide to the mosses of the northeastern United States, containing keys to eighty genera and short descriptions of over one hundred and fifty species with special reference to the distinguishing characteristics that are apparent without the aid of a lens." Subtitle

Many illustrations by the author

Another popular guide to the mosses and liverworts of this region is A. J. Grout's "Mosses with a hand-lens" (3d ed 1924 The $3.50) The section on liverworts is by Howe

589.2 Mushrooms

McDougall, Walter Byron
Mushrooms; a handbook of edible and inedible species. 1925 Houghton $3.50 589.2

1 Mushrooms 25-16748

"Popular manual concerned mainly with identification of species. Illustrations are monotint half-tones from photographs." Pittsburgh

References to literature: p143

Another good guide to the commoner fungi which is now, 1933, unfortunately out of print is "Mushroom book" by N. L. Marshall (1922 Doubleday, Page)

McKenny, Margaret
Mushrooms of field and wood. 1929 Day $2 589.2

1 Mushrooms 29-16265

"An excellent text intended especially as a field handbook for young people. It gives an easily understood account of some of the larger, more conspicuous forms of mushrooms. There are three color plates and numerous illustrations in black and white from drawings and fine photographs. The descriptions are exact and simply expressed. There are indexes of common and scientific names. The book has been sponsored by the Coordinating council on nature activities, American museum of natural history, New York." Bkl.

"Mushrooms and toadstools" by H. T. Güssow and W. S. Odell (1927 King's printer $1) is a good, inexpensive book which gives an account of the more common edible and poisonous fungi of Canada

Thomas, William Sturgis
* Field book of common gilled mushrooms, with a key to their identification and directions for cooking those that are edible. 1928 Putnam $3.50; 15s 589.2

1 Mushrooms 28-15151

"Concise, pocket-sized, and non-technical. Sixteen color plates show ninety-six species of mushrooms and there are numerous illustrations in black and white. There is a chapter on mushrooms as food, including recipes." Bkl.

589.95 Bacteriology

Bayne-Jones, Stanhope
Man and microbes. (Century of progress ser.) 1932 Williams & Wilkins $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 589.95

1 Micro-organisms 2 Bacteriology 32-7490

"This is a popular presentation of the present status of our knowledge of microscopic organisms (interpreted to include bacteria, actinomycetes, yeasts, molds, and protozoa) and of their significance in modern life. A chapter upon the nature of microörganisms is followed by chapters covering their relations to the soil; to air, water, and sewage; to industry; to crop plants; to insects; to disease in animals; and to human diseases; and by a concluding chapter upon the relation of microbes to civilization." Industrial and engineering chemistry

number of changes were made and a new section discussing causal organisms of diseases common in the United States has been added

The authors have attempted to make this more detailed and concrete than general textbooks in microbiology. Well illustrated. Bibliography

Browning, Carl Hamilton

* Bacteriology. (Home univ. lib. of modern knowledge) 1925 Holt $1.25, student's ed $1; Butterworth, T. 2s 6d 589.95

1 Bacteriology 25-11410

"In as simple and brief a way as possible, the professor of bacteriology in the University of Glasgow outlines the main facts concerning bacteria, and cites examples of their action. Bibliographical notes and index." N.Y. state lib.

"We think that Prof. Carl Browning has been extraordinarily successful in presenting a general outline of the principal facts concerning bacteria in a simple and concise manner suited to the general reader." Nature

Buchanan, Mrs Estelle Denis (Fogel), and Buchanan, Robert Earl

Bacteriology for students in general and household science. 3d ed 1930 Macmillan $3; 13s 589.95

1 Bacteriology 30-18538

First published in 1913 under title: "Household bacteriology." Revised in 1921 to meet the needs of the general student. The present edition contains the changes necessitated by new developments of the subject. Several new chapters have been added and others rewritten

"This book, which is made up of a revision of lectures delivered in the classroom, is designed as a text for students in domestic science. It is divided into five sections as follows: Morphology, Classification and distribution of microörganisms; Cultivation and observation of microörganisms; Physiology of microörganisms; Fermentation or Zymotechnique; Microörganisms and health. As used in this book, bacteriology is defined as including 'a consideration of the true bacteria, the yeasts, the molds, and the pathogenic protozoa.'" Book rev. digest

Calkins, Gary Nathan

Smallest living things. (University series; highlights of modern knowledge) 1932 Univ. soc. $1.46 589.95

1 Micro-organisms 2 Unicellular organisms 3 Protozoa 32-35196

A well-illustrated volume in a series which is planned to include simple, attractive books written by authorities in the fields covered. It is "a brief survey of a vast field of living things which are unnoticed by and are practically unknown to the average person." Preface

Bacteriology. 4th ed 1929 Williams & Wilkins $3.50; Bailliere 20s 589.95

1 Bacteriology 2 Micro-organisms 30-10598

The fourth edition differs from the third only in the omission of the Appendix. This material is now contained in "An elementary laboratory guide in general bacteriology"

"A welcome revision of a standard textbook intended primarily for first-year college classes and dealing with general biology and its applications to both medicine and agriculture, and thus also to household science." Journal of home economics

The author's "Bacteria, yeasts, and molds in the home" (3d rev ed 1932 Ginn $1.48; 7s 6d) is an excellent text-book, useful with schools, which discusses the relation of microörganisms to household affairs

Jordan, Edwin Oakes

Text-book of general bacteriology. 10th ed 1931 Saunders $6 589.95

1 Bacteriology 31-20797

Kopeloff, Nicholas

Man vs. microbes. 1930 Knopf $4 589.95

1 Bacteriology 2 Contagion and contagious diseases 3 Micro-organisms 30-6969

Also available in the Star series (Garden City pub. co. $1)

"A comprehensive survey of microbes—that is, bacteria, molds, and yeasts, and protozoa in medicine, industry, and agriculture. A discussion of the activities of microbes and of their disease-producing power, comprises the larger part of the book; a few chapters are devoted to the microbes of 'non-medical interest' in industry and agriculture. This book will prove helpful, as well as interesting, to the layman in understanding some of the bacteriological topics of the day." N.Y. Municipal reference lib. notes

Contains many illustrations and a short unannotated bibliography

A. I. Kendall's "Civilization and the microbe" (1923 Houghton o.p. 1933) is a clear and non-technical account of the activities of bacteria and the part microbes play in everyday life

* Who's who among the microbes. 1929 Appleton-Century $3; 10s 6d 589.95

1 Micro-organisms 2 Bacteriology 29-8142

"The following sketches grew out of a series of radio talks on communicable diseases and their microbes. . . We have endeavored to describe simply and accurately the most important facts known that help us determine how and why some microbes are harmful to man, others harmless and still others helpful. We also tell how man can use available knowledge to protect himself against harmful ones and utilize more fully the activities of the useful." Preface

"A straightforward story, easy to read but not merely jazzed up. This is one of those books that takes the layman beyond his customary superficial acceptance of theories and practices, and for the reading of alert young people of twelve to twenty it is not too technical." World tomorrow

Joseph McFarland's "Fighting foes too small to see" (1924 Davis $2.50) is another book written from the popular viewpoint describing plagues and infectious diseases and ways of [illegible]ng them

Tanner, Fred Wilbur

Practical bacteriology, an introduction to bacteriological technic. 2d ed 1933 Wiley $2.50; Chapman 15s 6d 589.95

1 Bacteriology 33-3581

First published 1928. The second edition is practically a reprint of the first with minor corrections

"This laboratory guide for beginners in general bacteriology should prove useful in those institutions where a general course in bacteriology is given and where no special emphasis is described on a particular branch of the science. It is well written and profusely illustrated. A few of the figures could have been omitted without injuring the high character of the book, but these shortcomings are more than compensated for by the very good illustrations showing glassware, apparatus, microscope, and other equipment." 590 ZOOLOGY

Clark, Austin Hobart

Animals of land and sea. (Library of modern sciences) 1925 Van Nostrand $3; Chapman 15s 590

1 Zoology 2 Insects 25-19419

"An attempt is made to present the animal world as a living unit, showing the interrelationships of the various divisions, and the relations of the whole to the plant world, to physical conditions, and to man. Such a treatment is complementary to the usual one in which the various animal types are taken up in sequence and separately discussed." Preface

"The accuracy of the work is attested at once by Mr. Clark's name on the title page. The selection of text material has been wise, thousands of irrelevant facts having been omitted, only those of importance and obvious significance being included." W. Beebe in Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

First published 1912. The general plan of the book remains the same in this third edition, but the material on protoplasm, amœba, hydra, history of zoology and the frog has been carefully revised and enlarged. A new chapter on heredity and genetics has been incorporated. Numerous illustrations have been added

"This book is intended to serve as a text for beginning students in universities and colleges, or for students who have already taken a course in general biology and wish to gain a more comprehensive view of the animal kingdom. . . Besides serving as a textbook, it is believed that this book will be of interest to the general reader, since it gives a bird's-eye view of the entire animal kingdom as we know it at the present time." Preface to the first edition

Hornaday, William Temple

‡ American natural history; a foundation of useful knowledge of the higher animals of North America. 1904 Scribner $5 590

1 Natural history [14-16586]

Popular treatment of the living vertebrates of North America intended to bridge the gulf between scientific treatises and nature study literature. Well illustrated

"It is a bulky volume, richly illustrated with photographs and packed full of facts. Mr. Hornaday's life has been spent among wild animals, as hunter, trapper, keeper, collector; and this, in spite of the very scientific cast of the book, often gives it a personal, first-hand flavor hardly to be expected in a general natural history, even when limited to American fauna." D. L. Sharp

* Tales from nature's wonderlands. 1924 Scribner $2.50 590

1 Zoology 2 Paleontology 3 Natural history 24-24160

"Twenty-three 'tales.' One group gives interesting accounts of the wild elephants of America, the frozen mammoths of Siberia, and other extinct animals. Among the 'tales of to-day' are descriptions of the coral gardens of the Bermudas, the giant penguins of the Antarctic, fur seals, apes, and gorillas." Pittsburgh

"Scattered through the book are a few hunting and fur-trading stories, but the naturalist, the collector, the picture maker and the engineer share heroic honors with the beasts. The illustrations are admirable." N.Y. Tribune

Pearse, Arthur Sperry

General zoology. rev ed 1928 Holt $2.75 590

1 Zoology 28-14223

First published in 1917. "In [the present] edition Chapters IV and XXXIII have been rewritten, minor changes have been made throughout the book, and five new chapters dealing with histology, embryology, physiology, ecology, and genetics have been added." Preface

The purpose of this work as stated in the preface is to give a general survey of the important points relating to the chief groups

of animals. As it is intended for students from eighteen to twenty years of age the style is simple and there are many illustrations which lean more toward natural history than anatomy

Pycraft, William Plane
(ed.) Standard natural history from amoeba to man. 1931 Warne $6; 15s 590

1 Zoology Agr31-1193

"A survey of the whole animal kingdom in one handy volume. It is far more than an excellent description of species. Its succeeding chapters, by specialists at the British Museum, trace the development and relationship of one type of life after another, and describe both rare and common species and their structure and habits. Its comprehensive and unified plan, its weight of authority, attractive style, wealth of interesting detail and 900 illustrations, make it essential." Amer. assoc. for the advancement of science

The editor has also written several short essays on various aspects of animal and plant life. These are published under the title "Random gleanings from nature's fields" (1930 Hale $2.50; Methuen 7s 6d)

Reese, Albert Moore
Outlines of economic zöology. 3d ed 1930 Blakiston $2.50 590

Thomson, Sir John Arthur
New natural history. 3v 1926 Putnam ea $6; Newnes 63s 590

1 Natural history (26-26536)

"Notable work by an eminent English biologist who can present science in an entertaining way. The arrangement is not formal, and each volume can be used independently. The volumes are well-printed, and have many interesting illustrations, part of them colored. . . A book that readers will enjoy. Index to the set in the third volume." Standard catalog for high school libraries

Outline of natural history. 1931 Putnam $5; Newnes 8s 6d 590

1 Zoology 32-26380

Consists largely of chapters from the author's "New natural history." All small libraries may not need both books

"Tells pleasantly and with a little flavour of homily what most people wish to know about animals. . . Sir Arthur devotes the larger part of his book to mammals and birds, and is most at home with creatures which live in this country." Times (London) lit. sup.

The author's older book "Outlines of zoology" (8th ed rev 1926 Oxford $6; 21s) is a standard text and reference book

Wieman, Harry Lewis
General zoölogy. (McGraw-Hill publications in the zoölogical sciences) 2d ed 1927 McGraw $3; 15s 590

1 Zoology 27-8451

Fifteen illustrations have been added to the second edition, and minor corrections have been made in this rather condensed account of some of the outstanding facts and principles of zoölogy. References at the end of each chapter

"The best chapters, in our opinion, are those on evolution and heredity; many of the other subjects are treated so briefly as to be largely ineffective. The illustrations are carefully chosen and well reproduced." Nature

Another excellent text clearly written and accurate but rather expensive is "Textbook of zoology" by T. J. Parker and W. A. Hoswell (4th ed rev 2v 1928 Macmillan $14; ea 25s) It is adapted to the needs of the beginner altho not an elementary book

"This useful reference book on the care of fish in the home aquarium has gone through many editions, but without statement of the amount of revision. . . The publishers state that the material on tropical fish, which is condensed in this volume, will be supplemented by a forthcoming book on tropicals." Bkl.

"Practical, detailed information on the construction, stocking and care of freshwater and marine aquaria, with good clear illustrations." Cleveland

The author's "Modern aquarium" (6th ed 1932 Innes pa $1) is a condensation of the most important points in the larger work

Mellen, Ida M.

‡ Fishes in the home. 1927 Dodd $2 590.7

1 Fishes 2 Aquariums 27-5575

Based on the pamphlet "Fishes in the home" published in 1921 by the New York zoological society. "The old matter has been supplemented with additional material throughout, and chapters have been added on the subjects of salt water aquaria and construction of small aquaria and garden pools, with a special elaboration on the subject of the care of sick fishes." Author

"The author's association with the New York aquarium gives this book authority. The subject seems to be very fully covered, the illustrations are excellent and the book should meet a need." Wis. bul.

A good book within its limits is "Goldfish culture for amateurs" by A. E. Hodge and Arthur Derham. (1926 Stokes $2; Witherby 5s) It includes a short history of the goldfish together with directions for its breeding and rearing

Stoye, Frederick Hans

Tropical fish for the home, their care and propagation. 1932 Empire tropical fish import co. $4 590.7

1 Aquariums 2 Fishes 33-7659

Practical information on the care and propagation of tropical fish, including a discussion of the balanced aquarium and the various plants to be used. 165 plates, some colored

591 PHYSIOLOGICAL ZOOLOGY

591.5 Animals—Habits and behavior

This section includes general books on the habits and behavior of animals. Since material of this kind is apt to be in fiction form, most libraries prefer to class all animal stories with fiction. It is often difficult to draw the line in classifying. The following titles are border-line cases which have been suggested for inclusion here:

Seton, E. T. Lives of the hunted. 1901 Scribner $2.50; Hodder 8s 6d

Williamson, H. Old stag. 1926 Dutton $2.50; Putnam 7s 6d

Williamson, H. Tarka, the otter; his joyful water-life and death in the country of the Two Rivers. 1928 Dutton $2.50; Putnam 3s 6d

Blair, William Reid

In the zoo. 1929 Scribner $2.50; 10s 6d 591.5

1 New York. Zoological park 2 Zoology 3 Animals—Habits and behavior 29-21581

W. R. Blair, director and curator of the New York Zoological Park "discusses many of the groups of animals the author has been observing for 25 years, the babies, pygmies and giants, the capturing of animals for the zoo, feeding the captives, and medical and surgical treatment. Photographic illustrations." N.Y. libraries

"One reads the book with a sense of dependability, because it is evident from the start that Dr. Blair writes about animals only what he has seen and himself knows to be true. He does not imagine or embroider or indulge in sentiment or conjecture. Instead he sets down in crisp, brief sentences the simple truth as he has observed it. And whoever likes animals will find in the book a wonderful lot of varied and interesting knowledge." N.Y. Times

Boulenger, Edward George

Animals in the wild and in captivity. 1930 Ward, Lock 7s 6d 591.5

1 Zoology 2 Animals—Habits and behavior 3 Zoological gardens 31-15814

"Mr. E. G. Boulenger . . . has held office in the Zoo for nearly twenty years and is therefore in a position to chat very pleasantly and with authority about various odds and ends of Zoo life. The book also contains short papers, written in a popular style, about such varied subjects as wild life in London, the moult in birds and beasts, the speed limit of wild creatures, and the balance of nature." Spectator

Naturalist at the zoo. 1927 Duckworth 10s 6d 591.5

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Zoological society of London. Gardens 27-26591

Formerly carried also by Brentano's

"An unusually delightful account with stories about the characteristics and habits of inhabitants of the Regent's Park menagerie in London. The author has an intimate knowledge of animals and describes their antics with humor and unsentimental understanding. Birds, snakes, lizards, and toads are included as well as monkeys, cats, and larger animals. The pen and ink sketches of postures and various activities are inimitable and add much to the interest of the book." Bkl.

Brasher, Rex

Secrets of the friendly woods. 1926 Appleton-Century $2.50; 8s 6d 591.5

1 Natural history—Outdoor books 2 Animals—Habits and behavior 26-7814

"The author is a painter of bird and animal life. This book is made up of a series of informal papers on his experiences and observations while following his craft. With its illustrations makes an attractive new book for the nature lover." Wis. bul.

"The style is cool and easy, and the observation close. A literary rather than a scientific book." Sat. rev. of lit.

Brown, Clarence Emerson

My animal friends. 1932 Doubleday, Doran $3.50 591.5

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Animals—Stories 3 Zoological society of Philadelphia. Garden 32-8787

"Sight-seers at the zoo will find added pleasure in their visits after reading about the lives of their animal friends in captivity. Care, feeding, and habits of large and small animals, birds, and reptiles are described by the director of the Philadelphia zoological garden who gives also a chapter of advice on the care of home pets. Excellent photographic illustrations." Bkl.

Burroughs, John

Ways of nature. 1905 Houghton $2.25 591.5

1 Natural history—Outdoor books 5-32706

"In these essays Mr. Burroughs, who has ranged himself upon the side of those who protest against animal stories which humanize animal life, not only sets forth his own views, in which he declares that animals share our emotional but not our intellectual nature, but also defends himself from . . . attacks upon his theories and gives counter arguments." Book rev. digest

"The whole discussion is pervaded by Mr. Burroughs' well-known charm of style and clearness of statement." Review of reviews

Ditmars, Raymond Lee

‡ Strange animals I have known. 1931 Harcourt $3.50 591.5

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 New York. Zoological park 31-28016

"Dr Ditmars is curator of reptiles and mammals in New York Zoological Park. 'For over a quarter of a century,' he says, 'it has been my task to capture, transport, feed, nurse, soothe, fight, guard and cajole various specimens of the animal kingdom. I have been on intimate terms with snakes, bears, apes, monkeys, elephants, jaguars, tigers, buffaloes, giraffes, deer, kudus, hippos, wild horses, kianga, rhinos, lions, cougars, leopards, kangaroos, beasts of almost every sort and many other species.' His book contains many fascinating stories of his experiences at home and abroad. Illustrated with photographs." Book rev. digest

* Thrills of a naturalist's quest. 1932 Macmillan $3.50; 18s 591.5

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Zoological specimens—Collection and preservation 3 Reptiles 32-32138

Stories by the curator of mammals and reptiles of the New York zoological park of some of the adventures he had while capturing snakes and other specimens for the park

"For all his distinguished career, Dr. Ditmars is an able journalist and this volume, partly biography, partly adventure, with here and and there a dash of natural history to hold the mass together, has a thrill or a chuckle on nearly every page." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Eipper, Paul

In my zoo. 1932 Viking press $2.50 591.5

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Photography of animals 32-26686

"The material for this book about animals in European zoos has been taken from 'Animals looking at you' and 'Animal children.' The text has been rearranged and edited for young readers and the book includes many of the excellent photographs of lions, monkeys, seals, elephants, and giraffes." Bkl.

Finley, William Lovell, and Finley, Mrs Irene (Barnhart)

* Wild animal pets. 1928 Scribner $3 591.5

1 Animals—Stories 2 Animals—Habits and behavior 3 Photography of animals 28-8927

"Delightful sketches written by the state biologist and game warden of Oregon and his wife. They relate with fresh interest a variety of experiments in raising the young of wild animals—a bear, panther, coyote, squirrel, skunk, two bob cats, a California condor, and a porcupine. Incidents about other wild friends are included. The unusually fine illustrations from photographs are proof of the authors' patience and skill. Of interest both to children and grown-ups." Bkl.

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Animal intelligence 22-26396

The author, former director of the New York zoological park, believes that "the most interesting thing about a wild animal is its mind and its reasoning." In his study of the mentality of wild animals he has observed closely animals both in captivity and in the open and he recounts many interesting and unusual incidents. Many illustrations

"Mr. Hornaday's book is the pondered judgment of a practical man on a question of extreme mystery. It is both brilliant and careful, and it is an event in the literature of natural history. If one may make a criticism, it is a pity he did not gather together the threads of his thesis in a final chapter." Spectator

Another entertaining book by this author is "Wild-animal round up; stories and pictures of the passing show" (1925 Scribner $5) reminiscences of hunting experiences in various parts of the world

"Twenty-nine delightful, intimate essays on plants and animals, written with scientific accuracy, simplicity and charm of style. Reveals the author's personal preferences and predilections,—his liking for the serpent and the pig, his prejudice against the dog,—as well as his keen and affectionate observation of nature and her ways." N.Y. state lib.

"By some charm he captivates readers unpractised in his themes, utter ignoramuses in his school, of whom we cannot believe that he ever thinks without an indulgent or ironical smile. Yet what we win from him is priceless. We recover a foregone and secret understanding." Times (London) lit. sup.

Also available in England in a cheaper edition (Dent 6s)

"W. H. Hudson's last book 'A Hind in Richmond Park' is perhaps more the work of the essayist than the naturalist. He gives more interpretation of human life and conduct and less observation of the ways of birds. The hind whose experiences in Richmond park give a title to the first essay and to the volume was merely an animal excited by the color red. Mr. Hudson has something to say about the animal's sense of color and also about the animal's sense of smell." Springfield Republican

"We will not say that this volume, which W. H. Hudson did not live to see through the press, is its author's best book; but we are almost certain that it is his most characteristic one. Here, we feel, he wrote as he loved to write, in an easy, speculative vein that takes so cunning yet seemingly artless expression that the author often appears to be musing aloud and not addressing an audience." Spectator

Two other delightful books on wild life and natural history in England by the same author are: "Hampshire days" (1923 Dutton $2; Dent 6s) and "Nature in Downland" (1923 Dutton $2; Dent 6s)

Mills, Enos Abijah

Watched by wild animals. 1922 Houghton $2.50 591.5

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Natural history—Outdoor books 22-4371

"In these stories of adventures in the open, the author shows us that while we are watching animals we are also watched by them and that wild animals show great curiosity in a human intruder. His keen observations of the habits of such animals as the mountain-goat and sheep, beaver, antelope, skunk, prairie-dog and grizzly bear are those of a painstaking observer." Book rev. digest

"It was well to write a book of this kind and Mr. Mills was the very man to write it. His short, almost staccato, sentences, many of them, however, conveying much of the real beauty of nature in her best moods, seemingly are often transliterations of his field notes. But to criticise his literary style were like straining at gnats and altogether missing the camel." Literary rev.

More true stories of Rocky Mountain animals are collected in "Wild animal homesteads" (1923 Houghton $2.50; Grayson 7s 6d)

Morgan, Conwy Lloyd

Animal mind. 1930 Longmans $4.25; Arnold, E. & co. 12s 6d 591.5

1 Animal intelligence 2 Psychology, Comparative 31-4804

"A study of animal behavior, using the psychological method. The book contains many anecdotes and is written in an interesting, informal style. The writer was the author of several books on animal behavior published in the '90's, now [1933] out of print, and this volume is in a sense a sequel to them." Book rev. digest

"'The Animal Mind' is an important contribution to the literature of comparative psychology, and is characterized by a sweet reasonableness that makes for enjoyable reading." Nation and Athenaeum

Morse, George Frederick
My life with animals. 1930 Wilcox $2 591.5

1 Animals—Stories 2 Animals—Habits and behavior 30-6050

"The author writes of his experiences with animals, in his boyhood days on a New England farm, as a fur farmer, and as director of zoological parks. Interesting to either adults or children." Wis. bul.

Contents: Introduction; Squirrels; Flying squirrel; Chipmunk; Woodchuck; Thirteen-lined ground squirrel; House rats and mice; Muskrat; Beaver; Porcupine; Pocket gopher; Rodents; Rabbits; Opossum; Molcs; Shrews; Bats; Bison; Deer family; Carnivora; Raccoon; Bears; Weasels; Mink; Skunk; Otter; Other relatives of weasels; Dog family; Cat family

"The author has made a careful study of the habits and character of these creatures and the result is a vast mass of information so arranged as to be easily available. Numerous illustrations of animals in unconventional poses help to make the book attractive." Boston Transcript

Scoville, Samuel
Runaway days. 1927 Dodd $2 591.5

1 Natural history—Outdoor books 27-9655

"In 'Runaway Days' the reader will go with Mr. Scoville in search of a duck hawk's nest high on a cliff of the Palisades; he will spend a day in a tree-top and see the birds that came there between dawn and dusk; he will find the rare nest of Philohela the woodcock and of the great pileated woodpecker and many other nests that few men or women know; he will visit the bald eagle at home and the grim raven, and he will learn much about the ways of foxes, squirrels and other fourfoots of the eastern woods. And always the story of these adventurings is told exuberantly, with a lively humor brightening the telling of each tale, and, underlying it all, a keen sense of the beauty that is about us out of doors." Sat. rev. of lit.

Wild folk. 1922 Little $2.50 591.5

1 Animals—Stories 22-11467

An almost uncanny understanding of the ways of wild folk characterizes these charming sketches. They describe a mother bear caught in the trap; the golden plover making his flight of 2400 miles; the skunk whose motto is "Don't hurry—others will"; the chipmunk building his home with its many passages and exits; and various exciting combats of the wild. A book that will be greatly enjoyed by nature-lovers and should make nature-lovers of those who are not. Abridged from Cleveland

Wild honey. 1929 Little $3 591.5

1 Natural history—Outdoor books 29-24194

"A dozen delightful sketches of out-of-door adventure which the author's enthusiasm and humor make dramatic. The reader sees through this nature-lover's eyes the wild flowers and rare birds which visit or dwell in the Everglades, the Berkshires and the Poconos, and there are several good snake stories. Beautifully illustrated with etchings by H. Emerson Tuttle." Cleveland

The author's "Everyday adventures" (1920 Little $2.50) is another and earlier series of his experiences written in the same charming manner

Sharp, Dallas Lore
Face of the fields. 1911 Houghton $2 591.5

Thomson, Sir John Arthur
Minds of animals. (John O'London's little books) 1927 Newnes 2s 591.5

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Animal intelligence 28-23205

"An attractively written popular work serving lay readers as an introduction to the study of animal behavior." Cleveland

"Disbelieving utterly,' as he declares, 'in the materialistic superstition and in every apsychic theory of life,' Professor Arthur Thomson briefly and clearly examines the parts played by instinct and intelligence in animals ranging from protozoa to the anthropoids. . . He traces, with an admirable gift of lucid and attractive compression, the development of mental qualities up through crustaceans, insects and the lowest vertebrates to chimpanzees and orang-outangs, and adds a number of short but equally suggestive chapters on various animal functions." Times (London) lit. sup.

1 Natural history—Barro Colorado island 2 Zoology—Barro Colorado island 3 Birds—Barro Colorado island 29-25749

"Because of its unique situation, and on account of the primeval conditions that prevail there, the Curator of Birds in the American Museum of Natural History feels that he has found indeed an 'air castle' in the island of Barro Colorado in the Panama Canal. His observations of bird and animal life are so entertainingly recorded that a vast amount of information is absorbed painlessly. Photographs and sketches. List of birds of Barro Colorado. Index." Hingston, Richard William George Naturalist in the Guiana forest. 1932 Longmans $5; Arnold, E. & co. 18s 591.9

1 Natural history—British Guiana 2 Insects 3 Spiders 32-19150

"The author, who was leader of the Oxford Exploration Club's expedition to British Guiana

in 1929, describes the marvels of natural life in the equatorial rain forest, especially the life of insects and spiders. Much of the work was done in observation posts slung among the trees so that members of the party might observe forest life at different levels, or strata, from forest floor to tree top." Book rev. digest

Konrad Guenther's "Naturalist in Brazil; tr. by Bernard Miall" (1931 Houghton $5; Allen, G. 25s) is a record of a year's observation of the flora, fauna, and people of that country. A natural history book of unusual fascination

Hudson, William Henry

Naturalist in La Plata. Dutton $3; Dent 6s 591.9

1 Zoology—Argentine Republic 23-15888

First published in 1892

A series of papers upon the animals and birds of Argentina, written with the keen observation and sound scientific background of a great naturalist. Some of the subjects are curious animal weapons, fear in birds, nature's night-lights, the death-feigning instinct, and music and dancing in nature. There are also chapters about the puma, the skunk, grasshoppers, dragon-flies, mosquitoes, bees, wasps, spiders, hummingbirds, the vizcacha, the huanaco, cattle and horses

Kearton, Cherry

* In the land of the lion. 1929 McBride $3.50; Arrowsmith 5s 591.9

1 Zoology—Africa, Central [29-24599]

"In its twenty short chapters the author has something to say about most of the animals of the African bush and many birds and insects. The best, perhaps, is his chapter on the white ant. Systematic natural history is not his strong point, but his light sketches of the doings, family life, and frolics of the larger animals, lion, elephant, giraffe, hippopotamus, rhinoceros, and many more, are excellent reading, and conjure up fascinating pictures of wild life in sun-scorched bush, river, and swamp. The eighty-eight illustrations are mostly photographs from the author's film 'Tembi,' one of the best Central African films yet produced." Nature

Newbigin, Marion Isabel

Animal geography; the faunas of the natural regions of the globe. (Oxford geographies) 1913 Oxford $1.50; 4s 6d 591.9

1 Geographical distribution of animals and plants A14-1292

"An account of the animal life of various regions, such as forests, deserts, the sea, etc. The best book on the subject, and the only one needed. For reference rather than reading, the style being rather dry. Index." Standard catalog for high school libraries

White, Gilbert

Natural history of Selborne. (Lib. of English classics) Macmillan $3; 7s 6d 591.9

1 Natural history—England—Selborne 2 Selborne, Eng. Agr32-498

This book, first published in 1789, combines a charming style with accurate observations on plant and animal life, and is based upon letters which the author wrote to two other naturalists, Thomas Pennant and Daines Barrington, in which he gives a full description of the [illegible] flowers and trees. It has gone thru many editions

591.92 Marine fauna. Fresh-water biology

"Seashore animals of the Pacific coast" by M. E. Johnson and H. J. Snook (1927 Macmillan $7.50; 37s 6d) is a useful reference book and general guide for libraries on the west coast. It includes accounts of the structure and habits of the common marine fauna from San Diego to Puget Sound

Beebe, William

* Beneath tropic seas; a record of diving among the coral reefs of Haiti. 1928 Putnam $3.50; 15s 591.92

1 Marine fauna 2 Haiti—Descr. & trav. 3 Birds—Haiti 4 Diving, Submarine 5 Scientific expeditions 28-22400

"The sea floor, with its coral reefs, in the Bay of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, is the scene of many chapters of this glamorous book. Whether Beebe is describing what he sees from his diver's helmet, that wonderful unreal world of brilliant, bewildering color life under the water, or whether he is quietly sitting on the beach, watching the life of the shore, the door to a totally new set of experiences is opened for the reader. Appendices offer further information. Decorated end papers, colored frontispiece, photographs, index." N.Y. libraries

"Some of these chapters are slight, and not all deal with submarine life; but by far the most arresting are those which enable us to see, through Dr. Beebe's reflective eyes, the wonderful fairyland of the waters in which he rambled in his diving-dress." Times (London) lit. sup.

* Nonsuch: land of water. 1932 Harcourt $3.50; Putnam 21s 591.92

1 Nonsuch, Bermuda islands 2 Natural history—Bermuda islands—Nonsuch 3 Marine fauna 32-26221

"To be introduced by William Beebe to the life in the waters about Nonsuch, Bermuda, is a tremendously exciting and absorbing experience. Accounts of skilled technic in helmet diving, of the grand sport of catching flyingfish with a net when poised in the bow of a racing outboard motorboat are varied by descriptions of a peacock flounder, or the amazing internal anatomy of a shark. 55 illustrations, one in color." N.Y. libraries

Another equally attractive book by the same author is the "Arcturus adventure" (1926 Putnam $7.50; 25s) an account of an expedition to the Sargasso sea and the Galapagos region in the Pacific

Crowder, William

Between the tides. 1931 Dodd $7.50 591.92

1 Marine fauna 31-28515

"This is a popular reference book and guide describing the lower seashore animals of the Atlantic coast of North America. But while the book embraces to more or less a degree all the forms occurring in the western Atlantic seas, it is designed with special reference to the commoner inhabitants of temperate waters. . . Every animal described in the text is represented graphically as well." Introduction

"A mature, much needed book of great beauty, combining the accuracy of the scientist with the enthusiasm of the amateur. The author is an artist, and this, his third book on seashore life, has over 450 original drawings, and numerous colored plates." Amer. assoc. for the advancement of science

The author's "Dwellers of the sea and shore" (1923 Macmillan o.p. 1933) written for young people will interest the older reader who wishes a simple description of the plant and animal life of the seashore, the tide pool and the open sea

Daniel, Richard Jellicoe
Animal life in the sea. 1925 Hodder 5s 6d 591.92

1 Marine fauna 26-13464

"It is a well-planned book, simply written, and will serve admirably for a first step towards interesting untrained observers in all that is to be found in the sea, the habits of the animals living in it, and the various phenomena connected with them, besides simple discussions of physical and chemical conditions from the surface to the depth of the ocean." Nature

Bibliography: p119. Well illustrated

"The seas; our knowledge of life in the sea and how it is gained" by F. S. Russell and C. M. Yonge (1928 Warne $5; 12s 6d) is another good book on marine biology

Morgan, Ann Haven

Pratt, Henry Sherring
Manual of the common invertebrate animals, exclusive of insects. 1916 McClurg $5 592

1 Invertebrates 16-17348

"Containing descriptions of the common invertebrate animals, by means of which their names and affinities can be determined. . . Intended more particularly for use in the eastern and central portions of the United States and Canada, and the endeavor has been made to include in it most of the common invertebrates except insects occurring in this region." Preface

"There is a good glossary and a thorough index. The thousand-odd illustrations are all familiar line cuts of textbook style, well chosen and clearly reproduced. The faults are almost altogether those due to the condensation necessary to the limits of a single volume. The uncoated paper does away with extra weight. The most serious lack is the absence of all common names, except in the case of groups." Nation

These essays are selected from the ten volumes which make up the "Souvenirs entomologiques"

"In this volume M. Fabre has given us the results of his patient observations on the lives of spiders; he has lifted the veil that hides their domestic habits and habitations from the gaze of the ordinary investigator, and has told the story, not in scientific jargon, but in his own charming phraseology." Athenaeum

Since this book includes only spiders, some libraries may wish to supplement it with the author's "Life of the scorpion" (1923 Dodd $2.50) translated by Alexander Teixeira de Mattos and Bernard Miall

"This volume contains the record of various experiments made with ants, bees, and wasps most of which have appeared in the 'Journal of the Linnean Society' for the years 1874 to 1882. . . My object has been not so much to describe the usual habits of these insects as to test their mental condition and powers of sense." Preface

Cheesman, Lucy Evelyn

Everyday doings of insects. 1925 McBride $2.50; Harrap 5s 595.7

1 Insects [25-11140]

"The curator of insects to the Zoological society of London, 1920-1926 writes this simple and readable account of the habits and behavior of insects. She explains how they grow, why they show such an immense variety of form and size and color, how they protect themselves, how they breathe, their stings and bites, and their light and musical organs. There are chapters also on social insects, on their associations with flowers, and on insects that produce commercial products. [Index]" Book rev. digest

Social life in the insect world; tr. by Bernard Miall. [1912] Appleton-Century $4; Benn 8s 6d 595.7

1 Insects [12-40014]

"For readers who find the ten volume work of the aged French scientist Fabre, 'Souvenirs entomologiques,' inaccessible this volume offers a popular substitute. In its twenty-one chapters it deals with some of the more familiar and interesting insects, enlarging upon their habits and their romances which have been revealed to the author thru his own study and observation. . . Illustrations. Index." Book rev. digest

"Life and love of the insect" (1912 Macmillan $3; Black, A. & C. 7s 6d) has been suggested by one collaborator as another of the author's books on insect life in general desirable for purchase and preferable to his works on individual insects. However these works are all charming in style and true to fact and such titles as: "Life of the grasshopper" (1917 Dodd $2.50) "Mason-bees" (1914 Dodd $2.50) "Life of the fly" (1913 Dodd $2.50) and "Sacred beetle" (1918 Dodd $2.50) will always be popular. The five titles listed above are translated by A. Teixeira de Mattos

"Three-quarters of M. Maeterlinck's book is expository, and for this we may be thankful. He writes with an admirable simplicity and terseness which professional entomologists would do well to copy. . . Maeterlinck's book, in spite of its rather over-solemn groping after truths, is a remarkably vivid and condensed piece of writing." New statesman

"The author 'returning to the study of insect communities, has found in the termite, or white ant, a subject almost as fascinating as that of the bee, and one which is far less familiar. His method . . . has been, as before, to collect accurate but widely scattered facts into a harmonious grouping, enriching them with his own reflections and interpretations. . . Humanity is still the real hero of his drama, and if he turns to insects, it is to point out their relationship and analogy to man.'" Nation and Athenaeum

Fishes. [rev ed] 1925 Appleton-Century $7.50; 30s 597
1 Fishes 25-6965
First published 1907. The 1925 edition is practically a reprint with a new preface and one chapter omitted. Well illustrated in color and in black and white
"In this volume the writer has tried to compress all that an educated man is likely to know, or care to know, about fishes. Except for details of brooks and flies, it will answer all questions likely to be asked by anglers. Each one of the food and game fishes of the United States is treated with considerable fullness. Its special message is, however, to lovers of nature and to those to whom a fish is something more than a fish—an organism fresh from the mint of creation, with the history of its ancestors compressed in its structure and habits." "Miss Mellen of the New York Aquarium has brought together in this book many interesting facts. . . It gives a very excellent bird's-eye view of an immense subject. Its author's wide experience makes her advice about keeping aquarium fishes of special value. She has learned, furthermore, what questions naturally occur to the uninitiated, and she answers them admirably." Sat. rev. of lit.

Wetmore, Alexander
Migrations of birds. 1926 Harvard univ. press $2.50; Oxford 10s 6d 598.2

1 Birds—Migration 26-21345

"This little volume is based almost entirely on a course of lectures given before the Lowell Institute of Boston in the autumn of 1925. It is a refreshing treatment because so many of the well-worn stock illustrations and examples of the various phases of avian migration are replaced by original observations made by the author in the course of his extensive field experience from Alaska to Patagonia. It will appeal particularly to American readers, as its ages are crowded with incidents taking place in the United States, referring to many of our commonest and best-known birds." Literary rev.

"His book is excellent within its limits." Times (London) lit. sup.

Daglish, Eric Fitch
Life story of beasts. 1931 Morrow $3; Dent 6s 599

1 Animals—Habits and behavior 2 Mammals 31-28364

"Care and caution has been used in the preparation of the text. There is little brought out that strikes the animal student as new, but the smooth elucidation of a long procession of facts, and the comparison of habits of one kind of an animal with another, make interesting reading. Personally, I liked the book very much. . . And in turning the pages there is always the anticipation of coming to Mr. Daglish's fine woodcuts." R. L. Ditmars in Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

The author's "How to see beasts" (1933 Morrow $1.50; Dent 2s 6d) is a popular presentation of habits and life histories of animals from the whale to the pygmy shrew. Illustrated with woodcuts

1 Mammals [28-13275]

"An excellent reference handbook, describing representatives of each genus, and many species. There is, together with a photograph, a statement of facts concerning habitat, size, physical features, color, length of life, food, number of young, as well as other interesting information. Sixteen full-page illustrations in color by E. H. Fisher. Index of both common and scientific names." N.Y. libraries

"Mr. George Jennison, whose family founded and until recently owned the Bellevue Zoological Gardens at Manchester, [England] has given a short description and, wherever possible, a photograph from a living example of typical representatives of all the different kinds of mammals. He has added many useful notes made from his own observations." Times (London) lit. sup.

The grizzly; our greatest wild animal. 1919 Houghton $2.50 599

1 Bears 19-10216

"Author has studied the grizzly for many years, watching 'his actions under a variety of influences—fighting and playing, sleeping and food-getting.' Includes many anecdotes illustrating the bear's curiousity, sagacity and power of adaptation to a changed environment. Photographic illustrations." Pittsburgh

"The author writes in an informal, conversational style, and his book is full of entertaining anecdote and information." Outlook

Nelson, Edward William
* Wild animals of North America. rev new ed 1930 Nat. geographic soc. $2 599

1 Mammals 31-2452

"For this revised edition of 1930, the author has reassembled his biographies into groups, with an introduction for each, so that the text may be more readily adapted to the use of students of zoology, without sacrificing in any particular its popular appeal." Gilbert Grosvenor in Foreword

"This is a scientific work of a very unusual kind. It consists of a series of capital life studies of the most important big and small mammals of North America, by Edward W. Nelson, chief of the Biological survey, with admirable colored pictures by Louis Agassiz Fuertes and track sketches by Ernest Thompson Seton, and some excellent photographs and sketches by other men. We owe its production to the National geographic society, which expended a hundred thousand dollars on it in the two issues of the magazine [November 1916 and May 1918] in which it appeared as two separate articles." Outlook

Roosevelt, Theodore, and Heller, Edmund
Life-histories of African game animals. 2v 1914 Scribner $10; Murray, J. 52s 6d 599

1 Mammals 14-8591

"In the main portion of the book, that which treats of the life histories of the animals which

Col. Roosevelt has studied first hand on the African plains, the treatment is especially direct and lucid, and the vast amount of information which he has gathered first hand will prove not only of interest to the general reader, but of inestimable service to our all too small fund of knowledge of animal psychology." Almost human. 1925 Century o.p. 1933 599

1 Apes 2 Monkeys 25-18123

"A study of monkeys and apes based on the experiences of Madam Abreu of Havana. For many years Madam Abreu has kept primates as pets and in 1924 the author with three assistants went down to make observations and studies on her estate. He presents what he calls 'the a. b. c. of anthropoid life and behavior.' Popularly written. Should find interested readers anywhere. [Bibliography]" Wis. bul.

"The book is written in a spirit obviously fair and with the careful reserve of the scientist who strives to draw the layman into his laboratory. It should be read by everyone given to arguing, or even to thinking, about the evolution of man." Sat. rev. of lit.

"Great apes" written by Professor Yerkes with the collaboration of his wife (1929 Yale univ. press $10; Oxford 45s) is an important treatise on the anthropoid ape, which will interest larger libraries

GENERAL WORKS

Mersereau, Samuel Foster

‡ Materials of industry, their distribution and production. (McGraw-Hill technical texts) 1931 McGraw $2; 10s 600

1 Industrial arts 2 Commercial products 31-5940

"A textbook for use in technical high schools and other schools where such a book is wanted. Considers the sources and production of the raw materials of industry, the processes of adapting them to useful purposes and their economic importance. Has chapters on forest products; non-metallic minerals; iron and steel; non-ferrous minerals; and miscellaneous items; rubber, bakelite, paint, varnishes. Useful in general libraries. Contains 215 illustrations." Donald Hendry

603 USEFUL ARTS—DICTIONARIES

The demand for foreign technical dictionaries will depend upon the presence in the library of foreign technical books and magazines, or upon the presence in the community of firms with foreign correspondents. When these elements are lacking foreign technical dictionaries are not much used. Three dictionaries of this kind are included below with other dictionaries. A much more extensive work, much liked by translators and recommended for libraries having much need for translation from or into foreign languages is "Illustrated technical dictionary, in six languages" (v 1-9, 11-17 1906-1932 Stechert $107.50; Constable) edited by Kurt Deinhardt and A. Schlomann now in the course of revision. Title pages of later volumes read: Schlomann-Oldenbourg illustrated technical dictionaries

Crispin, Frederic S.

Dictionary of technical terms. 1929 Bruce pub. $1.25; Batsford 6s 603

1 Technology—Dictionaries 29-21537

"Definitions of technical terms and commonly used expressions in architecture, woodworking, the building trades, electrical and metal working trades, chemistry, etc. Intended as a practical book for the use of students and workers; should be of use in the small library where technical reference books are limited." Wis. bul.

Kettridge, Julius Ornan

French-English and English-French dictionary of technical terms and phrases used in civil, mechanical, electrical, and mining engineering, and allied sciences and industries. 2v 1925 Wilson, H. W. $9; Routledge 50s 603

1 Technology—Dictionaries 2 French language—Dictionaries [25-15552]

"This dictionary, embracing the field of civil, mechanical, electrical and mining engineering and the allied sciences and industries, contains translations of one hundred thousand words, terms and phrases illustrated by numerous examples and explanations. The whole is arranged on a novel alphabetic plan for rapid reference." Book rev. digest

"Bi-lingual technical dictionaries are of two sorts, the first a mere catalogue of corresponding terms in the different languages, the second a semi-cyclopedic definition of terms with cross references and explanations. Kettridge's 'French-English dictionary' is one of the more elaborate of the complete kind and is very well done." Engineering news-record

608 PATENTS. INVENTIONS

Collins, Archie Frederick
Bird's eye view of invention. 1926 Crowell $2 608

1 Inventions 26-17787

"Covers a wide field, beginning with units of measurement, covers the invention of tools, the development of transportation, of paper and printing the textile industry, etc. Because of its inclusiveness a good small library book." Wis. bul.

Cressy, Edward
Discoveries and inventions of the twentieth century. 3d ed rev and enl 1930 Dutton $3.50; Routledge 12s 6d 608

1 Inventions 30-15085

This title "is in its third edition thoroly revised. (Previous editions appeared in 1914 and 1922.) The new matter includes the marine oil engine, artificial silk industry, slotted wing for airplanes, screened-grid valve, beam wireless, photo-telegraphy, and television. Descriptions and explanations are given in a not-too-technical language to appeal to readers without technical education who nevertheless desire an adequate understanding of the mechanical, chemical, and electrical discoveries of their times." Industrial arts index

Hatfield, Henry Stafford
Inventor and his world. 1933 Dutton $2.40; Routledge 6s 608

1 Inventors 2 Inventions 33-17098

"An English work approaching the subject of invention from a new point of view; devoted to the nature and process of invention itself not to a history or account of inventions. Has chapters on What is invention? The inventor, The practice of invention, Working out and financing an invention, followed by discussions of mechanical, chemical, electrical and biological inventions, with a concluding chapter on Patent law, and a bibliography of 9 pages." Wis. bul.

Hoar, Roger Sherman
Patents; what a business executive should know about patents. 1926 Ronald $4.50; Am. bk. supply 22s 6d 608

1 Patents 2 Patent laws and legislation 26-20999

"There are plenty of good treatises already available on patent law. But this present book is intended, rather, to be a treatise on patent tactics, plus a translation into plain English of so much of the patent law as will enable a business executive to understand his attorney, and to cooperate fully with him." Preface

"The book is interestingly written in simple, non-technical language easily understood by the layman. Those interested in inventions or in patents will find in this unique work most, if not all, of the information which they think they need and a wealth of other information and advice which they actually do need without knowing it, much of which is obtainable from no other work." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Kaempffert, Waldemar Bernhard

1 Inventions 2 Inventors, American 31-19207

Contents: Revolution of transportation; Communication; Power. A good inexpensive reprint of volume 1 of the editor's "Popular history of American invention" (2v 1924 Scribner $10; 63s) The second volume of the longer work contains material on Exploiting material sources, and Automatic labor-saving devices

"Popular, nontechnical and authoritative, this is not only a record of American invention, but a narrative of initiative and perseverance in real life that rivals the imaginings of a fictionist. Well illustrated. . . Useful both as a reference book and for its general interest." Bkl.

Leeming, Joseph
Peaks of invention. 1929 Appleton-Century $2.50 608

1 Inventions 29-6649

"This 'popular' work, with an historical background, describes briefly the wonders of submarine cables, chemistry, radio, the telephone, superpower, lighthouses, locomotives, ships, telescopes, submarine boats, and aviation." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Low, Archibald Montgomery
Wonder book of inventions. 1930 Ward, Lock 7s 6d 608

1 Inventions 31-32397

A book which will interest both adult readers and young people

"Deals with many recent inventions. Professor Low, who needs no introduction, has written in a most attractive and lucid style, avoiding all technicalities. The book contains over three hundred pictures of absorbing interest, some of which are in colour." Nation and Athenaeum

Toulmin, Harry Aubrey
Patent law for the inventor and executive. 1928 Harper $2; 12s 6d 608

1 Patent laws and legislation 2 Patents 28-13659

"A book on patent law written by a patent lawyer for the layman concerned with securing a patent or with investing money in patents. Has chapters on how to get a valid patent; when to consult a patent attorney; trade sectret or patent? how to keep invention records; patent purchase and license agreements; who owns the invention—the employer or the employee; how to stimulate invention by employees; having inventions made to order; how to avoid patent infringement; what are patents worth? patents in the income tax return. Other chapters consider other phases of the subject." Donald Hendry

J. F. Robb's "Patent essentials for the executive, engineer, lawyer and inventor" (new and rev ed 1928 Funk $5) is another excellent treatise on patent law

1 Medicine, Popular 29-8118
"The author is president of the Boston Tuberculosis Association [1932] and the book has an introduction by Dr. Richard C. Cabot. Its purpose is to give more people an idea of what the doctor is trying to do, so that they may be more ready to do their part. It is not a manual of self help in illness, merely aiming to suggest ways of keeping health and of cooperating with the doctor in regaining it. Chapters on coughs and colds, on constipation, and nerves should be especially helpful." Wis. bul.
"Dr. Hawes' views on the domestic medicine catch-all, injudicious exercise and over-rated cathartics can all be enthusiastically endorsed by his confrères, though there will not be universal accord on some of his technical pronouncements." Survey

Morse, Minnie Genevieve
Medical secretary. 1933 Macmillan $1.50 610
1 Physicians 33-7234
"So many women now work in physicians' offices that this little book will be welcome in many libraries. It explains the secretary's clerical duties as well as the special graces that she should acquire in order to fit into the traditional atmosphere which supposedly hovers about the healing art. The keeping of case records, medical research, and the preparation of medical manuscripts are some of the duties discussed. A useful section on medical terminology, with explanations, concludes the book. Valuable in its field." Bkl.

Palfrey, Francis Winslow
Facts of modern medicine. 1929 Appleton-Century $5; 21s 610
1 Medicine 29-8864
"The purpose of the author has been to give in a single volume, for the use of the general reader and the beginning medical student, a concise survey of the whole field of medical science. Part I covers the fundamental sciences; Part II, diseases." Book rev. digest
"More detailed than several other recent popular books dealing with the subject but written in a clear and readable style, well-organized, and provided with an index which makes it unusually convenient for reference." Journal of home economics

Sigerist, Henry Ernst
* Man and medicine; an introduction to medical knowledge; tr. by M. G. Boise. 1932 Norton $4; Allen, G. 12s 6d 610
1 Medicine 32-10629
"Based on lectures to medical students but suitable for the intelligent layman. The author, professor at the University of Leipzig, believes that psychology, philosophy, and sociology should be an integral part of a physician's training and practice, and that the general practitioner will return to importance. Dr. Sigerist has lectured at Johns Hopkins university; his book is readable and well translated." Bkl.

Vedder, Edward Bright
Medicine; its contribution to civilization. 1929 Williams & Wilkins $2.50; Bailliere 25s 610
1 Medicine 2 Public health 29-11696
"The senior member of the Board of Medical Research of the United States Army, [1925-28] also experienced in public health work and in teaching, here helps to liquidate for the benefit of the layman what he calls 'a frozen asset of modern civilization'—namely, the aid to more healthful and efficient living furnished by recent progress in medical knowledge. The first part treats of the causes of disease in general and of diseases grouped as infectious, nutritional, glandular, and degenerative, while the second deals with present accomplishments in disease prevention and the problems of the future." Journal of home economics

610.3 Medicine—Dictionaries

Dorland, William Alexander Newman
American illustrated medical dictionary. 16th ed rev and enl 1932 Saunders $7; 35s 610.3
1 Medicine—Dictionaries 32-20295

"A new and complete dictionary of the terms used in medicine, surgery, dentistry, pharmacy, chemistry, nursing, veterinary science, biology, medical biography, etc., with the pronunciation, derivation and definition." Subtitle

"Excellent dictionary, one of the best; revised [frequently]." Mudge

Stedman, Thomas Lathrop
* Practical medical dictionary. 12th rev ed 1933 Wood $7.50; Bailliere 35s 610.3
1 Medicine—Dictionaries 33-24641

"Excellent dictionary, one of the best of the one volume dictionaries of terms. Appendices give tables of weights and measures, comparative temperature scales, comparative metric and English barometer scales, chemical elements with their symbols and atomic weights. Revised [frequently]." Mudge

610.4 Medicine—Essays

Fishbein, Morris
Fads and quackery in healing; an analysis of the foibles of the healing cults, with essays on various other peculiar notions in the health field. 1932 Covici $3.50 610.4
1 Medicine—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Quacks and quackery 32-28086

"This book has been developed largely from the material included in the books called 'The Medical Follies' and 'The New Medical Follies' [now, 1933, out of print]. Many of the essays appear for the first time. The chapters have been arranged so as to trace the logical evolution of quackery from the earliest times to such masterminds as exploit public weaknesses today through the mail and on the radio." Preface

"Dr. Morris Fishbein, versatile and energetic editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association and militant foe of medical quackery, in this, his latest book, has again attacked his ancient enemies with customary vigor. He has let loose a flood of satire, ridicule and indignant denunciation in his staunch battle to mitigate the harassments to which the medical profession has been subjected since early days. But in his impetuosity he has not neglected to deal with his subject in the clearest manner." N.Y. Times

610.7 Nurses and nursing

The smaller library may not need many books on nursing. The number required will probably depend to a large extent on the presence in the community of hospitals and nursing schools

If more books are wanted, two English texts on nursing which have been suggested as useful are:

Humphry, Laurence. Manual of nursing; medical and surgical. Griffin 3s 6d

Newsome, Edith. Everywoman a nurse. 1927 Oxford $1.25; 3s 6d A revision of "Home nursing" (1916)

Aikens, Charlotte Albina
Home nurse's handbook of practical nursing. 5th ed rev 1931 Saunders $2 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 32-3979

First edition 1912, revised in 1922 and 1927. "In this edition minor changes have been made in nearly every chapter. About twenty new illustrations have been added." Preface to fifth edition

A texbook for use in Y.W.C.A. and other nursing classes which is also an excellent manual for home use. In the fourth edition some new material has been added

"Home care of the sick" by Mrs N. A. S. Selbert (1929 Saunders $1) is a practical manual on care and prevention of disease, and first aid. Intended for use in high school and college courses

Beard, Mary
Nurse in public health. (Harper's public health ser.) 1929 Harper $3.50; 12s 6d 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 2 Public health 29-12584

"A book planned primarily for administrators. Intended as a supplement on certain points to Gardner's 'Public health nursing.' The rural community, Public health nursing in Europe, Maternal care in England and Denmark, and Education of the public health nurse, are the main topics treated." Wis. bul.

Delano, Jane Arminda
‡ American Red cross text-book on home hygiene and care of the sick. 4th ed rev 1933 Blakiston $1.40, pa 75c 610.7
1 Hygiene 2 Nurses and nursing 33-23642

A simple manual for the average household first published 1913 under title "Elementary hygiene and care of the sick" by J. A. Delano and Isabel McIsaac. The succeeding editions have been revised under the supervision of the Public health and home hygiene service, American national Red cross. Bibliography: p370-73

Dock, Lavinia L., and Stewart, Isabel Maitland
* Short history of nursing. 3d ed rev and enl 1931 Putnam $3; 12s 6d 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing—Hist. 31-31430

"A revised edition of a widely used textbook, containing material condensed from a larger work, Nutting and Dock's 'History of nursing.' 'The first part of the book is essentially the same as in the older editions, but the last chapters, in which the authors show how modern nursing came to other countries, and describe the movement for self-organization, the widening field of nursing service and, finally, the future nurse, her heritage and trust, is all either new or old material which is interpreted in a new and refreshing way.' Bibliography, index, and study helps." Book rev. digest

"Best short history, from earliest days to present. Good for a textbook as well as for general reading. Bibliography very complete." Bkl.

Douglas, Mrs George Margaretta (Taylor)
* Health and home nursing. 1932 Putnam $2.50; 12s 6d 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 2 Hygiene—Hist. 32-26643

"A textbook for the use of schools, with summaries, lists of questions and projects, and reading references at ends of chapters. Chapters cover such subjects as the care of babies, symptoms of illness, bed making, food, bathing, home medicines, prevention and care of communicable diseases, etc. Preliminary chapters give a brief survey of the history of nursing, medicine, and sanitation from early times to the present. Bibliography." Book rev. digest

Gardner, Mary Sewall
Public health nursing. 2d ed rev 1924 Macmillan $3; 15s 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 2 Public health 24-12901

In this edition much had to be rewritten and eight new chapters have been added due to the rapid development of the public health nursing

movement since the first edition was published in 1916. Aims to give "an outline of the subject as a whole, in which relationships might be studied and the continuity of events followed."

Goodnow, Minnie
Outlines of nursing history. 5th ed 1933 Saunders $3 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing—Hist. 33-30087
This edition of a text for student nurses, first published 1916, has been revised and brought up to date
"This volume has been prepared in response to the demand for a short, comprehensive history of nursing, suited to the average pupil or graduate and to those who wish to know something of the men and women who have developed nursing up to its present point. The design has been to give the main facts of nursing history from the beginning to the present time." Preface

Goodrich, Annie Warburton
Social and ethical significance of nursing. 1932 Macmillan $3; 15s 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 2 Nursing ethics 32-4730
"Compilation of a series of addresses made by the author . . . over a period of more than a decade. These addresses deal with the nurse in her relation to ethics, education, the hospital, the community, the university, and the world. . . Miss Goodrich is a highly inspirational speaker and writer." American journal of public health

Harmer, Bertha
Text-book of the principles and practice of nursing. 2d ed rev 1928 Macmillan $2.75; 15s 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 28-16183
A text book for use in nursing schools, covering the fundamentals in nursing, namely, the nursing care and treatments used in general medicine and surgery. In the second edition a large part was rewritten to agree with the increasing responsibilities of nurses and the latest scientific developments. Contains many illustrations and diagrams

Henderson, Louise
Practical nursing. 2d ed rev 1929 Macmillan $2; 10s 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 29-5110
First edition, 1919, published under title: "Practical home nursing." New material on personal hygiene, care of the aged and some of the more prevalent diseases has been added in the second edition
"An elementary condensed textbook for trained attendants and for use in practical home nursing." Subtitle

Kern, Mrs Corinne (Johnson)
I go nursing. 1933 Dutton $2.50 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 33-22453
"Presumably these are true stories, actual transcripts of real experiences in the life of a real woman. . . . The author tells her stories with excellent skill. The dramatic interest and the emotional happenings of each one are built up with a deftness that makes them exciting. They are, indeed, as gripping as are most fictional tales, and they vividly describe the setting and the surroundings in which the nurse finds herself in each case." N.Y. Times

National organization for public health nursing
Manual of public health nursing. 2d ed 1932 Macmillan $1.50 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 2 Public health 32-9309
First published 1926. Second edition has been increased by 80 pages and the bibliography has been enlarged to bring it up to date
"The aim of this manual is to suggest procedures which may serve as a guide primarily to the nurse in the field, and which may be applied to county, small community, state or large city services. The technique of nursing procedure has been adapted in accordance with the fundamental principles of public health nursing to the conditions usually found in homes, clinics, schools and industrial plants and to the facilities and the equipment available. . . The manual has been revised under the direction of a special committee representing widely diversified types of public health nursing agencies." Introduction
Another publication of this organization is "Principles and practices in public health nursing including cost analysis" (1932 Macmillan $1.75) which discusses the quality and cost of nursing services

Olson, Lyla M.
Improvised equipment in the home care of the sick. 2d ed 1933 Saunders $1.25 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 33-6566
"An entirely new revision of Miss Olson's work, first published in 1928. This is small and compact, containing 197 pages and a total of 285 illustrations. The contents of the 60 chapters are well indexed thus making it very convenient as a reference book. . . This book is a fine contribution to nursing education. Public health nurses especially will find it very useful, since their field of work is the home. They will also find that the content would make valuable material for staff education and demonstrations." American journal of public health

Red cross. United States. American national Red cross
History of American Red cross nursing, by L. L. Dock and others. 1922 Macmillan $5 610.7
1 European war, 1914-1918—Hospitals, charities, etc. 2 Nurses and nursing 23-536
"One phase of American nursing history—that of the organization and development of the nursing service of the American Red Cross—has been gathered in elaborate detail in. . . an official volume. . . The book follows the Red Cross nurses in the Spanish war, the world war, the foreign emergency relief program, the post-war developments in rural and public health nursing and educational work in which the Red Cross has played an active part." Survey

Seymer, Mrs Lucy Ridgely (Buckler)
General history of nursing. 1933 Macmillan $2.75; Faber 12s 6d 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing—Hist. [32-34386]
"An outline of nursing history which reaches back to the 'Origins' and comes down to the present. There are interesting chapters on Nursing Education and on Public Health Nursing." Pratt quarterly
"The bibliography shows rare judgment in the selection of material from many sources which gives continuity to the historical data. The book is written in a simple, straightforward manner wth a depth of feeling which inspires one with a desire to cherish each historical event. [Illustrated.]" American journal of public health

Wheeler, Mrs Mary Wright
* Amateur nurse; a practical book of home nursing. 1933 Bobbs $2 610.7
1 Nurses and nursing 33-6945
"Intended for the use of anyone upon whom falls the necessity of taking care without nursing experience, of the ill, the aged, or young children. The information is detailed, exact and informally phrased. The author is a registered nurse and writes out of ample knowledge and experience." Ontario library review

610.9 Medicine—History

Clendening, Logan

Behind the doctor. 1933 Knopf $5 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 33-30389

"A briskly written, rather sketchy history of medicine for the layman, with imaginary conversations interspersed. Profusely illustrated. Chapter bibliographies." Bkl.

"Amusing and entertaining and well filled with sketches of interesting personalities, besides. There are many quaint illustrations, and the book is written in the gay style that one might expect from the author of The Human Body." North American review

Downing, Elliot Rowland

Science in the service of health. (Longmans' school science ser.) 1930 Longmans $2 610.9

1 Hygiene—Hist. 30-14869

"A textbook combining the essentials of bacteriology and a study of the functions of the human body. The first part of the book treats of the war on disease and the effects of important bacteriological discoveries. The last chapter contains a discussion of modern discoveries in problems of nutrition and growth." Book rev. digest

"The book is written in popular language; the facts are correctly stated; and a great deal of interesting history is given. There are some unfortunate misprints. . . In general, the book belongs to the better class of its kind." American journal of public health

Frontiers of medicine. (Century of progress ser.) 1933 Appleton-Century $1; Bailliere 5s 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 33-18388

"The book is well printed but has no index. It should prove of interest to anyone who desires a succinct history of the development of medical science in all its branches, and will serve to inspire the reader with an appreciation of the scope and beneficence of this most important art." American journal of public health

Garrison, Fielding Hudson

* Introduction to the history of medicine, with medical chronology, suggestions for study and bibliographic data. 4th ed rev and enl 1929 Saunders $12 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 29-3665

"Two new chapters, one on medicine in prehistoric times, the other on medicine in the World war and after, have been added. The enlargement is greater than the increase in the number of pages shows because there are more words to a page than in the third edition and more matter has been set in small type. The bibliographical section has been revised and enlarged." Mudge

"Each chapter consists of a biographic and a general portion, the former setting forth the main features of the lives, endeavors and accomplishments of those who have contributed in any degree to the advancement of medicine, while the latter sums up succinctly and clearly the conditions under which they lived and worked. . . Its thoroughness, conciseness and clearness bespeak for it the fullest appreciation from all who are interested in the past and future of medicine." Science

Haggard, Howard Wilcox

The lame, the halt, and the blind; the vital role of medicine in the history of civilization. 1932 Harper $4; Heinemann 21s 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 2 Civilization—Hist. 32-26507

"Another popular history of medicine, something like 'Devils, drugs and doctors' [Blue ribbon bks. $1] but with a different emphasis. There is some duplication of subject matter and libraries with the first volume may not need this. Of the two, however, the second is preferable for smaller libraries." Wis. bul.

"Enlivened by some 200 bizarre illustrations, 'The Lame, the Halt and the Blind' provides a discursive but none the less accurate and interesting background of the place that medicine has held in the history of civilization. . . The book provides a good store of anecdote in connection with the comment on ancient medical practices, and a liberal exposition of old fads, manias and quackeries. The pictures are taken from old books; and they add novelty, if nothing else." Springfield Republican

1 Medicine—Hist. 33-36957

"A brief and rapid but dependable and illuminating review of medicine as it developed out of the earlier stages of mystery and magic. The contributions of great doctors and of various periods are summarized, with emphasis on the indispensable cooperation of chemists and physicists. Glossaries of proper names and of medical terms. Illustrated." N.Y. libraries

J. J. Walsh's "Cures; the story of the cures that fail" (1923 Appleton-Century $2; 8s 6d) is another popular history of the various cures in which drugs, mysticism, manipulation, etc. are depended on for results

Major, Ralph Hermon

The doctor explains. 1931 Knopf $3.50; Chapman 15s 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 31-23897

"An attempt to explain why the physician uses certain tests, how he got them, and what bearing they have upon his diagnosis and treatment. This book also attempts to show that the methods of treatment and diagnosis employed by the modern physician are the logical results of discoveries in the more exact sciences of anatomy, physiology, biology, physics, and chemistry." Foreword

"It is one of the most complete books of the kind ever written, especially for the layman, for it treats in masterly fashion of the physical examination, the role of the blood, the heart disturbances, blood pressure, dangers of sugar, body fuel and consumption, vitamins and deficiency diseases, X-rays and other rays, and traces the story of antisepsis." Boston Transcript

Osler, Sir William, bart.

Evolution of modern medicine. 1921 Yale univ. press $6; Oxford 25s 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 22-1538

A series of lectures delivered at Yale university on the Silliman foundation in April, 1913. Contents: Introduction; Greek medicine; Mediæval medicine; Renaissance and the rise of anatomy and physiology; Rise and development of modern medicine; Rise of preventive medicine. Contains many excellent illustrations

"Highly interesting and able summary, suited to layman and doctor alike." Nation and Athenaeum

Singer, Charles Joseph

‡ Short history of medicine. 1928 Oxford $3; 7s 6d 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 28-12785

"A survey of the scientific elements in medicine from Greek times to the present day, more than half of the book being devoted to modern medicine. Biographical matter is kept at a minimum." Pittsburgh

"A volume packed with interesting matter, excellently presented. There are 142 illustrations, admirably chosen." New statesman

Tobey, James Alner
Riders of the plagues; the story of the conquest of disease. 1930 Scribner $3.50; 12s 6d 610.9

1 Medicine—Hist. 2 Hygiene, Public—Hist. 30-25365

"Begins with a description of the great plagues of antiquity and of medieval times, traces the development of sanitation and weaves the achievements of Pasteur, Florence Nightingale, Lister, Walter Reed, Gorgas, Trudeau and others into the narrative." Wis. bul.

Bibliography: p339-42

Another recommended book, which tells of historical development of man's ideas about infectious diseases, is W. W. Oliver's "Stalkers of pestilence" (1930 Hoeber $3)

611 ANATOMY

If a text on histology is needed, F. R. Bailey's "Text-book of histology" (8th ed rev 1932 Wood $5.50; Oxford 30s) has been recommended as a much used book. The 8th edition was revised and rewritten by Adolph Elwyn and others

Gray, Henry
Anatomy of the human body. 22d ed rev and re-ed by W. H. Lewis 1930 Lea $10 611

1 Anatomy 30-22453

Published in England under title: "Anatomy, descriptive and applied" (Longmans 42s)

A standard book first published 1858. "This has always been particularly popular with students both in Great Britain and in America; it pays more attention to the surgical applications of anatomy than to the scientific and morphological side." Encyclopaedia Britannica 11th ed

Harvey, Basil Coleman Hyatt
* Simple lessons in human anatomy. 1931 Am. medical assn. $2 611

1 Anatomy 31-22226

"This is the publication in book form of a series of articles which appeared originally in Hygeia, the magazine published by the American Medical Association. There has been some revision, largely by the introduction of additional material and illustrations. . . The book was designed and written for the use of the layman. For him it is very valuable in interesting material. It enables him to get a fairly definite concept of the growth and structure of the human body in a relatively short time. Numerous clear and instructive illustrations greatly increase the value of the book." American journal of public health

Kimber, Diana Clifford, and Gray, Carolyn Elizabeth
* Text-book of anatomy and physiology. 8th ed rev 1931 Macmillan $2.75; 12s 6d 611

1 Anatomy 2 Physiology 31-21240

A standard work, first published in 1893 and several times revised. In the present edition some new illustrations are added and some of the old ones redrawn. Some new material has been added and other changes have been made but the arrangement of the book remains unchanged. Former title: "Text-book of anatomy and physiology for nurses"

612 PHYSIOLOGY

There are a number of good text books of physiology which have not been included here because the average small library will not need more than those listed below. Some good English and American titles suggested by collaborators it has been necessary to omit on this account. If additional material is needed the following books are recommended:

Halliburton, W. D. and McDowall, R. J. S. Handbook of physiology. 19th ed 1930 Blakiston $4.75; Murray, J. 18s A completely revised edition of a standard English work

Martin, H. N. Human body; its structure and activities and the conditions of its healthy working. 12th ed rev by E. G. Martin 1934 Holt $4 A standard text excellent of its kind

Mottram, V. H. Physiology. 1928 Norton $3; Nisbet 6s An English book written by a professor of physiology in the University of London, and published in England under title: "Functions of the body"

Starling, E. H. Principles of human physiology. 5th ed, ed and rev by C. L. Evans 1930 Lea $8.50; Churchill 21s An authoritative book

Stopes, M. C. C. Human body. 1926 Putnam $2.50; 3s 6d Intended chiefly for young people who are passing from the stage of childhood into youth and also for older people who did not receive such training as the book contains when they were young

Cannon, Walter Bradford
Wisdom of the body. 1932 Norton $3.50; Routledge 12s 6d 612

1 Physiology 32-26227

"A professor of physiology in the Harvard Medical School explains, with admirable clarity, the nature of the remarkable stability of all parts of the human organism, and how it is achieved; by what corrective agencies disturbances are prevented, and normal conditions restored. For the intelligent layman. Photographs, diagrams, graphs. References, bibliography, index." N.Y. libraries

Clendening, Logan
Human body. 1927 Knopf $2.50 612

1 Physiology 27-21152

Also available in a satisfactory cheap reprint in the Star series (Garden City pub. co. $1)

Included here because it had excellent votes altho it had also some with decided reservations and some condemnation from our collaborators. The book has been widely reviewed as readable and authoritative. However it is also severely criticized for its flippancy, cynicism and Rabelaisian viewpoint. It is a book for the sophisticated and mature reader and by no means for indiscriminate recommendation or for the high school reading list

"An epitome of medical knowledge, with just enough anatomy and physiology to enable the reader to comprehend the normal body in health, whose disorders in disease and old age are the main theme of the work." American journal of public health

Dorsey, George Amos
* Why we behave like human beings. (Harper's modern science ser.) 1925 Harper $3.50; 12s 6d 612

1 Physiology 2 Embryology 3 Evolution 4 Psychology 25-21191

"A comprehensive and closely packed account of human beings and their behavior. An anthropologist himself, Dr Dorsey picks up from several sciences and welds into an orderly, up-to-date story an infinite number of facts about man, his life and evolution, vital processes, germs of disease, causes of death, instincts, habits, appetites and emotions—all the 'raw materials of human nature.'" Book rev. digest

"The book is mostly sound from a scientific point of view, though it is not correct in many details of biology and other sciences. It is especially strong in the way it has simplified the sciences relating to the behavior of human beings, and presents them in a way that the average man can readily understand. The style of the book is peculiar." American journal of public health

Haggard, Howard Wilcox
Science of health and disease. 1927 Harper $4 612

1 Physiology 2 Hygiene 28-833

Trade edition, which is out of print 1933, had title "What you should know about health and disease." Describes the structure and functions of the human body and the derangements to which it is subject

"Its sources are of the soundest, its language is gratifyingly intelligible, and it emphasizes some distinctive problems of modern life that have been the subjects of prolonged and intensive study in the department of physiology of Yale University, from which it emanates." N.Y. Times

Hill, Archibald Vivian
* Living machinery. 1927 Harcourt $3; Bell, G. 7s 6d 612

1 Physiology 2 Nerves 3 Muscles 4 Animal mechanics 27-24356

"In a series of six lectures delivered at the Royal institution in London Dr Hill explained to his junior audience the mechanism of the human nerves and muscles. These lectures were later repeated in Boston, with an additional lecture on the aid of the other sciences in physiological discoveries, and one on mechanism and purpose. The lectures are well illustrated from photographs of experiments, etc." Book rev. digest

"He is absolute master of his subject, and, though it is true that the wisest of men are not always the best of teachers, it is likewise true that to explain most simply the most thorough knowledge is necessary. Professor Hill has both that knowledge and the power of lucid writing and clear explanation. Many of his examples and analogies are extraordinarily well chosen and helpful. . . The volume provides the most readable general account obtainable of the results of modern physiological research on muscles and nerves and the analysis of the factors regulating human speed and endurance." Nation and Athenaeum

Hough, Theodore, and Sedgwick, Willis Thompson
Human mechanism. 2d rev ed by J. A. Waddell. 1929 Ginn $3; 15s 612

1 Physiology 2 Hygiene 3 Sanitation 29-10166

A thoroly revised edition enlarged by 129 pages. Also available in a 2 volume edition: pt 1 Elements of physiology ($1.92); pt 2 Hygiene of sanitation ($1.88)

"A standard work covering physiology, hygiene and sanitation." Detroit

Keith, Sir Arthur
Engines of the human body. 2d ed 1925 Lippincott $5; Williams & Norgate 12s 6d 612

1 Physiology [25-19940]

The text of the second edition remains practically the same as the original edition; the new material takes the form of appendices covering 53 pages of material emphasized during the five years since the publication of the first edition

"An admirable book about human structure and physiology. It is the substance, revised and arranged to form a book, of one of those famous series of Christmas Lectures to popular audiences which the Royal Institution of Great Britain arranges to have given each year by British scientific men of high authority. All of us want to and ought to know as much as we can about our own bodily make-up and the way our bodies perform the necessary life-functions. This book is crammed full of interesting facts, and gives one a point of view about the human body which will be new to many readers." Vernon Kellogg's Biology

Kirkpatrick, Thomas Bruce, and Huettner, Alfred Francis
Fundamentals of health; the human organism, its development and conservation. 1931 Ginn $3.80 612

1 Hygiene 2 Physiology 31-17734

A textbook of physiology and hygiene for college students. In an attempt to make the subject more attractive to students the authors present "a substantial amount of scientific information concerning the origin, the development, and the functional characteristics of the human body, as a basis for the formation of appropriate habits and attitudes concerning health." Preface

Stiles, Percy Goldthwaite
* Human physiology; a text-book for high schools and colleges. 6th ed rev 1932 Saunders $2.25 612

1 Physiology 32-4312

The sixth edition is slightly larger (4 pages) than the fifth edition. The whole book has been revised

"The announcement in the preface, the 'purpose is to present concisely the accepted facts with only a limited description of the experiments by which these facts have been established,' gives an idea of the scope and nature of the book. . . On the whole, the book fulfills its particular purpose better than any other with which I am familiar. Writing such a book is a particularly difficult task, and the author has succeeded better than most. There are many new diagrams of unusual clearness." Science

612.015 Physiological chemistry

Hawk, Philip Bovier, and Bergeim, Olaf
Practical physiological chemistry. 10th ed rev and enl 1931 Blakiston $6.50; Churchill 30s 612.015

1 Physiological chemistry 31-22037

First published 1907. For the 10th edition the volume has been largely rewritten and brought up to date. Designed for use in courses in practical physiological chemistry in schools of medicine and science

"Excellent practical manual. A very good compendium of methods with some interpretation of results. [Illustrated]" Crane and Patterson's Guide to the literature of chemistry

If another book on this subject is needed "Physiological chemistry; a text-book and manual for students" by A. P. Mathews (5th ed 1930 Wood $7; Bailliere 37s 6d) is recommended

Parsons, Thomas Richard
Materials of life; a general presentation of biochemistry. 1930 Norton $3; Routledge 10s 6d 612.015

1 Physiological chemistry 2 Biological chemistry 30-13990

"A good book for the layman who shies at chemical formulas (there is not one in the volume). Treats of living stuff, energy and the human machine, combustion, wear and tear, digestion, exercise, blood and iron, vitamins, disease, and the cycle of nature." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

In effect a popular adaptation of the author's comprehensive "Fundamentals of bio-chemistry in relation to human physiology" (4th ed rev 1933 Williams & Wilkins $3; Heffer 10s 6d)

R. A. Gortner's "Outlines of biochemistry" (1929 Wiley $6; Chapman 30s) is another good treatise on biochemistry which aims to show the part which organic chemistry and physical chemistry play in living processes

612.1 Blood and circulatory system

Barker, Lewellys Franklin, and Cole, Norman Brown

Blood pressure; cause, effect and remedy. 1924 Appleton-Century $1.25; 5s 612.1

1 Blood 24-4597

"An argument for good hygienic living and well balanced activity, as well as a statement of what is meant by blood pressure. Both authors are associated with Johns Hopkins university school of medicine." Wis. bul.

"It appears to us that the book accomplishes its purpose in an excellent manner. The book can be recommended to the class of persons for whom it is designed. It is a book which might with advantage be placed in the waiting room of physicians." American journal of public health

612.4 Glandular system

Hoskins, Roy Graham

Tides of life; the endocrine glands in bodily adjustment. 1933 Norton $3.50; Routledge 15s 612.4

1 Endocrinology 33-5595

"The endocrine glands' function in bodily adjustment, just what and where they are, how they affect physical and mental attributes, are here explained in as non-technical language as possible." Scientific American

"His book is a comprehensive source of information for both medical student and physician; at the same time it is a veritable fund of knowledge for the layman." N.Y. Times

612.6 Reproduction. Sex instruction

Cady, Mrs Bertha Louise (Chapman) and Cady, Vernon Mosher

Way life begins; an introduction to sex education. 1917 Am. social hygiene assn. $1.50 612.6

1 Sex instruction 2 Reproduction 17-4856

Contents: Deeper meaning of nature study; Lily; Moth; Fish; Frog; Chick; Rabbit; Child; Nature study and the personal problems of life

Intended for the parent and the teacher. Contains many diagrams and illustrations, some in color

Dennett, Mrs Mary (Ware)

Sex education of children, a book for parents. 1931 Vanguard press $1.75; Routledge 3s 6d 612.6

1 Sex instruction 31-16469

"The volume makes no pretense to presenting subject matter for the use of parents. Its design is to awaken them as to the meaning, nature and possibilities of sex education, not as a mode of approach isolated from life, but one bound up in living, a factor for unifying and stabilizing psychic life. It urges the principles of honesty and truthfulness with frankness in expression as the fundamental bases for parental efforts at establishing the correct concepts and righting the wrong ones." Survey

De Schweinitz, Karl

‡ Growing up; the story of how we become alive, are born and grow up. 1928 Macmillan $1.75 612.6

1 Sex instruction 2 Reproduction 28-1598

Published in England under title: "How a baby is born" (Routledge 2s 6d)

"The story is told in a simple, straightforward way and the illustrations have been selected with discrimination as well as from the art viewpoint." American journal of public health

"A sound story of reproduction and birth, meant for children between the ages of six and twelve. Sex is simply told, in a healthy way in order to make clear how we become alive, are born and grow up. It has the dignity of truth as well as its vigor. The home built upon an integrity of candor between parents and child cannot afford to miss this book from its shelves." Survey

Dickerson, Roy Ernest

Growing into manhood. 1933 Assn. press $1 612.6

1 Sex instruction 33-16884

"The treatment of the sexual aspects of the subject is marked by unusual clarity and good taste and combines wholesome idealism with common sense." Journal of home economics

Galloway, Thomas Walton

Biology of sex for parents and teachers. rev 1922 Heath $1.24; Harrap 3s 6d 612.6

1 Sex 22-12637

"Especially valuable because it includes chapters on instruction for adolescent boys and girls by teachers. Deals especially with the methods and spirit of sex instruction, and its biological social and moral foundations." American social hygiene association

Sex and social health; a manual for the study of social hygiene. 1924 Am. social hygiene assn. $2.50 612.6

1 Sex instruction 2 Sexual hygiene 24-30388

"The author has tried to bring into one volume some of the elementary contributions of half-a-dozen sciences to the subjects of reproduction, sex, marriage, family life, and the training of children; and to point out the practical bearing of these facts upon personal happiness, character training, and social welfare." Foreword

A college text for women on the anatomy, physiology and hygiene of the sex organs

Parshley, Howard Madison
Science of human reproduction; biological aspects of sex. 1933 Norton $3.50; Allen, G. 12s 6d 612.6
1 Sex 2 Reproduction 3 Endocrinology 33-13492

"The purpose of this book is to present the scientific facts and theories of reproduction in sufficient detail to accomplish two things: first, to answer most of the questions that non-professional students and intelligent laymen are likely to ask about the anatomy and physiology of human procreation; and second, to provide the biological basis for a scientific attitude toward sex and its problems. Some attention is therefore directed toward the phenomena of reproduction in lower forms of life, since these more primitive organisms often illustrate clearly and simply the scientific principles that apply equally to our own more complicated conditions." Preface

"Professor Parshley's volume is one of the most intelligent, well informed and readable contributions to the subject in recent years." New republic

Sanger, Mrs Margaret (Higgins)
What every boy and girl should know. 1927 Brentano's $1.50; Allen, G. 7s 6d 612.6

"Tells to young people, candidly, cleanly, scientifically and impersonally and with no shamed lowering of the voice, what science has to say about sex life and sex conduct." Ben B. Lindsey in Preface

United States. Public health service
High schools and sex education; ed by B. C. Gruenberg. 1922 Supt. of doc. pa 25c 612.6
1 Sex instruction 22-26564

"The present book brings together in usable form a variety of material. It has been prepared on the basis of descriptions of work actually being done by high-school teachers in various parts of the country, replies to questions submitted to the Bureau of Education and to the Public Health Service by correspondents, and replies to questions most frequently raised at the forty or more conferences on sex education that have been held during the past three years. There is included an attempt to show the bearing of the whole problem of sex enlightenment and adjustment to the other tasks of the school, together with a variety of practical suggestions derived from many sources." Foreword

612.67 Old age

Hall, Granville Stanley
Senescence, the last half of life. 1922 Appleton-Century $5; 21s 612.67
1 Old age 22-9380

Presents "the subjects of Old Age and Death from as many viewpoints as possible in order to show how the ignorant and the learned, the child, the adult, and the old, savage and civilized man, pagans and Christians, the ancient and the modern world, the representatives of various sciences, different individuals have viewed these problems, letting each class. . . speak for itself." Foreword

"Rich in scholarship and personal experience, is a comprehensive review of the sum of human knowledge on this subject. . . All students of human nature will feel that this text is the gift of a mature mind to those who would struggle wisely to meet the problems of advancing age." Annals Amer. acad.

Martin, Lillien Jane, and De Gruchy, Clare
Salvaging old age. 1930 Macmillan $2; 7s 6d 612.67
1 Old age 30-3193

"An interesting book by a seventy-year-old doctor who tells of her experience in rehabilitating elderly people and gives suggestions for making old age a period of usefulness and content." Pratt quarterly

"Sweeping the cobwebs" by the same authors (1933 Macmillan $1.50; 7s 6d) gives additional suggestions on the employment of mental hygiene for those past middle age

Bowen, Wilbur Pardon
Applied anatomy and kinesiology; the mechanism of muscular movement. (Physical education ser.) 4th ed thoroughly rev 1928 Lea $3.75; Kimpton 18s 612.7
1 Muscles 2 Exercise 3 Physical education and training 28-21407

"The chapter on posture has been entirely rewritten, the section on defects of the foot likewise, and some changes have been made in the treatment of certain athletic events in which the standard form has undergone development as coaches and trainers have had longer experience. Less stress is now being laid on formal gymnastics, especially those systems borrowed from foreign countries." Preface to fourth edition

Discusses especially the action, structure and uses of the muscles. Contains many illustrations, and short bibliography

612.8 Physiology of the nervous system

In this Catalog all books on the nervous system are kept together in 613.8

613 General and personal hygiene

Andress, James Mace; Aldinger, Albert Kurwin, and Goldberger, Isidore Harry Health essentials. 1928 Ginn $1.60 613
1 Hygiene 28-12726

"A textbook for the teaching of health. The book not only points out the road to healthful living for the high-school pupil but considers those matters which affect the well-being of the community. The major part of the book deals with personal hygiene. Little space is devoted to anatomy and physiology, probably just enough to give an understanding of the basis of modern hygienic methods. The book is written in simple language, and the titles of the sections are such as to appeal to the reader. . . In all cases positive health is stressed. In order to prepare the pupil for future civic life, material on home and community hygiene is included." School rev.

Bellows, Jane

Feet and shoes. 1928 Womans press pa 75c 613

1 Foot 2 Boots and shoes 28-7048

"A simply written, illustrated pamphlet which gives sensible suggestions with clear drawings. It offers material suitable for the lay worker as well as for the trained specialist. A series of foot games and exercises for strengthening the legs and feet are explained as well as what constitutes good shoes." Bkl.

Clendening, Logan

Care and feeding of adults, with doubts about children. 1931 Knopf $2.50; Bale 6s 613

1 Hygiene 2 Diet 31-28303

Also available in the Star series (Garden City pub. co. $1)

"Only a small part of the book is concerned with diet. It is a collection of papers on various problems of life and health. Charmingly written, in light and humorous vein, it is characterized by counsel of moderation." Pittsburgh

"The whimsical slant of its title is reflected all through Dr. Clendening's new book, which it is an unmitigated joy to read, partly because of that constant slant and partly because of the straight, sound common sense with which he insists upon testing many new-fangled theories of medicine and hygiene." N.Y. Times

Emerson, William Robie Pattern

Diagnosis of health. 1930 Appleton-Century $3; 10s 6d 613

1 Hygiene 30-2659

"The standards of positive health, how to attain it and keep it, are set forth by a physician experienced in public health work. The second half of the book is devoted to training for physical fitness. Will be of use to those doing health work with children or adults, as well as to individuals." Bkl.

* Hour on health. (One hour ser.) 1929 Lippincott $1 613

Contents: How long will you live; Physically fit; Exercise—its benefits and hazards; Digestion and indigestion; Food fads and fallacies; Sleep; Heart and blood vessels; High blood pressure, Bright's disease and diabetes; Sensible vacation program; Medicine in our changing world

"His little book is rather notable among the many dealing with this theme for the inclusiveness of its treatment and the variety of the subjects with which it deals." N.Y. Times

Fisher, Irving, and Fisk, Eugene Lyman

How to live; rules for healthful living based on modern science. 19th ed rev 1932 Funk $2 613

1 Hygiene 32-14697

"In spite of slight amplification of some subjects and more up-to-date statistical tables, the changes in this edition do not seem great enough to require substitution in libraries which have the previous edition." Bkl.

"In several respects an unusual manual. The information on foods, diet, poisons, etc., is more scientific and definite than is usually found in popular books on hygiene, and is selected for the average man and woman, who needs to be persuaded of the value of observing proper hygienic rules. Prepared in collaboration with the hygiene reference board of the Life Extension Institute." Wis. bul.

Meredith, Mrs Florence (Lyndon)

Hygiene. 2d ed 1932 Blakiston $3.50 613

1 Hygiene 32-15517

First published 1926. "The second edition has been prepared in order to bring the text up to date, and especially in order to insert subtitles within the chapters. To accomplish the latter purpose, a certain amount of reorganization of the text has been necessary." Preface to second edition

"This college textbook by a physician with wide experience as college teacher and physical director begins with the general principles of health maintenance in colleges, then takes up anatomy and physiology, pathology, hygiene, and mental hygiene." Journal of home economics

Mosher, Clelia Duel

Personal hygiene for women. 1927 Stanford univ. press o.p. 1933 613

1 Woman—Health and hygiene 27-16373

"A well-known authority on such subjects has here combined the material used in her earlier books, 'Health and the Woman Movement,' and 'Women's Physical Freedom,' with the changes needed to bring it up to date; treating with admirable common sense 'some of the special problems of women's health concerning which the lack of knowledge has been so disastrous.'" Journal of home economics

National health series; ed. by the National health council. 24v 1923-29 Funk ea 30c 613

A useful series of small volumes each one written by an authority on his subject. In this Catalog they are kept together here because of their small size which is a great detriment to their use in a library. However they would be useful in a library classed with the subject if the library can keep these very small volumes from getting lost when put on the shelves with books of regular size

Contents: Diabetes and its treatment, by F. M. Allen; Community health, by D. B. Armstrong; Adolescence, by M. A. Bigelow; Baby's health, by R. A. Bolt; Care of the mouth and teeth, by H. J. Burkhart; Expectant mother, by R. L. De Normandie; Health of the worker, by L. K. Frankel, and B. Bunzel; Love and marriage, by T. W. Galloway; Food for health's sake, by L. H. Gillett; Taking care of your heart, by T. S. Hart; Human machine, by W. H. Howell; Posture and hygiene of the feet, by P. Lewin; What everyone should know about eyes, by F. P. Lewis; Personal hygiene, by A. J. McLaughlin, and J. A. Tobey; Exercises for health, by L. L. Meanes, and E. V. Hathaway; Home care of the sick, by C. D. Noyes; Your mind and you, by G. K. Pratt; Young child's health, by H. L. K. Shaw; Venereal diseases, by W. F. Snow; Quest for health, by J. A. Tobey; Tuberculosis, by L. R. Williams; Man and the microbe, by C. E. A. Winslow; Cancer, by F. C. Wood; Child in school, by T. D. Wood

A useful English series, written in clear and simple language, is "Modern health books" (Chicago med. ea $1.40; Faber ea 3s 6d) Contents: Scourges of today, by E. T. Burke; Diseases of animals in relation to man, by T. W. M. Cameron; Child health and character, by Mrs E. M. S. Chesser; Nursing in the home, by S. Churchill; Nerves, master-system of the body, by D. F. Fraser-Harris; Air we breathe, by J. Kerr; Child at school, by Sir L. MacKenzie; Health of the workers, by Sir T. Oliver; Food: its use and abuse, by K. A. Platt; House of health, by Sir J. Osborne, Oliver Thomas

What everyone ought to know. 1929 Thomas $2.50; Bailliere 12s 6d 613

1 Hygiene 29-20902

"A presentation in simple language of the truths concerning the human body and the physiologic processes of growth and nutrition." Pratt quarterly

Osborne, Oliver T.—Continued

"This book belongs to the better class of those which have been written in such numbers during the last few years for the instruction of the public. It goes somewhat into physiology, and takes up nutrition, growth, foods, clothing, exercise, etc. The ground is well covered, and in an exceptionally clear fashion." American journal of public health

Pitkin, Walter Boughton

More power to you! 1933 Simon & Schuster $1.75 613

1 Hygiene 33-29975

"Designated as a working technique for making the most of human energy. The author explains simply and directly how the average individual can increase his capacity for doing work." Industrial arts index

Thomson, Sir John Arthur

Towards health. 1927 Methuen 7s 6d 613

1 Hygiene 27-19059

Formerly carried also by Putnam

"The chapters formed a series of popular Saturday Evening Lectures (Farquhar Thomson Lectures) delivered annually by members of the Medical Faculty of the University of Aberdeen." Preface

"The book is not a practical guide to health. It has a more fundamental aim than this. It seeks to explain the biological ideas that underlie the study of health. This purpose it achieves in clear and convincing language that should be intelligible to all." Saturday rev.

Turner, Clair Elsmere

* Personal and community health. 3d ed 1930 Mosby $2.75; Kimpton 12s 6d 613

1 Hygiene 2 Public health 30-19608

"The book has been thoroughly revised. Much of the material of the former editions has been omitted and several new sections, including a new chapter on 'Health, maintenance', have been added." Preface to third edition

"Public health is considered from the point of view of what the college or professional man, who is not a sanitarian, needs to know in order to protect his family and meet his responsibility as a citizen." Providence

Bibliography: p431-36

Whitmore, Eugene Rudolph

Keeping young after forty. (Appleton popular health ser.) 1928 Appleton-Century $1.50; 5s 613

1 Hygiene 2 Longevity 3 Old age 28-12216

"This is a book of sane practical suggestions for both men and women on the proper care of the body. It discusses menaces to health and conditions of life which hasten old age. Its aim is to help the reader to keep a healthy body and healthy mental outlook. The author writes from experience as he has directed health and physical work in the American Army. Good index." Wis. bul.

Williams, Jesse Feiring

* Business man and his health. (Whittlesey house publications) 1932 McGraw $2 613

1 Hygiene 2 Mental physiology and hygiene 32-11787

"Rather popular discussion of modern living conditions as affecting health. Considers routine exercises less valuable than activities and hobbies which will give mental satisfaction as well as physical exercise." Pittsburgh

"This book takes up the subject in a simple, witty and in some cases a startling way. It is practical as well as entertaining. It differs from the other books in a similar field in that it analyzes the specific problem of the modern business and professional man in its emphasis upon such important matters as mental health, hobbies, vacations, and two interesting chapters entitled 'The Tired Business Man' and 'The Retired Business Man.'" Boston Transcript

Healthful living, based on the essentials of physiology, for high-school pupils. rev ed 1927 Macmillan $1.80 613

A high school textbook in physiology and hygiene, by the professor of physical education in Teachers college, Columbia university. Numerous illustrations, diagrams, charts

"The entire text has been revised and reset. Chapter I is new. Other chapters of the first edition have been changed to embody the results of experimentation, field experience, and study of the last seven years. The appendix gives a section on first aid. The whole text has been expanded from 431 pages to 605." Bkl.

* Personal hygiene applied. 4th ed 1931 Saunders $2.25 613

Revised to bring the material in line with recent advances. Questions and exercises have been added at the ends of chapters

"This book has been planned for those who wish not only to learn personal hygiene, but also to relate the securing of health to ideals, ambitions, hopes and aspirations. . . The book is marked throughout by an extraordinary rationality. The author has an instinct for sound, proved facts and his book may be recommended as a safe guide." Morris Fishbein's Human body and its care

The author's "Hygiene and sanitation; the essentials of modern health care" (2d ed 1930 Saunders $2) is another useful text book planned primarily for college students

1 Hygiene 2 Occupations—Diseases and hygiene 3 Accidents—Prevention 4 Labor and laboring classes—Medical care 30-13634

"A textbook which presents in a simple style the important problems of hygiene in modern industrial life." Pratt quarterly

"Perhaps the greatest defect of the book lies in the fact that many of the discussions are so brief that the content has suffered 'by compression'. . . The chief virtue of the book lies in its scope and the many excellent illustrations which serve to enhance interest in an already very readable volume." American journal of public health

Bogert, Lotta Jean
Nutrition and physical fitness. 1931 Saunders $3 613.2

1 Nutrition 2 Food 3 Digestion 4 Diet 5 Hygiene 31-21221

"A textbook which presents in non-technical language the facts of food composition, the chemistry of and physiology of bodily processes, dietetics and medicine." Pratt quarterly

"The book is unusual in that it treats of nutrition from the broader point of view of the factors that have to do with digestion and assimilation rather than as a discussion limited to food itself. On reading it the dietician, physical educator and physician can hardly fail to have their point of view broadened and their knowledge increased by the large amount of useful information presented. The writer's experience as instructor in medicine, in clinical research—aside from that of home economics—has served well in making the book concrete in its facts and in their presentation." Survey

Nutrition in health and disease. (Lippincott's nursing manuals) 5th ed rev 1933 Lippincott $3 613.2

1 Diet 2 Diet in disease 33-22148

"A useful handbook for nurses and homemakers which treats the principles of nutrition, contains chapters on diet in disease and the selection of food, and on cooking for the sick and convalescent." Pratt quarterly

"The presentation is clear, simple and interesting. No knowledge of chemistry or physiology on the part of the students seems to be assumed, and much skill is shown in avoiding both oversimplification and excessive scientific precision." Journal of home economics

Eddy, Walter Hollis
* Nutrition. 1928 Williams & Wilkins $2.50; Bailliere 13s 6d 613.2

1 Food 2 Vitamines 3 Nutrition 28-15139

Contents: pt 1 General food requirements; pt 2 Vitamin requirements

"The author of the book thus states his purpose, a purpose well attained in the second half and somewhat unevenly in the first: 'The main object has been not to write a guide to correct eating, as one compiles a book on etiquette, but to try to express in simple language the process and the problems in the field of nutritional science today.'" Journal of home economics

* Newer knowledge of nutrition; the use of foods for the preservation of vitality and health. 4th ed 1929 Macmillan $4; 21s 613.2

1 Nutrition 2 Diet 29-22226

"Advances along several lines since the publication in 1925 of the third edition of this book make necessary an extensive revision in order to include the recent important studies relating to several phases of nutrition. The general plan of the third edition has been preserved and while much of the former edition has been retained, the book has been essentially rewritten." Preface to fourth edition

"Discusses the problem of an adequate, balanced diet in time of food shortage, applying knowledge gained through animal experimentation. Includes a chapter on the relation of diet and disease and one on vegetarianism." Cleveland

Food, health, vitamines. 6th ed 1933 Longmans $1.20; 3s 6d 613.2

1 Diet 2 Food 3 Vitamines [Agr33-314]

A revision of "Food and health." This edition is 23 pages larger than the previous one. The results of research on vitamin C have been included in the present edition and a few other changes have been made

"This small book is a summary in simple terms of the present knowledge about vitamins, or health-giving substances in the food. A special frontispiece has been prepared to show the different foods which are rich and poor in vitamins, so that it can be seen at a glance what to eat and what to avoid." Publisher's note

"Particularly useful are the lists of foods rich or poor in vitamins. It is pleasantly and clearly written." Spectator

Proudfit, Fairfax Throckmorton
Nutrition and diet therapy; a textbook of dietetics. 5th ed completely rev 1930 Macmillan $2.50 613.2

1 Diet in disease 30-25051

Formerly published under title: "Dietetics for nurses." In this edition there has been some rearrangement of material and more stressing of the principles of nutrition and its relation to health. In the appendix are a number of useful tables

"The subject matter is good, drawn from authentic sources, and well presented. Altogether, the nurse really interested will be glad to have this addition to her library." Journal of home economics

Richardson, Frank Howard

Rebuilding the child; a study in malnutrition. 1927 Putnam $2; 7s 6d 613.2

1 Children—Nutrition 27-17561

"In this study of malnutrition, its symptoms, cause and cure, Dr Richardson who is the author of other books on the health problems of childhood tells how to recognize and treat this altogether too common enemy of child health. His survey includes [a] bibliography of malnutrition and is illustrated with charts and graphs and from photographs of normal and dernourished children." Book rev. digest

"Written in readable style but with unquestioned authority, for parents, teachers, nurses, and physicians." Journal of home economics

W. R. P. Emerson's "Nutrition and growth in children" (1922 Appleton-Century $2.50; 10s 6d) is another study on the causes of malnutrition in children, by a pioneer authority

Roberts, Lydia Jane

Nutrition work with children. (Univ. of Chicago home economics ser.) 1927 Univ. of Chicago press $3.50; Cambridge univ. press 13s 6d 613.2

1 Children—Nutrition 27-3955

"The book is intended as a text and reference book for college students, but it will be useful to all who are working to improve the health of children. Certain chapters, such as those on the causes and effects of malnutrition and on the treatment of undernutrition, should help parents to understand the importance of health work in the school and the need of co-operation in the home." School rev.

Many illustrations from photographs, diagrams and tables. References at end of most of the chapters

Rose, Mrs Mary Davies (Swartz)

1 Food 2 Diet 3 Menus 29-19764

"The 3d edition of an extremely able and popular book. While not many changes have been made in the text, an added emphasis on ash constituents, the vitamins, and a more up-to-date discussion of the specially prepared baby foods make it a more nearly up-to-date book. The home edition is attractive in appearance, with several colored illustrations." Wis. bul.

1 Nutrition 2 Diet 33-36903

First published 1927. Recent research results have necessitated complete revision of the sections on the vitamins and a separate chapter is devoted to each. Subdivision of the material on energy protein and mineral elements, into a greater number of chapters, simplifies and clarifies the information. The book has in general been brought up to date

"Professor Rose's book has the merit of being written by an authority on nutrition—an authority who withholds little of what she knows and who writes with distinction. The book is. . . one of the best and yet it is one of the simplest expositions of the science of nutrition to be found in the English language. The historical introduction and the chapters on mineral constituents and vitamins have been particularly well handled." N.Y. Evening post

Graham Lusk's "Elements of the science of nutrition" (4th ed 1928 Saunders $7) is a clear and comprehensive presentation of the subject of nutrition and diet for the physician and expert. Expensive for many small libraries

Sansum, William David

Normal diet. 3d rev ed 1930 Mosby $1; Kimpton 6s 6d 613.2

1 Diet 2 Menus 30-5847

"A simple statement of the fundamental principles of diet for the mutual use of physicians and patients." Subtitle

"This third edition contains suggested menus for several varieties of diet, an appendix on the Testing of urine for acidity, and height and weight tables. Common sense, up-to-date book of dietary advice by the director of the Potter metabolic clinic, Santa Barbara cottage hospital, California." Bkl.

Sherman, Henry Clapp

‡ Food products. 3d ed 1933 Macmillan $3; 15s 613.2

1 Food 33-36901

First published 1914, new edition, 1924. This third edition has been completely rewritten to incorporate recent developments in food industries and standardization of foods, new government data on food production, composition and consumption. Statistical tables and suggested reading lists have been carefully revised

"Comprehensive. Particular emphasis given to the question of nutritive value. Discusses foods and food products in a practical manner, giving analyses, processes of manufacture, and food legislation." Pittsburgh

* Vitamins in health and disease. 1933 Appleton-Century $2; Bailliere 11s 6d 613.2

1 Vitamins 2 Nutrition 3 Diet 4 Deficiency diseases 33-14118

Also obtainable from Williams & Wilkins at $2

"A simple statement, for the intelligent layman, of the role of vitamins in health, and of the results of vitamin deficiency. Includes tables showing the vitamin content of many fruits, vegetables, cereals, seeds and nuts, fats and oils, etc." Book rev. digest

"This book, prepared by an authority in this particular field, will be welcomed. The book is written in a simple style, with no attempt at dramatics. It will appeal to the intelligent rather than the average reader and it should prove of real interest and value to health workers." American journal of public health

"The vitamins" by H. C. Sherman and S. L. Smith (2d ed 1931 Chemical catalog co. $6) one of the American chemical society's Monograph series, is an authoritative book for the student of nutrition

Thoma, Katherine Mitchell

Food in health and disease. 1933 Davis $2.75 613.2

1 Diet 2 Diet in disease 3 Nutrition 4 Food 5 Cookery 33-4442

"Discusses the importance of the normal diet as part of the general health program and as the foundation for all diets. This volume is divided into four sections, covering the selection and cooking of foods for normal and for sick individuals, the nutritive values and physiological actions of foods, and the planning of balanced diets for the well individual, the convalescent patient, and for children. Student nurses and dietitians will find this a practical and helpful book." N.Y. Municipal reference lib. notes

Willard, Florence, and Gillett, Lucy Holcomb

Dietetics for high schools. rev ed 1930 Macmillan $1.40; 7s 613.2

1 Food 2 Diet 30-21657

First published 1920. The revised edition has been considerably enlarged and revised

"The book starts with a comparison of the weights and heights of the girls in the class with the standards for their ages. Following this is a study of food values as to fuel, protein, mineral, vitamines, and the requirements of a good diet. Following the general study of the basis for planning meals, the authors make an interesting and concrete section of the book by selecting a family containing children of various ages and discussing the marketing problems of this family. The high-school girl thus makes application of her earlier nutrition study to actual food purchase for the family's need." School rev.

Wynne, Shirley Wilmotte

Diet and weight control. 1932 Liveright $1 613.2

1 Corpulence 2 Diet 32-13169

613.6 Hygiene of employment

"Industrial health" edited by G. M. Kober and E. R. Hayhurst (1924 Blakiston $15) is a comprehensive treatise on industrial hygiene which will be useful in libraries needing a book of this kind. It is a revised and enlarged edition of "Diseases of occupation and vocational hygiene" edited by G. M. Kober and W. C. Hanson

Emmons, Arthur Brewster

Health control in mercantile life; a problem of conserving human energy. 1926 Harper $3; 12s 6d 613.6

1 Labor and laboring classes—Medical care 2 Department stores 26-6831

"A detailed study of health work, based on the Harvard survey conducted in large eastern mercantile establishments. Although primarily intended for very large organizations, should be of use as a guide to employers of smaller groups of workers and to social workers and persons concerned with community health." Wis. bul.

"The work is young, and material worthy of analytical consideration is scanty. Sometime there may be a better book on mercantile health work; but this is the first of its kind, an important and praiseworthy contribution." Amer. econ. rev.

Hackett, James Dominick

Health maintenance in industry. 1925 McGraw $4; 24s 613.6

1 Occupations—Diseases and hygiene 2 Labor and laboring classes—Medical care 25-10359

"The object of this book is to show those who manage plants. . . how the worker's health may be maintained and improved as a means of increasing production. The subject is treated simply and its medical and surgical aspects are dealt with only in so far as may be necessary to their understanding from the plant manager's point of view." Pittsburgh

Hamilton, Alice

Industrial poisons in the United States. 1925 Macmillan $5 613.6

1 Poisons 2 Occupations—Diseases and hygiene 25-9271

"A scientific study of the poison hazards to which workers in various industries are exposed, and of the symptoms and pathological changes which result from the action of the poisons. Numerous bibliographies are provided. Author is [1929] assistant professor of industrial medicine, Harvard Medical School; formerly special investigator of poisonous industries for the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics." Donald Hendry

National industrial conference board

Medical supervision and service in industry. 1931 The board $2 613.6

1 Labor and laboring classes—Medical care 2 Occupations—Diseases and hygiene 32-26100

The board's "last study in this field was published in 1926. The marked progress that has taken place since that time has made it advisable to undertake a re-survey of the whole situation, and the results of this survey are contained in this volume." Preface

"This is a report of a survey of 443 industrial establishments, representing a total of one million odd employees, which have instituted medical programs. Similar studies were made in 1920 and 1924, so that by comparison an indication of the trend in industrial medical service is obtained." Survey

Jackson, Josephine Agnes, and Salisbury, Helen M.
* Outwitting our nerves; a primer of psychotherapy. 2d ed rev and enl 1932 Appleton-Century $2.50; Routledge 7s 6d 613.8
1 Nervous system—Diseases 2 Therapeutics, Suggestive 3 Psychoanalysis 32-25421
In this revised edition of a book first published in 1921, Dr Jackson has enlarged the presentation of such topics as the instincts, the phenomena of transference and resistance, and the need for the right choice of mood. New material has been introduced on birth control
"Psychotherapy in language which the average man can understand. Readable, sensible and stimulating statement in some detail of . . . views on the cause and cure of nervousness. Good bibliography." N.Y. state lib.
Another good book on this subject is A. T. Schofield's "Nerves in disorder; a plea for rational treatment" (Funk $1.50; Hodder 2s 6d)

Kennedy, Foster, and Stevenson, Lewis Dunbar
Your nerves and their control. (Appleton popular health ser.) 1928 Appleton-Century $1.50; 5s 613.8
1 Nervous system 2 Nervous system—Hygiene 3 Nervous system—Diseases 28-12215
"Aside from a chapter on the causes of nervousness and one on its prevention, this book is concerned wholly with an explanation of the structure of the nervous system and the manifestations of nervous diseases. For the general reader rather than the student." Bkl.

Laird, Donald Anderson, and Muller, Charles Geoffrey
Sleep; why we need it and how to get it. 1930 Day $2.50; Williams & Norgate 6s 613.8
1 Sleep 30-11078
"A popular book based on scientific experiment telling what happens when we sleep, what makes us tired, and how to get the most out of sleep." Cleveland
"This book makes no pretense at scientific exhaustiveness; it is merely a skimming of the results obtained [in the psychological laboratory of Colgate University] and a codification of those facts into a few generalizations that should be both helpful and interesting to the lay public. We commend it to you if you are on the lookout for a book that will keep you wakeful until you deem it time to go to bed, and that will allow you to drop off to pleasant slumbers the moment your head touches the pillow." Wolfe, Walter Béran Nervous breakdown: its cause and cure. 1933 Farrar $2 613.8
1 Neurasthenia 2 Nervous system—Hygiene 33-24735
"Dr Wolfe describes a nervous breakdown as a 'personality knock-out' or an unconscious device designed to 'save face' before the disaster occurs. He explains the causes, symptoms and types of nervous breakdown and analyzes in detail a complete case history illustrative of each type. The closing chapters provide practical suggestions for re-gaining mental health." Book rev. digest
"The book is exceedingly well written, contains a fund of excellent advice, is well balanced in its scientific outlook and is distinctly practical. It shows ample evidence of orderly thinking and presents suggestions in a common sense and usable fashion. It can be unreservedly recommended to the layman." American medical association. Journal

* Getting well and staying well; a book for tuberculosis patients, public health nurses, and doctors. 2d ed 1930 Mosby $2; Kimpton 8s 6d 616.24

1 Tuberculosis 30-3974

The size of the book remains practically the same but some changes have been made in the second edition

"The emphasis is placed on the fact that tuberculosis is curable by taking it in the early stages and following a careful routine. The book is for the layman. Any technical terms used are very carefully explained." Providence

Another book recommended for the layman is J. B. Hawes' "Talks on tuberculosis with patients and their friends" (1931 Houghton $2) It replaces the author's earlier work "Consumption: what it is and what to do about it." A smaller book which is also recommended is "Facts and figures about tuberculosis" compiled by J. S. Whitney (1931 Nat. tuberculosis $1, pa 75c)

Nature and treatment of stammering. 1932 Dutton $1.50; Methuen 3s 6d 616.87

1 Stammering 32-2338

"If, as seems clear, stammering be essentially a psychic disorder, the physical contortions being but consequent on mental panic, it is to the mind and the emotions and not to the speech mechanism that rational treatment should be directed. . . The means whereby relaxation of mind and body is to be cultivated, stammering restrained and spontaneous speech re-established are interestingly and in much detail expounded in this useful book." Times (London) lit. sup.

"Mental aspects of stammering" by C. S. Bluemel (1930 Williams & Wilkins $2.50) is a book for teachers and parents as well as for specialists, which deals mainly with the treatment of stammering

Peppard, Helen M.

Correction of speech defects. 1925 Macmillan $1.40; 7s 616.87

1 Speech 25-13754

A practical book "prepared for the benefit of teachers, though it is hoped that parents also may find it useful. While it is not an exhaustive treatment of its subject, it represents an honest endeavor to give to those who need it a means of dealing with many minor types of defective speech." Preface

1 Eye 29-5806
"Well written information for non-medical readers on the anatomy, physiology and diseases of the eye." Cleveland

Waite, John Herbert
Saving eyesight after mid-life. (Harvard health talks) 1927 Harvard univ. press $1; Oxford 4s 6d 617.7
1 Eye 27-7409
"A little book of advice on the care of the eyes, urging particularly consultation with an oculist before trouble sets in." Wis. bul.

617.8 Diseases of the ear

Phillips, Wendell Christopher, and Rowell, Hugh Grant
Your hearing; how to preserve and aid it. (Appleton popular health ser.) 1932 Appleton-Century $2; 6s 617.8
1 Hearing 2 Deafness 32-32256
"Authoritative handbook for the general reader, concerned with the hard of hearing as distinguished from the truly deaf and designed both as an aid in the prevention of impaired hearing and as a message of encouragement. It discusses the mechanism of the ear, taking care of hearing, lip reading, vocational guidance, rehabilitation and the necessity for a changed attitude on the part of society toward the hard of hearing." N.Y. libraries

618 Diseases of women and children

Findley, Palmer
Story of childbirth. 1933 Doubleday, Doran $3 618
1 Obstetrics 33-22145
"A popularized account of the superstitions and customs connected with pregnancy and childbirth among primitive people and in ancient and modern times. The book concludes with chapters on the effects of venereal diseases, birth control, and the achievements of modern obstetrics." Book. rev. digest

Irving, Frederick Carpenter
* Expectant mother's handbook. 1932 Houghton $1.75 618
1 Pregnancy 2 Obstetrics 32-15303
"Handbook of obstetrics for the mother, written by the Professor of Obstetrics at the Harvard Medical School. It presupposes no knowledge at all, but intelligence and a general interest in obstetrics and allied matters. It answers all the questions which have commonly been asked Dr. Irving during his practice." Publisher

Maternity center association, New York
Maternity handbook, for pregnant mothers and expectant fathers; text prepared by A. A. Stevens. 1932 Putnam $1; 5s 618
1 Pregnancy 2 Obstetrics 3 Infants—Care and hygiene 32-26564

Mother and unborn child. 1927 Williams & Wilkins $2.50; Bailliere 12s 6d 618
1 Obstetrics 2 Pregnancy 3 Infants—Care and hygiene 27-3461
"A handbook by the professor of gynaecology at Boston University School of Medicine, intended to answer the questions and meet the needs of intelligent women; written in a readable style, neither technical nor popular, with sensible discussions and well-organized practical suggestions based on recognized good practice." Journal of home economics

Slemons, Josiah Morris
Prospective mother. 3d ed 1934 Appleton-Century $2; 8s 6d 618
1 Pregnancy 2 Obstetrics 21-9532
"Written for women who have no special knowledge of medicine, aims to answer the questions which occur to them in the course of pregnancy. Directions for safeguarding their health have been given in detail, and emphasis has been placed upon such measures as may serve to prevent serious complications. Treatment of such conditions has not been discussed, as it can be judiciously carried out only by a physician." Preface to the first edition

United States. Children's bureau
Prenatal care. (Bureau pub. no. 4) 1930 Supt. of doc. 10c 618

Van Blarcom, Carolyn Conant
‡ Getting ready to be a mother. 2d ed rev 1929 Macmillan $1.75; 7s 6d 618
1 Pregnancy 2 Obstetrics 3 Infants—Care and hygiene 29-4074
First published 1922. The second edition has added 49 pages incorporating new and up-to-date material. Twelve new illustrations have been added
"An informative volume for expectant mothers, giving simple, practical advice on personal hygiene and a description of the course of the baby's development before birth, with instructions for the feeding and exercise of the infant. Stresses the importance of a doctor's supervision and care. Author was formerly assistant superintendent and instructor in obstetrical nursing and the care of infants and children at the Johns Hopkins Hospital training school for nurses." N.Y. state lib.
G. L. Brodhead's "Approaching motherhood" (1927 Hoeber $1.50) is an older popular treatment consisting mostly of questions and answers

Washburn, Mrs Helen
So you're going to have a baby! 1933 Harcourt $1.50 618
1 Mothers 2 Infants—Care and hygiene 3 Pregnancy 33-27340
"Advice and information for the prospective mother, discussing care of the mother's health, how to prepare for the baby, costs, the question of holding a job during pregnancy, how to bring up a child in the city, and a chapter each on fathers and grandmothers." Book .... digest
"Mrs. Washburn writes engagingly, with a briskly humorous attitude toward many things, a concise and direct way of expressing herself and, possibly, with a definite purpose of arousing a sense of humor in her readers, and so helping them to bear their difficulties more gallantly. She is wholly modern in her viewpoint and scientifically up-to-date in her recommendations." N.Y. Times

619 VETERINARY MEDICINE

"Black's veterinary cyclopedia" (1928 Macmillan $6; Black, A. & C. 21s) edited by W. C. Miller is a reference book written for the layman which will be found useful in libraries having a call for such material

Billings, William Arthur
Live-stock and poultry diseases. (Rural science ser. 1930 Macmillan $3.50; 18s 619
1 Veterinary medicine 2 Poultry 30-11701
Non-technical discussion of the causes, symptoms, treatment and control of the diseases commonly encountered on the farm. Describes simple first aid methods and preventive sanitary measures against contagious and parasitic diseases

Craig, Robert Alexander
* Common diseases of farm animals. (Lippincott's farm manuals) 4th ed rev 1927 Lippincott $3; 12s 6d 619
1 Veterinary medicine 28-929
Slight changes have been made in bringing this edition up to date. "The discussions of certain diseases have been eliminated, and greater emphasis given to the discussion of sanitary measures for the prevention and control of communicable diseases." Preface
"Text-book for agricultural students and stockmen. Stresses the cause and prevention of disease rather than medical treatment. [Illustrated]" Cleveland

Leonard, John Lynn
First aid to animals. 1924 Harper $2.50; 7s 6d 619
1 Veterinary medicine 24-28010
"Plainly written for the general reader. Tells the proper emergency treatment in cases of accident to animals, especially dogs and cats, and describes the common diseases and ailments of animals, the symptoms and treatment. Has also chapters on pests, first aid to poultry, diseases communicable to man, and related matter. Author is [1924] veterinarian, Department of health, New York city." Donald Hendry

620 ENGINEERING. CIVIL ENGINEERING

American association of engineers
‡ Vocational guidance in engineering lines. 1933 Mack ptg. co. $2.50 620
1 Engineering 2 Engineers 3 Profession, Choice of 33-13011
"The main divisions of engineering are covered in the first section of the book and the second section contains 40 chapters devoted to the principal specialties of the several main divisions, all written by men selected from among the leaders of the engineering profession. An editorial résumé and conclusions are given in the last chapter. . . . The chapters dealing with the various divisions of engineering give a concise definition of each branch, describe its good and bad features, the studies necessary for attaining a standing in that line, and the compensation which the aspirant may expect to obtain after going through the various grades of employment." Engineering news-record
Written for students entering engineering colleges

G. F. Swain's "Young man and civil engineering" (1922 Macmillan $2; 10s) is also for the young college student who is deciding his vocation. Discusses only branches of civil engineering

Binger, Walter David

* What engineers do; an outline of construction. 1928 Norton $2.75; Cayme press 7s 6d 620

1 Civil engineering 28-28517

"A story of civil engineering and construction, of men, ideas and materials. It is an outline of what has been done in this field and a description of the methods and means by which the ends were attained. Some of the subjects described are, how tunnels under water are built, what a cantilever is, why concrete is reinforced, how railroads are built over swamps, and many other facts which make engineering an adventure. Well illustrated." Ontario library review

P. M. Baker's "World of machines" (1927 Gardner 7s 6d) a well illustrated book for boys, which deals with engines, electrical engineering, ships, bridges, etc. Will also interest some older readers

Hammond, John Hays

The engineer. (Vocational ser.) new and enl ed 1924 Scribner $1.25 620

1 Engineers 24-14250

"A well-written outline of the opportunities, qualifications and training of an engineer, and of the principal branches of engineering. Should be useful to high school boys thinking of going into engineering as a vocation, and to parents." Cleveland

Jackson, Dugald Caleb, and Jones, Walter Paul

* (eds.) Profession of engineering; essays. 1929 Wiley $1.50; Chapman 9s 6d 620

1 Engineers 2 Engineering—Addresses, essays, lectures 29-5813

"Essays by eminent engineers, including one by President Hoover, on the various fields of engineering; for the student faced with the problem of making a choice among the different branches of the subject." Cleveland

Contents: Engineer and his education, by D. W. Mead; Success in the engineering profession, by D. W. Mead; Civil engineering, by G. F. Swain; Mechanical engineering, by G. H. Barrus; Mining engineering, by Robert Peele; Electrical engineering, by H. W. Buck; Electrical engineer, by J. H. Hammond; Chemical engineer, by J. H. Hammond; Engineer's contribution to modern life, by H. C. Hoover

Kirby, Richard Shelton

Elements of specification writing; a textbook for students in civil engineering. 3d ed rev 1927 Wiley $2; Chapman 12s 6d 620

1 Civil engineering—Contracts and specifications 27-6966

This edition adds "considerable problem material which the author has used in his classes and which should increase the value of the book as a textbook." Preface to the third edition

"Deals with the fundamental principles of contract making and specification writing, rather than attempting to convey such information by a collection of sample specifications. . . As an introduction to the business aspects of an engineer's work, this book may be commended." Engineering

The engineer, his work and his education. (Engineering ser.) 1928 Ginn $1.40; 7s 6d 620

1 Engineers 2 Engineering—Study and teaching 28-25763

"For the student who is considering engineering as a profession the book summarizes the qualities and qualifications necessary to the engineer; outlines briefly the history of engineering; and gives in an appendix short biographies of outstanding men in the profession." Book rev. digest

"The book is an admirable exposition of the theme indicated by the title. A wide reading of it by secondary school students and by those who may have an opportunity to advise such youths as to a choice of their life work would keep thousands of boys from ever going to an engineering college and would direct hundreds of others from some other profession or calling to that of engineering." Engineering news-record

620.1 Applied mechanics. Engineering materials

Two books recommended especially for larger libraries and engineering students are:

Moore, H. F. and Kommers, J. B. Fatigue of metals, with chapters on the fatigue of wood and of concrete. 1927 McGraw $4; 20s

Salmon, E. H. Materials and structures, a text-book for engineering students. v 1 1931 Longmans $6; 15s First volume of an advanced textbook. This volume deals only with metals

Boyd, James Ellsworth

Strength of materials. 3d ed rev 1924 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 620.1

1 Strength of materials 24-11384

"No great changes have been made in the third edition. . . Slight modifications have been made in the text of many articles. The greater portion of the problems have been rewritten." Preface to the third edition

"Text-book emphasizing the physical and mathematical ideas underlying the mechanics of materials. Contains problems. Requires considerable knowledge of calculus and theoretical mechanics. Designed for use with the handbook of the Cambria steel company or the 'Pocket companion' of the Carnegie steel company." Pittsburgh

Jameson, Joseph Moore

* Elementary practical mechanics. (Wiley technical ser.) 3d ed 1927 Wiley $2.25; Chapman 13s 6d 620.1

1 Mechanics 27-20570

"A concise text aiming to 'express practical mechanics as the science of the processes and structures of every-day life.' It is based upon methods adopted and course followed at Pratt Institute, and is suitable for elementary technical and manual training schools. The present edition is rewritten, with new illustrations and problems. A useful feature is the large number of new practical problems. Author is [1927] vice-president, Girard College. Formerly head of the department of physics, Pratt Institute." Donald Hendry

Johnson, John Butler

‡ Johnson's Materials of construction, rewritten by M. O. Withey and James Aston; ed by F. E. Turneaure. 7th ed 1930 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d 620.1

1 Building materials 2 Strength of materials 30-23291

In this edition a number of chapters have been revised to include new material and many minor changes have been made

"Widely known as a text and reference book. Discusses the general nature of deformation and stress and a number of appliances for measuring deformations. Chapters have been devoted to iron and steel and their properties, fatigue of metals and the corrosion of metals, paints and varnishes. The last chapter contains data relative to the constitution of some of the more important non-ferrous metals." Detroit

Kottcamp, John Paul, and Harper, Arthur Cleveland

* Strength of materials. 3d ed 1932 Wiley $1.75; Chapman 10s 6d 620.1

1 Strength of materials 32-24383

"An elementary textbook developed by the authors in their instruction of classes in Pratt Institute. Contains numerous worked out examples. In the present edition the text has been largely rewritten and new material incorporated including new problems. The book is intended mainly for industrial schools, technical institutes, college extension courses, and for colleges desiring a short course in the subject. Suitable for home study by those having the requisite limited knowledge of mathematics." Donald Hendry

Laurson, Philip Gustave, and Cox, William Junkin

Properties and mechanics of materials. 1931 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 17s 6d 620.1

1 Building materials 2 Strength of materials 31-5005

"Elementary text-book aiming at thoroughness in fundamentals. Emphasizes physical behavior rather than mathematical expression, and therefore avoids use of formulae. Assumes knowledge of statics and calculus, but reviews these subjects briefly." Pittsburgh

"Advanced mechanics of materials" by F. B. Seely (1932 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s) is recommended when a more advanced course is needed

Leigh, Charles Wilbur, and Mangold, John Frederic

Practical mechanics and strength of materials. 2d ed 1930 McGraw $2.75; 16s 6d 620.1

1 Mechanics, Applied 2 Strength of materials 30-7278

"New problems and some new material, including a table on Working stresses, have been added and other material rearranged." Bkl.

"Not intended for the designer, but for men engaged in practical construction, and for students who desire a brief course requiring no mathematics beyond trigonometry." Pittsburgh

MacInnes, Charles Ranald

Elements of practical mechanics. 1929 Van Nostrand $2.25 620.1

1 Mechanics 29-4883

"The author believes that the principles of mechanics are explained better through problems and illustrative examples than by a general discussion of theory. The problems in this volume illustrate the theory, but are not intended to involve the student in a mass of detail. A knowledge of calculus is presupposed. Answers are included." Providence

Merriman, Mansfield

Strength of materials; a text-book for secondary technical schools; rev by Thaddeus Merriman. 7th ed rev 1928 Wiley $1.75; Chapman 10s 6d 620.1

1 Strength of materials 28-16197

A good school text written "for the purpose of enabling the student to readily acquire a rational knowledge of the fundamentals of the 'strength of materials.'" First published 1897. In this latest edition new articles on Portland cement and concrete have been added and other additions have been made to increase the size by 35 pages. Mathematics beyond elementary physics and geometry not needed

Poorman, Alfred Peter

Applied mechanics. 3d ed 1930 McGraw $2.75; 16s 6d 620.1

1 Mechanics, Applied 30-12518

In this edition slight rearrangement of subject matter has been made, new problems have been added and old ones dropped. Mathematics beyond calculus not needed

"Text-book for undergraduate courses in mechanics in engineering schools, making extended use of graphic methods with many illustrative examples." Cleveland

A companion volume to this is the author's "Strength of materials" (2d ed 1929 McGraw $3; 15s) which is intended for undergraduate students who have had some physics, calculus and statics

620.2 Engineering—Handbooks

Merriman, Mansfield

* (ed.) American civil engineers' handbook. 5th ed thoroughly rev and enl by Thaddeus Merriman and T. H. Wiggin 1930 Wiley $8, 2v ed $10; Chapman 50s 620.2

1 Civil engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 30-8145

"This edition closely follows the plan and the scope of the first four editions of which the late Mansfield Merriman was Editor-in-Chief. The present edition has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date. Much new matter has been added, many new cuts have been included and the entire work has been reset. Compared with the Fourth Edition the number of pages has been increased from 1995 to 2263." Preface to fifth edition

"It is the book which, more than any other, gives ready information on every phase of civil engineering. Each section, prepared by an expert in his particular subject, contains the most authoritative and most reliable data available." Engineers and engineering

O'Rourke, Charles Edward

* (ed.) General engineering handbook. 1932 McGraw $4; 24s 620.2

1 Engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 32-8018

"Divided into thirty-one sections dealing concisely with the materials used in general, civil, mechanical, and electrical engineering. A bibliography is included at the end of each section. Numerous tables, diagrams and illustrations." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"The purpose is not to supplant the detailed and voluminous handbooks devoted to special branches of engineering, but to supply a compact reference work of important fundamentals for all engineers. . . It has been assumed that the users of the book are familiar with general engineering theory and practice." Preface

Trautwine, John Cresson, and Trautwine, John Cresson, jr.
Civil engineer's reference-book; ed by J. C. Trautwine, 3d. 20th ed, 3d issue 1929 Trautwine co. $7; Chapman 40s 6d 620.2

1 Civil engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 29-10585

A standard reference book for civil engineers formerly published under title: "Civil engineer's pocketbook." Subject changes have been made to bring it up to date

620.7 Technical writing

This number has been used for books on technical writing in order to separate this specific material from general books on the writing of English and bring them together in a convenient place

Baker, Ray Palmer
Preparation of reports, engineering, scientific, administrative; a textbook. 1924 Ronald $3.50 620.7

1 Reports—Preparation 24-26224

"Designed primarily for the use of students, but valuable also for those in active professional and business life." Pittsburgh

Reports represented: pref. p11-14

Sypherd, Wilbur Owen, and Brown, Sharon Osborne
Engineer's manual of English. 1933 Scott $2 620.7

1 Technology—Language 2 English language —Rhetoric 3 Engineering 33-11113

"This is a useful addition to the practicing engineer's shelf of reference works and it also has merit as an English composition text for engineering students." Industrial and engineering chemistry

A. C. Howell's "Handbook of English in engineering usage" (1930 Wiley $2.50; Chapman 12s 6d) is another useful textbook for engineering students. Deals with elementary instruction in English and with preparation of papers and reports

Watt, Homer Andrew, and McDonald, Philip Bayaud
Composition of technical papers. 2d ed 1925 McGraw $2; 10s 620.7

1 Technology—Language 2 English language —Rhetoric 25-5793

"A text-book of English composition as it applies to the writing of engineering literature, reports, business letters, etc. Author is [1930] professor of English, New York University." Donald Hendry

T. A. Richard's "Technical writing" (3d ed rev and enl 1931 Wiley $2; Chapman 12s 6d) is another good book which discusses especially the preparation of a manuscript for magazine publication

620.9 Engineering—History

As there is no comprehensive history of engineering suitable for libraries, the following titles are noted covering various phases of the subject:

Fleming, A. P. M. and Brocklehurst, H. J. S. History of engineering. (Histories of English industries) 1925 Macmillan $1.75; Black, A. & C. 12s 6d Concerned mainly with the development of engineering in England, with a brief account of the beginnings of engineering

Hart, I. B. Great engineers. 1928 Methuen 3s 6d Covers the field from the time of classical antiquity to the era of cheap steel

Kirby, R. S. and Laurson, P. G. Early years of modern civil engineering. 1932 Yale univ. press $3; Oxford 18s A history of pioneer work in civil engineering in Europe and America during the eighteenth and part of the nineteenth centuries

Vowles, H. P., and Vowles, M. W. Quest for power. 1931 Chapman 15s A sketch of the history of mechanical engineering written in nontechnical language for the general reader

Williams, Archibald. Engineering feats; great achievements simply described. 1925 Nelson $2.50; 6s A book written for boys

Gest, Alexander Purves
Engineering. (Our debt to Greece and Rome) 1930 Longmans $2; Harrap 5s 620.9

1 Engineering—Hist. 2 Engineering—Rome 3 Engineering—Greece 30-16873

"In this compact volume is traced the influence of the Greek and more especially the Roman engineering works upon the engineering of our day. A complete technical account of the engineering of that time is not attempted, but enough description is given of aqueducts, roads, bridges, tunnels, town-planning, and similar projects to create an impression of their magnitude and importance. Bibliography is included." Industrial arts index

Jackson, George Gibbard
Triumphs and wonders of modern engineering. 1930 Low 6s 620.9

1 Engineering 31-20011

The larger part of the book is concerned with bridges, tunnels, waterways, motorcars, bicycles, aeroplanes and airships, marine engines. Some information about railroads is also given

621 MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

Diederichs, Herman, and Andrae, William Cook
Experimental mechanical engineering. v 1 Engineering instruments. 1930 Wiley $8; Chapman 40s 621

1 Machinery—Testing 2 Engineering instruments 3 Mechanical engineering (30-17617)

A standard work of importance to engineers which will not be needed in all small libraries

"This is a book which should be in the library of every technical college, every drawing office, and of every engineer who is concerned with the testing and running of plant." Nature

"Based on Carpenter and Diederichs' Experimental Engineering, a manual of testing, which for nearly thirty years was a standard mechanical laboratory manual and reference for engineering students and practicing engineers. For the present work, the text has been completely rewritten and greatly amplified, and is to be in two volumes. The present volume is devoted to measuring instruments." Pratt quarterly

Hiscox, Gardner Dexter
Mechanical movements, powers and devices. 17th ed enl 1926 Henley o.p. 1933 621

1 Mechanical movements 26-18485

First published in 1899. Publisher reports new edition in preparation, 1934

"A treatise describing mechanical movements and devices used in constructive and operative machinery and the mechanical arts, being practically a mechanical dictionary, commencing with rudimentary description of the early known mechanical powers and detailing the various motions, appliances and inventions used in the mechanical arts to the present time, including a chapter on straight line movements, illustrated by more than eighteen hundred engravings specially made for this book." Title page

Supplemented by the author's "Mechanical appliances, mechanical movements and novelties

of construction" (6th rev and enl ed 1927 Henley $4; Constable 21s) which is more advanced

Pupin, Michael Idvorsky
* Romance of the machine. 1930 Scribner $1; 4s 6d 621
1 Machinery 2 Civilization 30-7277
"In answer to Europeans who write of 'machine civilization' as an American plague which is invading Europe and threatening to undermine its ancient culture, Professor Pupin, a great physicist, discusses the primordial or cosmic machine, the origin and romance of the man-made machine which supplies moving power to civilization, Washington's and Lincoln's admiration of the machine and the romance of the telephone, the vacuum tube oscillator and the gas motor." Cleveland

621.02 Mechanical engineering—Handbooks

Libraries prefering to keep all engineering handbooks together whether civil or mechanical will use 620.2 for those classed here in 621.02

Kent, William
* Kent's mechanical engineers' handbook. 10th ed, rewritten by R. T. Kent 1923 Wiley $6, 2v ed $8; Chapman 37s 6d, 2v ed 50s 621.02
1 Mechanical engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 23-10903
Previously published under title: "Mechanical engineers' pocket book" This edition has been rearranged, rewritten and considerably enlarged
"Professor Kent's handbook is one of the best known and most used reference books of its kind, a reputation gained by the extremely practical nature of the material it contains and its accuracy." Elec. world

Machinery's handbook for machine shop and drafting-room. 8th ed 1930 Industrial press $6; Machinery pub. 28s 621.02
1 Mechanical engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 30-4835
First published 1914. The new material in this edition of a standard technical reference handbook deals chiefly with the important engineering standards adopted by the American standards association and other organizations of national importance
"A valuable compilation of tables, formulas, and other data for the machinist and machine designer." Donald Hendry

Marks, Lionel Simeon
* (ed.) Mechanical engineers' handbook. 3d ed 1930 McGraw $7; 42s 621.02
1 Mechanical engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 30-18374
About 270 pages have been added in this edition in order to incorporate the new material up to 1930, especially in the fields where there has been considerable development, such as welding, electric furnaces, etc.
"The book gives practical engineering information supplied by specialists in the different fields that it covers, as well as a complete synopsis of engineering theory." Machinery

Tulley, Henry Charles
Tulley's handbook, steam and electrical. 7th ed rev and enl by J. F. Hobart 3v 1924 McGraw $7.50; 37s 6d 621.02
1 Mechanical engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 24-10315
Earlier editions published under title: "Handbook on engineering." In the 7th edition the editor brought the Handbook up to date in its treatment of both appliances and methods. Much new material has been added, including a collection of "Handy tables" for quick reference
"A practical work for the power-plant operator. Deals with fuels, combustion and heating, and with management of steam-boilers, engines, and turbines, electric meters, motors, and generators; elevators, compressors, and internal-combustion engines." Pittsburgh

621.03 Mechanical engineering—Dictionaries

"Machinery's encyclopedia" compiled and edited by Erik Oberg and F. D. Jones (7v 1917-29 Industrial press $36) is a comprehensive reference work covering practical mathematics and mechanics, machine design, machine construction and operation, etc. which is noted here for the benefit of larger libraries. Volume 7 is new edition 1929 and contains information on the newer developments

Brady, George Stuart
* Materials handbook. 2d ed 1931 McGraw $5; 30s 621.03
1 Commercial products—Dictionaries 2 Building materials—Dictionaries 31-8518
"Alphabetical arrangement of a large number of raw and fabricated materials used in the various industries. This edition exceeds that of 1929 by 160 pages, with additional entries and with expansion of some of the items relating particularly to engineering construction. Author is the managing editor of 'Product engineering.'" N.Y. public lib. New technical books
"To call a smallish handbook 'An Encyclopedia for Purchasing Agents, Engineers, Executives and Foremen' seems offhand a rather strained ambition, but a captious user will find disappointingly little to grumble at when he comes to resort to it. A skillful economy of words affords place not only for the information essential to its chosen audience but also for many desirable secondary data. This audience is then likely to be thankful that its informant is at least not encyclopedic in bulk." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

Condensed encyclopedia of engineering. Industrial press $6 621.03
1 Mechanical engineering—Dictionaries 2 Machinery—Dictionaries [28-23029]
A reprint of a reference book first published 1928 under title: Handbook encyclopedia of engineering
"For those who wish concise information on engineering subjects the Machinery publishing company of London has issued a one volume 'Handbook encyclopedia of engineering' which covers in condensed form essentially the same general field as its seven volume encyclopedia. The practical rather than the technical side of the field is stressed as the work is intended not only for engineers, designers and mechanics but also for managers, purchasing agents, patent attorneys, etc. Under some 4,150 entries condensed items and treatises, definitions of words and expressions, and trade names are given in non-technical form." Mudge

621.1 Steam engineering

Aurel Stodola's "Steam and gas turbines" (2v 1927 McGraw $15; 758) translated from the sixth German edition by L. C. Loewenstein, is an authoritative work which is noted here for the benefit of larger reference libraries and for specialists

Allen, John Robins, and Bursley, Joseph Aldrich

Heat engines; steam, gas, steam turbines and their auxiliaries. 4th ed 1931 McGraw $4; 20s 621.1

1 Heat engines 31-24631

"This fourth edition is a complete, up-to-date enlargement of the 1910 edition. The subjects treated are heat, properties of steam, thermodynamics, fuels and calorimeters, boilers, steam engines, steam turbines, internal combustion engines and their auxiliaries. The use of calculus and higher mathematics has been avoided as much as possible, and sets of problems are given." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Should prove useful to the operating engineer, as it will give him a knowledge of the elementary thermodynamic principles that govern the operation of the equipment he must deal with every day, without demanding of him an extensive knowledge of higher mathematics." Power plant engineering

Sir J. A. Ewing's "Steam-engine and other heat engines" (4th ed rev and enl 1926 Macmillan $8.50; Cambridge univ. press 25s) is a more comprehensive textbook intended for university students

Andrade, Edward Neville da Costa

* Engines. 1928 Harcourt $3; Bell, G. 7s 6d 621.1

1 Engines 2 Mechanical engineering 28-24691

"Interesting lectures delivered to young people and adults at the Royal Institution of Great Britain. The author describes the chief kinds of engines (except electric) and shows how simple are the scientific principles upon which their action depends. Steam, reciprocating, turbine, internal combustion, and refrigerating engines are explained clearly and thoroughly for readers without technical education. While he uses English engines chiefly, as examples, he shows a wide knowledge of American engineering." N.Y. libraries

"The juvenile audience that the author addressed might include the uninformed minds of several million adults; we can assure such readers, if they are not too proud to learn, that they will find entertainment as well as instruction here." Spectator

Bailey, Alexander Rufus

* Bailey's handbook. 6th ed 1932 Goodheart-Willcox $2 621.1

1 Steam engineering 32-33047

In the sixth edition a section on air conditioning and ventilation has been added as well as new material on the subjects of steam traps of the later design

"Arranged in question and answer form for the use of stationary, marine and Diesel engineers and firemen, and especially for candidates preparing for examination for engineers' licenses." Pratt quarterly

Church, Edwin Fayette

Steam turbines. 1928 McGraw $3; 18s 621.1

1 Steam turbines 28-1292

"This book, although not a complete treatise on steam turbines, is one of the best available for American colleges and will also prove valuable and instructive to practicing engineers." Engineering news-record

Craig, Dudley Peak, and Anderson, Herbert Julian

Steam power and internal combustion engines. 1931 McGraw $4; 24s 621.1

1 Steam power plants 2 Steam engines 3 Gas and oil engines 31-22153

"A comprehensive textbook for the student and engineer, dealing with the fundamental principles of construction and operation of power plants using heat from the combustion of fuel as a source of energy. Many problems and examples of calculations are included, also good diagrams." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Croft, Terrell Williams

* (ed.) Steam-engine principles and practice. (Power plant ser.) 1922 McGraw $3.50; 15s 621.1

1 Steam engines 22-17997

"A good home study book addressed to the operating engineer or power plant superintendent and designed 'to supply such information as will enable the reader to wisely select, operate, care for, and repair steam engines and to make a study of and where possible improve their economy.' Questions and problems accompany each of the 16 divisions, and solutions of the problems are added in an appendix. Illustrated with 548 line drawings made for the work." Donald Hendry

1 Steam power plants 2 Pumping machinery 22-10855

"Treats of the selection and installation of the necessary auxiliary equipment for a steam power plant. The book is divided into thirteen divisions, each of which deals with some particular phase, i. e. pump calculations, direct-acting steam pumps, crank-action pumps, centrifugal and rotary pumps, injectors, boiler-feeding apparatus (pump governors), feed-water heaters, fuel economizers, condensers, methods of recooling condensing water, steam piping of power plants, live-steam and exhaust-steam separators, and steam traps. Numerous problems are given throughout the text, with detailed solutions of these problems forming an appendix." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

1 Steam turbines 23-6670

"Essentials of successful and economical operation and of knowledge necessary to enable one to make a wise choice of a turbine. Minimum of theory and no mathematics beyond arithmetic. 282 illustrations that really illustrate. Questions, problems and answers." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Cross, Charles Norman

Heat engines. (Engineering science ser.) 1930 Macmillan $5; 25s 621.1

1 Heat engines 2 Thermodynamics 30-20096

"This work of university grade by the Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering in Stanford University concisely presents the fundamental laws of gases and of thermodynamics as preliminaries to chapters on steam boilers, steam engines, steam turbines, and internal combustion engines. The treatment of the latter two subjects is unusually complete for a work of this character. There is also much of historical interest. Numerous problems. The mathematics are, on the whole, comparatively simple." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Heat power" by E. B. Norris and Eric Therkelsen (1930 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d) is another college textbook which treats of internal combustion and steam engineering, stressing fundamental principles rather than current practice

Decker, Wilbur F.

Story of the engine from lever to liberty motor. 1920 Scribner $2.50 621.1

1 Heat engines 20-6990

"Readable, nontechnical explanation of the basic principles of mechanics and the historical development and present forms of the best types of engines. Well suited to the lay reader or high school pupil. Numerous diagrams." N.Y. state lib.

Fernald, Ernest M.

Elements of thermodynamics, with special reference to applications in engineering. 1931 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 621.1

1 Thermodynamics 2 Steam engineering 3 Gases 31-10336

In this college course "the properties and cycles of steam and perfect gases are treated with fair completeness. Other topics include refrigeration, evaporation and compressed air. The author brings a fresh viewpoint to the study, having been away from its theoretical aspects a number of years and during that time was in a position to think through some of its more practical problems." National engineer

Fernald, Robert Heywood, and Orrok, George Alexander

Engineering of power plants. 3d ed 1927 McGraw $5.50; 33s 621.1

1 Power plants 2 Mechanical engineering 27-25950

"The authors . . . have incorporated a great deal of new data, bringing the subject matter, particularly tests of specific units and stations, up to the end of the year 1927. Besides covering every phase of the steam power plant from an operating, designing and economic standpoint, the book contains shorter chapters on specific requirements of district heating, internal combustion engines, producer gas, compressed air, refrigerating machinery and hydraulic power. Although it is written primarily as a text book, the vast amount of tabulated data on costs and operating results makes the book of unusual value for reference work for practically all classes of engineers." Power plant engineering

Steam power plant engineering. 6th ed 1928 revision 1928 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d 621.1

1 Steam power plants 28-17723

An engineering text designed for college use. Well equipped with diagrams and tables

"While the present form of the work does not represent a complete rewriting, still a rather thorough revision has been carried out, particularly where the text deals with those phases of the art which have recently passed through a period of rapid change and growth." Preface to the 1928 revision

Gornston, Michael H.

Operating engineer's catechism of steam engineering. 1922 Van Nostrand $3 621.1

1 Steam engineering 22-6016

"An aid to engineers' examinations, intended for the use of applicants unaccustomed to study. Contains 1,300 questions with answers and an index to all the matter." Donald Hendry

1 Steam engineering [21-19050]

First published 1921. Volumes 1-2, 7-8, 1928 edition; volumes 3-6, 1930 edition

"These 8 limp-bound 'pocket-books' contain 4346 pages and 8754 illustrations. Salient information is given concisely and clearly in large type and elaborated in smaller type. A surprising amount of detailed information is packed into small space. Volume 8 covers the whole field of practical electricity." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Contents: v 1 Engine principles, valve setting, pumps; v2 Corliss, uniflow, pumping and contractors' engines; v3 Locomotive, marine and turbine engines and indicators; v4 Gasoline and oil engines, producers, aviation; v5 Steam, fuel economy, boiler construction; v6 Firing, fuel economy, stokers, and repairs; v7 Pipefitting, heating, refrigeration, and elevators; v8 Wiring and electrical reference

1 Steam engineering 33-9832

"A carefully illustrated work emphasizing construction rather than theory. Mathematics sparingly used. Deals with power generation and sources of power, combustion, boilers and boiler-house appliances, power from steam or gas (including the Diesel engine), machine details, valves, valve gears and governors. Author is dean of the School of Engineering, Princeton University." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Harding, Louis Allen

Steam power plant engineering. 1932 Wiley $10; Chapman 62s 6d 621.1

1 Steam power plants 32-23143

"New, revised and enlarged edition of an excellent work on steam power plant engineering, which appeared in 1917 as vol. 2 of Harding and Willard's 'Mechanical equipment of buildings'. . . . In the present edition, the refrigeration section and the volume designation have been abandoned

"This is a good reference book in its field, and the author believes that 'the subjects of steam generators, engines and turbines are covered so that it may be advantageously employed for student courses in place of separate texts on these subjects.' 'It is assumed that the reader has completed elementary courses in thermodynamics, applied mechanics and chemistry.' " Donald Hendry

Locomotive and boiler inspectors' handbook. 2d ed rev and enl 1929 Simmons-Boardman $2.50 621.13

1 Locomotives 2 Locomotive boilers [25-24461]

"The second edition contains corrections of slight errors in the first, and about 10 pages of additional material to bring it up-to-date. Illustrations of obsolete equipment have been replaced with those of latest standard models, and others added covering new developments." Foreword to second edition

"Every year many thousands of such men take the federal and state examinations for locomotive inspectors. To assist these men properly to prepare for these examinations, the author of this volume has compiled in an orderly fashion the rules and regulations, questions and answers and other pertinent information on locomotive boilers and machinery which, if properly studied, should prepare competent practical men to pass an examination on locomotive inspection." Wood, Arthur Julius

1 Locomotives 25-17136

"New edition of the author's 'Principles of locomotive operation and train control' (1915) includes new constants for calculating the tractive effort at any speed; method for determining the maximum speed for rated tractive force; problems in foundation brake rigging; time lost in slow-downs; description of new stokers, feedwater heaters, brick arch and the booster; method for laying out a Walschaerts valve gear; factors and ratios for empirical design; the theory underlying steam engine development; and calculations for counterbalancing, with a chapter on the trend of development. Author is [1930] Professor of Mechanical Engineering in Pennsylvania State College." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Furnishes railway engineers and officers interested in locomotive design and operation a concise review of the theory on which certain problems in locomotive design and construction are based." Railway mechanical engineer

American society of mechanical engineers

Rules for construction of power boilers and other pressure vessels and for their care in service; sections I, II, and VI of the A. S. M. E. boiler construction code formulated by the Boiler code committee. 1933 The society $2.50 621.18

1 Boilers 33-29977

Contents: Section 1 Power boilers; Section 2 Material specifications; Section 3 Locomotive boilers; Section 4 Low-pressure heating boilers; Section 5 Miniature boilers; Section 6 Rules for inspection; Section 7 Suggested rules for care of power boilers; Section 8 Unfired pressure vessels; Appendix. Sections 3-5, 7-8 published separately (Section 3 55c, Section 4 65c, Section 5 50c, Section 7 70c, Section 8 65c)

"Revision of the Code for Power Boilers to be used in stationary service. Stationary boilers as here considered include portable and traction boilers. These Rules are intended to cover the materials and construction of all such boilers. . . The primary object of these Rules is to secure safe steam boilers." Boiler code committee

‡ (ed.) Steam boilers. (Power plant ser.) 1921 McGraw $4; 20s 621.18

1 Boilers 21-13880

"Deals with the steam boiler and its accessories in an elementary manner." Power

"The drawings are line blocks, without any of those illegible useless abominations known as publishers' blocks or catalogue cuts. They are really elucidative of the text, and the whole work is the clearest exposition of steam boilers that we have seen. To the engineer it forms a necessity, not merely a want." Practical engineer

Worker, Joseph G., and Peebles, Thomas A.

Mechanical stokers; including the theory of combustion of coal. 1922 McGraw $3; 15s 621.18

1 Stokers, Mechanical 22-8386

"There has been no work treating the stokers as a separate unit until the appearance of the present volume. It treats the phenomena of combustion in relation to stokers, describes mechanical stokers and modern practice in stoker installation and use, and discusses the selection of stokers for different fuels and differing conditions." Mechanical engineering

621.2 Hydraulic engineering

Barrows, Harold Kilbrith

Water power engineering. 1927 McGraw $6; 30s 621.2

1 Hydraulic engineering 27-2349

Designed primarily as a textbook. "A survey of the world's water power resources is followed by discussions of hydrology, stream-flow data, water power estimates, turbines, dams, power house and equipment, speed and pressure regulation, transmission lines, cost and value of water power, and descriptions of several plants. Author is Professor of Hydraulic Engineering in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

D. W. Mead's "Water power engineering; the theory, investigation and development of water powers" (2d ed 1915 McGraw $6; 30s) is an older book still valuable to the practicing hydraulic engineer

Gibson, Arnold Hartley
Hydraulics and its applications. 3d ed 1925 Van Nostrand $6; Constable 10s 621.2

1 Hydraulics 2 Hydraulic machinery Agr26-1219

"First edition, 1908; second edition, 1912. Third edition, largely rewritten, takes account of the rapid development during the past decade, notably of turbines, and of wave transmission of energy in pipe lines. Includes an added chapter on the principle of dynamical similarity and its applications to fluid motions and resistances; while the section relating to the measurement of fluid flow has been largely extended. Author states that only a slight knowledge of the calculus is necessary for a thorough grasp of the greater part of the book." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Mead, Daniel Webster
Hydraulic machinery. 1933 McGraw $4; 24s 621.2

1 Hydraulic machinery 33-4404

A well presented text on the installation, operation and maintenance of hydraulic machinery for the engineer. A considerable part has been published as advance sheets and used in the author's classes at the University of Wisconsin. Contains many diagrams, tables, etc.

Shepperd, Frederick
Simplified fire department hydraulics. 1925 Case-Shepperd-Mann pub. corp. $2.15 621.2

1 Hydraulics 2 Fire extinction 25-9333

Some libraries may prefer to classify this book in 532, hydraulics, or in 614.84, fire prevention

"A textbook for fire department officers, designed to aid in the preparation for promotional examinations and to serve as a guide toward the proper use of fire streams and motor pumping engines." Subtitle

Based on lectures to 1,200 New York fire department officers

621.3 Electric engineering

T. C. Lloyd's "Electrical equipment" (1930 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 17s 6d) planned to aid the non-electrical engineer in the selection of electrical equipment, will be helpful in those libraries where there is a demand for this material

Abbott, Arthur Laurie
* National electrical code handbook. 2d ed 1934 McGraw $3 621.3

Based on the 1933 edition of the National electrical code

"The purpose of this book is to enable the reader to grasp readily the general plan, scope, and intent of the National Electrical Code requirements. . . It is hoped that the book will be found helpful as a reference book by all users of the Code, and also as a textbook for individuals and classes taking up a systematic study of the Code." Preface

Brown, Harold Warner
Electrical equipment. 2d ed 1931 McGraw $5; 25s 621.3

1 Electric engineering 31-24012

First published 1917. Now entirely rewritten and considerably enlarged, a chapter on electric heating and welding has been added; cost data have been extended and the number of problems is greatly increased. The book is now designed to meet the needs of the engineer just out of college as well as those of the student

"The book supplements, and does not duplicate, existing recognized texts which describe electrical apparatus or present the principles of design and application or give various performance data. Its aim, in contrast, is to show how to apply principles and data elsewhere accessible." Engineering news-record

"Electric power equipment" by J. G. Tarboux (2d ed 1932 McGraw $5; 25s) a college text book, describes the equipment and its layout and operation in electrical power plants

1 Electric engineering 2 Electric machinery 31-16722

"Originally published as 'a foundation for lecture courses for junior and senior students in electrical engineering,' this book has gone through several editions and is now a comprehensive, up-to-date treatise giving theory, design, and operation of electrical machinery. This edition is enlarged and revised." Bkl.

Croft, Terrell Williams
* American electricians' handbook; a reference book for practical electrical workers. 3d ed rev by C. C. Carr 1932 McGraw $4; 24s 621.3

1 Electric engineering 32-7500

First edition 1913. Now revised "to include the latest equipment and to be in accordance with modern practice. The complete work has been brought into agreement with the requirements of the 1931 edition of the National Electrical Code. More than 200 pages of new material have been added to the volume, including 150 new illustrations." Preface to third edition

"The author has succeeded in presenting material which is both useful and practical as well as devoid of complicated and higher mathematics." Journal of electricity and western industry

* Practical electricity. 3d ed 1933 McGraw $3; 18s 621.3

First published 1917. "A new section on Vacuum Tubes has been added, the section on Matter and the Electron Theory has been revised and numerous minor changes have been made in order to bring the book up to date." Preface

"Presentation of fundamental facts and theories relating to electricity and its present-day applications, for the man of little mathematical training or for the university graduate desiring to review the subject. Numerous diagrams." Cleveland

Signal wiring. 1926 McGraw $3; 15s 621.3

1 Electric apparatus and appliances 26-5373

"For electrical workers concerned with installing wiring for signals. Consists of 460 wiring diagrams for bells and annunciators, burglar alarms, hospital and hotel signalling, time clock circuits, autocall signalling circuits, telephone circuits, fire-alarm circuits, watchman and police-call circuits, elevator signalling, railroad signalling, and many other types of signals, with a brief description of each diagram." Donald Hendry

The author's "Electrical-machinery erection" (1925 McGraw $3; 18s) is a practical book on the details employed in the mechanical installation of electrical machinery. Rather special for most small libraries

"Copiously and admirably illustrated set of twelve small volumes. . . The simply written text is supplemented by calculations and tables for reading reference, questions and answers, and trial tests for practice, study and review." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Gray, Alexander
Principles and practice of electrical engineering. 4th ed rev by G. A. Wallace 1933 McGraw $4 621.3

1 Electric engineering 33-23613

First published 1914. The fourth edition "is more than a revised edition of Gray's original text; it is a new book in which has been retained whatever seemed best of the earlier book." Preface to the fourth edition

"Based on lecture and laboratory course for senior civil, mechanical, and mining students. Brief course, with considerable attention to applications." Pittsburgh

Hawks, Ellison
Book of electrical wonders. 1929 Dial press $3; Harrap 7s 6d 621.3

1 Electricity 2 Electric engineering 3 X-rays [30-14378]

"A popular presentation of electrical marvels of today—power stations, electric lighting, the electric furnace, the telephone, wireless, and other applications of electricity. Written in Great Britain." Cleveland

Kushlan, Max
Handbook of industrial electricity; a reference book for electricians, foremen, inspectors and contractors. 1931 McGraw $4; 24s 621.3

1 Electric engineering 2 Electric wiring 31-32400

"Copiously illustrated, non-technical work on fundamental principles of electricity and on wiring for light, power, telephones, and signals in residential, public, and industrial buildings and for outdoor installations. There is also a division treating of special applications, such as wiring in industrial plants, electric heat applications, wiring of automotive engines, installation of radio stations, and wiring for aircraft radio. Chapters on estimating. Thirty-one handy tables." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Moyer, James Ambrose, and Wostrel, John Frank
* Industrial electricity and wiring. 1930 McGraw $2.75; 16s 6d 621.3

1 Electric engineering 2 Electric wiring 30-7393

"Describes the action of electrical apparatus and explains in detail the application of electricity for power and lighting. Instructions are given for house, theatre, generator and motor wiring. A useful book for students and electricians. Illustrated." Ontario library review

Roget, Samuel Romilly
Dictionary of electrical terms including telegraphy, telephony and wireless. 2d ed rev and enl 1931 Pitman $2.25; 7s 6d 621.3

1 Electricity—Dictionaries 2 Electric engineering—Dictionaries 32-13556

The second edition of this compilation of electrical terms in common use has been increased by 100 pages to include 1,900 more expressions. A few alterations have been made for clarity of definition

"For the ordinary man, the definitions supplied by Mr. Roget will suffice, and as a dictionary for the table, his book may be heartily commended." Engineer

Rowland, Arthur John
Applied electricity for practical men. 2d ed 1924 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 621.3

1 Electric engineering 24-21906

"This book, though it is primarily intended for electrical workers, has a place in an engineer's library. One of its prominent features is the large use of numerical-computation problems to illustrate the action of apparatus. The book starts off with 'fundamental principles' and magnetic phenomena. Thus the road is paved for direct-current generators, heating and power service, distribution lines and direct-current motors. Up to the close of this half of the work, nothing has been presented about alternating currents. For this field the author first goes back to elementary discussions of rudimentary matters like inductance, capacity, reactance, voltage and current waves, etc. . . The end of the book covers storage batteries, electric lamps and house wiring." Engineering news

Sanderson, Clarence Herbert

1 Electric engineering 30-1246

"Describes generating stations, transmission, substations, distribution, protection of apparatus, inspection and maintenance of equipment, and other components of an electrical system. Higher mathematics are omitted and technical terms explained. For engineering students, operators, inspectors, maintenance men, and others." Cleveland

Slack, Edgar P.

1 Electricity 2 Electric engineering 3 Electric currents 31-4632

"An elementary textbook for vocational classes or home study, dealing with direct and alternating currents. The author assumes no knowledge of mathematics beyond arithmetic." Cleveland

Standard handbook for electrical engineers, ‡ ed by F. F. Fowle. 6th ed thoroughly rev and enl 1933 McGraw $7; 30s 621.3

1 Electric engineering 33-2740

First published 1907. The sixth edition is "a fundamental revision of the fifth edition and approximately thirty per cent larger. In terms of new subject matter as a whole, the sixth edition is more than three-fourths a new book." Preface to the sixth edition

An excellent reference book, prepared by a staff of specialists. Data on all branches of electrical engineering are included. Contains bibliographies. This edition is carefully revised, keeping the same general arrangement as the former edition

"Handbook for electrical engineers," edited by Harold Pender and W. A. Del Mar (2d ed rev and enl 1922 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d) is an older reference book for practicing engineers and students of engineering. Valuable in libraries which have it

Stoller, Hugh Montgomery; Austin, Frank Eugene, and Seeger, E. W.

Small motors, transformers, electromagnets. 1931 Am. tech. soc. $2.50 621.3

1 Electric motors 2 Electric transformers 3 Electromagnets 4 Induction coils 31-6713

First published 1920

"By cutting theory to bare essentials, the authors compress into one simply worded handbook three subjects of interest to engineer and amateur. The . . . best practice in the design of small motors is described with careful attention to detail, and many types up to ½ horsepower are offered." Scientific American

Timbie, William Henry

* Essentials of electricity. (Wiley technical ser.) 2d ed rewritten 1931 Wiley $2; Chapman 12s 6d 621.3

1 Electricity 2 Electric engineering 31-23295

"This second edition introduces the modern electron theory. . . A new chapter on electrical meters and instruments and their uses has been included. The problems, upwards of 650 in number, form an important part of the text and have all been carefully revised and many new ones added." Preface to second edition

A clear elementary textbook, designed primarily for short courses in trade schools, its object being to explain the underlying facts and laws that the workman should understand. Has excellent diagrams. The subjects include Ohm's law, simple circuits, series and parallel systems, electric power, wiring systems, batteries, electrical devices and circuits, communication systems, generators and motors, meters and instruments

Industrial electricity; direct-current machines. (Wiley technical ser.) 1924 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 21s 6d 621.3

1 Electric engineering 2 Electric machinery 24-25534

"For technical-school students and electrical workers. The purpose is to explain generation, transmission, and uses of direct-current electricity. The mathematics required is merely a knowledge of simple algebra." Pittsburgh

"The author has started from first principles, and without the use of any but the most elementary mathematics, has covered the whole range of elementary direct current technology in a very able fashion." Electrical rev.

Timbie, William Henry, and Bush, Vannevar

Principles of electrical engineering. 2d ed 1930 Wiley $4.50; Chapman 28s 621.3

1 Electric engineering 30-1094

First published in 1922. The second edition has been rewritten and brought up to date and contains over 600 problems and much new material

"Basic principles for students of college grade who have a knowledge of physics and calculus, and designed as an introduction to detailed courses in direct current and alternating current machinery." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Willoughby, George A.

Essentials of electrical work. 1927 Manual arts press $1.60 621.3

1 Electric apparatus and appliances 27-23477

"A useful, simple text with many illustrations covering all common electric devices with their tools and materials of construction. Intended 'to acquaint growing youth with the items of electrical knowledge necessary to intelligent citizenship in an industrialized age.'" Bkl.

Two other good texts for first year students are: G. C. Blalock's "Principles of electrical engineering; theory and practice" (1931 McGraw $4; 24s); and "Essentials of applied electricity" by E. W. Jones (1928 Bruce pub. $1.36)

621.31 Generation of electricity. Electric machinery

Two good books on their respective subjects which are noted here for the benefit of special libraries or larger libraries needing this material are:

Hayes, S. Q. Switching equipment for power control. 2d ed 1927 McGraw $5; 25s Describes American practice in the selection, installation and upkeep of switch gear employed for electric power control

Underhill, C. R. Coils and magnet wires. 1925 McGraw $4; 20s A practical work on coil windings, magnet wires, insulating materials and the details and phenomena associated with the design, manufacture and operation of coils in general

Beman, Lamar Taney

(comp.) Superpower. (Reference shelf v2 no. 9) 1924 Wilson, H. W. 90c; Holmes 621.31

1 Power (Mechanics) 2 Water power electric plants 24-31627

Reprints of articles and addresses on the development and unification in the production and distribution of electric power by the erection of enormous power plants. Good bibliography

"The articles and addresses which Mr. Beman has selected for reprint are fairly representative of the divergent technical and social points of view from which the problem of giant Power is being approached by engineers and statesmen." Survey

Bishop, Calvin Collier

Alternating currents for technical students. 1930 Van Nostrand $2; Macmillan 10s 621.31

1 Electric currents, Alternating 30-11826

"The book is intended for technical and vocational students, engineering students and others who are familiar with direct-current theory but find themselves called upon to become familiar with alternating-current theory and apparatus." Preface

Braymer, Daniel Harvey, and Roe, Arthur Cecil

Rewinding and connecting alternating-current motors. 1932 McGraw $3.50; 21s 621.31

1 Electric motors 32-12935

"For everyday use by maintenance men in industrial plants, by winders in electrical service and repair shops and by students pursuing electrical courses." Subtitle

‡ Rewinding small motors. 2d ed 1932 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 621.31

1 Armatures 2 Electric motors 32-23142

First published 1925. Second edition increased by an appendix of fifteen pages covering details of operation and construction of the capacitor type motor; changes have been made to bring the text up to date. Gives practical details of repair shop practice for rewinding all types of fractional horsepower direct and alternating current motors

"The instructions given are wonderfully explanatory, and they are supported profusely by illustrations showing the actual methods to be adopted. . . . Applies more particularly to the motors which are in everyday use in such appliances as vacuum cleaners, fans, portable drills and grinders, car starting motors, etc. . . More practical than technical." Electricity

Another useful book for the repairman is "Repair shop diagrams and connecting tables for induction motors" by the same authors (1927 McGraw $2.50; 15s) which gives "step-by-step information and instructions for connecting all types of windings for 2-phase and 3-phase motors of 2-poles to 24-poles for use by armature winders in electrical repair shops when rewinding and reconnecting induction motors and by maintenance men in industrial plants when changing existing winding connections"

Creager, William Pitcher, and Justin, Joel De Witt

Hydro-electric handbook. 1927 Wiley $8; Chapman 50s 621.31

1 Water power electric plants 2 Hydraulic engineering 27-1916

"Engineering handbook, consisting of contributions by a number of engineers in actual practice. Deals comprehensively with the principles and accepted modern practice of hydro-electric engineering." Pittsburgh

"The book should prove a valuable and in some respects an indispensable addition to the libraries of hydro-electric consulting engineers, of designers, construction organizations and operating companies. It will be an important reference book in the library of engineering schools. It is more suitable for the teacher or the post-graduate student than for undergraduates." Engineering news-record

"Hydro-electric power stations" by D. B. Rushmore and E. A. Lof (2d ed rev 1923 Wiley $7.50; Chapman 46s 6d) is another well recommended book which will be useful if the library needs another one on water power electric plants

Alternating-current armature winding. 1924 McGraw $3; 18s 621.31

1 Armatures 2 Electric machinery 24-3935

"Guide to practical winding and rewinding of alternating-current stators. Not concerned with theory." Pittsburgh

Contains over 300 illustrations and diagrams

Conduit wiring. 1924 McGraw $3; 15s 621.31

1 Electric wiring 2 Electric conduits 24-13160

"A practical book on the laying and installation of interior electric wiring, through conduits, for all purposes in buildings of all kinds and sizes. Enters into details and is fully illustrated with line drawings." Donald Hendry

* Electrical machinery; principles, operation and management. (Library of power plant practice) 2d ed 1923 McGraw $3; 15s 621.31

1 Electric machinery 23-7770

The second edition is a revision of the text and illustrations, and includes also a new section on synchronous converters

"Avoiding the use of difficult mathematics, this well known author aims to explain to the 'average' man the theoretical principles and the essential operating facts relating to alternating-current and direct-current generators as well as to motors and similar machinery, with consideration of control apparatus. Design is not discussed. There are chapters on troubles, testing, and the determination of motor drive requirements. There are clear cut illustrations and practical examples with solutions." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Electrical machinery and control diagrams. 1924 McGraw $3; 18s 621.31

1 Electric machinery 2 Electric controllers 24-23262

"The diagrams cover circuits for the connections of simple motors with manual control to those required for large power systems. . . Diagrams of both old and new apparatus are given. Only such supplementary text is given as is necessary to explain the diagrams and make the use of the equipment clear." Power

Dudley, Adolphus Mansfield

Induction motor practice. 1928 McGraw $2.50; 15s 621.31

1 Electric motors 28-10376

"A designing engineer brings his experience to operating men and students to help in the solution of practical problems involving induction motor characteristics." Subtitle

"Simple presentation without difficult mathematics. Treats of the rotating magnetic field, speed torque characteristics, mechanical considerations, and the use of the circle diagram for laying out the complete performance." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Hausmann, Erich

Dynamo electric machinery; the theory, construction and operation of direct and alternating current machines. 1924 Van Nostrand $4.50; Lockwood, C. 25s 621.31

1 Electric machinery 24-28587

"This book supplants the two volumes written jointly with the late Dr. Samuel Sheldon entitled 'Direct-Current Machines' and 'Alternating Current Machines,' which made their appearances respectively in 1900 and 1902." Preface

"Text-book requiring considerable acquaintance with mathematics. The machines treated are standard power machines." Pittsburgh

Hennig, Walter E.

How to wind direct-current armatures. 2d ed rev 1928 Bruce pub. $3 621.31

1 Armatures 29-5380

"Practical work for home study or classroom, with simple mathematics and helpful diagrams, several of which are in color. Has instructions for changing speed and voltage of motors and generators." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Practical armature and magnet winding" by H. C. Horstmann and V. H. Tousley (3d ed enl 1927 Drake, F. J. $1.50) is another practical text, which illustrates the theoretical principles and shop practice of armature and magnet work

Kurtz, Edwin Bernard

Lineman's handbook. 1928 McGraw $4; 24s 621.31

1 Electric lines 28-16499

"A simple, clearly presented home study textbook for linemen, foremen, and other employees of line departments, covering construction and maintenance procedure and methods. 'A reading knowledge of English is all that is necessary to understand this book.' There are numerous illustrations." Bkl.

Loew, Edgar Allan

Direct and alternating currents; theory and machinery. 1933 McGraw $4.50; 27s 621.31

1 Electric currents 2 Electric machinery 33-18480

"Intended, primarily, for students desiring a short survey course in the theory of the electric circuit and the operating principles of electric machines. . . For the most part, mathematical discussions are either omitted or reduced to simple forms." General electric review

Magnusson, Carl Edward

Alternating currents. 4th ed 1931 McGraw $5; 25s 621.31

1 Electric currents, Alternating 31-21883

"Revision of a good advanced textbook, partly rewritten and considerably augmented." Donald Hendry

An authoritative work when a book on alternating currents is needed

Morecroft, John Harold, and Hehre, Frederick William

Electrical circuits and machinery. 3v 1925-33 Wiley v 1 $4, v2 $4.50, v3 $2; Chapman v 1 25s, v2 28s, v3 12s 6d 621.31

1 Electric currents 2 Electric machinery (27-3532)

Contents: v 1 Continuous currents. 2d ed 1933; v2 Alternating currents. 3d ed 1933; v3 Experiments. 1925

"Should prove of great value as a textbook in engineering classes. . . It would also be an excellent book to put into the hands of any well-educated youth who is just starting upon an electrical apprenticeship, as it deals with the why and wherefore of the construction of electrical machines in an exceptionally clear and sensible manner." Electrical rev.

Moreton, David Penn, and others

Direct-current machinery by D. P. Moreton, W. H. Freedman, M. Arendt and C. C. Adams. 1923 Am. tech. soc. $2.50 621.31

1 Electric machinery 24-24874

"A practical treatise on the principles of operation, methods of winding, constructing, operating, and maintaining direct-current generators and motors." Subtitle

"Originating in a correspondence school, [this book is] adapted for providing a plainly written home-study instruction book understandable to the practical man having to do with care and operation of electrical machinery." Donald Hendry

Morrow, Lester William Wallace

Electric power stations. 1927 McGraw $4; 24s 621.31

1 Electric power plants 27-1774

"Copiously diagramed text dealing exclusively with stations operated by steam. Discusses the selection of site, fuels, fuel and ash handling, steam generation and utilization, auxiliary energy supply and heat balance systems, boiler room equipment and layout, turbines and turbine auxiliaries, electrical layout and equipment and switching practice." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"A sound discussion of the fundamental principles of production, transmission and distribution of electrical energy on a large scale in an economical manner." Electric railway journal

E. B. Kurtz's "Substation operation" (1924 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d) is another text giving the elementary principles for men in practical work

Morse, Frederick T.

Power plant engineering and design. 1932 Van Nostrand $6.50; Chapman 30s 621.31

1 Electric power plants 32-35635

"A text for engineers and students of engineering covering the theory and practice of stationary electric generating plants." Subtitle

"Treats of the design, construction and operation of electric power plants for public service, industrial and institutional purposes, economic features being also considered. Steam, Diesel, and hydro-electric power are included. Presupposes a working knowledge of heat power, and thermodynamics, hydraulics, and an elementary knowledge of alternating currents on the part of the student. The author is a member of the faculty of engineering, Louisiana Polytechnic Institute." Donald Hendry

Reed, Emerson Golden

Essentials of transformer practice, theory, design and operation. 2d ed rev and enl 1927 Van Nostrand $5; Chapman 21s 621.31

1 Electric transformers 27-10796

In this edition corrections have been made and "the scope of the book has been enlarged by the addition of something like fifty per cent of new material." Preface

"Has a distinct value to operating men, for, although the greater part of the text is concerned with principles of transformer design, the presentation of these principles is lucid and an understanding of them furnishes a solid base for perfect comprehension of operating conditions. . . All types of transformers, including reactors, receive consideration, and the principles of design and performance of all are explained." Elec. world

* Transformer construction and operation. 1928 McGraw $3; 15s 621.31

1 Electric transformers 28-19300

"Aims to present a rather comprehensive outline of present-day transformer practice. It begins with a short review of the main stages in the development of the transformer in order to give the reader a perspective, and then discusses in detail the construction and operation of transformers. Design is taken up only incidentally and the use of mathematics has been avoided." Preface

"A non-mathematical treatment of its subject especially intended for the use of practical electrical workers. [Illustrations and diagrams]" Donald Hendry

Roe, Arthur Cecil; Moreton, David Penn, and Dunlap, Carl H.

* Armature winding. 1929 Am. tech. soc. $2 621.31

1 Armatures 30-10137

"A practical manual on winding and repairing alternating-current and direct-current motors and generators, together with practical connection diagrams." Subtitle

A correspondence school textbook, suitable for home study, first published 1920 under the authorship of D. P. Moreton

The publishers state that this book covers the same field as their "Generators and motors" by D. P. Moreton, A. C. Roe and C. H. Dunlap (1924 Am. tech. soc.) which is now, 1933, out of print

Ruhling, Theodore C.
Underground systems for electric light and power. 1927 McGraw $4; 24s 621.31

1 Electric lines 27-9302

"An expansion of the author's articles on 'Underground construction' which were published in 'Electric Light and Power.' It describes the methods of underground transmission and distribution which have come into general use during the last forty years. The book is designed as a guide to young engineers and construction foremen." Bkl.

"It is a useful work and probably unique in regard to the detail of the practical work covered. . . It deals throughout with American practice." Electrical rev.

Smith, Lewis Raymond
Elementary industrial electricity. (Industrial physics) 2d ed 1933 McGraw $2; 12s 621.31

1 Electric currents 33-1556

"A well illustrated high school textbook, published in 1929 with the title 'Direct-current electricity,' appears now with the original chapters unchanged, but with a new one on alternating currents added." Bkl.

"A good elementary textbook for technical, industrial, vocational, and evening schools. No previous electrical knowledge on the part of the student is assumed. Topics and problems for review accompany all the chapters." Donald Hendry

Van Brunt, G. A., and Roe, Arthur Cecil
Rewinding data for direct-current armatures. 1932 McGraw $2.50; 15s 621.31

1 Armatures 32-10839

Gives "practical directions for taking and recording in a uniform and systematic manner sufficient data to enable a winder with a reasonable amount of experience to turn out a job that will give satisfactory service under the conditions for which it is intended. . . A considerable portion of the material embodied in this book has appeared in articles in 'Maintenance Engineering.'" Preface

621.32 Electric wiring

Two good British books, one brief and the other very comprehensive, are:

Clinton, W. C., and Freeman, E. H. Electric wiring. 1928 Murray, J. 4s 6d A primer for the use of wiremen and students

Sylvester, Cyril, and Ritchie, T. E. Modern electrical illumination. 1927 Longmans $14; 42s Probably the most complete treatise on electric lighting for all purposes and therefore of interest to larger libraries

Cook, Arthur Leroy
Electric wiring for lighting and power installations. 3d ed rev 1933 Wilev $3; Chapman 18s 6d 621.32

1 Electric wiring 33-1952

First published 1917 under title: "Interior wiring and systems for electric light and power service." The subjects treated in the third edition are substantially the same; the material on arc lamps has been omitted as they are no longer used for interior illumination. Outdoor lighting has also been omitted, and a new chapter on grounding of circuits added. Adapted from Preface

"Practical handbook covering electric light and power, and the design and installation of various types of wiring. Includes worked examples and numerous diagrams." Cleveland

Croft, Terrell Williams
Wiring for light and power. 5th ed 1929 McGraw $3; 15s 621.32

1 Electric wiring 29-28828

This edition includes an 85 page supplement which gives the changes to the National electrical code which have been made since the 4th edition in 1923. A book for workers in charge of the installation of electrical work

"The purpose of the book is to provide explanations, elaborations and illustrations for those sections of the National Electrical Code to which it is necessary to refer most frequently. The book has incorporated in it the code regulations. Each ruling or regulation is followed by explanations and illustrations showing how it is applied or interpreted." Power

Cushing, Harry Cooke
Standard wiring for electric light and power; adopted by the fire underwriters of the United States. Caspar $3 621.32

1 Electric wiring (22-8383)

Published annually. First edition 1894. Subtitle varies

Gives "the essential requirements for safe and efficient wiring and construction in accordance with the National electrical code and the latest engineering practice, together with helpful notes, illustrations and tables." Preface to 1929 edition

Lowndes, William Shepherd
House wiring and bell work. 1925 McKay $2 621.32

1 Electric bells 2 Electric conduits 3 Electric wiring A25-786

"A practical book of the correspondence school type. Briefly considers electrical and magnetic theory, and describes materials employed and methods of installation of interior electric wiring for light and power. Prepared by the International Correspondence Schools, and adapted for home study." Donald Hendry

Schuhler, Albert August
* Electric wiring; a textbook of applied electricity for vocational and trade schools. 2d ed 1930 McGraw $2.50; 15s 621.32

1 Electric wiring 30-6293

"Several sections, in some cases entire jobs, have been rewritten and material no longer up-to-date has been discarded. In making the revisions, care has been taken to preserve the gradation of jobs according to difficulty. . . Complicated technical information and higher mathematics. . . have been avoided here." Preface to second edition

"Plain directions for performing over 300 electric wiring jobs. The matter is arranged under nine headings: Splicing and joining; bell wiring; annunciator wiring; burglar alarm wiring; electric light wiring; house wiring plans; telegraphy wiring; telephone wiring; testing. Carefully illustrated with line drawings. Suitable for home study." Donald Hendry

Willoughby, George A.
House wiring. 1925 Wiley $2; Chapman 12s 6d 621.32

1 Electric wiring 25-14940

"Prepared especially for trade preparatory and trade extension classes in the all-day, part-time and evening vocational schools." Subtitle

"In this book, emphasis has been placed on the methods of making specific parts of installations and also of installing complete jobs. The student, as an apprentice on the job, is therefore first given simple jobs to install, then more complicated ones, and finally is put upon his own resources to make complete wiring installations. . . The type jobs selected for this book are those which occur most commonly in the wiring of buildings of average size, under average working conditions." Author's preface

Two other good texts are: the author's "Fundamentals of house wiring" (1924 Manual arts press 75c) for use in trade schools and home study; and "Interior electric wiring and estimating" by A. L. Nelson, and C. H. Dunlap (1929 Am. tech. soc. $2.50) intended for home study and practical self-instruction

Wolber, Joseph Gregory, and Rose, Otto K.

‡ Practical and technical electricity. (American electrician ser.) v1-2 1928-30 Goodheart-Willcox ea $5 621.32

1 Electric wiring

Contents: v 1 House wiring. 3d ed; v2 Power wiring (direct current). A third volume, on alternating current power wiring, is announced for publication late in 1934

Volume 1, now in its third edition, contains well illustrated instructions on tools, materials and operations. It is concerned entirely with bell and lighting equipment, and does not include telephones and radio. There are also interpretations of sections of the national electric code. Volume 2 is concerned with construction, operation and care and maintenance of motors, generators and meters and other kinds of power equipment

621.33 Electric railroads

Blake, Henry William, and Jackson, Walter

Electric railway transportation. 2d ed 1924 McGraw $5; 30s 621.33

1 Electric railroads 24-25796

The second edition effects many small changes, substitutes a chapter on bus operation for the section on competition, and omits the chapter on freight and express. The entire text has been reset since the first edition in 1917

"Few, if any, of the many books on electric railways deal with the transportation methods and practices in such details as this one. Consequently, its field of interest extends beyond that of the engineers interested in the design of electric railway equipment to that of all engineers who have anything to do with electric railways." Engineering news-record

Harding, Charles Francis, and Ewing, Dressel Dewitt

* Electric railway engineering. 3d ed rev and enl 1926 McGraw $5; 30s 621.33

1 Electric railroads 26-3696

"Ed. 2 appeared in 1916. The present edition is completely revised and enlarged by 73 pages to bring it in line with recent developments. Designed as a college text and as an electrical railway instruction and reference book." Donald Hendry

Manson, Arthur James

Railroad electrification and the electric locomotive. 2d ed 1925 Simmons-Boardman $3 621.33

1 Railroads—Electrification 2 Electric locomotives 25-4109

Based on articles published in "Railway electrical engineer" and "Railway and locomotive engineering." Supplies authoritative information on "the elementary theory, the design, construction, care, and operation of electric locomotives, as well as their application to all classes of railroad service." Preface

K. T. Healy's "Electrification of steam railroads" (1929 McGraw $5; 25s) is another very good treatise which presents both the economic and operating problems involved in electrifying steam railroads

Richey, Albert Sutton

Electric railway handbook. 2d ed 1924 McGraw $4; 24s 621.33

1 Electric railroads 24-21265

A reference book of practice data, formulas and tables for operators, engineers and students. Limited to subjects most likely to arise in everyday practice. Does not include power house and substations. This edition has been carefully revised and new material added

621.35 Storage batteries

Althouse, Andrew D., and Turnquist, Carl H.

Modern storage battery practice. 1932 Goodheart-Willcox $2.50 621.35

1 Storage batteries 32-30672

"The material contained in these pages is the result of teaching battery building and servicing for several years in the Cass Technical High School, Detroit, Michigan. . . The object has been to prepare only up-to-date material and to stick rigidly to good fundamental practice. . . No attempt has been made to include instructions for installing and handling special equipment or to cover every phase of instruction for all special batteries, but rather to include all basic information that every successful battery man must possess." Preface

Arendt, Morton

Storage batteries; theory, manufacture, care and application. 1928 Van Nostrand $4.50; Pitman 18s 621.35

1 Storage batteries 28-13176

"On the manufacture and assembly of storage batteries, their upkeep and care, and their applications. Considerable space is given to the theory and chemistry of storage batteries, but emphasis is chiefly placed on practical features which concern the engineer who is using batteries. A chapter is devoted to the Edison battery." Donald Hendry

"Material is logically, simply, and lucidly presented." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Jansky, Cyril Methodius, and Wood, Harry Peterman

* Elements of storage batteries; prepared in the Extension division of the University of Wisconsin. (Industrial education ser.) 1923 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 621.35

1 Storage batteries 24-112

"Elementary course, presenting chemical and electrical principles, but adapted to the use of the practical man who is concerned with maintenance, repair, and applications." Pittsburgh

"So far as the non-technical reader is concerned we can recommend this book. The descriptions are clear and the recapitulations given at the end of each chapter are very useful, as they help the reader to remember the facts." Nature

Manly, Harold Phillips

Auto and radio battery care and repair. 1928 Drake, F. J. $2 621.35

1 Storage batteries 28-10494

Written from the practical and commercial standpoint, for actual everyday problems. Covers automobile starting, lighting and ignition batteries as well as batteries used in radio receivers. Special emphasis is laid on charging, repairing and improving of battery disorders

Pagé, Victor Wilfred

* Storage batteries simplified, operating principles—care and industrial applications. new enl ed 1928 Henley $2 621.35

1 Storage batteries 28-11833

This edition has been considerably enlarged and brought up to date, 1928, and material on storage batteries for radio added. It has been written with the cooperation of leading American storage battery makers

"A complete, non-technical but authoritative treatise discussing the development of the modern storage battery, outlining the basic operation of the leading types; also the methods of construction, charging, maintenance and repair." Subtitle

Phillips, Harvey Elmer

Storage battery simplified. 1930 Goodheart-Willcox $3 621.35

1 Storage batteries 30-22544

"Presents every phase of the subject in the most practical and simplified manner, for the beginner and student as well as the experienced battery man. The 'Where to Buy It' section, following the main sections of the book, is offered as a dependable guide of manufacturers and others from whom material and equipment of all kinds as used in battery work can be obtained." Book rev. digest

Vinal, George Wood

Storage batteries; a general treatise on the physics and chemistry of secondary batteries and their engineering applications. 2d ed 1930 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 621.35

1 Storage batteries 30-8877

"A thorough revision has been made of the entire book, many sections having been rewritten in whole or in part and a new section on aircraft batteries has been added." Preface to second edition

"A great deal of very valuable technical data are given which have evidently been the result of years of collecting, and these data are obtained from the different types of modern practical batteries. . . Details seem judiciously given and explanations of theory are clear." Industrial and engineering chemistry

"Storage batteries" by R. W. Ritter, and E. W. Allen (2v in 1 1929 Int. textbook $1.25) is a small manual for the beginner on the construction, installation and maintenance of storage batteries. A correspondence school text

Circuit troubles and testing. 1924 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 621.37

1 Electric testing 2 Electric circuits 25-996

"Discusses power and lighting-circuit troubles and describes effective methods for their localization and correction." Pittsburgh

Cross, Harold H. U.

Electric testing simplified; a practical manual and bench companion. 1930 Goodheart-Willcox $1.50; Lockwood, C. 5s 621.37

1 Electric testing [31-1795]

Brief, clear discussion of modern ideas concerning testing. Covers the following topics: measuring instruments; electro-mechanical aids to testing; voltmeter and ammeter; meters for special purposes; insulation testing and inspection; electrical resistance tests; domestic electric appliances; testing of cells; industrial dynamo and motor testing; testing motor-car electric plant

Hund, August

High-frequency measurements. (International ser. in physics) 1933 McGraw $5; 30s 621.37

1 Electric currents, Alternating 2 Electric circuits 3 Electric measurements 33-9109

This well constructed text may be too technical for many small libraries. It deals "with the special technique of measurements at high frequency, giving special attention to the wide range of physical phenomena which must be kept in mind if the ultimate indication is to be truly interpreted in terms of the quantity to be measured. . . Amongst the most valuable and novel sections of the work are the treatment of determinations on aerials and lines, and on wave propagation." Nature

Laws, Frank Arthur

* Electrical measurements. (Electrical engineering texts) 1917 McGraw $5.50; 27s 6d 621.37

1 Electric measurements 17-23436

"Highly authoritative advanced text-book for students of electrical engineering, and reference for practicing engineers. Pre-supposes a knowledge of physics, the theory of electricity and higher mathematics." Donald Hendry

A. W. Smith's "Electrical measurements in theory and application" (2d ed 1924 McGraw $3; 15s) is another text intended for those who have passed one year of college physics

621.38 Telegraph. Telephone

The old number for telephony and telegraphy was 654 and many libraries still use that number. In the 12th edition of the Decimal classification 621.38 is also used, and new libraries will probably prefer this number

Any list of books on the telephone is apt to be somewhat unsatisfactory for practical use as telephone practice is ahead of the books on the subject

Hausmann, Erich

Telegraph engineering; a manual for practicing telegraph engineers and engineering students. 2d ed 1922 Van Nostrand $3; Constable 16s 621.38

1 Telegraph 22-23763

"Considers overland and submarine telegraph engineering in their ordinary and also in their less commonly discussed applications. Among the latter are included fire alarm and police patrol systems, telautograph, television, and military induction systems. Does not deal with wireless work." Cleveland

"A knowledge of algebra is essential for the study of the theoretical parts, and familiarity with calculus is desirable, though the descriptive chapters and the portions on traffic should make the volume interesting and valuable to all telegraph workers." Elec. world

The revised edition has been slightly enlarged (6 pages) to bring the book up to date

"'A practical treatise on alternating current radio tubes and sets and dynamic loud speakers.' By the Radio Technical adviser of the Chicago Daily News, and a good book for the small library looking for a fairly simple technical treatment at a low price." Wis. bul.

Pioneers of wireless. 1927 Methuen 12s 6d 621.384

1 Radio 28-10710

An attempt, written in popular style, "to outline the development of wireless telegraphy more particularly from the point of view of the early workers." Preface

"Taking the book as a whole, it is. . . an interesting volume which well repays perusal. The chief criticism which seems called for is that it devotes rather too much space to the extinct and unpractical methods of wireless telegraphy and rather too little or nothing to the work of very numerous men whose combined efforts have given us the marvel of modern broadcasting and the beam system." Wireless world

Henney, Keith

Principles of radio. 2d ed 1934 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 21s 6d 621.384

Manly, Harold Phillips

‡ Drake's cyclopedia of radio and electronics. 1932 Drake, F. J. $5 621.384

1 Radio—Dictionaries 2 Electricity—Dictionaries 32-26693

First published 1927. Earlier editions had title: "Drake's radio cyclopedia." Frequently revised to keep it up to date. In the 1932 edition material on sound pictures, photocells and television was added. Alphabetically arranged with cross references but no index and is not paged

"Excellent, practical, up-to-date reference book which has a place in all general libraries." Donald Hendry

(comp.) Radio and electronic dictionary. 1931 Drake, F. J. $2.50 621.384

Not to be confused with "Drake's radio cyclopedia" by the same author, which contains many long articles. This smaller work defines briefly 3,800 words and terms

"Words and terms used in the arts and sciences which employ the numerous modern varieties of vacuum tubes, photocells, glow tubes and all their related and associated devices. This field includes not only all branches of radio transmission and reception, such as that in aviation, but includes also such developments as sound pictures, television, public address work and many industrial uses." Preface

Morecroft, John Harold

Electron tubes and their application. 1933 Wiley $4.50; Chapman 28s 621.384

1 Vacuum tubes 33-17698

"This 'reasonably thorough book' by Professor of Electrical Engineering in Columbia University presents the subject in a fairly simple style adapted to the needs of the average engineer. The first part deals in a general way with the extraction of electrons from metals and methods of using them. Succeeding chapters deal with characteristics and applications of the various types of commercial tubes." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Thermionic vacuum tubes, and their applications" by E. V. Appleton (1932 Dutton $1.25; Methuen 3s) is a more strictly scientific book which has also been recommended

Elements of radio communication. 2d ed rev and enl 1934 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 621.384

1 Radio 34-6443

First published 1929. The second edition has been revised to bring it in line with modern practice

"Good text for the serious student of radio who desires a knowledge of radio principles and their application in radio telegraphy and telephony. Has chapters on the electric circuit; special laws for radio circuits; general ideas of radio communication; the vacuum tube and its uses; radio telegraphy, radio telephony; receiving sets. Not a book of the 'popular' type. [Illustrated]" Donald Hendry

"Principles of radio communication" by J. H. Morecroft assisted by A. Pinto and W. A. Curry (3d ed 1933 Wiley $7.50; Chapman 46s 6d) is a standard advanced treatise which is an important work for the engineer

Radio construction and repairing, including the television receiver. 4th ed 1933 McGraw $2.50; 15s 621.384

1 Radio 2 Television 33-29978

A new edition of "Practical radio construction and repairing" by the same authors. In the 4th edition new sections are devoted to the consideration of radio-noise meters, midget receivers, receiving sets for automobiles, short-wave broadcasting and reception, velocity microphones, and other items

"A book for the advanced amateur and commercial troubleman. Without requiring an extensive knowledge of radio engineering, it gives fairly technical directions for installing, testing and reparing receiving sets. [Index]" Cleveland

Two other books by the same authors are: "Practical radio, including television" (4th ed 1931 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d) a practical text; and "Radio receiving tubes; including applications for distant control of industrial processes and precision measurements" (2d ed 1931 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d)

* Radio handbook; including television and sound motion pictures. 1931 McGraw $5; 30s 621.384

A previous knowledge of the flow of heat and the operation of steam engines is desirable. Problems are included

Ford, Louis Randolph
Practical marine Diesel engineering. 2d ed rev and enl 1931 Simmons-Boardman $6; Simpkin 35s 621.4

1 Diesel engines 2 Marine engines 31-5933

First edition, 1925. "For the present edition the matter has been largely rewritten and augmented to the extent of 246 pages, making practically a new book, an excellent treatise on its subject, a practical book for the practical engineer. Explains simply the principles of the internal combustion oil engine and describes the construction and operation of the various large, medium, and small marine Diesel engines of both domestic and foreign manufacture. Has a chapter on repair. Steps to secure a license in the United States and in Great Britain are explained, with examples of examination questions and answers." Donald Hendry

Heldt, Peter Martin
High-speed Diesel engines. 1932 The author $4 621.4

1 Diesel engines 32-10168

"An eminent authority here describes and illustrates what has been accomplished in adapting the Diesel engine to automobile and airplane service. Primarily addressed to 'those who are engaged in design and experimental development of these engines, as well as the pioneer operators of vehicles equipped with them, and to students.'" Pratt quarterly

Morrison, Lacey Harvey
American Diesel engines. 1931 McGraw $5; 25s 621.4

1 Diesel engines 2 Gas and oil engines 31-3570

"A rewriting of the author's 'Diesel engines' published in 1923. The present book brings the matter up-to-date. Only American Diesels are considered of which there are now some fifty manufacturers. The author, an authority, writes of the history, economics, and engineering of the Diesel engine, entering with much detail into the construction of the various makes of engines. A chapter on operating procedure is included." Pratt quarterly

Rosbloom, Julius
Diesel and oil engineering hand book. 4th rev ed 1928 Industrial inst. $5 621.4

1 Diesel engines 2 Gas and oil engines 28-9305

"The Fourth Edition . . . is entirely revised, and very little data which appeared in its previous editions is being repeated." Preface

"A practical book of instruction and ready reference guide on Diesel and other classes of oil engines, Diesel-electrical drive, Diesel-electric locomotives, Diesel-geared locomotive, auxiliaries, accessories, etc. Land and marine; profusely illustrated, tables, formulae, questions and answers." Title page

Streeter, Robert Leroy, and Lichty, Lester Clyde

Internal-combustion engines, theory, analysis and design. 4th ed 1933 McGraw $4.50 621.4

1 Gas and oil engines 29-16021

"A greatly enlarged edition, which incorporates the results of research work done since the publication of the third edition. The preface states that this is a complete revision in which descriptive material has been eliminated." Bkl.

"In addition to its use as a textbook there is so much useful information as to make the volume of value as a reference to those not having a deep grasp on mathematics." Power

621.5 Refrigeration

Althouse, Andrew D., and Turnquist, Carl H.

Modern electric and gas refrigeration. 1933 Goodheart-Willcox $4 621.5

1 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 33-33250

"The field covered . . . is restricted entirely to domestic refrigeration and no attempt has been made to cover the field of commercial installations. . . All of the common types and most of the popular domestic refrigerators have been studied in some detail. . . A chapter dealing with the essential principles of physics as they apply to refrigeration has been prepared for the student who has not had previous training in this subject." Preface

American society of refrigerating engineers

Refrigerating data book and catalog. The society $3.50 621.5

1 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 32-26861

First published for 1932-1933. "A biennial series of engineering handbooks. As an assembly of factual information, combined with the criticism and opinion of the various contributors, it is designed to provide a useful reference source. As a report on what stock of knowledge refrigerating engineering possesses it may also serve as a means of orientation—indicating what is known and what investigations are most needed." Publisher's preface

"A notable contribution to the literature of refrigeration, prepared in collaboration by . . . members of the Society of Refrigerating Engineers." Pratt quarterly

Hull, Harry Blair

* Household refrigeration. 4th ed rev and enl 1933 Nickerson & Collins co. $4; Am. bk. supply 17s 6d 621.5

1 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 33-32552

The fourth edition of this well illustrated manual contains nearly 200 pages more than in the third edition. The author says that "this edition is particularly suitable for use as a text for students as well as a reference book for engineers, sales and service men interested in the refrigeration industry."

"A complete treatise on the principles, types, construction and operation of both ice and mechanically cooled domestic refrigerators, properties of refrigerants, the application of thermodynamics and physical chemistry to refrigeration, heat transmission and values of insulating materials, food technology, description of modern household refrigerating machines of the compression and absorption types, the principles of air conditioning, including a description of the equipment and its application for the office, residence and commercial establishment." Subtitle

Macintire, Horace James

Principles of mechanical refrigeration (a study course for operating engineers). 2d ed 1928 McGraw $3; 15s 621.5

1 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 28-12952

"Moderately technical work, the first edition of which was published in 1922, now extended by about 100 pages, with the inclusion of new tables and diagrams. An explanation of fundamental thermodynamical principles precedes descriptions of various apparatus, erection and operation, refrigerants, heat transfer, piping and pipe calculations, ice making, and applications of refrigeration." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

The author's "Handbook of mechanical refrigeration" (1928 Wiley $7.50; Chapman 46s 6d) is a valuable reference book on all phases of mechanical refrigeration. Not needed in all small libraries

Motz, William Harrison

Principles of refrigeration. 3d ed 1932 Nickerson & Collins co. $7.50 621.5

1 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 32-17050

The third edition of a work published in 1926. Enlarged by 362 pages. Written for beginners in the study of refrigeration, students in technical schools, practicing engineers, salesmen, and others interested in ice making

"A comprehensive treatise on fundamental principles of operation of ice making and refrigerating machinery, properties and values of principle media used in modern refrigerating apparatus; transmission of heat, functions and values of insulating materials, construction and operation of various parts of refrigerating apparatus and application of refrigeration to its varied uses." Subtitle

Moyer, James Ambrose, and Fittz, Raymond Underwood

‡ Refrigeration, including household automatic refrigerating machines. 2d ed 1932 McGraw $5; 30s 621.5

1 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 32-24524

"Progress in the fields of refrigeration and air conditioning during recent years has made necessary a complete revision. . . Important new features, such as improved designs of household and small commercial refrigerating units . . . methods of controlling refrigerants, revised data on the properties of refrigerants, production of solid carbon dioxide (dry ice), applications of quick freezing and air conditioning, as well as many improvements in refrigeration services, have made necessary the enlargement of the chapters of the preceding edition and the addition of new ones." Preface to the second edition

"Deals with the whole field of refrigeration, considering both principles and equipment. Devotes only a chapter each to ice making and domestic refrigeration, but includes plant testing, cold storage, and air conditioning." Pittsburgh

Woolrich, Willis Raymond

Handbook of refrigerating engineering. 1929 Van Nostrand $4; Lib. press 20s 621.5

1 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 29-2613

"A manual on the principles of refrigerating engineering designed for the engineer already in practice and for students of engineering courses." Book rev. digest

"The author has given a practical and concise treatment of the subject of mechanical refrigeration, with a clear presentation of the elementary principles involved." Industrial and engineering chemistry

621.6 Pumping machinery

Cameron, John Wells
Centrifugal pumps. 1921 Benn 7s 6d 621.6
1 Pumping machinery 22-11313
Formerly carried also by Van Nostrand
"Within its limits it is a most satisfactory attempt to present in a small compass, and without advanced mathematical analysis, the more fundamental problems of turbine pumps." Colliery guardian
R. L. Daugherty's "Centrifugal pumps" (1915 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d) is another good book, written primarily for the practising engineer

Greene, Arthur Maurice
* Pumping machinery. 2d ed rev 1919 Wiley $4.50; Chapman 28s 6d 621.6
1 Pumping machinery 19-5697
A college textbook treating of the history, design, construction and operation of various forms of pumps. Contains many illustrations and diagrams, also a 12 page bibliography

621.7 Mills. Factories. Engineering works

Croft, Terrell Williams
(ed.) Machinery foundations and erection. (Power plant ser.) 1923 McGraw $5; 25s 621.7
1 Machinery—Erecting work 23-2989
"A compilation of practical and theoretical ideas that have proved successful. . . The subject matter covers the whole field of foundations from anchor bolts, through excavating and masonry to erection of machinery." Coal age

Hobart, James Francis
Millwrighting. 2d ed rev and enl 1919 McGraw $4; 20s 621.7
1 Mill and factory buildings 19-16641
Aims to give the best practice in mill wrighting. Begins with definitions and location of the factory. Covers all phases thru the installations of motors and other appliances. Well illustrated

621.72 Woodworking shop. Pattern making

McCaslin, Herbert John
Wood pattern-making; a textbook. 2d ed 1932 McGraw $2.25; 13s 6d 621.72
1 Pattern making 32-19162
First published 1923. "The present edition is enlarged by 15 pages, with the addition of new text matter and new problems. An elementary textbook for trade schools. Describes pattern making materials and tools and the details of making 51 patterns of various objects, arranged in progressive order. Contains 347 illustrations, mostly line drawings, and a large number of review questions." Donald Hendry

Richards, William Henry
Principles of pattern and foundry practice. 1930 McGraw $1.60; 9s 6d 621.72
1 Pattern making 2 Founding 31-2540
"A textbook in theory and practice for the use of students in universities and technical institutions." Subtitle
Contents: Exercises in bench practice; Exercises in lathe practice; Lecture problems

621.74 Foundry work

In order to keep together in engineering all material on founding, this Catalog uses 621.74 for all of it and does not use 671. Some libraries prefer to class it all in 671, manufactures. Probably no small library will care to use both numbers

"The Foundrymen's handbook, based on data sheets from 'The Foundry' revised and supplemented to represent and interpret modern practice" (2d ed 1929 Penton pub. $6) is a reference work for foundrymen and patternmakers. Available in England in a 2 volume edition (Penton pub. v 1 25s, v2 30s)

Hartley, Lawrence Arthur
(ed.) Elementary foundry technology, with special reference to gray iron and steel. (McGraw-Hill vocational texts) 1928 McGraw $3; 18s 621.74
1 Founding 2 Steel 28-28950
"A vocational school textbook. Features elementary physics and chemistry, and their applications in foundry work; good attention also is given to foundry equipment and practice." Pratt quarterly
"This book is commended to all those who wish instruction in foundry practice given in plain language and right up to date." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

Moldenke, Richard George Gottlob
Principles of iron founding. 2d ed 1930 McGraw $6; 36s 621.74
1 Founding 30-10143
Enlarged and thoroly revised edition of a handbook first published in 1917
"An authoritative book for practical foundrymen desirous of knowing the developments of foundry metallurgy, and for the foundry metallurgist with little time for research." Cleveland

Palmer, Reginald Heber
* Foundry practice. 4th ed enl 1929 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 21s 6d 621.74
1 Founding 29-14119
A text book for executives, molders, students and apprentices, which deals largely with the iron foundry. First published 1911. Each edition has "recorded the advances in the art and science of making castings and the changes in methods and equipment resulting therefrom." Preface

Stimpson, William C., and Gray, Burton Linwood
Foundry work; a practical handbook on standard foundry practice. 1930 Am. tech. soc. $2 621.74
1 Founding 30-13130
"An earlier work by Stimpson and Gray has been revised by John Grennan, an instructor in shop practice in the University of Michigan. Designed for use by the practical foundryman." Wis. bul.
"It is a compact, and satisfactory handbook for the student, as well as for the practical foundry man, who wishes to have the best and most recent practices in foundry work. Molding practice, equipment and processes as well as typical molding problems are given careful attention. . . Good illustrations, both photographic and penciled, complete this excellent text on foundry work." N.Y. Municipal reference lib. notes

Wendt, Robert Ernest
* Foundry work. 2d ed 1928 McGraw $2; 12s 621.74

1 Founding 28-10077

A textbook designed for schools and colleges
"'The subject matter has been reorganized and many new principles and illustrations have been added.' The first part discusses some fundamental principles in the manufacture of castings; the second presents exercises in bench and flour moulding, and types of machines; the third deals with melting furnaces for gray iron, brass, and aluminum, and the fourth deals with problems of the foundry executive." Bkl.

William Rawlinson's "Modern foundry operations and equipment" (1928 Chapman 18s) is another good book written from a somewhat different viewpoint, as it is intended for the engineer rather than the foundryman. It gives the principles underlying the various operations, rather than the details of practice

621.79 Sheet metal work

The books included below cover the field adequately for the average library. For libraries needing more material two additional titles are noted here:

Daugherty, J. S. Sheet-metal pattern drafting and shop problems. 1922 Manual arts press $2.50 A textbook for schools, also adapted for reference use

Hopp, Adolf, and Neubecker, William. Estimating sheet metal work. 1922 Scientific bk. corp. $3

Broemel, Louis
* Sheet metal workers' manual. 1925 Drake, F. J. $2 621.79

First published 1918
"A complete instruction book on the sheet metal industry, machinery and tools, and related subjects, including the oxy-acetylene welding and cutting process, by L. Broemel; with a special course in elementary and advanced sheet metal work and pattern drafting for technical and trade school instructors and students; also for reference and study by sheet metal workers and apprentices, by J. S. Daugherty." Subtitle

Kittredge, George Watson
New metal worker pattern book by G. W. Kittredge and associates. new rev ed 1926 Scientific bk. corp. $6 621.79

1 Sheet-metal work 27-990

First published 1896. A new edition in preparation, March, 1934

"A complete and systematic course of instruction in the modern methods of developing and cutting the patterns for sheet metal work, covering the principles underlying practically every problem likely to come up in practice." Subtitle

National association of sheet metal contractors. Trade development committee
Standard practice in sheet metal work. 1929 The association $10 621.79

1 Sheet-metal work 29-18065

"A reference book compiled for the use of architects, engineers, sheet metal contractors, installers of warm air heating systems, and vocational training schools." Subtitle
"Sizable quarto volume containing a large number of detailed drawings and accompanying descriptive texts, covering roofing, gutters, conductors, corrugated iron work, skylights and ventilators, metal cornices and ceilings, warm air furnaces, heating doors, hollow metal doors and trim, metal windows, restaurant, kitchen and hotel equipment. Section on protective paints." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Neubecker, William
Universal sheet metal pattern cutter. 2v 1927-30 Sheet metal ea $7.50 621.79

1 Sheet-metal work (25-716)

v 1, 8th ed, 1930; v2, 4th ed enl., 1927

A very comprehensive work on the subject by an authority. Profusely illustrated. The ordinary library having this comprehensive work may not need all of the other books listed

The author's "Sheet-metal work" (1919 Am. tech. soc. $2) is an elementary manual planned for a correspondence school course

Welch, Robert Louis
Elements of sheet metal work. 1926 Bruce pub. $1.10 621.79

1 Sheet-metal work 27-3257

Practically a reprint of the 1923 edition, with a few minor changes. Contains many illustrations and diagrams. Supplementary problems in the appendices

"A textbook prepared at Stout Institute designed 'to be used in the teaching of the fundamentals of sheet metal work' in high school or vocational school. A good book for the purpose." Wis. bul.

"Instruction manual for sheet-metal workers" by R. W. Selvidge and E. W. Christy (1925 Manual arts press $1.20) is another well-illustrated text for apprentices and students in trade schools

621.8 Principles of mechanism. Power transmission

W. M. Corse's "Bearing metals and bearings" (1930 Chemical catalog co. $5.25) is a rather special book giving over 1100 references from American and foreign periodicals mainly on bearing metals, bearings and lubrication. One of the "Monograph series" of the American chemical society

Albert, Calvin Dodge
Machine design drawing room problems. 2d ed 1927 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 21s 6d 621.8

1 Machinery—Design 27-20658

"In revising the first edition, eleven tables have been thoroughly revised and remade, eighteen tables are entirely new, certain sections have been rewritten, and twenty new pages have been added." Preface to the second edition
"Text-book for engineering students who have a knowledge of kinematics, mechanics, and engineering drawing. The first half contains general reference data, properties of materials commonly used, and a short discussion of the factor of safety and allowable stress. The remainder is devoted to problems in the design of machines, worked out in some detail." Pittsburgh

Berard, Samuel John, and Waters, Everett Oyler
Elements of machine design. 2d ed 1932 Van Nostrand $2.75; Blackie & son 10s 621.8

1 Machinery—Design 33-1729

First published 1924. This second edition has been considerably enlarged, thoroly revised and brought up to date
"Intended for students in technical schools and for young draftsmen preparing themselves as designers. The purpose is to fill the gap between engineering drawing and advanced machine design." Pittsburgh

"Elements of machine design," by W. C. Unwin and A. L. Mellanby (new and rev ed 2v 1927-31 Longmans v1 $4.25, v2 $4; v1 15s, v2 12s 6d) is a standard English work

Heck, Robert Culbertson Hays

Mechanics of machinery. 2v 1923-25 McGraw ea $5; ea 25s 621.8

1 Machinery 2 Mechanics, Applied 3 Machinery, Kinematics of 4 Dynamics 23-12355

Contents: v 1 Mechanism; v2 Kinematics and dynamics

"Comprehensive, well arranged, and clear presentation of mechanical movements and the forces involved." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Hoffman, James David, and Scipio, Lynn Adolphus

* Elements of machine design. (Engineering ser.) 1928 Ginn $3.80; 20s 621.8

1 Machinery—Design 28-6935

"This book is a well-written presentation of the subjects ordinarily included in elementary machine design. There are two main divisions to the book, one on the elements and the other on the applications. The book has many possibilities for usefulness. While intended for students of mechanical engineering, it will prove of value for reference by engineers who have occasional design problems. It can be used profitably for a beginning course in either classroom or laboratory." Industrial and engineering chemistry

F. A. Halsey's "Handbook for machine designers, shop men and draftsmen" (2d ed 1916 McGraw $6; 30s), an older book, is useful as a reference work

Hyland, Patrick Henry, and Kommers, Jesse Benjamin

Machine design. 1929 McGraw $4; 20s 621.8

1 Machinery—Design 29-21535

"Carefully illustrated text-book with numerous solved and unsolved problems. It is stated that enough material on kinematics has been included to make a separate text unnecessary. Has chapters on metal-working and shop processes, friction and lubrication, and safety engineering design. Authors are professors in the University of Wisconsin." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Jones, Franklin Day

* (ed.) Ingenious mechanisms for designers and inventors. 1930 Industrial press $5 621.8

1 Machinery, Kinematics of 2 Mechanical movements 30-14992

"This book has replaced the one entitled 'Mechanisms and Mechanical Movements.' The best material, however, from the latter work has been retained in this new volume in order to make it complete and to include many classes of mechanisms which belong in a work of this kind. This greatly enlarged treatise is the product of many contributors who have submitted for publication in 'Machinery's' columns, most of the mechanical movements described in these pages." Preface

"Illustrated descriptions of a large variety of standard and special mechanisms selected by experienced machine designers as outstanding examples of ingenious mechanical movements for use in designing automatic machines and other mechanical devices." Subtitle

Schwamb, Peter; Merrill, Allyne Litchfield, and James, Walter Herman

* Elements of mechanism. 4th ed 1930 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 21s 6d 621.8

1 Mechanics 2 Machinery, Kinematics of 30-28154

The present edition follows closely the text of the third edition, 1920, but embodies a number of minor changes

"Intended primarily to give the student familiarity with, and practice in thinking about, the application of the fundamental principles of physics and simple mathematics in a specific field, namely, the field of mechanical movements. The purpose is not to describe a large number of different devices, but rather to select the relatively more common and more fundamental machine elements and study their motions when combined in certain definite ways." Preface

Spooner, Henry John

Machine design, construction and drawing. 6th ed rev and enl 1927 Longmans $6; 21s 621.8

1 Machinery—Design 2 Machinery 3 Mechanical drawing 27-27605

"The book has been carefully revised and the references brought up to date [1927] and nine new articles written, including one on the 'Design of machinery in relation to the operator.'" Preface

"A text-book for the use of young engineers, with 126 tables, 7 plates, over 1600 figures, 446 exercises and a selection of examination papers." Title page

Staniar, William

Mechanical power transmission. 1928 McGraw $5; 25s 621.8

1 Power transmission 28-29206

"A practical book for those directly concerned with power plant operation: the plant engineer; maintenance man; master mechanic; draftsman, or millwright. Written in non-technical language and without any involved mathematics. There has been need of such a book. Considers direct-motor-coupled connection and in detail the various belt, rope and chain drives; shafting; bearings; clutches; pulleys; gear-reduction units, lubrication, etc., and has a chapter on accident prevention. Illustrated. Author writes from large experience as mechanical power engineer in large plants." Donald Hendry

621.83 Gearing

"Machinery's handbook, 1930" (class 621.02) contains a section on gearing which will supplement the material given below

Jones, Franklin Day

Gear-cutting processes. 1924 Industrial press $3 621.83

1 Gearing 24-17441

"For the practical machinist operating gear-cutting machines in the production of machine parts. All kinds and sizes of gears are considered. Operations are described in plain language with simple mathematics, and well illustrated with line drawings and half-tones." Donald Hendry

Logue, Charles Hays

* American machinist gear book. 3d ed rev by Reginald Trautschold 1922 McGraw $3; 15s 621.83

1 Gearing 22-24462

The third edition contains some important additions, particularly in the sections devoted to bevel gears

"Contains simplified tables and formulas for designing, and practical points in producing all commercial types of gears." American machinist

621.86 Hoisting and conveying machinery

G. F. Zimmer's "Mechanical handling and storing of material; being a treatise on the automatic and semi-automatic handling and storing of commercial products" (4th ed 2v 1932 Van Nostrand $25; Lockwood, C. 63s) the most comprehensive treatise published, is noted here for the benefit of larger libraries

"Treatise on leather belting" by G. B. Haven and G. W. Swett (1931 Am. leather belting assn. $1.50) is a good practical book on leather belting as a transmission medium, its proper application and use, which is noted for the benefit of libraries needing material along this line

Hetzel, Frederic Valerius

Belt conveyors and belt elevators. 2d ed rev 1926 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 621.86

1 Conveying machinery 2 Hoisting machinery 3 Belts and belting 26-13368

"Deals exclusively with American practice, and it does not differ very greatly from the first edition, although more emphasis is put upon the importance of using idler pulleys with anti-friction bearings." Engineer

"This is intended to be a practical book. It is not a mere restatement of what already appears in trade advertisements, nor does it contain descriptions of installations of conveying and elevating machinery. It aims rather to explain principles and the reasons for doing things." Preface to first edition

Koshkin, Simeon John

Modern materials handling. 1932 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d 621.86

1 Conveying machinery 32-18833

"Methods and appliances for handling all kinds of material, entering into details of principles and considerations involved in choice of method of handlng various kinds of material. Useful reference for engineers concerned with designing and installing materials handling equipment, and to students. Costs of installation and operation are included. Literature references in footnotes." Donald Hendry

Material handling cyclopedia; comp. and ed by R. V. Wright, and others. 1921 Simmons-Boardman $3 621.86

1 Hoisting machinery 2 Conveying machinery 21-20127

A book to be considered for first purchase when the new edition, planned for 1934, is published

"Illustrated description of all manner of devices for handling material in construction work, industrial plants, warehouses, stores, the handling of freight, elevators, coal and ash handling, etc., with much related matter. The construction, uses and operation of the various devices are fully discussed. Ten specialists collaborated in the preparation of the work." Donald Hendry

"It has been the aim to make the contents of interest and value alike to the executive interested in reducing handling costs and to the operating man who is seeking information as to the types of material handling machines best suited for his needs, how they operate and where they may be obtained." Railway mechanical engineer

E. J. Tournier's "Materials handling equipment" (1929 McGraw $4; 20s) describes the devices most frequently used, and shows the possible gains from the installation of equipment

621.87 Elevators

Annett, Fred Anzley

Electric elevators; their design, construction, operation and maintenance. 1927 McGraw $5; 30s 621.87

1 Elevators 27-15659

"Space will not permit a description of all types, but in the first two chapters a sufficient number have been considered to give the reader a fairly comprehensive idea of the field and what may be expected in both direct-current and alternating-current applications. . . Automatic-leveling or automatic-landing types of machines with variable voltage or other types of control systems, as in use today, will probably remain standard equipment for some time. For this reason, these systems have been treated at considerable length." Preface

"The treatment of the different subjects has been from the point of view of the practical elevator man, and the equipment dealt with covers a wide range of subjects. For those who are associated with elevator problems, the book should find a wide field of usefulness and help fill a long-felt need for such a work." Power

621.89 Lubrication and lubricants

Lockhart, Luther Bynum

* American lubricants, from the standpoint of the consumer. 3d ed 1927 Chemical pub. $5 621.89

1 Lubrication and lubricants 27-19135

"The second edition appeared in 1920. The present revision is enlarged by 66 pages and brings the matter to date. Intended as an aid to buyers and users of lubricants in the selection of the proper lubricating oil or grease for a given purpose. Describes the various lubricants, their sources, preparation and uses, and the physical and chemical methods of testing. Chapters are devoted to the lubrication of internal combustion engines, automobiles, electrical machinery, steam cylinders and engines, steam railways, textile mills, etc. Addressed to manufacturers of lubricants, lubricating engineers, salesmen, mill and power plant superintendents and others interested." Donald Hendry

Osborne, William Farrand

Power plant lubrication. 1925 McGraw $3; 15s 621.89

1 Lubrication and lubricants 2 Power plants 25-23831

"As a practical text for the engineer, this book can be recommended as one that brings out in concise and usable form all the available facts about the lubrication of the class of equipment that it covers." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

Thomsen, Thomas Christian

Practice of lubrication. 2d ed 1926 McGraw $6; 30s 621.89

1 Lubrication and lubricants 26-24539

"An engineering treatise on the origin, nature and testing of lubricants, their selection, application and use." Subtitle

"Has somewhat increased the scope of treatment and has included developments that have taken place during the last six years. This is one volume that should be on the book shelf of every engineer." Power

621.9 Machine tools

Barritt, John W.

* Care and operation of machine tools. 1927 Wiley $2.75; Chapman 16s 6d 621.9

1 Machine tools 2 Machine shop practice 27-14173

"A textbook for apprentice courses and trade schools which describes the construction of the various parts of machine tools, explains why and where adjustments are necessary and how to make them, gives directions that will enable the beginner to operate the different mechanisms, without endangering himself or injuring the machine, and emphasizes the precautions that must be observed if the operations are to be performed correctly with the accuracy, neatness, and speed that are required by present-day conditions in trade and industry." Preface

"Is written in a simple and explicit manner, suitable for use by apprentices and students and for individual study." Railway and locomotive engineering

Tool engineering; fixtures for turning, boring and grinding. 1923 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 621.9

1 Machine tools 23-6671

"A very valuable work on the subject of holding articles to be tooled on the rotary types of machines. It does not assume much knowledge on the part of the reader, but is elementary in its method of treatment." Engineering

Tool engineering; jigs and fixtures. 1922 McGraw $3; 15s 621.9

1 Machine tools 22-3640

"Includes designing and detailing of jigs, and milling, profiling, broaching, riveting, and vise fixtures." Coventry. Public libraries. Reader's bulletin

Tool engineering; punches, dies and gages. 1925 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 621.9

1 Punching machinery 2 Dies 3 Gages 26-19

"As in preceding volumes we deal with fundamental principles in as simple a way as possible, and show applications to many specific examples of dies and gages now in use in some of the leading manufacturing plants of the country. Many tool constructions illustrated can be applied, with minor changes, to the every-day manufacturing problems of the tool engineer." Preface

Gwiazdowski, Alexander Peter, and Lord, Chester Bradford

Economics of tool engineering; jig and fixture design. 1932 McGraw $2.50; 15s 621.9

1 Machine tools 32-5846

"A knowledge of pattern, foundry, forge and machine shop practice is assumed. The emphasis is placed upon jig and fixture design and many of the auxiliaries." Providence

Johnson, James Francis
Practical shop mechanics and mathematics. (Wiley technical ser.) 1926 Wiley $1.40; Chapman 9s 6d 621.9

1 Machine shop practice 26-23861

First published 1915. The 1926 edition is a reprint of the first edition with more problems. Many diagrams

Aims "to secure for the mechanic and the student of the trades a concise and clear arrangement of those simpler branches of applied mechanics, and the mathematics directly related to them, that pertain to actual shop conditions." Preface

Jones, Franklin Day
(ed.) Die design and diemaking practice. 1930 Industrial press $6; Machinery pub. 31s 6d 621.9

1 Dies 30-27819

"A treatise for die designers and diemakers containing illustrated descriptions of a large variety of selected dies for all kinds of power press operations, with practical information and data on approved designing practice and die construction." Subtitle

"Contains a large number of examples of dies which have been devised for various sheet metal working operations, together with much valuable information on die design and diemaking practice. Well illustrated with line drawings. The matter has been culled from the periodical 'Machinery' of which the compiler is associate editor." Donald Hendry

Marc Stern's "Die-casting practice" (1930 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d) is a detailed work which includes designs and construction of die castings and dies, finishes, alloys, etc.

The second edition adds eight new chapters

"A practical treatise for the amateur and professional mechanic, including workshop practice, design, and construction." Brooklyn

621.92 Grinding. Abrasives

Jacobs, Frederic Burnham
Abrasive handbook; a complete reference work on abrasives and grinding practice. 1928 Penton pub. $5; 25s 621.92

1 Abrasives 2 Grinding and polishing 28-12719

An excellent book for libraries which need a book on this subject

"This unique work describes the various natural and manufactured abrasives, abrasive paper and cloth, and presents a list of abrasive manufacturers. A brief section is devoted to the diamond. The construction and operation of grinding machinery is considered in detail and attention is given to numerous special applications, as needle making, marble polishing, sandblasting, etc. A chapter each is given to polishing and buffing and to the safe operation of wheels." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

A. B. Searle's "Manufacture and uses of abrasive materials" (1922 Pitman 85c; 2s 6d) one of "Pitman's technical primer series" is an elementary manual which gives brief practical information

622 MINING ENGINEERING

There is much up-to-date pamphlet material that may be obtained from the U.S. Bureau of mines, which will be useful in a small library in a mining region

Two books dealing with special phases of mining are:

Boericke, W. F. Prospecting and operating small gold placers. 1933 Wiley $1.50; Chapman 9s 6d An aid to the man without technical education

Gaudin, A. M. Flotation. 1932 McGraw $6; 36s Gives a practically complete exposition of the scientific principles on the processes of flotation

Choice of methods in mining and metallurgy; a record of experience in making engineering decisions, by Pope Yeatman and others. (A. I. M. E. ser.) 1932 McGraw $2.50; 15s 622

1 Mining engineering 2 Metallurgy 32-20629

Contents: Problems at the Chuquicamata and Braden copper properties, by Pope Yeatman; Test tube to 10,000-ton plants, by L. D. Ricketts; Fighting fire with steam shovels, by R. E. Tally; Learning how to refine and cast copper, by A. L. Walker; Using local experience in wholesale gold mining, by F. W. Bradley; Accepting responsibility, by W. H. Bassett; Choice of geophysical methods in prospecting for oil deposits, by E. DeGolyer; Vision and human engineering, by Eugene McAuliffe; Getting coal down the mountainside, by H. N. Eavenson; Choice of underground method at a colliery, by N. G. Alford; Financing prospects and mines, by A. B. Parsons

Coal miners' pocketbook; formerly the Coal and metal miners' pocketbook; principles, rules, formulas and tables. 12th ed, ed by E. N. Zern 1928 McGraw $6; 30s 622

1 Mining engineering 2 Coal mines and mining [16-15246]

An inclusive handbook. The 1928 edition devotes considerable attention to developments in mechanical mining, loading and conveying of coal

Three books by F. H. Kneeland on practical coal production devoted to American practice, now, 1933, out of print, are: "Preliminaries of coal mining: prospecting—explosives—development—drainage—ventilation" (1926 McGraw); "Getting out the coal" (1926 McGraw); and "Mine transportation and market preparation" (1926 McGraw)

Hoover, Theodore Jesse

Economics of mining (non-ferrous metals) valuation—organization—management. 1933 Stanford univ. press $6; Oxford 27s 622

1 Mines and mineral resources 2 Mining engineering 33-22328

"Based on lectures designed to emphasize the economic factors in mining practice. Deals with valuation, organization, and management of mines. By Professor of mining and metallurgy at Stanford university [1933]." Pittsburgh

Lewis, Robert Strong

Elements of mining. 1933 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 622

1 Mining engineering 33-4403

"A complete textbook of mining methods for the use of the beginner. In addition to the usual chapters on machinery, organization, management and general methods, there is also historical material on the background of the mining industry, on mining law, and on sampling and assaying. A bibliography is appended at the end of each chapter." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Mitke, Charles A.

1 Mining engineering 30-4839

"By classifying methods according to fundamental principles and omitting lesser details, the author has managed to describe modern mining methods effectively within brief space." Engineering index service

Mumford, John Kimberly

Anthracite. (Romance of industry ser.) 1925 Industries pub. co. $1 622

1 Anthracite coal 2 Coal mines and mining 25-8183

"An extremely readable and interesting story which embodies much historical and general information about the hard-coal industry." Pittsburgh

"One feels differently about coal after he has read Mr. Mumford's book and perhaps the most astute engineer or expert in fuels may profit by reading the little volume. Certainly his viewpoint will change—much or little according to the imagination which he already possesses." Combustion

Peele, Robert

‡ (ed.) Mining engineers' handbook, written by a staff of specialists. 2d ed 1927 Wiley $10, 2v ed $12; Chapman 62s 6d, 2v ed 75s 622

1 Mining engineering 27-24469

A comprehensive work, covering all branches of the subject

"Extensive revision of this notable work, especially of section 10 dealing with prospecting, development and exploitation of mineral deposits. There are 44 sections covering a wide range of topics, each written by a specialist. Old costs, where possible, have been replaced by present-day figures. The section on ore dressing has been omitted. Constitutes a small library in itself. Mr. Peele was formerly Professor of Mining Engineering in the Columbia School of Mines." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Richards, Robert Hallowell; Locke, Charles E., and Bray, John Leighton

Text book of ore dressing. 2d ed rev 1925 McGraw $5.50; 27s 6d 622

1 Ore dressing 25-12631

"Richards' four volume classic 'Ore dressing' was published 22 years ago [1903]. Not proving adaptable for student use the 'Text book' was issued in 1909, of which the present work is a complete revision and rewriting. Takes account of the most recent developments, including flotation, magnetic separation, and coal washing. Copiously illustrated." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Rickard, Thomas Arthur

History of American mining. (A. I. M. E. ser.) 1932 McGraw $3; 18s 622

1 Mines and mineral resources 2 Mining engineering 32-20628

"This book forms the second of the series issued by the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. It covers an interesting subject, and one which the author apparently enjoyed delving into. The material reads better than the proverbial story book, and the reader finds himself entranced by the experiences and adventures of the early western prospectors in Colorado, Arizona, Alaska, Utah, and the Far West." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Man and metals; a history of mining in relation to the development of civilization. (Whittlesey house publications) 2v 1932 McGraw $10; 50s 622

1 Mining engineering 2 Civilization 32-31135

"A fresh and interesting account of the history of mining from prehistoric times to the present showing the relation of the use of metals to the growth of civilization." Pratt quarterly

"It contains a wealth of information that must have taken a lifetime to collect and such as only a mining engineer with unlimited opportunities for exploration in all parts of the world, and with a love of history, could have written." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Taggart, Arthur Fay

Handbook of ore dressing. 1927 Wiley $10; Chapman 62s 6d 622

1 Ore dressing 27-9763

"A notable reference book intended for the use of engineers concerned with ore dressing processes, for metallurgists, chemical engineers, and for students. The matter is divided into 28 sections in which are discussed the principal metals and non-metallic minerals whose ores require dressing in their preparation, with information about their occurrences, uses, production, price range and selling; also descriptions of milling operations, sampling, design of milling plants, and much related matter." Donald Hendry

Young, George Joseph

* Elements of mining. 3d ed 1932 McGraw $6; 30s 622

1 Mining engineering 32-35037

A completely revised edition which "gives a comprehensive view of the mining problem, and offers an immense mass of material, compressed into a clearly written and well-balanced treatment. . . . Covers both coal and metal mining." Coal industry

"The illustrating . . . is unusually well conceived. It contains little but diagrams, and each of these is made to serve a distinct and useful purpose. The perspective diagrams illustrating stoping methods are especially good." Canadian mining journal

"In preparing the third edition. . . some statements have been modified and some have been amplified in order to render certain points more clear to self-tutored men. Considerable new matter has been added throughout the book, including a concise, yet adequate, treatment of reinforced concrete. The references to British practice should make the book useful in the British Empire." Preface to third edition

"A simplified treatise on the design of structural steel work, wooden trusses, etc. The plain manner of presentation and simple mathematics make the book valuable as a means of self-instruction for draftsmen and ambitious mechanics with limited knowledge of mathematics. It would also offer suggestions to teachers of structural design in evening classes of technical schools. Based on a series of articles which appeared in 'Building Age' in 1914." Donald Hendry

This book which was published in 1924 with the title "Wonders of salvage" is now reissued with the addition of 39 new pages. The index has been omitted, as well as about one-half of the illustrations

"An account of the wonderful feats of salvors and wreckers, beginning with the early hunts for Spanish Armada and pirate treasure. Among the exploits described are the national treasure-hunt for the White Star liner Laurentic with its immensely valuable cargo of specie, and the raising of other victims of the German submarine campaign. The methods and apparatus of the salvage expert are described and the work of the salvage section of the British Admiralty during and since the war. The salvage operations are illustrated by 48 photographs." Book rev. digest

1 Salvage 2 Diving, Submarine 3 Treasure-trove 4 Artiglio (Ship) 5 Elizabethville (Ship) 6 Egypt (Ship) 32-26255

"The author tells the story of his three years experience on the Italian salvage ship Artiglio, with much information about deep sea diving, meaning diving beyond the limits of the ordinary rubber suit. Because it brings out the latest developments in salvage work and because of the unusual nature of tasks undertaken by the Artiglio, the book is of unusual interest to boys and men." Wis. bul.

"It is the fascination of Mr. Scott's story that through it we not only come to know and admire the work of those Genoese divers, but come to know and like them personally as men. One cannot say more for this book than that it is a fitting tribute to their courage, endurance and skill." Spectator

The author's "Egypt's gold" (1932 Faber 12s 6d) continues the story of the work begun in his book "Seventy fathoms deep"

Lighthouses and lightships of the United States. new and rev ed 1933 Houghton $3.50 627.9

1 Lighthouses 2 Lightships 33-27142

"A fascinating and authoritative book written by the United States Commissioner of Lighthouses. It describes in a non-technical way the lighthouses of the United States and some foreign ones, their construction and the history of their development, with tales of heroic deeds intermingled, and a chapter on lighthousekeepers. This is a new edition of the book published in 1917 revised to include important progress made in development of new apparatus, building new stations and the extension of the system." Wis. bul.

"The lighthouse service may fairly be called a model of competent administration and scientific ingenuity in the general staff and of faithfulness, endurance, and helpfulness in the rank and file; and Mr. Putnam's exposition of its history, plant, equipment, operations, and personnel is also a model." Amer. hist. rev.

"Lighthouses of New England" by M. F. Willoughby (1929 Metcalf o.p. 1933) is a book which will interest New England libraries especially. It describes each important lighthouse in that locality and gives something of the history as well

1 Water supply 25-18969

Reprinted 1929 with a 24 page section on standard specifications for displacement, current, compound and fire service meters added to the Appendix

"Presents valuable information on modern waterworks practice. Deals with collection, quality, treatment, and distribution of water, financing and management, fire protection, and standard forms, procedures, specifications, and contracts. Includes also historical and statistical matter." Pittsburgh

"Prepared primarily for members of water boards and commissions; salaried officials who manage and supervise the works; and the specialists who design, manage or supervise those parts of the works of a highly technical character, but will be found helpful to all interested in water supply." Preface

Babbitt, Harold Eaton, and Doland, James Joseph
Water supply engineering. 2d ed 1931 McGraw $6 628.1

1 Water supply engineering 31-24907

First published 1929. In the second edition revisions were made to correct errors and to bring the material up to date as far as possible without repagination

Partial contents: Hydraulics; Rainfall and run-off; Consumption of water; Ground water; Location and construction of wells; Dams and impounding reservoirs; Steam pumping machinery; Utilization of electricity; Centrifugal pumps; Distributing reservoirs; Sanitation; Quality of water; Quality of natural water supplies; Purification of water; Design and operation of slow-sand filters; Design and operation of rapid-sand filters, are some of the chapter headings. Contains short bibliographies

"This up-to-date textbook has been prepared in such a way as to combine both fundamentals and practical procedure. The limitations of space and cost have, of course, prevented exhaustive treatment of each subject, but sufficient is given to fulfil the purpose of the volume. It is believed that the readers will be struck particularly with the logical arrangement of the subject matter." American journal of public health

Sewerage and sewage disposal; a textbook. 2d ed rev by H. P. Eddy 1930 McGraw $6; 30s 628.2
1 Sewerage 2 Sewage disposal 30-5633
Based on the authors' three volume work, "American sewerage practice" (3v 1915-1928 McGraw v 1, 3 $7, v2 $5; v 1, 35s) which covers the subject in much greater detail. This one volume treatise was originally published in 1922. The second edition contains much new material which brings the matter up to date
"The book contains a fund of information brought up to date in a clear, concise style. Having received the scrutiny of Professors Richard G. Tyler and Gordon M. Fair as well as other competent authorities before presentation to the public it will serve as a safe guide to the practicing engineer as well as the student, for whom it is especially intended. The general make-up of the book is excellent, the illustrations are numerous, well-selected and clear, and there is an index of 38 pages." American journal of public health

628.3 Sewage disposal

Fuller, George Warren, and McClintock, James Robinson
* Solving sewage problems. 1926 McGraw $6; 36s 628.3
1 Sewage disposal 26-17273
Replaces Fuller's "Sewage disposal" (1912)
"While the book is a manual of the entire subject, particular consideration is given to natural purification of streams, basic design data, plain sedimentation tanks, sludge digestion processes, separate sludge digestion tanks, the collection and utilization of gas, screens, trickling filters, the activated sludge process, and industrial wastes. Those are the subjects in which city officials and their engineering advisers are now most often interested." Preface

Hardenbergh, William A.
Home sewage disposal. 1924 Lippincott $3.50; 16s 628.3
1 Sewage disposal 24-11446
"Considers the necessity for sanitation from the public health standpoint, and the best methods of taking care of the sewage of isolated houses, small communities and institutions when no sewer connection is available. Intended for health officers, health workers, engineers and others interested." Donald Hendry

Martin, Arthur John
Activated sludge process. (Reconstructive technical ser.) 1927 Macdonald & Evans 30s 628.3
1 Sewage disposal 28-8597
Tho this book may seem rather special for a small collection, it has been suggested for inclusion by several libraries
"A rather extensive review of development and present status of this method of sewage treatment. Is to a large extent a compilation. Attempts to present theory so far as it has been established, to give both sides of controversial topics, and to describe practice in England and in America." Pittsburgh
"The book represents an enormous amount of research and labour, and certainly contains the best collection of data . . . that we have seen. A noticeable feature is that abundant references to American experience are made." Engineer

628.4 Sanitation of towns

Ehlers, Victor Marcus, and Steel, Ernest William
* Municipal and rural sanitation. 1927 McGraw $4; 24s 628.4
1 Sanitation 2 Sanitary engineering 3 Public health 4 Hygiene, Rural 27-21003
"Under this subject are included residential sewage disposal, water supplies, sanitation of swimming pools, sanitation of milk and other foods, refuse collection and disposal, the control of mosquitoes, flies and rodents, plumbing inspection and housing. The treatment is far from complete, but enough information is given to cover the field sufficiently for ordinary use. Health officers, sanitary inspectors and students will find this volume useful." Providence

Ehlers, V. M., and Steel, E. W.—Continued
"The plan, scope and method of presentation of the book are highly commendable. Unfortunately, the index is scanty." Engineering news-record

Hering, Rudolph, and Greeley, Samuel A.
Collection and disposal of municipal refuse. 1921 McGraw $7; 35s 628.4
1 Refuse and refuse disposal 21-10302
"An exhaustive consideration of the problems involved in collecting, transporting and disposing of garbage, street refuse and other refuse materials in cities. Systems and methods employed in cities of this country and Europe are given in considerable detail, cost data being included. Collection and disposal in small towns are briefly considered. The book is illustrated and provided with numerous tables, charts and diagrams." Donald Hendry

628.5 Smoke

Obermeyer, Henry
Stop that smoke! 1933 Harper $2.50 628.5
1 Smoke prevention 2 Smoke 33-20384
"It is a book for the public, for laymen's reading, and its purpose is to arouse indignation over the smoke nuisance, which everybody accepts but about which hardly any one is anything but indifferent, or, at best, mildly interested. So he tells here, in vigorous and dramatic style, what are all its thousand and one offenses and injuries and what it does to humans, houses, goods, gardens, plants, everything that it touches." N.Y. Times
"Smoke: a study of aerial disperse systems," by R. W. Whytlaw-Gray and H. S. Patterson (1932 Longmans $4.50; Arnold, E. & co. 14s) is a scientific study of the properties of smoke. Does not consider smoke abatement

628.7 Rural water supply

Cleverdon, Walter Sherman Lyle
Water supply of buildings and rural communities, for engineers, architects, plumbers and property owners. 1925 Van Nostrand $2.50 628.7
1 Water supply 2 Plumbing 25-7999
"Practical procedure for installation, renewal, and maintenance of systems for delivery of water on a small scale. Tabulated results are substituted for all computations requiring more than a knowledge of arithmetic." Pittsburgh

628.8 Ventilation

Winslow, Charles Edward Amory
Fresh air and ventilation. 1926 Dutton $2 628.8
1 Ventilation 26-5020
"While the book is not a formal report of the New York State commission on ventilation it embodies many of the findings of that commission during its investigation in 1915-16, along with conclusions from the author's own experiments in the same field. The author tells what good ventilation is, and describes the best way to secure it, in factory, school and office." Book rev. digest
"The subject matter is well presented, exceptionally clear, and written with a simplicity which is pleasing. The book is intended for the general reader, rather than for the physician, the engineer, or the school superintendent." American journal of public health

Wood, Thomas Denison, and Hendriksen, Ethel M.
* Ventilation and health; the new hygiene of fresh air. 1927 Appleton-Century $2; 5s 628.8
1 Ventilation 27-2009
"Discusses ventilation in its relation to schools, homes, factories and stores. Is one of the best books on the subject, conforming to the standards of this excellent series of popular health books." Wis. bul.

628.9 Lighting

Cady, Francis Elmore, and Dates, Henry Baldwin
* (eds.) Illuminating engineering. 2d ed 1928 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 628.9
1 Lighting 28-6554
"The book is the result of six years' experimenting by the staff of the Electrical engineering department at Case school of applied science in conjunction with the Research department of the National lampworks of the General electric company, Nela Park." Book rev. digest
"Since the publication of the first edition, the developments in the application of light have been so great that is has become necessary to almost rewrite the chapters on sign and display lighting and light projection. In addition, the chapter on fundamental principles of illumination has been largely rewritten to make it conform to the very latest practice both in methods of computation and in foot-candle values." Preface

Caldwell, Francis Cary
Modern lighting. (Engineering science ser.) 1930 Macmillan $4.25; 21s 628.9
1 Lighting 2 Electric lighting 30-11507
"Presents the theories back of all light sources now in use, discusses various lighting requirements and the application of each type of light to its uses, whether industrial or for home, school, street, display, etc. Standards and codes prepared by the Illuminating Engineering Society are included." St Louis

Harrison, Ward; Haas, O. F., and Reid, Kirk Mendenhall
Street lighting practice. 1930 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 628.9
1 Street lighting 30-14377
"Subject matter here covered ranges from problems of a purely engineering character . . . to problems of contractual relations, of methods of financing, of maintenance provisions, and even of the history of street illumination." Preface

Illuminating engineering society. Committee on residence lighting ‡ Artificial light and its application in the home. 1932 McGraw $1.50; 9s 628.9
1 Lighting 32-5262
"Popular treatment of light and color for the practical problems of home lighting, with plans of house wiring layouts, descriptions of light equipment, and details of advantageous placing of lights for various rooms of the house. A dictionary of illumination terms is included." Pratt quarterly

Luckiesh, Matthew
Artificial light. (Century books of useful science) 1920 Appleton-Century $3 628.9
1 Lighting 2 Electric lighting 20-11163
"Traces in a popular style, but on a basis of expert knowledge, the connection of the art of lighting with human development from primitive man's struggles to kindle fire down through the ages to the present-day marvels of electricity. Particularly useful for high school libraries. Effective illustrations. Bibliography, index." N.Y. state lib.

629.13 AERONAUTICS. AERIAL NAVIGATION

Books on aeronautics are difficult to select as some of them go out of date soon. When possible, it is well to have expert advice in the selection of the books

Biographies of aviators will be found listed in class 92 and descriptions of aeronautic voyages in the travel part of this Catalog. See in index the subjects Aviators, and Aeronautics—Flights

Aircraft yearbook; comp., written and ed
* by Aeronautical chamber of commerce of America, inc. Van Nostrand $6 629.13

1 Aeronautics 2 Airships (19-13828)

First published 1919. A well illustrated annual survey of aviation progress for the year, covering record flights, airport development, engine design, etc. Each volume contains useful reference material not repeated every year

"Air annual of the British Empire" (Pitman $6; 21s) is equally valuable for British aviation. Covers all branches of the subject

Allen, Elmer L.
Model airplanes, how to build and fly them. 1928 Stokes $3.50 629.13

1 Airplanes—Models 28-22549

"This book, recommended by the Boy Scouts of America tells how to make model airplanes for racing, and how to make replicas of many famous planes, among them the Curtiss 'Jennies,' the Fokker tri-motor, and the Spirit of St Louis. The opening chapters explain the necessary first principles of airplane construction and flight, and thruout the text, the diagrams are abundant and clear." Book rev. digest

Allen, Hugh
Story of the airship. 6th ed 1931 Goodyear tire and rubber co. 35c 629.13

1 Airships 31-9528

"A short history and description of airships, with emphasis on the Goodyear-Zeppelin being built in Akron, Ohio." Cleveland

First published 1925. A convenient reference book for students, writers and others interested

Barnaby, Ralph Stanton
Gliders and gliding. 1930 Ronald $3; Simpkin 12s 6d 629.13

1 Gliders (Aeronautics) 2 Flight 30-31571

"Considers history of gliding, classification of gliders, operation of controls, instruction methods, launching and terrain, control of gliders in flight, soaring, and details of design and construction. A desirable book in its field. Illustrated with numerous plates and line drawings." Donald Hendry

Black, Archibald
Civil airports and airways. 1929 Simmons-Boardman $3 629.13

1 Airports 2 Airways 3 Aeronautics 29-7292

"A comprehensive work by authorities on the selection of airport sites, planning field layout, drainage, roads and runways, buildings, maintenance and equipment, repair shops, fire protection, and allied matters." Cleveland

"This book attempts to bring together in one volume the information on airports and airways which has accumulated over the past several years and the author accomplishes the task with considerable skill. . . The result is a broad yet detailed picture of the present requirements of airport and airway development in which the civil engineer can readily locate the functions he is best fitted to perform." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Airports; their location, administration and legal basis" by H. V. Hubbard and others (1930 Harvard univ. press $3.50; Oxford 15s) based on a survey of 85 airports contains valuable information for those concerned with the establishment, administration and management of airports

Transport aviation. 2d ed enl 1929 Simmons-Boardman $4; Simpkin 629.13

1 Aeronautics, Commercial 2 Aeronautics 29-23723

" 'Transport aviation' appears in a second edition, with the collaboration of fifteen specialists, as 'a complete new book.' Most of the material in the first edition had become so obsolete that it was discarded completely. The scope of the new edition was extended to include chapters on traffic development, advertising, estimating of costs, accounting, investment, insurance, and radio. All phases of commercial aeronautics are included in this comprehensive handbook." Industrial arts index

Bowen, Robert Sidney
Flying from the ground up. (Whittlesey house publications) 1931 McGraw $2; 10s 6d 629.13

1 Aeronautics 2 Airplanes 31-3191

"Simple, practical, and non-technical instructions for flying an airplane, written for the amateur, and well-illustrated with many small diagrams. Appeared in Flying Aces Magazine." Book rev. digest

Brie, Reginald
Autogiro and how to fly it. 1933 Pitman $1.75; 5s 629.13

1 Autogiros 33-24530

In the foreword Señor de la Cierva says, "This book, being primarily intended for the non-technical, Mr. Brie uses throughout very simple language and examples. . . I feel sure that this work will help the public to understand more fully the autogiro principle, and to realize the advantages gained by the practical application of that principle to aviation."

Brown, Cecil Leonard Morley
Conquest of the air; an historical survey. (World's manuals) 1927 Oxford $1; 2s 6d 629.13

1 Aeronautics—Hist. 27-26964

"Whoever reads this survey will learn how man's thoughts about flying passed from myth and fancy to scientific understanding; how the true principles of aviation were evolved by scientific thinkers long before they were applied in the modern airplane; how the 19th century experiments with gliders prepared the way for the modern airplane and taught men how to conduct themselves in the air; and, finally, how four Americans, Prof. Samuel P. Langley, his associate, Charles M. Manly, and the Wright brothers, Wilbur and Orville, developed the practical airplane, which made possible man's conquest of the air." Springfield Republican

Chatfield, Charles Hugh, and Taylor, Charles Fayette ‡ Airplane and its engine. 2d ed 1932 McGraw $3; 18s 629.13

1 Airplanes 32-26048

First published 1928. In the second edition the text has been amplified and changes made to bring it up to date. New material on the airplane power plant, and latest types of airplanes and engines has been added. Bibliography

"The present volume is intended primarily for the intelligent middle-class aeronautical readers —that is, for persons interested in acquiring a sound knowledge of the basic facts and theories of the airplane—who still do not desire to give to the subject the intensive study which is essential for the designing engineer or the expert mechanic." Preface to first edition

Cierva, Juan de la
Wings of tomorrow; the story of the autogiro; ed by D. F. Rose. 1931 Harcourt $2.50 629.13
1 Autogiros 31-15523
"Non-technical work in which the inventor of the autogiro relates his own experiences in aviation and discusses the merits of his invention." Pittsburgh
"Book of the C.19 autogiro" by C. J. Sanders and A. H. Rawson (1931 Pitman $1.75; 5s) explains the principle of operation described, together with notes on running and maintenance. The authors have been closely in touch with Senor de la Cierva

Colvin, Fred Herbert, and Colvin, Henry Fred
Aircraft handbook; a collection of facts and suggestions concerning the construction and care of planes, motors and instruments for those interested in modern aircraft. 4th ed 1929 McGraw $5; 25s 629.13
1 Airplanes 29-25434
"An expanded and revised edition which incorporates the latest information on developments in aviation. The sections on construction and materials contain much new matter." Bkl.
"Outlines simple airplane theory, describes how the plane is rigged, explains the construction of the propeller, and devotes nine chapters to the engine, giving detailed information concerning the operation and maintenance of the standard types. The chapter on instruments presents the latest devolpments, notably of the earth inductor compass. Includes the air commerce regulations and the principles of airport construction." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Dixon, Charles
Parachutes for airmen. 1930 Pitman $2.50; 7s 6d 629.13
1 Parachutes 30-24026
"A handy little volume describing various types of parachutes, packing and maintenance and parachute sensations." St Louis
"A condensed, well-conceived and accurate digest of information . . . ably written and pleasingly arranged." U. S. Air services

Duncan, Richard
Air navigation and meteorology, a complete and practical work on air pilotage. 3d ed 1929 Goodheart-Willcox $3 629.13
1 Aeronautics 2 Aeronautical instruments 3 Meteorology 29-12176
In the third edition, a new chapter, "Radio. Direction finding" has been added. Other minor changes and additions have been made
"This is a practical book on the art of piloting an airplane and is obviously intended for both the student and the experienced pilot seeking to qualify as an 'Air Navigator.' Practically no mathematics are involved. Several simple formulas are given by the aid of which one can solve all of the problems in the book. In addition to the usual chapters on weather, instruments, and air navigation, there is an excellent account of 'Ice [Accumulation] on Planes.'" R. H. Spaulding's Books on aeronautics
L. A. Yancey's "Aerial navigation and meteorology" (2d ed rev and enl 1929 Henley $4) is another book on the use of charts and maps. Simply written

Dyke, Andrew Lee
(ed.) Aircraft engine instructor. 3d run with additions 1929 Goodheart-Willcox $5; Am. bk. supply 22s 6d 629.13
1 Airplane engines 29-21533
The 1929 edition has some slight changes in the text and contains 53 pages of addenda
"Plainly stated information about aircraft engines and their accessories; carburetors, magnetos, starters, instruments, and controls. Enters into details of construction, operation and maintenance, disassembly, inspection, assembly, and related matters. Various makes of engines considered separately. Includes miscellaneous information. Profusely illustrated. Addressed to mechancis, students and others interested." Donald Hendry
"Modern aviation engines" by V. W. Page (2v 1929 Henley $9, ea $5; Chapman 45s, ea 25s) is a complete practical treatise which contains much useful matter

Elm, Ienar Ewald
Manual of flight. 1930 McKay $3 629.13
1 Aeronautics 30-22052
"Elementary instruction for student pilots, with chapters on aerobatics, emergency flying, and parachutes, with a dictionary of terms used in aviation." Cleveland

Farleigh, Minor M.
Principles and problems of aircraft engines. 1931 Wiley $3; Chapman 15s 629.13
1 Airplane engines 31-19206
In this practical book for the mechanic, pilot, operator, and student of aircraft, the writer has "attemped to present to the reader, in a non-technical form, a sufficient amount of material on the servicing of aircraft engines for him to pursue intelligently the important groundwork involved in the maintenance of engines." Preface

Fechet, James Edmond
Flying. (Century of progress ser.) 1933 Appleton-Century $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 629.13
1 Aeronautics 33-5096
"A very readable account of early history and development, with some idea of the possible future growth of flying." Providence

Finch, Volney Cecil
‡ Preparing for aviation; an introductory course. 1931 Simmons-Boardman $4; Simpkin 20s 629.13
1 Aeronautics 31-5929
"A textbook describing construction and operation of heavier than air craft, for use in ground courses. Clear and detailed, with many illustrations." Cleveland

Fraser, Chelsea Curtis
Story of aircraft. 1933 Crowell $2.50 629.13
1 Aeronautics—Hist. 33-29480
"Up-to-date study of aircraft from its earliest beginnings to the present, written for young readers. Contains a chronological list of important dates in the history of aircraft. Index. [Illustrated]" Book rev. digest

Garber, Paul Edward
Building and flying model aircraft. (Ronald aeronautic lib.) 1928 Ronald $2.25 629.13
1 Airplanes—Models 2 Aeronautics 28-12717
"A comprehensive treatment of the subject, including directions for making a model of the Spirit of St. Louis, intended for boys or for club leaders and manual training instructors." St Louis

Garber, Paul E.—Continued

"It is not confined to the detailing of the construction of model heavier-than-air craft. The problem of lighter-than-air craft is also treated, a quite different and quite as fascinating field. There is a chapter on a compressed air motor. There is another one on the tools needed. The topic of kites is given adequate treatment. Boomerangs and flying tops are also discussed." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Glassman, Donald

Tales of the Caterpillar club. Jump! 1930 Simon & Schuster $3; Arrowsmith 10s 6d 629.13

1 Caterpillar club 2 Parachutes 3 Air pilots 4 Aeronautics 30-9438

"Stories of that unique organization of airmen, without officers, initiation fees, or dues, whose only claim to membership is that its members have saved their lives by parachute jumps from crippled aircraft. A chapter is included on the history of the parachute from 1495 to the present." Cleveland

C. J. V. Murphy's "Parachute" (1930 Putnam $2.50; 10s 6d) outlines the history of the parachute from its early dangerous beginning to the comparatively safe vehicle of escape now in use

Goldstrom, John

Narrative history of aviation. 1930 Macmillan $4; 20s 629.13

1 Aeronautics—Hist. 30-4833

"Any attempt to tell the story of aviation in a single volume must necessarily confine itself to the selection of a series of outstanding events and developments. . . The opening chapter begins with mythology and tradition emerging from the mists of prehistoric times, and ends with the known history of the modern pioneers." Preface

The bibliography, compiled by the Aeronautics branch of the Department of commerce, lists foreign and American books and magazines, and United States government publications

Gregg, Willis Ray

Aeronautical meteorology. 2d ed rev and enl 1930 Ronald $4.50; Simpkin 20s 629.13

1 Meteorology 2 Aeronautics 30-20982

"The author, one of the pioneers in the United States Weather Bureau's survey of the upper air, has provided a book that supplies in a convenient form what airmen must know about atmosphere and weather conditions without complicated technical detail. It helps to understand weather maps and to use local observations. Over 200 pages were added in the 2nd edition, including material on fogs, and new chapters on 'Airship meteorology' and 'Ice formation on aircraft.'" Amer. assoc. for the advancement of science

The author has had the assistance of C. G. Andrus, R. N. Covert, H. M. Hightman and others

Hamburg, Merrill

Beginning to fly; the book of model airplanes. new ed rev and enl 1930 Houghton $2.50 629.13

1 Airplanes—Models 30-33748

In this edition several chapters have been rewritten and nine chapters added

"Primarily a treatise on model airplanes, it contains a short history of aeronautics, a summary of important events, an explanation of airplane engines, a full description of airfoil sections, propellers, and the tools and materials necessary for model building. In addition there are detailed drawings and directions for building many different models. Chapters on model airplane club organization and rules for model airplane contests are also included." R. H. Spaulding's Books on aeronautics

Hamilton, Edwin T.

* Complete model aircraft manual. 1933 Harcourt $3.50 629.13

1 Airplanes—Models 33-30575

"An excellent book on model aircraft building. Describes tools and materials used and methods of construction of the various types of aircraft. Well illustrated with dimensioned drawings." Pratt quarterly

Hylander, Clarence John

Cruisers of the air. 1931 Macmillan $2.50; 12s 6d 629.13

1 Airships 2 Aeronautics—Hist. 31-12212

"The history of lighter-than-air craft is traced through all the successes and failures to the present, when world-encircling airships are a reality. Photographs, drawings and diagrams. Not indexed." Ontario library review

Another popular history of airships is "Up ship" by C. E. Rosendahl (1931 Dodd $3)

Klemin, Alexander

Simplified aerodynamics. 1930 Goodheart-Willcox $3.50 629.13

1 Aerodynamics 30-16369

"Concisely explains the elementary principles of aerodynamics. Elementary mathematics is used but much of it is thoroughly explained. Problems with answers are given at the end of most of the chapters." Pittsburgh

Kneen, Orville Hayter

Everyman's book of flying. 1930 Stokes $3.50 629.13

1 Aeronautics 2 Airplanes 30-16366

"A handbook for the layman on aviation, covering in non-technical language the development of flying and all the important phases of aviation as it is to-day. Of particular interest are the chapters on needed inventions, new uses for airplanes, airports, air travel and flying rules. Illustrated." Ontario library review

"How to fly an airplane, a textbook for beginners" by Percival White (1930 Harper $5; 21s) is a well illustrated and non-technical book intended for use in aviation schools; and for the general reader

Kuns, Ray F.

* Aviation engines. 1930 Am. tech. soc. $2 629.13

1 Airplane engines 30-14375

"A practical treatise covering operation and maintenance of modern airplane engines, including carburetor and magneto adjustments, lubrication and ignition operations." Subtitle

Lusk, Hilton F.

* General text on aeronautics; fundamentals and their application. 1932 Ronald $3.25 629.13

1 Aeronautics 32-12510

"Intended for instruction in technical institutes, junior colleges, technical high schools, and aviation ground schools, using little mathematics, and embracing the requirements of the United States Department of Commerce for pilots. Chapters on instruments, safety appliances, avigation, and meteorology." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Magoun, Frederick Alexander, and Hodgins, Eric

* History of aircraft. (Whittlesey house publications) 1931 McGraw $5; 25s 629.13

1 Aeronautics—Hist. 31-22155

"This history of aviation progress duplicates in part the material in the authors' 'Sky high' (1929 Little $2.50) but presents it more technically. Balloons, airships, ornithopters, helicopters, gliders, and airplanes are treated separately. Appendix gives records, bibliographies, and chronology of flights." Bkl.

Claude Grahame-White's "Flying; an epitome and a forecast" (1930 S. B. Gundy $3.50; Chatto 12s 6d) is a history of flying achievements and a prophecy of future developments, by a well known British aviator

Manly, Gardener Burnell
Aviation from the ground up. 1929 Drake, F. J. $3.50; Pitman 15s 629.13
1 Aeronautics 2 Airplanes 29-15256
"A practical instruction and reference work on aviation and allied subjects, including theory of flight, details of airplane construction, airplane engines, rigging, instruments, weather forecasting, aërial navigation, stunts, how to learn flying, parachutes, air commerce regulations and a dictionary of aviation words and terms." Subtitle

Miller, Ivan W.
Aircraft mechanics' handbook. 1931 McGraw $2; 12s 629.13
1 Airplanes 31-8517
"Describes briefly the use of hand tools and the essentials of materials and methods, following in the main the standards and methods of the government service." Book rev. digest
Another good book covering somewhat the same ground is C. J. Moors' "Aircraft engine mechanics manual" (1932 Ronald $4.50)

Monteith, Charles Norton
Simple aerodynamics and the airplane. 4th rev ed by C. C. Carter. 1932 Ronald $4.50 629.13
1 Aerodynamics 2 Airplanes 32-25112
"A textbook of elementary aerodynamics based on Monteith's 'Simple aerodynamics and the airplane,' a U. S. government publication, and reenforced with Col. Carter's eleven years' experience in teaching the subject of aerodynamics at the U. S. Military Academy where he is professor of natural and experimental philosophy. In the present edition the matter has been brought up to date and amplified. Appended are a description of the autogiro; problems; nomenclature for aeronautics, and related matter." Donald Hendry
T. G. Whitlock's "Elementary applied aerodynamics" (1931 Oxford $3.25; 12s 6d) is another textbook for students with moderate mathematical ability

Ott, Joseph S.
* Model airplanes; building and flying. 1931 Goodheart-Willcox $2.50 629.13
1 Airplanes—Models 31-31023
"Excellent book on model airplane building. Describes tools and materials employed, and gives full directions for building and flying models of twenty-five kinds of planes which have proved successful. Beginning with simple types the work develops gradually to the more complex models, including propellers." Donald Hendry
Another good book of model airplanes is "Prize winners' book of model airplanes" edited by C. H. Claudy (1931 Bobbs $3)

Pagé, Victor Wilfred
Aviation engine examiner. 1930 Henley $3 629.13
1 Airplane engines 30-30665
"A complete course of lessons for home or school use, in question and answer form, for those wishing to qualify as aircraft engine mechanics. Also for pilots or students wishing a general and diversified knowledge of aviation engines and their accessories. It considers in detail and in simple language, all leading types of aviation engines, describes principles on which their operation is based and gives instructions for engine inspection, installation, trouble shooting and repair." Subtitle

Everybody's aviation guide. 1928 Henley $2 629.13
1 Aeronautics 28-7062
"A complete, simplified treatise in question and answer form for those wishing to obtain a general and diversified knowledge of aeronautics and aerodynamics; it considers all types of aircraft, both lighter-than-air and heavier-than-air forms, gives the principles on which their operation is based, and describes construction of principal types of dirigibles and airplanes; contains valuable instructions for all persons starting the study of airplane construction or operation." 1 Gliders (Aeronautics) 30-27817
"A simple, practical treatise on gliding and soaring with motorless airplanes. It describes the leading types of gliders and sail planes, both German and American, explaining design, materials, construction, control, and launching. Instructions and working drawings for building a modern training type glider are given." Bkl.

Studley, Barrett
* How to fly; the pilot and his problems. 1929 Macmillan $3; 15s 629.13
1 Aeronautics 29-28492
"Lieut. Studley is author of 'Practical flight training,' a manual for the use of flight schools. The present volume is based on the same principles but presents its subject matter in a less technical way. Its aim is to give those interested in aviation 'a satisfactory explanation of the practical problems of flying.' Fully illustrated with photographs and diagrams." Wis. bul.
The author's "Practical flight training" (1928 Macmillan $5; 25s) is a good detailed manual for the guidance of students commencing heavier-than-air flying

A revision of Report no. 240, which was published in 1926
This report was prepared by a committee of experts from government bureaus and aeronautical societies. It consists of alphabetical nomenclature, nomenclature by divisions and aeronautical symbols and is published to secure "greater uniformity and accuracy in the use of terms relating to aeronautics"

Vanièr, Joseph F.
Dictionary of aeronautical terms in abridged form, German-English-French; French-English-German. 1929 Am. soc. of mechanical engineers $1.65 629.13
1 Aeronautics—Dictionaries 29-10158
"An abridgment of the author's complete foreign aero-technical dictionary, and an enlargement of the form which was used in the U. S. Army Air Corps Engineering School. It is a dictionary in three languages, with an arrangement of German-English-French and French-English-German. The author used the popular term, in preference to the purely technical, if the former is equally correct. Technical men in aeronautics and engineering students should find this dictionary useful for keeping in touch with research abroad and in reading French and German scientific publications." ‡ Gasoline automobile; prepared in the Extension division of the University of Wisconsin. (Engineering education ser) 4th ed completely rev 1932 McGraw $3; 18s 629.2

1 Automobiles 32-9234

Third edition, 1924, was published under the authorship of Hobbs, Elliott, and Consoliver. "In the fourth edition of 'The Gasoline Automobile', the authors have adhered to the primary objective of presenting a textbook for the teaching and study of the fundamental principles and ideas upon which the modern motor vehicle is designed, constructed, and operated. The present volume is not encyclopaedic in character, and no attempt is made to present a comprehensive reference book on all details of current automobiles and of automotive equipment. Enough of these details have been included, however, to illustrate modern practice." Preface

"This textbook, now rewritten with a slightly different approach, is up-to-date and well illustrated and indexed." Bkl.

Favary, Ethelbert

Motor vehicle engineering; engines, their design and construction (for automobiles, trucks and tractors). 3d ed 1927 McGraw $4; 24s 629.2

1 Automobiles 27-16907

"In the present edition the matter has been revised and enlarged by thirty pages, and chapters on 'Fuel and detonation' and 'Crankcase dilution' have been added. Treats, without difficult mathematics, of the theory, design, materials, construction, lubrication and testing of engines for automobiles, trucks and tractors. Addressed to machine designers, automobile engineers, draftsmen, mechanics and others who desire to make a serious study of the subject." Donald Hendry

Contains detail drawings of some designs, diagrams and other illustrations

"Motor vehicle engineering: the chassis" (1922 McGraw $5; 25s) a companion volume, is a thoro presentation in simple language on the design of the chassis for both passenger cars and trucks

"In this new edition the book remains unchanged in form, but now includes all the up-to-date developments in this field. Examples of these new improvements include:—'One-shot' lubrication, the Front Wheel Drive, all the details of the new Ford, and a wealth of other up-to-date information." Publisher

"Practical handbook on the care, repair and management of motor trucks and automobiles, for owners, chauffeurs, garage men and schools. Clearly written in non-technical language, detailed, well illustrated." N.Y. state lib.

Gibson, Charles Robert

Motor car & its story. 1927 Lippincott $2.50; Seeley 3s 6d 629.2

1 Automobiles [27-23670]

"A description of the strange vehicles invented before the motor car, & the struggles & adventures of their inventors, with an account of the evolution of the petrol motor car, & a simple explanation of the manufacture of modern cars & of the scientific principles on which they work." Subtitle

"Does not deal with the details of construction nor of the control of a motor-car; it is confined to the history and the science, and is intended to appeal to the general reader and the motorist in particular." Preface

Heldt, Peter Martin

Automotive engines; design, production, tests. 1933 The author $6 629.2

1 Automobiles 33-19797

Formerly published with title: Gasoline motor

"Has been a standard authority on automotive engine design and engineering since its first appearance in 1911. For the present edition new material has been added and changes made. A book for the designer and engineer, not for the car owner and operator." Pratt quarterly

Motor vehicles and tractors. 1929 The author $8 629.2

1 Automobiles 2 Tractors 29-18387

Good textbook for students of transmission mechanisms of motor vehicles, and reference book for engineers concerned with motor vehicle design. Considers the various types of vehicles including heavy commercial cars and tractors. Not concerned with gasoline engine design

Kelsey, Earl H.

Principles of automechanics. (Selvidge ser. of instruction manuals) 1929 Manual arts press $1.85 629.2

1 Automobiles 30-1571

"A systematic course of study of the principles of construction and operation of the automobile, the chassis, the engine, and the electrical system, each detail being taken up as a separate unit. 630 AGRICULTURE

To supplement the books listed below in 630 and subdivisions the publications of the United States Department of agriculture are valuable. In this Catalog no attempt has been made to make a selection of these publications. The various Price lists issued by the Superintendent of documents give lists of those available. They are also listed by subject in the "Agricultural index" (class 050) The pamphlets obtainable on many subjects will sometimes take the place of books in small libraries

For books on farm buildings, see class 728.6

Chamberlain, Joseph Scudder, and Browne, Charles Albert
(eds.) Chemistry in agriculture. 1926 Chemical foundation $1 630

1 Agricultural chemistry 26-10033

"A coöperative work intended to give examples of the contributions made to agriculture by chemistry." Subtitle

"Simply written and well illustrated chapters by experts, on soils, cereals, sugar, fruits and vegetables, fermentations on the farm, chemical warfare to save the crops, the evolution of diet, vitamins, meat, chemistry as a guide to animal production, milk, and legal control of fertilizers, feed, and insecticides." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Davenport, Eugene
The farm. (Rural science ser.) 1927 Macmillan $3.50 630

1 Agriculture 2 Soils 3 Crops and climate 27-7135

"An authoritative discussion of the principles controlling agricultural operations, for the farmer who is interested in objectives." Cleveland

"I like this book because it puts agriculture against the affairs and contests of the time and explains what it means, and specially because it sets the farm in its proper place in nature." Liberty Hyde Bailey in Preface

Davis, Kary Cadmus
Productive plant husbandry; a text-book for high schools. (Farm life text ser.) 4th ed enl 1927 Lippincott $2; 8s 6d 630

1 Agriculture 27-9152

The fourth edition is a reprint of the 1917 issue, with a 55 page section of job analysis material, with suggestions for projects and home study. Well illustrated

"Considers propagation, breeding, soils, field crops gardening, fruit growing, forestry, insects, plant diseases and farm management. Includes questions, references and field and laboratory exercises. Intended for a one-year course." Cleveland

Duryee, William Budington
A living from the land. (Whittlesey house publications) 1934 McGraw $1.50 630

1 Agriculture 34-3094

"Intended for city dwellers with no experience in farming, this little book will be helpful in calling to the attention of such persons the many things that must be thought of and planned for in making a move to the country. It covers too much, of course, to go into sufficient detail to serve as a complete guide and the chapters on the garden, orchard, poultry, etc. should be supplemented with other books from the bibliography at the end." Wis. bul.

Finch, Vernon Clifford, and Baker, Oliver Edwin
Geography of the world's agriculture. 1917 Supt. of doc. $1 630

1 Agriculture—Statistics Agr18-249

Publication of the U.S. Department of agriculture

"Shows the geographic origin of the world's supply of food and other important agricultural products, and indicates briefly the distribution of the crops and live stock of the world. 206 good-sized maps visualize the distribution of the raw materials of the world's food supply. The accompanying text describes the various products and explains their uses." Standard catalog for high school libraries

Getman, Arthur Kendall, and Chapman, Paul Wilbur
Young man in farming. (Wiley farm ser.) 1933 Wiley $1.75; Chapman 10s 6d 630

1 Agriculture 2 Young men 33-31673

Discusses the many aspects of farming as a life work, the personal characteristics needed, the economic aspects, etc.

Grimes, Waldo Ernest, and Holton, Edwin Lee
Modern agriculture. 1931 Ginn $1.60 630

1 Agriculture 31-22345

A textbook written for the student farmer and for the teacher of agriculture, based on "Essentials of the new agriculture" by H. J. Waters (1924). Covers the various cereals, tobacco, cotton, potatoes, fruits, live stock production, poultry, machinery and the application of business principles to the farm

King, Franklin Hiram
Farmers of forty centuries; or, Permanent agriculture in China, Korea and Japan. [1926] Harcourt $3.50; Cape, J. 12s 6d 630

1 Agriculture—China 2 Agriculture—Japan 3 Agriculture—Korea [31-32856]

"Reprint of a work first privately printed by the author [1911] in the University of Wisconsin. It offers the best exposition we have of the methods by which the Chinese and Japanese have been able to maintain a high soil fertility over a long period of time. It is the result of personal study by a keen scientific observer, popularly written." Wis. bul.

Rural social problems. (Century rural life bks.) 1924 Appleton-Century $2; 8s 6d 630.1

1 Sociology, Rural 2 Farm life 3 Social problems 24-12019

"The theme of the book is the human element in farming and rural life, the human needs and problems of farm men and women. The author believes that most of the obstacles to content on the farm are removable. Among the hopeful possibilities he discusses the shortening and easing of the farm woman's day, better trading and merchandising conditions, consolidation of country schools and church groups, enlarged library, hospital and recreation districts, the fostering of rural art, and the formation of effective local municipalities." Book rev. digest

Gillette, John Morris

* Rural sociology. rev ed 1928 Macmillan $3; 15s 630.1

1 Sociology, Rural 2 U.S.—Soc. condit. 28-7150

A complete revision of a comprehensive introductory study of rural community life first published 1922. Much new material was added in this edition. Gives a picture of actual conditions of rural life in several representative sections of the United States

T. N. Carver's "Principles of rural economics" (new ed 1932 Ginn $1.80; 9s) is another study of rural problems, which emphasizes the public and social aspects rather than the business aspect

1 Sociology, Rural 2 Social problems 3 Farm life 33-24903

First published 1926. This edition has been considerably enlarged, the latest census figures incorporated, and new material added to bring it up to date. Contents: Part 1 Foundations of American rural society; Part 2 Rural social institutions and rural social problems; Part 3 The American farmer and his society

"A thorough and systematic treatment, intended as a college text, in one of the new fields in sociology. . . . Has material of value for any one interested in rural life." Wis. bul.

630.3 Agriculture—Dictionaries

"Cyclopedia of American agriculture" edited by L. H. Bailey (4v 1917 Macmillan o.p. 1933) is still a good reference tool but not now completely up to date. Volumes 2 and 3 which were reprinted in 1922 with no change in text with titles: "Cyclopedia of farm crops" and "Cyclopedia of farm animals" are likewise out of print, 1933

Book of rural life; knowledge and inspiration; a guide to the best in modern living; (ed by E. M. Tuttle). 10v 1925 Bellows-Durham co. o.p. 1933 630.3

1 Agriculture—Dictionaries 25-21063

Some libraries may prefer to classify this work with general encyclopedias rather than with agriculture, since, while it specializes in agricultural subjects, it contains also articles on general subjects and forms a good popular encyclopedia

"Covers agriculture, horticulture, and subjects of interest to rural communities. Good popular signed articles, excellent illustrations. No bibliography, but articles are based largely upon the work and publications of the U. S. Department of agriculture. Planned for the younger readers but useful for others who want simple, popular articles." Mudge

630.7 Agriculture—Study and teaching

True, Alfred Charles
History of agricultural education in the United States, 1785-1925. (U.S. Agriculture, Dept. of. Miscellaneous pub. no.36) 1929 Supt. of doc. $1 630.7

1 Agriculture—Study and teaching
Agr29-1377

Traces the broad development of agricultural education in this country in the light of its relation to the "general development and progress of science and education and to the background of economic conditions and of organizations of various kinds for the promotion of agriculture and country life." Preface

630.9 Agriculture—History

Black, John Donald
Agricultural reform in the United States. 1929 McGraw $4; 20s 630.9

1 Agriculture—U.S. 2 Agriculture—Economic aspects 29-12597

"A timely and authoritative study of the problems of farm relief. After a survey of the present unsatisfactory status of agriculture and the causes of it, there follows a statement and evaluation of the various proposals for reform. The list comprises not merely the schemes for agricultural price-raising which are now claiming public attention—tariff revision, the equalization fee, export debentures, and the like—but also the more fundamental reforms which are needed in production, land utilization, marketing, transportation, credit, and taxation. It is made abundantly clear that there is no single, and certainly no simple, remedy for this complex and baffling problem. But the author makes a number of constructive suggestions." Gee, Wilson Parham
Place of agriculture in American life. (World today bookshelf) 1930 Macmillan $2; 10s 630.9

1 Agriculture—U.S. 30-32733

"The author, who is professor of rural economics at the University of Virginia, [1933] presents no specific plan for farm relief, but writes sympathetically of the place of agriculture in our national life, and of its problems. His hope is to contribute toward a more general understanding of the present situation, and of the importance of a sound rural life." Bkl.

Gras, Norman Scott Brien
History of agriculture in Europe and America. 1925 Croft $3.50; Pitman 15s 630.9

1 Agriculture—Hist. 2 Agriculture—Europe 3 Agriculture—U.S. 25-10393

"It is meant only to describe for general and collegiate use some of the more important developments in the history of rural life in Europe and in America." Preface

"Beginnings of agriculture in America," by Lyman Carrier (1923 McGraw $3; 15s) brings together from widely separated sources, facts and observations on the early history of agriculture in America

Kile, Orville Merton
New agriculture. 1932 Macmillan $2; 10s 630.9

1 Agriculture—U.S. 2 Agriculture—Economic aspects 32-18418

Discusses economic trends in agriculture in the United States today and some of the proposed remedies

"Mr. Kile sets forth his diagnosis and his proposed remedies clearly and cogently, and by the time one has finished his little book one feels that here is a man who really knows a great deal about his subject and who has a far-sighted, definite, common-sense vision for the betterment of agriculture's ailments." N.Y. Times

Lord, Russell
* Men of earth. 1931 Longmans $3 630.9

1 Agriculture—U.S. 2 Farm life 31-28152

"More than forty 'human interest' stories of men and women who live and work on the land, the whole constituting a survey of the past history and present conditions in American agriculture that is both interesting and illuminating." Book rev. digest

"This is a good book, well written and decidedly out of the ordinary as to contents. You may not agree with all the ideas expressed by the author and the forty or more characters he introduces but nobody beginning this book will throw it aside nor can he read its three hundred pages without having his ideas both sharpened and broadened." Sat. rev. of lit.

1 Agriculture—Economic aspects 2 Agriculture—U.S. 33-4970

"The author proposes "to describe in some detail the agricultural crash in which the agricultural depression has culminated; to outline the pattern of the rural life of the future. . . and finally to discusss the plan to use the arm of the Federal Government to stabilize agriculture." Introduction

631 THE FARM

631.1 Farm economics

Adams, Richard Laban
Farm management; a text-book for student, investigator, and investor. (McGraw-Hill agricultural and biological pub.) 1921 McGraw $4; 20s 631.1

1 Agriculture 2 Farms 21-21879

"Considers the various factors entering into the business of farming: farm selection, soils, equipment and buildings, capital, bookkeeping and accounting, costs, marketing, labor, tenancy, farm law, management, etc. Especially addressed to the beginner and the settler in new sections." Donald Hendry

Claassen, Cornelius Jansen
Making farms pay; a way out for owner and tenant. 1931 Macmillan $2; 10s 631.1

1 Farms 2 Agriculture, Cooperative 3 Landlord and tenant 31-30716

"Describes group farm management, the method used by the author in his management of one thousand tenant farms. Practical information is given which will interest absentee

owners of farm properties, tenants and operators, banks, insurance companies and other institutions whose capital is invested in farm lands." Industrial arts index

Gee, Wilson Parham
* Social economics of agriculture. 1932 Macmillan $3.60; 18s 631.1

1 Agriculture—Economic aspects 2 Agriculture—U.S. 3 Sociology, Rural 32-31702

Contents: Agricultural problem; Economic considerations; Social factors; Farmers' organizations; Political problems; Rural institutions

"The volume is well written, not too technical and thoroughly up-to-date. There is sufficient history for background and authentic generalizations that give us a picture of the breadth and range of the agricultural problem." World tomorrow

Holmes, Clarence Leroy
Economics of farm organization and management. (Agricultural, commerce and administration ser.) 1928 Heath $2.80 631.1

1 Agriculture—Economic aspects 28-1716

"An introductory text in the field of agricultural economics. Written for college use, but suitable for anyone who wishes to begin the study of agricultural economics . . . in a serious way." Wis. bul.

"Dr. Holmes's training in economic theory plus his concrete experience in conducting research at the Iowa Experiment Station has admirably fitted him to write such a book. On the one hand he introduces the student to very rigorous and involved economic theory and, on the other, he presents the material so as to make it easily understandable. This book is a valuable contribution to the teaching of economics in the colleges of agriculture." American journal of science

Taylor, Henry Charles
Outlines of agricultural economics. (Social science textbooks) rev ed 1931 Macmillan $3.25 631.1

1 Agriculture—Economic aspects 2 Agriculture—U.S. 3 Land tenure 31-8659

First published 1919, revised 1925. The present edition has been slightly enlarged to cover the important progress which has taken place in the field of cooperation, the federal marketing services and the new public policies relating to the share of agriculture in the national income

"This book is intended to help farmers understand the principles which underlie the choice of a farm, the selection of crop and live-stock enterprises, the management of labor and equipment and the organization of these elements into an efficient concern that will yield a profit." Preface

"Introduction to agricultural economics," by L. C. Gray (1924 Macmillan $2.40; 12s) is another good text dealing with a wide range of material on farm economics. W. J. Spillman's "Farm management" (1923 Judd o.p. 1930) treats of the organization and conduct of the business of farming

Warren, George Frederick
Farm management. (Rural textbook ser.) 1913 Macmillan $2.40; 12s 631.1

1 Agriculture 22-15219

Deals with the applications of business methods to farms of various types and sizes and includes material on farm labor, accounts, marketing, etc.

631.18 Farm produce—Marketing

Libraries using 338.1 might prefer to place some of the books listed below in that class

Arnold, Schuyler
* Wayside marketing. 1929 De La Mare $1.50 631.18

1 Farm produce—Marketing 2 Floriculture 29-18384

"A useful book on the popular wayside arketing-stands. Tells how to select a suitable ... how to build and equip an attractive booth

Clark, Fred Emerson, and Weld, Louis Dwight Harvell
Marketing agricultural products in the United States. 1932 Macmillan $4.25; 21s 631.18

1 Farm produce—Marketing 32-1360

"Based on Weld's The Marketing of Farm Products, the present volume includes the many developments which have taken place since its predecessor appeared in 1915, and brings together into usable form a mass of scattered information on the theoretical and practical aspects of the subjects; of interest to college students of food economics and marketing." Journal of home economics

"Marketing Agricultural Products by Clark and Weld is destined to have an important place in marketing literature. Though the original work by Weld furnished the basic approach and method of treatment for the new volume, Clark and Weld are justified in giving the present book a different title, since it is virtually a new piece of writing. . . Anyone interested in agricultural marketing should have this book in his library for reference." Harvard business review

Comish, Newel Howland
Coöperative marketing of agricultural products. 1929 Appleton-Century $3.50; 15s 631.18

1 Agriculture, Cooperative 2 Farm produce—Marketing 29-18383

"The history, methods, and problems of cooperative marketing of farm products, with chapters devoted to citrus fruits, apples, dried fruits, vegetables, cheese, milk, poultry, grain, wool, cotton, tobacco and live stock. An account of farmers' organizations is also included." Chicago

Includes a bibliography and a number of tables

McKay, Andrew William, and Lane, Charles Homer
* Practical cooperative marketing. (Wiley farm ser.) 1928 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 631.18

1 Agriculture, Cooperative 2 Farm produce—Marketing 28-28954

"A text intended for students of vocational agriculture in schools and for farmers who wish to gain an understanding of the aims and policies of cooperative organizations. It first analyzes and describes the whole movement of cooperative marketing, then takes up in detail methods successfully used in the marketing of special products." Bkl.

Plumb, Charles Sumner
Marketing farm animals. 1927 Ginn $3; 15s 631.18

1 Domestic animals 2 Cattle trade 3 Cattle—Transportation 4 Stock yards 27-16129

"A comprehensive work on the commercial side of marketing, for agricultural students and handlers of farm live stock." Cleveland

Sherman, Wells Alvord
Merchandising fruits and vegetables, a new billion dollar industry. 1928 McGraw $4; 20s 631.18

1 Fruit—Marketing 2 Farm produce—Marketing 29-1227

"Author is [1933] chief marketing specialist in the federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics at Washington. The early historical evolution of the marketing of perishables is described, followed by chapters on the revolution created by the use of artificial ice; the hazards of the industry; banking relationships; influence of coöperative organization; marketing through factories; canning; governmental supervision; inspection at shipping and terminal points; market news service; marketing methods, and the problem of trade surpluses." Amer. econ. rev.

Watts, Gilbert Searle
Roadside marketing. (Farm and garden lib.) 1928 Judd $1.25; Routledge 7s 6d 631.18

1 Farm produce—Marketing 28-20832

"A practical book for farmers on operating a roadside market, by one who has had considerable experience in selling directly to motorists. [Illustrated]" Cleveland

631.3 Farm machinery

Davidson, Jay Brownlee
Agricultural machinery. 1931 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 17s 6d 631.3

1 Agricultural machinery 31-6349

Aims to present in readable form authentic and useful information on the subject for the user of agricultural machinery as well as the designer and manufacturer. Does not include instruction in the repair of machines

Field, Albert Martin; Olson, R W., and Nylin, Victor E.
‡ Farm mechanics. (Century vocational ser.) 1928 Appleton-Century $2.50 631.3

1 Agricultural engineering 2 Agricultural machinery 28-15682

"Intended as a handbook for students in agricultural courses and for farmers. Inclusive, well balanced and up to date—covering gas engine mechanics, the radio set, storage batteries, lighting, heating, and sanitation, as well as repair work, care of tools and the more usual subjects." Wis. bul.

"Farm machinery," by A. A. Stone (2d ed 1934 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d) is another text book which is good for use in schools and departments of vocational agriculture. One of the Wiley farm series

Jones, Fred Rufus
Farm gas engines and tractors. (McGraw-Hill publications in agricultural engineering) 1932 McGraw $3.75; 22s 6d 631.3

1 Gas and oil engines 2 Tractors 3 Farm engines 32-4850

"An up-to-date textbook dealing with the fundamentals involved in the construction and operation of the simple internal combusition engine, especially the small stationary farm-type engine. A special chapter on the all-purpose or cultivating-type tractor describes briefly the different makes now available together with their outstanding features. The final chapter deals with the tractor from the standpoint of selection and efficient utilization under different conditions." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Roehl, Louis Michael
Fitting farm tools. 1930 Bruce pub. pa $1 631.3

1 Agricultural machinery 30-4705

Smith, Harris Pearson
* Farm machinery and equipment. (McGraw-Hill publications in agricultural engineering) 1929 McGraw $3.25; 16s 3d 631.3

1 Agricultural machinery 29-15103

"Gives instructions for selection, care, and use of farm machinery. Contains diagrams and descriptions of the most important types of machines used in general farming." Pittsburgh

Smith, Robert Henry
Agricultural mechanics. (Lippincott's farm manuals) 1933 Lippincott $3; 12s 6d 631.3

1 Agricultural engineering 33-5312

Reprint of 1925 edition with 4 page insert: Jobs arranged by enterprises

"The repair of all varieties of farm equipment, and the construction of devices for use in the dairy, the poultry-house and other departments of farm work are clearly outlined for the farmer and student in this practical manual. Some of the special chapters are: The farm water supply; Concrete in farm practice; Gas engines—installation and care. Explanatory diagrams and photographs." N.Y. state lib.

631.4 Soils

Sir E. J. Russell's "Soil conditions and plant growth" (6th ed 1932 Longmans $6.40; 21s) is a standard English work which will be of interest to the scientist and larger library

Bear, Firman Edward
Soil management. (Wiley agricultural ser.) 2d ed rev and enl 1927 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 21s 6d 631.4

1 Soils 2 Fertilizers and manures 27-18018

The second edition is enlarged by nearly 150 pages

"Presents facts and principles of use in planning constructive systems of soil management and increasing production. Includes the conserving, supplementing, and utilizing of soil resources, the requirements of crops, and the characteristics of soils. The book is well indexed and short bibliographies are given." St Louis

Emerson, Paul
Principles of soil technology. 1930 Macmillan $3.25; 16s 6d 631.4

1 Soils 30-4706

"The writer has aimed to correlate the facts of soil knowledge and present the science from the teaching standpoint in as fundamental a manner as possible." Preface

Weir, Wilbert Walter

* Productive soils. (Lippincott's farm manuals) 3d rev ed 1931 Lippincott $3; 12s 6d 631.4

1 Soils 32-6068

First edition 1920. "In the 1930 revision, the first two chapters have been completely rewritten, in order to have the subject matter agree with the generally accepted new concept of soils." Preface to third edition

"Authoritative general work on successful soil management and profitable crop production, couched in clear and fairly simple language which the average farmer can understand. Numerous illustrations and tables add to value of the discussion of fertilization, irrigation and rotation of crops. Index." N.Y. state lib.

Whitney, Milton

Soil and civilization; a modern concept of the soil and the historical development of agriculture. (Library of modern sciences) 1925 Van Nostrand $3; Chapman 15s 631.4

1 Soils 2 Agriculure—Hist. 25-9256

"From a presentation of his concept of the soil as a living, not an inert thing, with properties and functions analogous to those of the living animal Mr Whitney passes to a description of the important soils of the United States and their peculiarities, the rôle of fertilizers and an historical account of agriculture and its practice in the older countries of the world." Book rev. digest

Worthen, Edmund Louis

Farm soils; their management and fertilization. (Wiley farm ser.) 1927 Wiley $2.75; Chapman 16s 6d 631.4

1 Soils 2 Fertilizers and manures 27-21202

Contents: Selecting the soil and planning its management; Growing the crop; Controlling the water supply of the soil; Tilling the soil; Manuring; Liming; Fertilizing; "Leguming" and green manuring; Managing field soils; Managing pasture soils; Managing garden and lawn soils; Managing fruit soils

A comprehensive treatment of the subject. The author is, 1933, extension professor of agronomy at Cornell university. At the ends of the chapters are references, including parts of books, and also pamphlets. Illustrated

631.6 Reclamation. Drainage

Etcheverry, Bernard Alfred

Land drainage and flood protection. 1931 McGraw $3; 15s 631.6

1 Drainage 2 Floods 31-2545

"Unique in the fact that it combines the two elements of hydraulic engineering named in its title. . . . All in all the book should be a welcome addition to the library of the drainage engineer, who must be versed not only in that enticing though elusive science of drainage hydraulics but also in the practical, financial and legal procedures of conceiving and putting through a drainage project." Engineering news-record

Pickels, George Wellington

Drainage and flood-control engineering. 1925 McGraw $4; 20s 631.6

1 Drainage 2 Reclamation of land 3 Floods 4 Rivers—Regulation 25-22034

"Text-book with chief attention to land reclamation for agricultural purposes. Includes chapters on precipitation, run-off, pumping plants, excavating machinery, and drainage law." Pittsburgh

"The author has rendered a most valuable service in collecting a judicious selection of subject matter from the many data available, and of presenting this in a most compact, clear, interesting and readable form. No previous book on the subject is comparable to this one in comprehensiveness or orderliness of presentation." Engineering news-record

Powers, Wilbur Louis, and Teeter, Thomas Anderson Hendricks

* Land drainage. 2d ed rev and enl 1932 Wiley $3.25; Chapman 20s 631.6

1 Drainage 32-12826

The second edition has been enlarged to include the developments which have been made in the drainage field since 1922

"A textbook for use in agricultural schools and valuable as a reference for farmers and owners of land which might be improved by scientific drainage." Donald Hendry

"Land drainage and reclamation" by Q. C. Ayres and Daniels Scoates (1928 McGraw $4; 24s) is another textbook which deals only with drainage and clearing of land

631.8 Fertilizers

Gustafson, Axel Ferdinand

Handbook of fertilizers; their sources, makeup, effects and use. (Farm and garden lib.) 1928 Judd $1.25; Routledge 7s 6d 631.8

1 Fertilizers and manures 28-7985

A practical, concise handbook on commercial fertilizers with formulas and specific crop advice

"Fertilizers, their sources, manufacture, and uses" by Herbert Cave (1926 Pitman $1; 3s) is another brief non-technical book which is intended for the general reader. Belongs to the Pitman common commodities and industries series

Laurie, Alexander, and Edmond, Joseph B.

Fertilizers for greenhouse and garden crops. 1929 De La Mare $2 631.8

1 Fertilizers and manures 2 Soils 29-7831

"Provides a valuable handbook for the amateur as well as the professional gardener on the composition, use, and nutrient qualities of commercial fertilizers, outlining a soil management and fertilizer program that is both adequate and comparatively simple. [Illustrations and tables]" Bkl.

Thorne, Charles Embree

Maintenance of soil fertility. 1930 Judd $3; Routledge 18s 631.8

1 Soils 2 Fertilizers and manures 30-7763

"The problems of soil management and the use and comparative values of various fertilizers are discussed by the former director of the Ohio Agricultural experiment station. The book is based on field experimentation carried on for a number of years and will be of practical use to both gardeners and farmers." Bkl.

Van Slyke, Lucius Lincoln

Fertilizers and crop production. 1932 Judd $4 631.8

1 Fertilizers and manures 2 Agricultural chemistry 32-27286

"Successor to the author's 'Fertilizers and Crops,' published in 1912. . . Like its predecessor, this book has for its purpose not merely to give information but also to present it in such a systematic way as to make clear fundamental relations and to emphasize the reasons that underlie every practice suggested. The conditions are studied under which plant-foods, whether in the form of soil compounds, of farm-produced materials, or of commercial fertilizers, can be conserved and, at the same time utilized with the greatest efficiency and economy in the production of crops. [Illustrated]" Preface

Voorhees, Edward Burnett

* Fertilizers; the source, character and composition of fertilizer materials, and suggestions as to their use. (Rural science ser.) 2d rev ed by S. B. Haskell 1926 Macmillan $2.50; 12s 6d 631.8

1 Fertilizers and manures 26-18300

"Standard work, first published in 1898, now [1926] thoroughly revised by the Director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station. Shows the economy and dangers in the use of the newer plant food materials developed through the resources of chemical engineering; suggests recently approved fertilizing systems for the different types of farming and special crops; and contains new information on the fertilizing of lawns and golf courses, trees, fruits, and berries." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

632 HINDRANCES. PESTS

R. A. Wardle's "Problems of applied entomology" (1929 McGraw $6; Manchester univ. press 30s) is a comprehensive treatise on insect control

Chupp, Charles

Manual of vegetable-garden diseases. (Rural manuals) 1925 Macmillan $5; 25s 632

1 Vegetables—Diseases and pests 25-7837

"Arranged alphabetically by vegetables . . . with separate chapters on soil sterilization and fungicides. . . Numerous photographs, chapter bibliographies, glossary and index." N.Y. state lib.

Doane, Rennie Wilbur

Common pests; how to control some of the pests that affect man's health, happiness and welfare. (Nature bks.) 1931 Thomas $4; Bailliere 21s 632

1 Pests 2 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 31-34252

Gives "some information regarding the more common pests that directly affect man, his domestic animals, his crops, his storehouse and his home. While insects on account of their number are man's greatest enemies, there are many other animals, that often become important pests, and so it has been necessary to include chapters on near relatives of insects, parasitic worms, and mammals and birds." Preface

"The discussions are brief, but clear, accurate, and sufficient for the general reader. The illustrations are exceptionally good, well chosen, and many of them original. The reading of this book should do much to dispel the common dread in which spiders, scorpions, etc. are held by the public." American journal of public health

Felt, Ephraim Porter, and Rankin, William Howard

‡ Insects and diseases of ornamental trees and shrubs. (Rural science ser.) 1932 Macmillan $5; 25s 632

1 Trees—Diseases and pests 2 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 32-26646

"It is the purpose of this volume to give a readable and practical summary of the problems in relation to insects and fungus diseases affecting shade trees and ornamentals in particular, with special reference to methods of control. The book is planned to facilitate the diagnosis of troubles affecting a certain kind of tree. This volume is a combination of the senior author's 'Manual of Tree and Shrub Insects' and the junior author's 'Manual of Tree Diseases', entirely rewritten and brought down to date, each being responsible for statements in his respective field." Preface

Fernald, Henry Torsey

Applied entomology; an introductory text-book of insects in their relations to man. (McGraw-Hill publications in the zoölogical sciences) 2d ed 1926 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 632

1 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 26-8696

"This textbook adds forty-five pages of new material—a new chapter dealing with injurious animals more or less related to insects such as snails, earthworms, sow bugs, millipedes, red spider, and certain ticks. The chapter on hymenoptera has been rearranged to agree with the order followed by Comstock's new edition of his 'Introduction to entomology.'" Bkl.

Numerous illustrations from photographs, and line drawings

Flint, Wesley Pillsbury, and Metcalf, Clell Lee

Insects, man's chief competitors. (Century of progress ser.) 1932 Williams & Wilkins $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 632

1 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 33-1829

"This book is an attempt to put in readily accessible form what we believe the butcher, the baker, the doctor, the teacher, and most of all, the boy or girl whose interest has been aroused by these curious, six-footed creatures, would like to know about insects." Preface

Georgia, Ada Eljiva

* Manual of weeds. (Rural manuals) 1914 Macmillan $3; 15s 632

1 Weeds 14-18393

"Comprehensive description list of the weeds of the U. S. and Canada. Gives botanical and common names, bloom and seed time, range, habitat and means of control. Fully illustrated. Index." Standard catalog for high school libraries

Graham, Samuel Alexander

Principles of forest entomology. (McGraw-Hill publications in the zoölogical sciences) 1929 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d 632

1 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 2 Trees—Diseases and pests 29-3524

"Intended primarily as a textbook it will be of value to foresters and others engaged in growing or utilizing forest products." Pratt quarterly

"Considers the underlying principles of forest destruction by insects, and control measures. Does not deal with the classification or structure of insects." Cleveland

Heald, Frederick De Forest

Manual of plant diseases. 2d ed 1933 McGraw $7.50; 35s 632

1 Botany—Pathology 33-5311

First published 1926. The attempt has been made in this second edition to include recent research results on plant disease; careful revision has been made, and parts of many chapters rewritten

"A wealth of well selected and judiciously arranged material is packed into Heald's . . . volume on plant diseases. It will be useful to the student primarily as a reference book, since treatment of the material in the main is encyclopedic. . . A considerable part of the value of the book for reference lies in the accurate and up-to-date presentation of the material, the painstaking reference to sources for statements, and the excellent bibliographies which close each chapter." Botanical gazette

"Diseases of economic plants" by F. L. Stevens and J. G. Hall (rev ed 1921 Macmillan $3.90; 20s) is another valuable reference book which is designed to meet the needs of those who wish to recognize and treat plant diseases

Herrick, Glenn Washington

* Insects injurious to the household and annoying to man. (Rural science ser.) rev ed 1926 Macmillan $3; 15s 632

1 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 2 Household pests 26-7538

"Since the first publication of this book [1914] great advances have been made in the knowledge of the life, habits, and activities of insects, particularly in their relation to man. The old edition has therefore been completely revised and much new material has been added, without alteration to the original plan of the book." Book rev. digest

"Written in non-technical style, but including separately-listed references for the use of students. A convenient reference book for home economics classes and homemakers alike." Journal of home economics

"Excellent treatment of the habits, depredations, and control of the more common American insects injurious to plants, live-stock, and the household. Omits consideration of forest and shade-tree pests." Pittsburgh

Hesler, Lexemuel Ray, and Whetzel, Herbert Hice

Manual of fruit diseases. (Rural manuals) 1917 Macmillan $3.50; 18s 632

1 Fruit—Diseases and pests 17-9694

"Fruits are arranged alphabetically from apple to strawberry and under each the known diseases are grouped in order of importance. Symptoms of each disease are given, the cause described, and the best remedy suggested. Descriptions are popular; technical terms are all explained in a glossary. The final chapter is devoted to the preparation and application of fungicides. Short bibliographies given after each disease. [Illustrated]" Bkl.

Howard, Leland Ossian

* History of applied entomology (somewhat anecdotal). (Smithsonian miscellaneous collections) 1930 Smithsonian inst. pa $2.25; Wheldon 15s 632

1 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 2 Entomologists 31-26165

"After fifty years as entomologist in the service of the government, the author has gathered together here a great mass of information on the development of the movement for the control of insect pests. Accounts of American entomologists and of their achievements from early colonial days to the present are followed by short summaries of what is being done in other countries. The work in medical entomology and the practical use of predatory and parasitic insects are also reviewed. A contribution." Bkl.

‡ Insect menace. 1931 Appleton-Century $3.50; 12s 6d 632

1 Insects, Injurious and beneficial 31-24018

"Recent experiences with the corn borer, the fruit fly, and the grasshopper give weight to the author's argument that we are faced with a growing insect menace. He was formerly Chief Entomologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and his discussion of the problem and of preventive measures should carry weight." Wis. bul.

"Dr. Howard's half a century of study of insects has stored his mind with a marvelous treasure and his book is for the layman a fresh wonderland." N. Y. Times

(ed.) Standard cyclopedia of horticulture. 3v 1925 Macmillan $25; 125s 634

1 Gardening—Dictionaries 25-26333

The 1925 edition is a reissue of the 6 volume edition of 1914-17

"Founded upon his 'Cyclopedia of American horticulture,' 4 volumes, 1902-04, but so revised and enlarged as to be practically a new work. Aims to cover completely the horticultural floras of the continental United States and Canada and to include the more outstanding species grown in a horticultural way in Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the other Islands. The last volume includes also supplementary articles, a finding list of binomials, and a general index. Includes biographies. Signed articles by specialists, bibliographies. Special features which should be noted are: (1) the very comprehensive inclusion of American native plants, trees and shrubs, which makes the work useful for questions in botany as well as horticulture, and (2) the full indexing of illustrations, both black and white and colored, included in many other works, e.g. periodicals, collections, etc." Mudge

Langstroth on the hive and honey bee. 23d ed rev and rewritten by C. P. Dadant 1927 Am. bee journal $2.50 638

1 Bees 27-27500

A comprehensive work, first published 1888 under title: "Classic in bee culture." Earlier editions revised by Charles Dadant. In the 1927 revision the principal changes are upon the question of diseases of bees

Pellett, Frank Chapman
Beginner's bee book. 3d ed rev 1923 Lippincott $1.50; 6s 638

1 Bees [19-18526]

"For the amateur who intends to keep bees on a small scale. Gives clear information on the necessary equipment, care of bees at all seasons, and how to produce and market honey. Useful illustrations. Glossary." N.Y. state lib.

Productive bee-keeping; modern methods of production and marketing of honey. (Lippincott's farm manuals) 3d ed rev 1923 Lippincott $3; 12s 6d 638

1 Bees 2 Honey 23-8318

Practically a reprint of the second edition, which was published in 1918. Contains many illustrations

"Treats fully the various problems involved in the keeping of bees: their care, breeding, sources of honey, the business of marketing the product, duties of inspectors, etc. A set of questions accompanies each of the fifteen chapters." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

The author's "Romance of the hive" (1931 Abingdon press $2) contains more informal essays which also give much practical information about bees

Phillips, Everett Franklin
‡ Beekeeping; a discussion of the life of the honeybee and of the production of honey. (Rural science ser.) rev ed 1928 Macmillan $4; 20s 638

1 Bees 2 Honey 28-17397

"The revised edition aims to bring the original up to date and contains new and important information on honey plants and a chapter on the prevention and control of bee diseases. Two hundred well-chosen illustrations are of decided value in aiding one to read the text intelligently." Boston Transcript

"Although the book is addressed only to beekeepers, potential and active, few readers possessed of any curiosity will find it dull. For my part I found it fascinating, at least in the sections devoted to the bee itself rather than to tools and operations of its human manipulator." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Chatterton, Edward Keble
Whalers and whaling; the story of the whaling ships up to the present day. 1926 Lippincott o.p. 1933 639

1 Whaling [26-8699]

Available in a smaller cheap edition without illustrations in the Deep sea library (Payson, W. F. $1.25; Allan, P. 2s 6d)

"I have endeavored in this volume to present as vivid a picture of whaling ships, and the lives of those serving in them, as I can obtain from contemporary accounts, with the object of showing to the reader, whilst still one sailing ship whaler survives, what were the adventures and enterprise of an industry which forms one of the most romantic sections of maritime history." Preface

Tressler, Donald Kiteley
* Wealth of the sea. 1927 Appleton-Century $4; 16s 639

1 Fisheries 2 Shell fisheries 3 Commercial products 27-23377

"The book is a popular presentation of many interesting facts concerning the nature, production and uses of the great variety of commercial products of the sea—fish and fishery products, edible seaweeds, pearls, coral, shellfish, whale products, fur-seal, sponges, etc." Book rev. digest

"The book, which is interestingly written, covers so wide a field that it ought to interest both the general reader and the special student of commercial geography. The survey, however, is so comprehensive that the author obviously could not go extensively into any one of his subjects but has tried merely to give the reader a good general understanding of each one." N.Y. Times

A condensed edition of the same author's "Marine products of commerce" (1923 Chemical catalog co. $12) a comprehensive treatise which is useful for reference

Verrill, Alpheus Hyatt
Real story of the whaler; whaling, past and present. 1923 Appleton-Century $3; 10s 6d 639

1 Whaling 23-6828

The 1923 edition adds an appendix of 45 pages which includes additional information received since the book was published in 1916

"The book is not written in a glowing or pictorial style. Its first object is to assemble all available facts of significance to the theme. On the other hand, it is keenly alive to the romantic or historic interest of those facts. The result is a volume in which you may learn, in brief compass, much about the history of American whaling, the technique of the trade or the craft, and notable exploits or adventures connected therewith." Nation

"Illustrated with admirable photographs and reproductions of significant pictures and prints, so that the book, interesting as it is, amounts to a popular monograph on the now almost extinct industry." N.Y. Times

E. P. Hohman's "American whaleman; a study of life and labor in the whaling industry" (1928 Longmans o.p. 1933) deals particularly with the history of American whaling from 1000 A.D. to about 1860

Dorothy Morton's "Invalid diet" (1926 Heinemann 5s) is a good special diet recipe book which has been recommended by our English collaborator

Allen, Lucy Grace
Book of hors d'oeuvres. 1925 Little $1.75 641.5

1 Cookery 25-23107

"Fish, meat and vegetable appetizers, in attractive variety and styles of serving, described by the director of the Boston school of cookery. The recipes, many of them French, Italian or Russian, over 100 in number, have been tested. Photographic illustrations show clearly the possibilities for effective garnishing and decorations." N.Y. state lib.

"A fanciful, rather than a practical book, as hors d'oeuvres do not feature largely in the general American diet. The recipes call for expensive and imported food novelties and much time is required for preparation." Cleveland

Choice recipes for clever cooks. 1924 Little $2 641.5

1 Cookery 24-8037

"This book, altho written purposely for the veteran cook, will be helpful also to the amateur in varying her menu. Each recipe has been carefully tested by constant use in the classes of the author, who is the director of the Boston school of cookery. In the 540 recipes both simple and rather elaborate ones are included. They are never extravagant dishes, altho the author recommends that the best materials be used. In many cases illustrations show the completed dish." Book rev. digest

Bradley, Alice

(which usually begins and ends with spinach) and will be suggestive in other ways as well. Pleasantly informal." Wis. bul.

"Vegetable cookery" by Mrs Elizabeth Lucas (1931 Heinemann 8s 6d) is a useful English book on preparing vegetables

Gottfried, Ruth Appleton Jeremiah
Questing cook; a bundle of good recipes from foreign kitchens. 1927 Washburn & Thomas $3 641.5

1 Cookery 28-473

"One hundred and twenty-eight recipes, 'the booty that one casual adventurer in foreign kitchens found practical to bring home and too tempting to leave behind'; mostly bourgeois delicacies in family quantities, from half a dozen European countries, with a section from the Near and Far East. The index is conveniently arranged in triplicate—alphabetical, by the place of the dish in the unusual courses, and by its chief ingredients." Journal of home economics

"Despite the fact that its recipes are uncommon when not unfamiliar it does not bear too heavily upon the skill of the cook or the purse of the housekeeper to make it a volume practicable for the modest household as well as the more elaborate establishment." Sat. rev. of lit.

"French cook book for American families" by Xavier Raskin (1922 McKay $2.50) is another book containing foreign recipes which includes 800 French recipes and some 1400 American recipes for the average housekeeper

Halliday, Evelyn Gertrude, and Noble, Isabel T.
Hows and whys of cooking. (Univ. of Chicago home economics ser.) (rev ed) 1933 Univ. of Chicago press $3, educational ed $2; Cambridge univ. press 13s 6d 641.5

1 Cookery 33-32549

"Alterations and additions have been made in all parts of the text and two new chapters one on Meal preparation, and one on Beef have been added. By this means the book has been brought up to date in both theory and practice." Foreword to the second edition

"The results are given here of the practical findings of the cooking and chemistry-of-food laboratories of the Department of Home Economics of the University of Chicago. It is not so much a book of recipes as a book of ways and means and whys: how to keep the color in vegetables when they are cooked; a section on muffins; on cakes containing fat or no fat; baking powder biscuits; pie; candy; ice cream; etc." Providence

Heseltine, Marjorie, and Low, Ula May
Good cooking; made easy and economical. 1933 Houghton $2.50 641.5

1 Cookery 33-29146

"Designed especially to give information on buying food and planning and assembling whole meals, this is a good book for the inexperienced young housewife who must depend on one book for all directions. A buying guide for a small family is new and worth while, and there are good illustrations showing methods of preparation. Besides the regular index there is a dictionary thumb index to large subject divisions—buying, cooking, recipes, and meals." Wis. bul.

Hibben, Sheila
National cookbook, a kitchen Americana. 1932 Harper $2.50; 12s 6d 641.5

1 Cookery 32-34378

Menu planning and cookery for large numbers, giving types of menus, recipes, tables of weights and their approximate measures, etc.

"The institution administrators of the country should welcome this book as a valuable addition to their working libraries, for it is practical and deals with subjects which come into the everyday life of every institution. A practical, usable book, a valuable contribution to the meager institutional literature." Journal of home economics

Tea-room recipes. 1925 Little $2 641.5

1 Cookery for institutions, etc. 2 Restaurants, lunch rooms, etc. 25-10746

"Contains what the authors have come to call tea-room recipes. These recipes are richer, more expensive and designed to serve fewer people than those in 'Quantity Cookery.' They are especially for the use of home makers entertaining at luncheon, tea and dinner, and for the use of managers of tea rooms, clubs and similar institutions." Preface

Schadt, Mabel E.
Cafeteria recipes; arranged in three proportions for use in cafeterias, tearooms, schools and institutions. 1925 Womans press $2 641.5

1 Restaurants, lunch rooms, etc. 2 Cookery for institutions, etc. 25-9330

"The special features of the book are the three proportions for each recipe and the supplement of duplicate recipes to be pasted as used in a cook's work-book. The first feature makes the book useful for group families, small and large. The second feature should prove a convenience to a manager and a source of continuing interest to the cook who uses it." Foreword

1 Cookery 33-31242

"A surprisingly large array of tempting dishes may be prepared from odds and ends of left-overs, as is evidenced in this collection of 700 recipes which give directions for using the remains of meats, vegetables, cereals, bread, dry cake, pastry, cheese, fruit, etc. An index is not indispensable because of the book's arrangement, but one would be helpful." N.Y. libraries

and lecturer on pediatrics at McGill University. Clearly arranged, simply stated, and well-illustrated information on the development, care, and feeding of infants and young children, which, the author hopes, may further serve to 'divest the minds of parents of old ideas and common fallacies which have no basis in fact.'" Journal of home economics

Mary Lyon's "Mother and child" (1928 Macmillan $2; Black, A. & C. 5s) is recommended by our English collaborator as a good book of advice for the young wife and mother

Holt, Luther Emmett

Care and feeding of children. 15th ed 1934 Appleton-Century $1.25; 4s 649

1 Children—Care and hygiene 2 Children—Nutrition 31-3937

"A catechism for the use of mothers and children's nurses." Subtitle

A revision of a standard work, first published 1894, by L. E. Holt, jr. who is associate pediatrician at Johns Hopkins hospital. Tho most of the book remains unchanged, "a number of changes have been made throughout the book, the most significant of which are concerned with infant feeding. Here raw cow's milk has been virtually abandoned, and a marked simplification of feeding formulas has been achieved—a few standard ones taking the place of many." Preface to the fifteenth edition

Kerley, Charles Gilmore

Short talks with young mothers on the management of infants and young children. 8th ed 1926 Putnam $2; 7s 6d 649

1 Infants—Care and hygiene 2 Children—Diseases 26-16081

"The aim of this book is to help the young mother to a closer acquaintance with and a more intelligent appreciation of the nature and demands of the life entrusted to her care. . . In this edition several new chapters have been added and the entire text revised. The illustrations in the previous edition have been omitted as unnecessary and the space given to new material required by the present day young mother." Preface to eighth edition

650 COMMUNICATION. BUSINESS

651 OFFICE MANAGEMENT AND EQUIPMENT

In selecting business books, it should be remembered that all of the books recommended here are useful under appropriate conditions but, while all of these books may be needed in one library, fewer may be needed in another library

Gardiner, Glenn Lion
Practical office supervision. 1929 McGraw $3; 15s 651
1 Office management 2 Employment management 29-10016

"A sound and sensible presentation of the fundamentals of management that every office supervisor should practice in winning the loyalty and best efforts of his subordinates." Chicago

Leffingwell, William Henry
Textbook of office management. 1932 McGraw $3 651
1 Office management 2 Efficiency, Industrial 32-1363

"Although published ostensibly as a new book, this is a revision of the author's 'Office management, principles and practice', published by A. W. Shaw. Much of the original material has been omitted, but except for chapter questions and problems, this new edition has little that is new." Bkl.

"With the current necessity in business for cutting down costs, greater efficiency is necessary in every department. How to attain that efficiency in the office is explained in this book." Bankers magazine

McClelland, Frank Clark, and Robinson, Edwin Marshall
‡ Office training and standards. 2d rev ed 1929 McGraw $2; 10s 651
1 Office management 29-9502

"A study of standardized office methods and of the relation of different departments to each other. Contains one chapter on office machinery appliances." St Louis

A popular textbook, well illustrated with photographs and forms. First edition (1919) by F. C. McClelland, alone. The second edition is enlarged by 60 pages

MacDonald, John Haskell
Office management. 1927 Prentice-Hall $5 651
1 Office management 27-13012

"Purpose . . . is to offer enough in the way of principles to make the book useful to students, and at the same time to illustrate the principles with a sufficient number of practical examples of office methods in successful use to make the book of value also to office managers and business executives." Preface

Morse, Perley
Business machines; their practical application and educational requirements. 1932 Longmans $3.75, college ed $3 651
1 Office supplies 2 Office management 3 Business education 32-4188

"Tells the story of the development and application of office mechanisms and devices, from their inception to their present wide adaptation to business routine and modern methods of record making, analysis, and accountancy. It presents in a narrative descriptive form, the place and services of labor-helping office mechanisms and systems in the vast scheme of carrying on the daily routine of large and small commercial, financial, industrial, and social organizations."

Walker, Louis Carlisle
* Office and tomorrow's business. 1930 Appleton-Century $1.50; 6s 651
1 Office management 2 Efficiency, Industrial 30-5699

"Presents a specific, practical, and stimulating discussion of modern office procedure and business administration. Written by the president of the Shaw-Walker Company, it crystallizes his thirty years of experience and observation for the benefit of the reader. The book blazes a new trail which leads to simplification of office procedure, and the cutting of overhead costs all through a business organization. An interesting feature is a group of three chapters which introduces a broad new philosophy of business operation for 'slack times,' revealing how a period of dull business may be turned to profitable account. The book is equally useful as an instructor for the clerical worker in an office or department." N.Y. Municipal reference lib. notes

First published 1929 and frequently reprinted with minor corrections. The fourth edition was completely revised in 1933 with many changes in the section on grammar and filing and new material on letter writing and reports

"The material is divided into two parts: the first containing rules with illustrations of correct form in English; the second consisting of various types of letters relating to business, social, and official usage, as well as other forms of business writing often required of the secretary.

These include, among other types, the making of resolutions, the writing of minutes, the framing of petitions, and the compiling of reports." Preface

"There is hardly a secretary in all this land who would not be glad to have it always at her elbow. And there is many another who would be almost equally thankful for its advice and counsel." N.Y. Times

Turner, Bernice C.
* Private secretary's manual: a practical handbook for secretaries and their executives. 1933 Prentice-Hall $3 651.3
1 Secretaries, Private 32-20621

"The book's two purposes are to give the secretary necessary and reliable information and to acquaint the employer with aspects of secretarial work. In addition to information on spelling, pronunciation, grammar and letter-writing, instructions are given for sending telegrams and cablegrams, filing, making financial reports, ordering supplies, receiving office callers, making business trips, caring for money and accounts and proof-reading. There are also comprehensive chapters on the more personal phases of secretarial work. An index makes the manual still more valuable." Christian science monitor

1 Commercial correspondence 30-29456

"Useful textbook and reference. A thorough discussion of the writing of business letters for all business needs, entering into much detail. Authors are respectively head of department of marketing and advertising, and assistant professor of business administration, University of Washington." Donald Hendry

Gardner, Edward Hall, and Aurner, Robert Ray
* Effective business letters. rev ed 1928 Ronald $3; Am. bk. supply 10s 651.7
1 Commercial correspondence 28-7153

A thoroly revised edition

"Part 1 discusses general principles in simple terms adapted to the beginner's understanding. Part 2 takes up the mechanics of the art—make-up, heading, address, spacing, paragraphing, punctuation, paper stock, envelopes, etc., with a chapter on mistakes in language. . . Part 3 goes into more explicit directions for specific types of letters, and deals as much with the thought as with the form. In part 4 the author returns to general principles, but now speaks of unity, coherence, emphasis, and other general aspects of the subject." Nation

Lockley, Lawrence Campbell
* Principles of effective letter-writing. 2d ed 1933 McGraw $3; 15s 651.7

McCloskey, John C.
Hand book of business correspondence. 1932 Prentice-Hall $1.50 651.7
1 Commercial correspondence 32-34807

"Designed for use by both students and business men. It is a compact reference manual of the mechanics, form, and structure of business letters. Here the student or the business man will find readily accessible the principles underlying the layout of the letter, the arrangement and distribution of the parts, the punctuation, the qualities, the tone, and the structure of the various types of business letters." Preface

Opdycke, John Baker
English of commerce. 1932 Scribner $2 651.7
1 English language—Business English 2 Commercial correspondence 3 Advertising 32-5604

The 1932 printing adds 40 pages on "Getting a job." Except for this chapter the book is practically the same as the 1920 and 1928 editions

"Comprehensive in scope, dealing with choice and use of words, proper English construction, newspaper and magazine work, commercial correspondence, advertising and sales literature, and commercial forms and reports. Not a mere guide to letter writing, and not overburdened with examples of commercial correspondence, but a judicious selection and arrangement of material affording information on almost every application of English in the broad field of business endeavor. A stimulating book for serious study. . . Its value for reference is enhanced by lists of synonyms, abbreviations, foreign phrases, and commercial terms." Pittsburgh

Picken, James Hamilton
Principles of selling by mail. 1927 McGraw $3; 18s 651.7
1 Commercial correspondence 2 Advertising 27-5889

"Intended to serve as an introduction to building business by mail, the book offers a complete method, both for writing and for using letters. The materials presented have been gathered from many different lines of business and from numerous organizations." Book rev. digest

Shaaber, Matthias Adam
Art of writing business letters. 1931 Houghton $2 651.7

1 Commercial correspondence 31-25750

"Discusses various classes of letters and under each class gives examples, including letters to be answered by the student. One of the best features is a chapter on the accurate use of words." Pittsburgh

Smart, Walter Kay, and McKelvey, Louis William
Business letters. 1933 Harper $3.50, college ed $2.75 651.7

1 Commercial correspondence 33-16564

"A comprehensive book covering all types of correspondence. The provision of sample letters to illustrate every type mentioned is an outstanding feature; another is the Handbook of English for business which is appended." Wis. bul.

"Although it is elementary in many of its pages—being prepared as a college text-book—much of its other material is interesting enough and challenging enough to make it a worthwhile desk book for those whose business calls upon them to write a great many letters." Printer's ink

"English in modern business" by A. C. Babenroth and E. J. McNamara (1930 Prentice-Hall $2) is another text on business English and correspondence which is well recommended

1 Photomechanical processes 2 Printing 3 Illustration of books 34-2540

"It does not aim to give practical details with respect to the manipulation in the different processes. Its object is to inculcate principles, and to state the fundamentals of those methods in daily use for the production of pictures in the printing press." Preface

"Although Mr. Gamble's book has been written primarily for students of printing, it can be recommended to the business man. . . It contains a good deal of technical information, but this in introduced in such a way that it will not present difficulties to those who are interested in acquiring practical information. There are a number of useful illustrations and diagrams." Times (London) lit. sup.

Sanders, Thomas Henry
Cost accounting for control. 2d ed rev 1934 McGraw $4 657
1 Cost accounting [29-18043]
"This work is the second edition, considerably revised and enlarged, of the book formerly entitled 'Industrial Accounting.' It contains a discussion of the new problems presented under the N.R.A. New material has been added also for the purpose of increasing its usefulness for teaching purposes." Preface
"Professor Sanders has analyzed very ably the present-day cost accounting devices and objectives. The uses and the problems of cost accounting, rather than the practices and the procedures involved in the accumulation of cost data, are stressed. It is not to be inferred that the latter are ignored—they are merely subordinated. This is in decided contrast to many textbooks on cost accounting which emphasize the mechanical aspect of the subject to the neglect of other important phases." Annals Amer. acad.

Stockwell, Herbert Grant
How to read a financial statement. 1925 Ronald $4.50 657
1 Accounting 2 Business 25-9101
"The discussion of principles is illuminating. The discriminating treatment of fundamentals of balance-sheet construction is impressive. The numerous illustrations serve well in their explanatory function. Good-will, surplus, accounts receivable, deferred assets, reserves and reserve funds are treated in an unusually satisfactory manner." Amer. econ. rev.
"Despite some attempts at standardization, the financial reports of business concerns vary greatly in form and character, and an adequate treatment of their analysis and interpretation demands considerable attention to detail. The present book succeeds so well that it should be of value to every business man. By a certified public accountant, but written in non-technical language." Pittsburgh
The author's "How to read a profit and loss statement" (1927 Ronald $4.50) is a useful book on the function of the profit and loss statement

658 BUSINESS METHODS

The material in this class (practical aspects of business) overlaps somewhat that in 331 on the economic theory of business
F. E. Raymond's "Quantity and economy in manufacture" (1931 McGraw $4; 208) is an important book for the trained executive, tho the mathematical treatment of the subject makes it somewhat difficult reading for the average man. It is a mathematical analysis of the theory of economic "lot sizes" or quantities in manufacturing

"This project of the Taylor Society presents a comprehensive treatise on present day scientific management. It is a veritable encyclopedia covering every phase of business organization. Each chapter is by an expert in his field." Cleveland

"In spite of its many authors, this treatise is more than a handbook, a collection of readings, or a symposium. While, as would be expected, there is divergence in style and difference in the treatment from chapter to chapter, it is evident that the chapters have been written to the specification of a carefully planned outline and have been well edited. Thus the book as a whole is given an unusual degree of unity for a work of this kind. . . This contribution of the Taylor Society to the literature of scientific management will undoubtedly become a standard reference book on the subject." Amer. econ. rev.

Goode, Kenneth Mackarness
How to turn people into gold. 1929 Harper $3.50; 12s 6d 658.8
1 Marketing 2 Business 29-18138

"A terse non-technical discussion of the problem of distributing goods, including the subjects of advertising, stock control, and other similar topics of vital interest to business men." Chicago

"Greater consideration of the consumer viewpoint is the basis for profits. While criticizing our inefficient merchandizing, the writer offers what he feels is a solution of the problem of rising merchandizing costs. A conversational style, enlivened by illustrative incidents, makes the volume readable as well as thought-provoking." Industrial arts index

Hall, Samuel Roland
Handbook of sales management. 1924 McGraw $5; 30s 658.8
1 Salesmen and salesmanship 24-2466

"A review of modern sales practice and management, illustrated by the methods and experiences of representative selling organizations. The book shows how modern sales principles are applied to good effect in actual selling work. It gives results of the experience of hundreds of successful sales organizations. Sales and sales management are discussed from the manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing points of view and the cost of selling is treated with special thoroughness." Book rev. digest

Haring, Chester E.
Manufacturer and his outlets. 1929 Harper $3; 12s 6d 658.8

Hayward, Walter Sumner, and White, Percival
Chain stores; their management and operation. 3d ed 1928 McGraw $5; 30s 658.8
1 Chain stores 28-30422

"Thoroughly revised and brought up to date. A great deal of new material has been added. In its present form the book is intended as a statement of principles rather than as a manual of present practices, or as a compilation of statistics." Bkl.

"It is intended not only for the use of the executive at chain store headquarters, but it is also particularly addressed to the branch store manager and his assistants." Preface to first edition

Johnson, Roy Wilder, and Lynch, Russell W.

Sales strategy of John H. Patterson. (Sales leaders ser.) 1932 Dartnell corp. $3.50 658.8

1 Patterson, John Henry 2 National cash register company, Dayton, O. 3 Salesmen and salesmanship 32-26879

"The book describes the sales policies developed by John H. Patterson which built up the remarkably successful business of the National Cash Register Company thru good times and bad. Patterson's success is shown to have derived, not from his ability as a financier, but from his genius in the selling end of the business." Book rev. digest

"The sales manager's problem today is vastly different from the one that confronted Patterson. But human nature has not changed greatly, and the book is worth reading for the light that it throws on Patterson's understanding of people." Management review

Leigh, Ruth

Training the retail clerk to sell your product. 1927 McGraw $3; 18s 658.8

1 Salesmen and salesmanship 2 Retail trade 27-25153

"Deals with a highly specialized form of dealer cooperation, in which the manufacturer helps merchants by training their salespeople. It is not a book for retailers on how to train selling help, but for manufacturers who are interested in increasing the sale of their products by means of better trained store clerks." Preface

Lewis, Howard Thompson

Industrial purchasing. 1933 Prentice-Hall $5 658.8

1 Buying 2 U.S.—Indus. 33-17421

"The purchasing agent is the man against whom the whole ingenuity of salesmanship is brought into play to break down his resistance. Very little thought has been given to equipping the buyer with enough knowledge to meet the argument of the seller. Professor Lewis's book admirably serves this much-neglected purpose; not in the sense, however, that it teaches the art of bargaining, but in the sense that it teaches the art of buying. Few even among business men realize that there is such a science, and fewer still apply it. . . . It is from this standpoint that Professor Lewis's exhaustive treatise has been written. It will commend itself to every professional, employer and student of business." N.Y. Times

Link, Henry Charles

New psychology of selling and advertising. 1932 Macmillan $3; 15s 658.8

1 Advertising 2 Psychology, Applied 3 Salesmen and salesmanship 4 Market surveys 32-10405

"The author says that the emphasis in business today is on what people will buy, in contrast to the old policy of breaking down sales resistance to articles which the promoter thinks they should buy. This attempt to meet people's wants and buying habits is what he means by the new psychology." Wis. bul.

Maynard, Harold Howard; Weidler, Walter Crothers, and Beckman, Theodore N.

* Principles of marketing. rev ed 1932 Ronald $4.50 658.8

1 Marketing 32-13772

Revised edition enlarged by 100 pages; statistical tables and bibliography have been brought up to date. Greater space is allotted to the material on channels of distribution, reports on factors affecting consumption, industrial marketing; an account of the Federal farm board is included

"The material of the book is based on 'the experience of several years with large and diversified classes' in the course in marketing as given at Ohio State University. The first half of the book consists of chapters on the procedure and practice of marketing, consumers' motives of buying, the functional middlemen, the marketing of raw materials, and cooperative marketing. The last half of the book is devoted to the detailed functions of marketing—creation of demand, buying, transportation, storage, finance, risk, news, standardization and simplification—a classification which follows closely that used by Mr. Weld, Mr. Clark, and others." Amer. econ. rev.

Nixon, Howard Kenneth

Principles of selling. 1931 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 658.8

1 Salesmen and salesmanship 31-21939

"No short cut to success is sought, but the aim is to discuss better methods of selling and to show how they can be acquired. The author has tried to present in simple language a helpful concept of modern selling." Preface

Norton, Helen Rich

Textbook on retail selling. rev ed 1929 Ginn $1.60; 8s 6d 658.8

1 Salesmen and salesmanship 2 Retail trade 29-13549

"This work is a complete revision, and may be considered as a new book. Volume one states the essential principles, special difficulties and trends in retailing. Volume two gives a description and critical analysis of methods and practices from the viewpoint of profitable operation. The author writes with a sympathetic knowledge of his problem and takes examples from large and small stores." Providence

The author's "Fashion merchandising" (1932 Ronald $4) dealing with a special phase of retailing has been called "by far the soundest and most inclusive discussion of the practical phases of fashion"

Rost, O. Fred

Distribution today. (Whittlesey house publications) 1933 McGraw $3 658.8

1 Marketing 2 National industrial recovery act, 1933 34-85

"O. Fred Rost, Marketing Editor of Business Week, tackles the problem of distribution of products in such a way as to bring to business men the answer to four important questions: What is meant by distribution? What is wrong with the process of distribution now employed? What are the different policies of distribution, what agencies are available to a manufacturer and what functions do they perform? What factors are involved in the cost of distribution? Such distributive functions, agencies, processes, and policies are described as have been found effective and economical in actual practice." 1 Advertising 31-26725

A textbook by the head of the merchandising department of the Wharton school of finance and commerce at the University of Pennsylvania

"Dr. Hess makes a definite contribution in that he more nearly coördinates the economics of advertising with its practices than does anything hitherto written. . . The philosophy of the book is interesting in that it represents interpretation rather than opinion. . . Dr. Hess has undertaken to present and synchronize interpretations of human reactions in terms intelligible to the student of economics." Annals Amer. acad.

Leahy, William Harrall
Window display for profit. 1931 Harper o.p. 1933 659

1 Show windows 31-9013

"A book that would be useful in any library, since it is designed with the small and medium sized store in mind. The author, who is advertising manager of the Dennison Manufacturing Company, makes particularly helpful suggestions on decorative materials and window backgrounds. The number of plates and diagrams accounts for the price. Of interest to the librarian from the point of view of publicity." Wis. bul.

Two other good books, both on window display, which have been suggested are: "Art of window display" edited by H. A. Down (1931 Pitman $6; 21s); and "More sales through the window" by C. C. Knights (1931 Pitman $1.50; 5s)

* Elements of chemical engineering. (Chemical engineering ser.) 1931 McGraw $5; 25s 660

1 Chemical engineering 31-1254

"Textbook for beginners in chemical engineering which is a simpler treatise than Walker's Principles of Chemical Engineering. After a chapter describing some of the fundamental concepts and methods used thruout the book, there are sections on flow of fluids; transportation of fluids; flow of heat; flow of heat and evaporation; humidification and dehumidification, drying, rectification, gas absorption, extraction, and crystallization; filtration; mixing; crushing and grinding; size separation; conveying; and weighing." Book rev. digest

"The first thing that impresses one when he opens this volume is the number and the excellence of the illustrations. In an introductory textbook illustrations of the type found here are of importance second only to the subject matter. With 314 original line drawings of exceptionally good workmanship scattered through its pages, the book stands almost in a class by itself in this respect. But good illustrations are by on means the only merit." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Beery, Pauline Gracia

Stuff; the story of materials in the service of man. 1930 Appleton-Century $5; 21s 660

1 Chemistry, Technical 30-13375

"In this popularized outline of chemistry as it affects everyday life, Miss Beery narrates, in story fashion, the history of how man has converted air, water and food to his uses, and discusses all the 'stuff' that has gone into the making of our civilization." Book rev. digest

" 'Stuff' is chemistry done in the modern manner, for the author has not only followed trends by selecting the shortest possible title, but has chosen chapter headings which are catchy and even border on slang; alliteration finds its place also. The illustrations chosen are both appropriate to the subject matter and arrest attention. . . The book is readable and doubtless will appeal, as the author has said, to readers from eight to eighty. We would recommend it for its broad scope and its historical features, as well as its lucid presentation." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Changes in the second edition are slight: general rearrangement of material, small increase in pages with a revision of chapter bibliographies to bring them up to date

Contents: Introduction; Water and sewage. Sanitation and medicine; Food. Fertilizers; Textiles and cellulose; Coal tar—dyes; Fuel; Silicate industries; Paints and varnishes; Rubber; Electrochemistry in industry; Acids; Metals; World war and American chemistry; American chemistry and the future

"A simple and clear statement of the outstanding facts of American chemistry, intended both for general reading and as collateral reading with a course in general chemistry." Book rev. digest

Howe, Harrison Estell

* (ed.) Chemistry in industry. 2v 1924-25 Chemical foundation ea $1 660

1 Chemistry, Technical (25-501)

"Elementary chapters by experts, dealing with the foundations of chemical industry: abrasives; alcohol and some other solvents; coal, coke, and their products; cotton and cotton products; chemistry in the electrical industry; some applications of electro-chemistry; chemistry in the fertilizer industry; industrial gases; glass; iron and steel manufacture; leather; non-ferrous metallurgy; packinghouse processes; the pulp and paper industry; perfumes and flavors; the petroleum industry; photography; synthetic resin; the rubber industry; chemistry in textile industry. Numerous illustrations." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"An admirable book in popular style by . . . eminent chemists, telling of what chemistry has accomplished in their respective special fields of industry, how it enters into all fields of industry and how indispensable it is." Donald Hendry

The editor's "Chemistry in the world's work" (1926 Van Nostrand $3) is an equally interesting book which is a non-technical account of the part which chemistry has had in the progress of civilization

Howe, Harrison Estell, and Turner, Francis Mills

Chemistry and the home. 1927 Scribner $1.50; 7s 6d 660

1 Chemistry 2 Chemistry, Technical 27-6481

"Prepared for the general reader who wishes to have some insight into the practical applications of chemistry to the problems in the home. In a very simple and general way it deals with the relation of chemistry to foods, metals, glass, fabrics, ink, paint, photography, perfumes, drugs, leather and fuel, with a short chapter on the relation of chemistry to gardening. The discussions are brief, semi-technical, exceedingly interesting and valuable as reference reading in schools or for the average reader. Useful for the small library." Wis. bul.

"We are indebted to men of the ability and standing of the authors in giving us a readable and authoritative, but in no sense technical, book." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Mantell, Charles Letnam

Industrial electrochemistry. (Chemical engineering ser.) 1931 McGraw $5; 30s 660

1 Electrochemistry 31-29481

"Endeavors to point out and emphasize the technological importance of electrochemical processes, to stress their practical aspects, and to adopt the engineering viewpoint. . . The title 'Industrial Electrochemistry' is intended to be broadly inclusive of the theoretical and technical

sides of electrochemistry, the aqueous and fused electrolyte industries, electrothermics, and the electrochemistry of gases, as well as the distinctly engineering aspects." Preface

Sparks from the electrode. (Century of progress ser.) 1933 Appleton-Century $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 660

1 Electrochemistry 33-13005

"Brief, authoritative, readable book on the contributions of electro-chemistry to the world's progress." Pratt quarterly

Olsen, John Charles, and others

Unit processes and principles of chemical engineering. 1932 Van Nostrand $5; Macmillan 25s 660

1 Chemical engineering 32-29174

"A good handbook prepared by forty-two authorities. Treats of the processes employed in the manufacture of the products of industrial chemical plants, and of the underlying principles involved." Pratt quarterly

Pan American union

Commodities of commerce series. The union ea 5c 660

1 South America—Comm. (26-27513)

Each pamphlet is devoted to one product or group of products of the Latin American countries, e.g., coffee, rubber, pearls. In 1933, 25 pamphlets were available

Parr, Samuel Wilson

Analysis of fuel, gas, water and lubricants. (International chemical ser.) 4th ed 1932 McGraw $3; 18s 660

1 Chemistry, Technical 32-7495

This textbook, prepared for engineering students, is made up of material delivered as lectures, and of laboratory directions. The present enlarged edition summarizes "the rapid progress made in the last decade by research in the technology of fuels and in the utilization of the results by the industries. In the new topics presented in Part 1, an attempt has been made to give the student an idea of the research method of attack on new and difficult problems." Preface to fourth edition

Perry, John Howard

(ed.) Chemical engineers' handbook, prepared by a staff of specialists. (Chemical engineering ser.) 1934 McGraw $9 660

1 Chemical engineering 34-4848

"The whole field of chemical engineering operation, plant, economics, accounts, safety and fire protection, reports, patents, etc., is covered by sixty-three contributors in the 2,609 pages. Has numerous tables of physical constants, atomic weights, etc., and short literature references at chapter endings." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"The handbook deserves, and doubtless will be accorded, a very warm welcome in the fields of scientific and technologic activity, even beyond those usually defined as engineering chemistry, chemical engineering, or industrial chemistry." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Read, William Thornton

Industrial chemistry. 1933 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 660

1 Chemistry, Technical 33-12090

"Addressed to students of chemistry, teachers of chemistry in high schools and colleges, and to business men who need information about chemical industries, their processes and products. Especially well illustrated with line drawings." Pratt quarterly

Riegel, Emil Raymond

Industrial chemistry; an elementary treatise for the student and general reader. 2d ed 1933 Chemical catalog co. $6 660

1 Chemistry, Technical 33-24218

First published 1928. The second edition has been rearranged, revised and enlarged by 150 pages. New illustrations have been added and statistics brought up to date

"The author has prepared a concise and very readable volume describing the more important chemical industries. It should not only prove of value as a general textbook for colleges and engineering schools, but serve as an outline to the engineer and technical man who wants to familiarize himself with modern developments in industries that are outside of his own specialty. It should also serve the layman who has had very little chemical background, but who wishes to know more about these fascinating subjects, for it is written, in greater part, in plain, non-technical language with frequently an explanation of those technical terms that are used." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Reading references at end of each chapter

Rogers, Allen

‡ (ed.) Industrial chemistry; a manual for the student and manufacturer. 5th ed 2v 1931 Van Nostrand $13; Macmillan ea 30s 660

1 Chemistry, Technical 32-3587

"The fourth edition appeared in 1925. In the present edition of this successful manual the matter has been brought up-to-date by the complete revision of chapters of the earlier edition and by addition of new processes." Donald Hendry

"Standard work on industrial chemistry, now extensively used in colleges and as reference source for a general description of present important industrial chemical processes. The book has been quite fully rewritten, brought up to date, and enlarged by some 300 pages. It is a distinct improvement over previous editions." Industrial and engineering chemistry

"Elements of industrial chemistry" edited by Allen Rogers (2d ed 1926 Van Nostrand $4.50) an abridgment of the fourth edition (1925) of his "Industrial chemistry" aims to cover the chemical industries in a general manner. No abridgment is available, 1934, for the fifth edition of the larger work

‡ Creative chemistry. (Century books of useful science) new ed rev by H. E. Howe 1930 Appleton-Century $3.50; Univ. of London press 7s 6d 660

1 Chemistry, Technical 30-30099

Available in a satisfactory cheap reprint in the Star series (Garden City pub. co. $1)

Some changes have been made in the text of the 1930 edition, a new chapter "The synthetic kingdom" has been added and many new photographs

"Describes readably and with authority the achievements of modern chemistry in industry, war, agriculture, etc., emphasizing the economic necessity of continued development in this science. Reading references. Numerous halftone photographs." N.Y. state lib.

Walker, William Hulz; Lewis, Warren Kendall, and McAdams, William Henry

Principles of chemical engineering. (Chemical engineering ser.) 2d ed 1927 McGraw $5.50; 35s 660

1 Chemical engineering 27-19263

The second edition is enlarged by 132 pages and includes an appendix of problems and a revision of the whole text to bring it up to date

Walker, W. H., Lewis, W. K., and McAdams, W. H.—Continued

"Admirable both in purpose and result. The presentation is characterized by succinctness and sound common sense. It does not go into details of specific processes but presents concisely the scientific principles underlying chemical engineering in general, and indicates the proper application of these principles in correct practice. It thus furnishes the actual working data for intelligent design of chemical equipment for various purposes." Pittsburgh

661 CHEMICALS

The average small library will not need special treatises on the various chemicals, as treatment of these will be found in the more general books. Three books, not too technical, which will interest readers with some technical knowledge are:

Ernst, F. A. Fixation of atmospheric nitrogen. (Industrial chemical monographs) 1928 Van Nostrand $2.50; Chapman 12s 6d

Mantell, C. L. Industrial carbon. (Industrial chemical monographs) 1928 Van Nostrand $4.50; Chapman 21s

Zanetti, J. E. Significance of nitrogen. 1932 Chemical foundation gratis

Badger, Walter Lucius, and Baker, Edwin Myron

Inorganic chemical technology. (Chemical engineering ser.) 1928 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 661

1 Chemicals—Manufacture and industry 2 Chemistry, Technical 3 Chemistry, Inorganic 28-28951

Contents: Common salt; Sulfuric acid; Nitric acid; Minor acids; Sodium carbonate; Caustic soda; Chlorine and bleaching powder; Miscellaneous products

"The authors have accomplished well their purpose of writing a textbook for the chemical engineering student. It will be of almost equal value to the industrial chemistry student. The subject matter is developed very satisfactorily and it is well written. Some, no doubt, will feel that the presentation as a whole is a little elementary and that the opportunity for illustration was not given sufficient consideration. The book is, however, a distinct contribution to its field." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Haynes, Williams

Chemical economics. 1933 Van Nostrand $3.25 661

1 Chemicals—Manufacture and industry 33-31241

"Non-technical, and well illustrated. The author, who publishes the periodicals 'Chemical industries' and 'Plastic products,' has 'endeavored to show the part played by chemicals in the development of modern industrialism and to place the chemical industry in its proper relationships within our economic system.'" N.Y. public lib. New technical book

"Never before has the story of American chemical industry been written in such a readable and fascinating manner. . . This book will serve an important function in chemical industry. It will be of real assistance to the student and to the non-technical salesman and executive who would learn the business and historical side of chemical industry." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

662 FUELS. MATCHES

Dixon, William Hepworth

Match industry; its origin and development. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1925 Pitman $1; 3s 662

1 Matches 25-12151

"Gives the average reader a good account of early fire providing devices, the various materials, early match-making methods, wax matches, vesuvians, manufacture of match boxes, splint cutting, up-to-date match making, the factory and its methods, with statistics and legislation. Numerous illustrations." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Greenwood, Ernest

Prometheus, U. S. A. 1929 Harper o.p. 1933 662

1 Fire 2 Fuel 3 Heating 29-8796

"A vivid and popular account of the various uses and types of fuel which have contributed to the progressive advance of civilization. Brief chapters treat of the history of wood, gas, and oil fuels, followed by more detailed descriptions of modern inventions based upon the use of oil." Amer. econ. rev.

Haslam, Robert Thomas, and Russell, Robert Price

* Fuels and their combustion. 1926 McGraw $7.50; 37s 6d 662

1 Fuel 2 Combustion 26-1701

"Remarkably comprehensive treatise on production, properties, and economic utilization of all the more important commercial fuels. Deals with combustion calculations and furnace firing and also with flow of liquids, gases, and heat; and will be of value to the operating man as well as to the designer of furnaces, chimneys, and other equipment." Pittsburgh

"The book is not only exceedingly opportune, but furnishes a striking illustration of the fact that dissertations on combustion in order to amount to anything, not only must be, but with the present-day accumulation of data may be both thoroughly scientific and reliable." Industrial and engineering chemistry

"American fuels" by R. F. Bacon, and W. A. Hamor with the collaboration of over 20 specialists (2v 1922 McGraw $12; 60s) is an expensive book which discusses the various kinds of fuels and their uses

Leslie, Eugene Hendricks

Motor fuels; their production and technology. 1923 Chemical catalog co. $11 662

1 Fuel 2 Gasoline 23-8797

"A comprehensive work upon an important subject which is handled in an intelligent and thorough manner." Gas age-record

663 BEVERAGES

Ibbetson, A.

Tea, from grower to consumer. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1925 Pitman $1; 3s 663

1 Tea [W10-264]

A general account of methods of cultivation and manufacture together with chapters on taxation, sampling and buying, tasting, blending, packing and selling

Knapp, Arthur William

Cocoa and chocolate industry; the tree; the bean; the beverage. 2d ed rev and enl 1930 Pitman $2.25; 7s 6d 663

1 Cocoa 2 Chocolate Agr30-1416

This revised edition contains a "considerable amount of new material, including chapters on food value, on adulteration and definitions, and on storage." Preface

"A concise study, describing the various processes in the cocoa and chocolate industry from the cultivation of the cacao tree to the consumption of the finished commodity. Also gives a history of its origin and use from 1500 A. D. For the general reader. Bibliography and index." Bkl.

Saintsbury, George Edward Bateman
Notes on a cellar-book. 1933 Macmillan $2.50; 7s 6d 663
1 Wine and wine making 2 Liquors 3 Menus 33-33896

"A delightful chronicle of one of the minor arts—selecting and serving of wine. Most of it is a history of the author's own experiences in keeping a wine cellar, related with fine literary skill. Originally published in 1920, now reprinted with new preface and introduction." Bkl.

"Mr Saintsbury was prevented from carrying out his original intention of writing a history of wine, but he has done the next best thing in giving us this book." Spectator

"Wines: their selection, care and service" by J. L. Street (1933 Knopf $2) contains a chart of vintage years and discusses the harmonies between certain wines and certain foods, the wineglasses, etc.

Ukers, William Harrison
Coffee merchandising. 2d ed 1930 Tea and coffee trade journal co. $5 663
1 Coffee 30-21069

A condensation of the author's larger book "All about coffee" (1922 Tea and coffee trade journal co. o.p. 1933)

This edition "has been carefully revised and brought down to date (1930) in the matter of coffee research, new coffee producing districts, coffee contracts, coffee blends, coffee machinery, distribution channels, production and consumption statistics and coffee advertising." Preface

"Intended primarily for the trade, but containing information of interest to general readers and students of food products or cookery." Journal of home economics

"Coffee from grower to consumer" by B. B. Keable (1910 Pitman $1; 3s) is a useful little book. One of "Pitman's common commodities of commerce" series

Wagner, Philip Marshall
American wines and how to make them. 1932 Knopf $2 663
1 Wine and wine making 2 Grapes 33-23611

"This book tells of the possibilities of American grown grapes; goes to some extent into the science of wine-making, and gives incidentally and discursively many interesting historical side-lights."

664 Foods

The following books on special foods and food industries are noted here for the benefit of libraries needing them:

Bardorf, C. F., and Ball, J. A. B. Elements of sugar refining. 1925 Chemical pub. $4; Williams & Norgate 20s

Clarke, A. Flavouring materials, natural and synthetic. (Oxford technical pub.) 1922 Oxford $3; 8s 6d

Redgrove, H. S. Spices and condiments. 1933 Pitman $4.50; 15s

Clemen, Rudolf Alexander
By-products in the packing industry. 1927 Univ. of Chicago press $4; Cambridge univ. press 18s 664
1 Packing house products 2 Meat industry and trade 28-1442

"A well-illustrated, readable volume which includes good reference material for students of foods and food production." Journal of home economics

"While the by-products of the meat packing industry yield but a small percentage of the total returns, the industry is itself so huge that the income even from the by-products mounts to a considerable item. The achievement of science in transforming waste into profit is described here by Dr Clemen. Numerous illustrations and an index." Book rev. digest

"Farm meats," by M. D. Helser (1923 Macmillan $2.60; 13s) which gives practical suggestions on butchering, preservation of meats, and hides and skins, is a good book if one is needed on this subject

Rector, Thomas M.
Scientific preservation of food. 1925 Wiley $2; Chapman 12s 6d 664
1 Food—Preservation 25-717

"Writing from large experience in the food manufacturing industry the author discusses classes of foods, the causes of food spoilage, and food preservation methods and processes. A chapter on food containers is included." Donald Hendry

J. H. Collins's "Story of canned foods" (1924 Dutton $3.50) is a history of the canning industry treating in detail the processes and machinery employed in canning tomatoes, corn and peas

Vulté, Hermann Theodore, and Vanderbilt, Sadie Bird
Food industries. 5th ed 1928 Chemical pub. $3.50 664
1 Food 28-6937

Revised edition considerably enlarged thruout. References have been moved to ends of chapters. High school and college textbook, describing production and manufacture of staple foods, with illustrations

Ward, Artemas
* Encyclopedia of food. 1923 Baker & Taylor $10 664
1 Groceries 2 Food—Dictionaries 23-10388

New edition in preparation, 1933

"The stories of the foods by which we live, how and where they grow and are marketed, their comparative values, and how best to use and enjoy them." Subtitle

"Popular articles with many good illustrations, some of them colored. Appendices contain: (1) Glossary of English terms, with equivalents in French, German, Italian, Spanish and Swedish: (2) separate French-English, German-English, Italian-English, Spanish-English and Swedish-English lists. Earlier ed., 1911, had title 'Grocer's encyclopedia' and included some commodities other than foods." Mudge

665 Oils. Gases

J. I. Lewkowitsch's "Chemical technology and analysis of oils, fats and waxes" (3v 6th ed rev and enl by G. H. Warburton 1921-23 Macmillan v 1, v3 ea $12; v2 $14; v 1, v3 ea 36s; v2 42s) is a standard book for all technical reference libraries

Caven, Robert Martin
Gas and gases. (Home univ. lib. of modern knowledge) 1927 Holt $1.25, student's ed $1; Butterworth, T. 2s 6d 665
1 Gases 27-3841

Partial contents: Gaseous state; Liquefaction of gases; Gases of the atmosphere; Useful gases; Gaseous fuels; Combustion and explosion gases

"This book is earnestly recommended not only for the interested layman and those who have been somewhat prepared by scientific news articles, but also for the student of chemistry who will find here a short and accurate résumé of gases and some of their fundamental properties." Journal of physical chemistry

Jamieson, George Samuel
Vegetable fats and oils. (American chemical soc. Monograph ser.) 1932 Chemical catalog co. $6.50 665
1 Oils and fats 32-6567

"The chemistry, production and utilization of vegetable fats and oils for edible, medicinal and technical purposes." Subtitle

"The volume should be useful to all scientific and technical men interested in fats and oils, and particularly to chemists who have to work with or examine them. It has outstanding merit in its compactness, its thoroughness, its convenient arrangement, the botanical identification of each oil, and the carefully selected and conveniently arranged citations. These features should make it a particularly valuable book of reference for frequent consultation." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Klemgard, Edwin Neal

Lubricating greases. 1927 Chemical catalog co. $5.50 665

1 Lubrication and lubricants 27-21760

"The present volume is believed to be the only book now in print which deals solely with grease and its uses. In this work will be found the results of many years of research with the largest manufacturers of lubricants in this country, much of which has never before been printed. While the book does not pretend to be exhaustive, it does contain a fairly comprehensive exposition of the theory, manufacture and application of lubricating greases." Preface

665.4 Asphalt

Abraham, Herbert

Asphalts and allied substances. 3d ed 1929 Van Nostrand $10; Lockwood, C. 42s 665.4

1 Asphalt 30-790

"The third edition of an extremely useful reference book which no one interested in any type of asphaltic material can afford to be without. Expansion of the material in each chapter has resulted in an increase over the second edition of approximately 300 pages. Much of this increase has been due to the work of bituminous dispersions, in which there has been much interest in recent years. Other improvements in the book include the use of larger size type and a flexible cover." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

Bibliography: p853-59

"Bituminous substances; scientific progress of practical importance during the last fifteen years" by P. E. Spielmann (1925 Van Nostrand $4.50; Benn 15s) is a useful book for the specialist

665.5 Petroleum

"Petroleum facts and figures" (1930 Am. petroleum institute $2) which has been published annually since 1928, contains conveniently arranged, statistical material relating to the petroleum industry

"Scientific principles of petroleum technology" by L. G. Gurvich and Harold Moore (new ed 1933 Van Nostrand $8; Chapman 30s) is a standard German book translated and revised by a British petroleum authority. Expensive for the smaller library

Bell, Harold Sill

American petroleum refining. 2d ed 1930 Van Nostrand $6; Constable 31s 6d 665.5

1 Petroleum 30-5874

"Now revised and amplified by the addition of nine chapters. All of the tables and diagrams have been checked and revised so as to include the latest available statistics, while numerous new tables and illustrations have been added." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Covers refinery plant and practice in considerable detail, and includes storage and transportation of oil and manufacture of containers. Much of the information should be of value to chemical engineers not definitely interested in oil refining." Pittsburgh

"Chemical refining of petroleum" by V. A. Kalichevsky, and B. A. Stagner (1933 Chemical catalog co. $7) one of the Monograph series of the American chemical society, gives a valuable résumé with copious references to sources

Cross, Roy

* Handbook of petroleum, asphalt and natural gas. (Kansas City testing laboratory. Bulletin 25) 1931 Kansas City testing lab. $7.50 665.5

1 Petroleum 2 Asphalt 3 Gas, Natural 28-23027

"Revised in part and reprinted to include new statistics and additional matter relating to new specifications for gasoline and lubricants, octane number, hydrogenation, fractionation of gas, properties of crude oils from new pools, and properties of rotary drilling muds." Preface, 1931

"A standard reference book. 'Designed for the practical oil man and the student of petroleum, as a quick reference manual.' Has chapters on economics of petroleum; transportation, storage and gauging; properties of crude petroleum; refining and cracking of petroleum; properties of refined petroleum; fuel oil; oil shale; asphalt; natural gas; methods of analysis; tables; patents and publications." Donald Hendry

Egloff, Gustav

* Earth oil. (Century of progress ser.) 1933 Appleton-Century $1; Bailliere 5s 6d 665.5

1 Petroleum 33-27125

"A brief popular account of the methods of drilling for oil, its storage, transportation, uses and geology, and general methods of exploitation." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Gruse, William Arthur

Petroleum and its products. 1928 McGraw $4.50; 22s 6d 665.5

1 Petroleum 28-16196

"A chemical discussion of the properties, refining and utilization of petroleum." Subtitle

"On the whole, the book is readable and contains a large collection of scientific material related to petroleum which has been carefully coördinated. It is recommended to trained chemists interested in petroleum." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Lidgett, Albert

Petroleum. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 3d ed rev and enl 1928 Pitman $1.50; 5s 665.5

1 Petroleum 28-31200

The text has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date and the illustrations changed and increased in number in this 3d edition

"I have striven to deal with the chief phases of the petroleum industry in a manner which, I have reason to believe, will be acceptable to the general reader. . . The volume presented herewith is written in language free from irritating technicalities, and I trust it will be particularly interesting to those readers—the world over—who would know something of the effects which the products of petroleum have upon our daily domestic and commercial life, and recognize their usefulness." Preface

Uren, Lester Charles

Petroleum production engineering. 2d ed v1 1934 McGraw $5; 36s 665.6

1 Petroleum

To be complete in 2 volumes. Volume 1, Oil field development. First edition in one volume published 1924 under title: "Textbook of petroleum production engineering". The extensive changes in the technique of oil production have necessitated careful and thorough revision of this comprehensive text

666 CERAMICS. GLASS

For books on glass and pottery from the artistic standpoint, see classes 738 and 748

"Ceramic equipment and material catalogs" (6th ed 1932 Industrial publications $12) is a reference book which includes definitions, statistics and general information important for the clay products industry. First published 1922 with title: "Clay products cyclopedia" and later as the "Ceramic products cyclopedia." Revised frequently

Another outstanding reference book, comprehensive in scope, noted for the benefit of larger libraries, is A. B. Searle's "Encyclopaedia of the cermanic industries" (3v 1929-30 Benn ea 63s)

Bourry, Émile

Treatise on ceramic industries; rev tr. from the French by A. B. Searle. 4th rev English ed 1926 Van Nostrand $6; Scott, Greenwood 15s 666

1 Pottery [12-35188]

Translation of a standard work by a practical potter covering every phase of ceramic ware from bricks to pottery according to French practice. In this edition a few illustrations of English machinery replace the French ones, some obsolete theories have been omitted and special notes added when needed

"Comprehensive treatment of the whole subject according to European practice." Crane and Patterson's Guide to the literature of chemistry

Hodkin, Frederick William, and Cousen, Arnold

Textbook of glass technology. 1925 Van Nostrand $15; Constable 42s 666

1 Glass [25-13221]

"Represents, we believe, the first systematic attempt in the English language. . . The authors believe that it will be of use to all ranks of those engaged in the production of glassware, to masters who desire factories run on up-to-date principles and to workmen who wish to know something of the theory involved in the processes in which they are day by day engaged." Preface

"All interested in glass will welcome the compilation of these two authors, and the industry owes them a debt of gratitude for such a masterly exposition of their subject, which covers the whole field of glass manufacture." Nature

Bibliography: pref. p11-14

Marson, Percival

Glass and glass manufacture. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) rev and enl by L. M. Angus-Butterworth 1932 Pitman $1; 3s 666

1 Glass manufacture [18-17663]

First published 1918. This edition has been enlarged, three new chapters covering pyrometry, bottles and plate glass have been added

Partial contents: History; The chemical and physical properties of glass; Coloured glass and artificial gems; Decolorizers; Glass-melting pots and their manufacture; The manipulation of glass; Crown, sheet, and plate glass; Tube, cane, and chemical glassware; Optical glass; Decorative glassware

Noke, Charles J., and Plant, Harold J.

Pottery. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1924 Pitman $1; 3s 666

1 Pottery 25-11848

"Being a simple account of the history of pottery and a description of some of the processes employed in its manufacture." Subtitle

"An excellent introduction to the subject, for the collector, the student, the salesman, and the young potter." Brooklyn

Searle, Alfred Broadhead

Clay and what we get from it. 1925 Macmillan $1.40; S.P.C.K. 2s 6d 666

1 Clay 2 Clay industries 26-8348

"Designed to instruct and interest the public in the wonderful field of usefulness, occupied by the common material, in which we are so greatly concerned. It is a curious mixture of the technical, utilitarian and aesthetic qualities or properties of clay and its products; some beyond the depth of the ordinary reader, some highly interesting, and some ultra sentimental." British clayworker

Wilson, Hewitt

Ceramics; clay technology. 1927 McGraw $4; 24s 666

1 Clay 2 Clay industries 27-19048

"A technical treatise, detailed and special, on the relation of clay technology to ceramic engineering. Contains chapters on clay formation, characteristics of virgin, plastic, and dry clays, the drying of clay wares, effect of heat on clays, melting, fusion, and crystallization of silicates." Bkl.

Contains bibliographical footnotes and references

666.2 Enamel

Books on decorative enameling are classed in 739. Libraries needing a book on vitreous enameling will find L. R. Mernagh's "Enamels: their manufacture and application to iron and steel ware" (1928 Lippincott $7; Griffin 18s) a useful book

666.9 Cements. Limes

Eckel, Edwin Clarence

* Cements, limes, and plasters; their materials, manufacture and properties. 3d ed 1928 Wiley $7; Chapman 43s 6d 666.9

1 Cement 2 Lime 3 Plaster and plastering 28-13081

"This book through its two previous editions has been the standard reference volume for fundamental information concerning manufacture and properties of cements, limes, and plasters, and it is a disappointment to find that the text of the third edition does not include revisions to bring it up to date. A new section has been added which briefly, (45 pages), but yet most comprehensively discusses the alumina and high-strength portlands, and this may be considered as equivalent to a revision of the old text cements." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Meade, Richard Kidder

Portland cement; its composition, raw materials, manufacture, testing and analysis. 3d ed 1926 Chemical pub. $10; Williams & Norgate 50s 666.9

1 Portland cement 26-12644

"Originally a manual of chemical analysis and physical testing, the third edition retains these features but devotes a large proportion of its space to practical methods of manufacture. Author is a chemist with extensive experience in all branches of the Portland cement industry and in consulting practice." Pittsburgh

667 CLEANING, DYEING, ETC.

Brannt, William Theodore, and Gray, John Bernard

* (eds.) Practical dry cleaner, scourer and garment dyer. 6th corrected ed 1924 Baird $3; Lockwood, C. 12s 667

1 Cleaning 2 Dyes and dyeing 24-8316

"A compact manual of up-to-date methods of dry and wet cleaning, dyeing, and bleaching. A brief section on practical chemistry lists and describes the re-agents used in the trade." Detroit

Hubbard, Clarence Custer; Donaldson, Edwin R., and Faling, Mable F.

(eds.) Dry cleaning and redyeing handbook. 1929 Hubbard publications $5 667

1 Cleaning 2 Dyes and dyeing 29-20783

"Concise, conveniently arranged, authoritative information for the beginner as well as for the workman. Includes practices of dry and wet cleaning, with sections on stain removal, bleaching and stripping, application of dyestuffs, various finishes, testing of fabrics and fibers, with tables and definitions. Mr. Hubbard was formerly Director of Research and Education for the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

F. J. Farrell's "Dyeing and cleaning, a practical handbook" (5th ed entirely rewritten by F. W. Walker 1929 Griffin 12s 6d) is a new edition of a standard English work

National cleaner and dyer

New technical notes for cleaners and dyers; rev by M. H. Goldman. 1930 Nat. cleaner and dyer $4 667

1 Cleaning 2 Dyes and dyeing 30-18153

"A practical guide in the form of questions and answers by plant operators and expert spotters. For both the beginner and experienced dry cleaner and dyer." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

667.2 Dyes and dyeing

Exmouth, Charles Ernest Pellew, 7th viscount

* Dyes and dyeing. rev ed 1928 McBride $3.50 667.2

1 Dyes and dyeing 28-5655

The new edition contains 88 more pages than the 1918 edition with a new chapter on dyeing baskets, straw hats and the materials of which they are made. Slight changes in the illustrations

"The last previous ed. appeared in 1918. A book on dyeing textiles by hand or on a small scale. Useful to craftsmen, to teachers of art in schools, and for home dyeing. Treats of the dyestuffs and processes employed and includes chapters on dyeing of baskets, straw hats and the materials of which they are made, feathers and the finishing of feathers, leather, silk and artificial silk, tied and dyed work, stencils and stenciling, batik or wax resist." Donald Hendry

Matthews, Joseph Merritt

Application of dyestuffs to textiles, paper, leather and other materials. 1920 Wiley $10; Chapman 62s 6d 667.2

1 Dyes and dyeing 20-19272

A comprehensive and more extended development of the author's earlier book entitled "Laboratory manual of dyeing and textile chemistry." Bibliography: p733-50

"Covers much ground. . . The method of presentation shows the author to be a teacher of great experience, as well as an experienced practitioner in the fields of applied chemistry. These combined characteristics result in a simplicity of style together with a thoroughness of attention to detail." Dyer and calico printer

"Manual of dyeing" by Edmund Knecht, Christopher Rawson and Richard Lowenthal (8th ed rev 1917 Lippincott $20; Griffin 42s) is a standard British work which is noted for the benefit of larger libraries

Paterson, David

Textile colour mixing. 3d ed rev 1927 Van Nostrand $4.50; Benn 12s 6d 667.2

1 Dyes and dyeing [28-17634]

In the third edition "the same style has been preserved; but the modern representatives of the old pre-war dyes have been substituted." Preface to third edition

"A manual intended for the use of dyers, calico printers and colour chemists." Subtitle

667.5 Inks

Mitchell, Charles Ainsworth, and Hepworth, T. C.

Inks; their composition and manufacture. 3d ed rev 1924 Lippincott $6; Griffin 12s 6d 667.5

1 Ink [5-76]

"The present edition, which embodies all the latest knowledge on the subject of inks, is an enlargement and revision of the earlier work, and every section has been brought thoroughly up to date." Analyst

"Starts with an historical introduction, describing the progress of writing and ink-making in ancient Egypt to the present day." Inland printer

667.6 Paints, etc.

"Physical and chemical examination of paints, varnishes, lacquers and colors" by H. A. Gardner (6th ed 1933 Inst. of paint and varnish research $11) is an authoritative reference work on the subject

Coffignier, Charles

Colours and varnishes; tr. from the French by A. Harvey. 1925 Van Nostrand $5; Scott, Greenwood 12s 6d 667.6

1 Pigments 2 Varnish and varnishing [25-20369]

"General and concise description of raw materials, processes of manufacture, and properties of the finished product. Many useful recipes for special purposes." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Sabin, Alvah Horton

* Industrial and artistic technology of paint and varnish. 3d ed rev 1927 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 667.6

1 Paint 2 Varnish and varnishing 27-11408

"Is very like the earlier edition, preserves the same general form, and aims at giving an account of the principles involved in the manufacture, application, and use of paints and varnishes. It is obvious throughout that the book bears the impress of the author's own personal experiences." Nature

Toch, Maximilian

Chemistry and technology of paints. 3d ed rev and enl 1925 Van Nostrand $5; Lockwood, C. 28s 667.6

1 Paint 26-814

One of the best treatises on the subject, useful to students, engineers and paint manufacturers. Published in England under title: Paints, their chemistry and technology

"With the exception of a chapter on lakes and toners and added information concerning China wood oil, this edition is largely a reprint of the 2d edition, 1916." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Wilson, Samuel Peter

Pyroxylin enamels and lacquers; their raw materials, manufacture and application. 2d ed enl 1927 Van Nostrand $3.50; Constable 18s 667.6

1 Pyroxylin 2 Enamel and enameling 3 Lacquer and lacquering 27-23381

"The volume is very interesting from the layman's viewpoint, yet is technical to an extent that should make it invaluable to those actually engaged in the lacquer and enamel industries." Textile world

"The plan of the book has been kept, although it has increased by some 50 pages, expansion being confined to insertion of new matter in the appropriate chapters." Industrial chemist and chemical manufacturer

Bibliography: p245-47

668 OTHER ORGANIC CHEMICAL INDUSTRIES

"Casein and its industrial applications" by Edwin Sutermeister (1927 Chemical catalog co.) is an excellent work where one is needed. One of the "Monograph series" of the American chemical society. New edition in preparation, 1933

Bogue, Robert Herman

* Chemistry and technology of gelatin and glue. 1922 McGraw $6; 30s 668

1 Gelatine 2 Glue 22-15982

"There is an introductory chapter on historical and statistical considerations, after which come five chapters on the theoretical aspects. . . The second part of the book deals with the technological aspects." Journal of physical chemistry

"An excellent book which will be of value to both the chemist and manufacturer. . . The latter is only catered for indirectly . . . the details of practical manufacture are too scanty to be of much use to him. What he can learn is the scientific principles underlying the various operations." Journal of the Society of chemical industry

Hausbrand, Eugen

Principles and practice of industrial distillation; tr. from the 4th, new and enl German ed by E. H. Tripp. 1925 Wiley $5; Chapman 21s 668

1 Distillation [26-1710]

"The first part of this standard work deals with the theory of distillation in its relation to apparatus, with a chapter on actual construction, as well as the chief equations required in calculation. Part 2 gives detailed examples of the distillation of eleven pairs of substances. Part 3 contains 68 detailed tables, while Part 4 has several useful charts." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Hawley, Lee Fred

Wood distillation. (American chemical soc. Monograph ser.) 1923 Chemical catalog co. $3 668

1 Wood distillation 23-10265

"Deals, in separate sections, with hardwood and resinous wood distillation. As an introduction to each section, a concise account is given of the plant and methods of operation adopted in commercial practice, the remainder of the section being devoted to the chemistry of the raw material, process and products." Chemistry and industry

Poucher, William Arthur

* Perfumes, cosmetics & soaps, with especial reference to synthetics. 2v 1929-32 Van Nostrand v 1 $6.50, v2 $9; Chapman v 1 21s, v2 30s 668

1 Cosmetics 2 Perfumery 3 Soap (Agr33-153)

A considerably enlarged edition of a book which first appeared in one volume in 1923. Contents: v 1 Being a dictionary of raw materials together with an account of the nomenclature of synthetics. 3d ed v2 Being a treatise on practical perfumery. 4th ed

"The book will no doubt be most useful to the practical perfumer, for whose benefit it has been compiled. It will also afford much pleasant entertainment to any ordinary human being of a philosophical disposition who may meet with it in his leisure time." Nature

"Cyclopaedia of perfumery" by E. J. Parry (2v 1925 Blakiston $10; Churchill 36s) is a useful handbook on the raw materials used by the perfumer, their origin, properties, character and analysis

Rahm, Louis Frank

Plastic molding. 1933 McGraw $3; 18s 668

1 Plastic materials 33-34130

"An introduction to the materials, equipment and methods used in the fabrication of plastic products." Subtitle

"A general view of the methods and equipment used in the molding of plastics is presented. The physical characteristics of the important plastics are set forth. The design of molds is discussed in detail and attention is paid to molding presses and other equipment and the erection of molding plants." Mechanical engineering

Redgrove, Herbert Stanley

Scent and all about it; a popular account of the science and art of perfumery. 1928 Heinemann 3s 6d 668

1 Perfumery 29-13851

"Interesting reading for general readers who may be interested in knowing something of the history, nature, and modes of preparation of the perfumes which they use. Not detailed enough to be considered as a manual for perfume manufacturers, although the bibliography, pp.93-95, would be useful reference for such readers." Donald Hendry

Stanislaus, Ignatius Valerius Stanley, and Meerbott, P. B.

American soap maker's guide. 3d ed 1928 Baird $7.50 668

1 Soap 2 Candles 3 Toilet preparations 28-30189

"The 3d edition of Brannt's 'Practical treatise on the manufacture of soap and candles.'"

"An up-to-date treatise on the art and science of the manufacture of soaps, candles and allied toilet preparations. The most complete and exhaustive book in the English language. Partly based on Brannt's 'Soapmaker's hand book.'" Title page

669 METALLURGY

Three additional titles which will interest libraries needing more material are:
Evans, U. R. Metals and metallic compounds 4v 1923 Longmans v 1 $7, v2, 4 ea $6, v3 $4.75; Arnold, E. & co. v 1 21s, v2, 4 ea 18s, v3 14s An important advanced treatise for the metallurgical and inorganic chemist
Gowland, William. Metallurgy of the nonferrous metals. 4th ed rev by C. O. Bannister 1930 Lippincott $15; Griffin 30s A standard British book
Greaves, R. H., and Wrighton, Harold. Practical microscopical metallography. 2d ed 1933 Van Nostrand $7.50; Chapman 18s Deals with the structure of the important industrial metals and alloys

Bray, John Leighton
Principles of metallurgy. (Engineering ser.) 1929 Ginn $5.80; 30s 669
1 Metallurgy 29-13598

"A textbook covering ores and their treatment, the reduction and refining of common metals, refractories, fuels and metallography. Diagrams and illustrations help to clarify the text. A bibliography follows each chapter." Industrial arts index

"The author has achieved a handy yet comprehensive, concisely written text that will conserve the time of both teacher and student. The printing is well done." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Hayward, Carle Reed
Outline of metallurgical practice. 1929 Van Nostrand $7.50 669
1 Metallurgy 29-19499

"An elementary text outlining the metallurgy of most of the metals. The author's purpose was, first, to provide engineers with a quick reference book giving modern practice in extracting and refining and also information regarding sources, uses, and important alloys of the metals; and second, to assist students who are beginning their metallurgical studies and are lacking practical experience. Supplementary reading suggestions following each chapter are selective rather than exhaustive." Industrial arts index

Very fully illustrated by photographs and drawings

Liddell, Donald Macy
* (ed.) Handbook of non-ferrous metallurgy. 2v 1926 McGraw $12; 72s 669
1 Metallurgy 26-13894

"This work, by 36 specialists, is designed for the student as well as for the engineer and consultant, with enough advanced material to make it useful to the experienced metallurgist. Volume 1 treats of metallography, crushing and grinding, screening, fuels, refractories and various other processes and materials common to all metallurgical operations. Volume 2 deals with each particular metal." N. Y. public lib. New technical books

Liddell, Donald Macy, and Doan, Gilbert Everett
Principles of metallurgy. (Metallurgical texts) 1933 McGraw $5.50 669
1 Metallurgy 33-29981

"The authors have attempted to produce a text that would fulfill two functions: give the engineering student who did not purpose to take up metallurgy as a life work, a general view of the subject, and yet give the student who intended to become a metallurgist a proper foundation for his vocation. . . There has been the intention to fix the thought that metallurgy is not a rigid science but is an art based on economics and that profit rather than perfection is the aim." Preface

National metals handbook. 1933 ed 1933 Am. soc. for steel treating $10 669
1 Metals (27-12046)

Published at frequent intervals in revised and enlarged form. Formerly published under title: A. S. S. T. handbook

"A wealth of tabular and textual information on heat treatment of metals, carburizing, steels and alloying elements, cast iron, pyrometry, metallography, testing, furnaces, forging, References at many of the section endings." N. Y. public lib. New technical books

Scott, Wilfred Welday
Chemical methods for the analysis of metallurgical products. 2d ed 1928 Van Nostrand $8; Lockwood, C. 50s 669
1 Metallurgical analysis 28-7687

Published 1923 under title: "Technical methods in analysis of metallurgical and allied products." In the 1928 edition the introductory chapters have been rewritten and a thoro revision of the whole text made

"A large amount of information, covering a wider field than might be expected from the metallurgical title, is contained in this one volume. For either the metallurgical chemist or the general inorganic analyst who does not have ready access to the larger 'Standard Methods,' this new volume should prove a valuable working and reference manual, less expensive, and more compact than its parent volumes." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Stoughton, Bradley, and Butts, Allison
Engineering metallurgy; a textbook for users of metals. (Metallurgical texts) 2d ed 1930 McGraw $4; 20s 669
1 Metallurgy 30-31986

In the second edition, a number of additions have been made, and the book has been revised to bring it up to date

"Constitutes a concise introduction to the subject, but is intended mainly for engineering students who will be engaged in utilization rather than production of metals. Stress is, therefore, placed on tests and comparative properties." Pittsburgh

Vickers, Charles
Metals and their alloys. 1923 Baird o.p. 1933 669
1 Alloys 2 Metals 23-5943

"A modern practical work dealing with metals from their origin to their useful application—both individually and as parts of alloys—used where strength, ductility, toughness, lightness, color, hardness, cheapness, conductivity, or bearing properties are demanded; partly based on the third edition of Metallic alloys, by William T. Brannt." Subtitle

Wilhelm, Donald George
‡ Book of metals. 1932 Harper $4; 15s 669
1 Metals 32-8017

"A useful book devoting a chapter each to the familiar metals, iron, steel, aluminum, copper, zinc, and the others. Popularly written, treating of the sources and uses of each. Large print, well illustrated." Wis. bul.

"This book should be of general interest. It is not written in technical language but on the contrary goes to the other extreme of being ultra-popular in style, dramatizing too many commonplace happenings and surrounding excellent description with too much narrative. The book contains many data both useful and informing. It also is authentic, for, as the author states, each chapter has been read and approved by well-qualified metallurgists." Engineering news-record

Williams, Robert Seaton, and Homerberg, Victor O.

* Principles of metallography. (International chemical ser.) 2d ed 1928 McGraw $3; 18s 669

1 Metallography 28-6553

"A good introductory book, which gives a sound, clear exposition of the fundamentals of metallography and alloys. It has been brought up to date." Bkl.

669.1 Iron and steel

Backert, Adolphus Otto

(ed.) A B C of iron and steel. 5th ed 1925 Penton pub. $6; 30s 669.1

1 Iron 2 Steel 3 Iron industry and trade 4 Steel industry and trade 25-10964

"An authoritative, interesting book on the whole field of iron and steel production from ore mining through the processes of manufacture of iron and steel and their products. Contains statistics of the industry and a classified directory of manufacturers. 271 illustrations. The first edition appeared in 1915." Donald Hendry

Boylston, Herbert Melville

* Introduction to the metallurgy of iron and steel. 1928 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 669.1

1 Iron—Metallurgy 2 Steel—Metallurgy 28-1057

"The author explains in the Preface that the book is intended not only to reach students in engineering and evening schools, but also to interest the men who work in steel mills. It should prove well adapted for such readers, and will be found interesting reading for others whose knowledge of special branches of ferrous metallurgy may be profound but who do not feel fully informed on the subject in its broadest aspects." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Bullens, Denison K.

* Steel and its heat treatment. 3d ed 1927 Wiley $5; Chapman 31s 669.1

1 Steel 27-21762

"A revised edition in which old material has been expanded and brought up to date, and new chapters included. The book is now divided into three sections: the metallurgical, the engineering, and the production." Bkl.

"Probably the outstanding book of its kind." Metal industry

Camp, James McIntyre, and Francis, Charles Blaine

* Making, shaping and treating of steel. 4th ed 1925 Carnegie steel co. $7.50, to libraries $3 669.1

1 Steel—Metallurgy 25-20365

"Particularly good from a practical stand point." Crane and Patterson's Guide to the literature of chemistry

"An admirable work; the most complete, up-to-date book on the subject. Libraries should order direct form publisher and remit net price with order." Donald Hendry

Grossmann, Marcus Aurelius, and Bain, Edgar Collins

High speed steel. 1931 Wiley $3.50; Chapman 17s 6d 669.1

1 Tool-steel 31-1977

"A survey of manufacture, properties, and use, emphasizing the fundamental metallurgical principles responsible for the properties and behavior of the steel." Pittsburgh

"The authoritativeness with which the book is written, the clarity of understanding of the problem and the clarity of expression of the facts and principles make its class very high. It is not only an extremely informative book, but it is a fine specimen of technical writing." Metals and alloys

Rosenholtz, Joseph Leon

Elements of ferrous metallurgy. 1930 Wiley $3; Chapman 18s 6d 669.1

1 Iron—Metallurgy 2 Steel—Metallurgy 30-14376

"Well illustrated introductory textbook for technical high schools and colleges. Deals with the fundamental principles of manufacture by the various processes, foundry work, the iron-carbon system, mechanical and heat treatment of steel, constitution of carbon steels, simple steel analysis, alloy steels, cast irons, and malleable cast iron. The author, who is associated with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, aims at simplicity and omits confusing details." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Sauveur, Albert

Metallography and heat treatment of iron and steel. 3d ed 1926 McGraw $8; 48s 669.1

1 Iron—Metallography 2 Steel—Metallography [26-11695]

An excellent text book, which incorporates in this edition the advances made in the subject since the earlier edition of 1915. Contains bibliographies

"Students seeking self-instruction will find in the book an arrangement especially suited to their needs; teachers, a textbook; manufacturers, much practical information; and the general reader, instruction couched in readily understood language. Controversial matter or speculative theories are not included in this treatise." Journal of the Society of automotive engineers

Sherry, Ralph Harrison

Steel treating practice. 1929 McGraw $4; 20s 669.1

1 Steel 29-29576

"Presents simple basic principles as bearing on practice and standard methods, with industrially important variations. Not for the technician but for the man desiring a general view of the field." Cleveland

"Lectures on steel and its treatment" by J. F. Keller (2d ed completely rev and rewritten 1930 Am. soc. for steel treating $3.50) is a good elementary work which is useful for the beginner

Sisco, Frank Thayer

Manufacture of electric steel. 1924 McGraw $3; 15s 669.1

1 Steel—Electrometallurgy 24-899

"Includes general consideration of various types of furnace but does not go into details of design. Is the first book to deal at all adequately with metallurgical problems, melting practice, and furnace operation." Pittsburgh

Spring, La Verne Ward

‡ Non-technical chats on iron and steel, and their application to modern industry. new and rev ed 1927 Stokes $4 669.1

1 Iron 2 Steel 27-3718

"This edition has been enlarged over a hundred pages and more than fifty illustrations added. New chapters describe the more important improvements including an account of the new stainless steels and iron; the science of making physical tests at high temperatures; and the x-ray as applied to iron and steel. References: p452-460." Bkl.

"A book intended, as its name implies, for the general reader. . . His aim has been 'to present only the main points and to show the derivation of the products from the raw materials and their relationships to each other.' References are provided for further reading and study. . . The illustrations are numerous and very well reproduced." Book rev. digest

Stoughton, Bradley
Metallurgy of iron and steel. 4th ed 1934 McGraw $4; 24s 669.1

1 Iron—Metallurgy 2 Steel—Metallurgy [23-16604]

First published 1911. Now completely revised, rewritten and rearranged in accordance with the most recent practices. Enlarged by 40 pages

"An important feature is the bibliography, which not only lists the more important sources of information, but gives judicious comments thereon." Pittsburgh

Walter Lister's "Practical steelmaking" (1929 Chapman 25s) is an operating guide for use in steel mills describing the various processes. Written for English practice

Thum, Ernest Edgar
(ed.) Book of stainless steels; corrosion resisting and heat resisting chromium alloys. 1933 Am. soc. for steel treating $5 669.1

1 Chrome steel 2 Chromium alloys 33-36369

"The contributions are by experts in the metallurgy and use of steel alloys and consider their production and fabrication, the properties of typical alloys, the requirements of the consuming industries and of special interest to the special librarian a classification of trade names and index of stainless acid and heat resisting alloys made in America." Industrial arts index

J. H. G. Monypenny's "Stainless iron and steel" (2d ed 1931 Wiley $7; Chapman 25s) is a comprehensive treatment on this subject, by an English authority. Useful especially in larger libraries

Tiemann, Hugh Philip
* Iron and steel (a pocket encyclopedia). 3d ed 1933 McGraw $4; 24s 669.1

1 Iron 2 Steel 33-4410

First published 1910. "Retains the encyclopedic arrangement of previous editions with enough new material covering recent developments to enlarge the book by seventy-five pages. New diagrams and references to recent literature." Bkl.

A useful small reference book, which includes allied industries and sciences. It gives definitions, properties, etc.

Walker, John Bernard
Story of steel. 1926 Harper $3; 7s 6d 669.1

1 Steel industry and trade 26-15055

"Most of the material was formerly published as a series of articles in the 'Scientific American.'" Preface

"The volume presents in a very compact and yet readable form a general survey of the steelmaking industry which the engineering student will find very valuable and the general reader will discover to be richly informing upon a subject of universal interest." N.Y. Times

669.2 Gold and silver

All of the metals covered by the class numbers, 669.2-669.7 are well dealt with in Liddell's "Handbook of non-ferrous metallurgy." (class 669) This work will suffice for the needs of many small libraries

Two books, unfortunately out of print, 1933, which are recommended if available, are:
White, Benjamin. Gold, its place in the economy of mankind. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1920 Pitman
White, Benjamin. Silver; its intimate association with the daily life of man. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1920 Pitman

669.3 Copper. Bronze

"Metallurgy of bronze" by H. C. Dews (1930 Pitman $3.75; 12s 6d) is a useful book for libraries having a call for this material

Hofman, Heinrich Oscar
Metallurgy of copper. 2d ed rev by C. R. Hayward 1924 McGraw $5; 30s 669.3

1 Copper—Metallurgy 24-28589

"Deals mainly with American practice, treating the subject more fully than any other work published. The second edition represents a thorough revision, but gives somewhat less attention to references to other literature." Pittsburgh

"Copper from the ore to the metal" by H. F. K. Picard (2d ed 1928 Pitman $1; 3s) is a brief outline of the processes employed in production of copper. One of "Pitman's common commodities of commerce" series

669.4 Lead

Smythe, John Armstrong
Lead. (Monographs on industrial chemistry) 1923 Longmans $5.25; 16s 669.4

1 Lead 23-18287

"Its occurence in nature, the modes of its extraction, its properties and uses, with some account of its principal compounds." Subtitle

A more desirable title for a small library, unfortunately out of print, 1933, is O. C. Harn's "Lead, the precious metal" (1924 Century)

669.5 Zinc

Hofman, Heinrich Oscar
Metallurgy of zinc and cadmium. 1922 McGraw $4; 20s 669.5

1 Zinc 2 Cadmium 22-2031

"It covers zinc and cadmium from every angle from the mine to the finished product, chemical or metal. Its value is enhanced by the fact that it covers so completely the foreign methods of abstracting zinc which are so important and about which it has always been so difficult to obtain accurate information. There are excellent chapters on the industrial uses, alloys and compounds of zinc which bring the book close to the metallurgist's and manufacturer's interest in zinc from the standpoint of its industrial uses and forms." Metal industry

Bibliographical footnotes

Lones, Thomas East
Zinc and its alloys. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1919 Pitman $1; 3s 669.5

1 Zinc GS20-328

Contents: Zinc: its history, properties, and uses; Zinc ores and other sources of zinc; Dressing zinc ores; Calcining and roasting zinc ores; Zinc smelting; Hydrometallurgical processes; Alloys of zinc

"An excellent example of what such books ought to be. It is a pity that the author did not keep clear altogether of chemical equations, which he might easily have done in a purely popular treatise." Nature

669.6 Tin

Mantell, Charles Letnam
Tin, its mining, production, technology, and applications. (American chemical soc. Monograph ser.) 1929 Chemical catalog co. $5.25 669.6

1 Tin 29-22211

While this is the only comprehensive book on this subject, it will not be needed in all libraries

"A valuable contribution not only to this excellent series of monographs but also to the literature of tin. While there are other books on tin which treat a single aspect of the subject in greater detail, no other book on tin approaches this one in general comprehensiveness." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

"Tin and the tin industry; the metal history, character and application" by A. H. Mundey one of the "Pitman's common commodities and industries" series (1925 Pitman $1; 3s) is a less expensive book which contains concise information about the history of tin and its uses

669.7 Platinum. Aluminum

R. J. Anderson's "Secondary aluminum" (1931 Sherwood press $8; Chapman 42s) discusses the special problems of secondary and scrap aluminum, the metallurgy, technology, economics and utilization

Budgen, Norman Frederick

Aluminium and its alloys; their production, properties, and applications. 1933 Pitman $4.50; 15s 669.7

1 Aluminium 2 Aluminium alloys 33-9836

"To provide for the less technical reader a handbook intentionally treating of the whole subject in a relatively popular manner and without going into too great technical detail. . . It is not intended either for the specialist or for the advanced student." Preface

N. F. Budgen's "Heat-treatment and annealing of aluminum and its alloys" (1932 Sherwood press $7.50; Chapman 25s) is a well illustrated book of which Metallurgia says it is "the first book to be published on this subject and should be in the hands of all who are associated with work in aluminum"

* Aluminum industry; with the collaboration of a group of experts from the staff of Aluminum company of America. (Chemical engineering ser.) 2v 1930 McGraw $12; 72s 669.7

1 Aluminium 2 Aluminium alloys 30-11822

"Volume 1 of this outstanding comprehensive work covers the history of the subject, the mining and refining of ores, and the production of the metal. Volume 2 deals with the properties of aluminium, the fabrication of products and their numerous applications in the industries. A multitude of literature and patent references." N.Y public lib. New technical books

"The praise which is due this work . . . is unmixed with a feeling of envy for the men who have succeeded in turning out a book nearly free from shortcomings." Metal industry

Smith, Ernest Alfred

Platinum metals. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1924 Pitman $1; 3s 669.7

1 Platinum 25-13990

"A useful little work upon platinum and the metals associated with it, though it must be admitted that the latter received but little, most people will probably say too little, attention. Some of them, such as iridium and palladium, deserve considerably more consideration than the book before us has given to them. Upon the whole the work may be described as accurate, although the author has not availed himself so fully as he might have done of previously published and readily available information." Nature

669.8 Furnaces

"Blast furnace practice" by Fred Clements (3v 1929 Benn ea 63s) is an authoritative and important work, probably the best in its field, which will interest larger libraries

Johnson, Joseph Esrey

Blast-furnace construction in America. 1917 McGraw $5; 25s 669.8

1 Blast furnaces 17-9602

"Authoritative treatise on the manufacture of pig iron according to American practice. Considers handling of raw materials, filling the blast-furnace, boiler-plant, blowing apparatus, hot-blast stoves, construction of the blast-furnace stack, cleaning and washing the gas, handling the iron and cinder, auxiliaries and general arrangement of plants, and the dry blast. Includes results of author's original research." Donald Hendry

The author's "Principles, operation and products of the blast furnace" (1918 McGraw $6; 30s) is a companion volume

Mawhinney, Matthew H.

Practical industrial furnace design. 1928 Wiley $4; Chapman 25s 669.8

1 Furnaces 28-21574

A technical treatise which will interest larger libraries and also smaller ones which have need for this material. Revised and enlarged from a series of articles in "Forging—stamping—heat treating"

"A discussion of practical methods for the solution of the problems and difficulties most frequently met in the selection, design, and operating of industrial heating furnaces as distinguished from melting furnaces." Combustion

Norton, Frederick Harwood

Refractories. 1931 McGraw $6; 36s 669.8

1 Refractory materials 31-25559

"Although the effort is aimed chiefly at the needs of the refractory maker and ceramist, the user has not been forgotten. In addition to the sections on manufacture, perhaps a third of the book is given over to the properties of refractory materials, and to sections on refractory shapes, cements and plastics, all subjects of prime interest to every engineer who must depend on heat-resisting construction." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

Trinks, Willibald

Industrial furnaces. 2v 1925-26 Wiley v 1 $4.50, v2 $5.50; Chapman v 1 28s, v2 34s 669.8

1 Furnaces (26-9716)

Volume 1, 2d ed, 1926

"To make this new edition as useful as possible, the most important and outstanding developments in the field of industrial furnaces (as far as they pertain to Volume 1) have been gathered together and included in an Appendix." Preface to second edition

"At last a worth-while book on industrial heating furnaces has arrived. . . Takes up the practical side of furnaces and their applications and thoroughly treats of the principles and practices of today." Electrical world

670 MANUFACTURES

A useful reference book is the "Census of manufactures: 1929" (3v 1933 Supt. of doc. v 1, 3 ea $1.75, v2 $3) Taken as part of the 15th decennial census, 1930

A useful non-technical series of small books is "Pitman's common commodities and industries" series (Pitman ea $1; 3s). Some of the most useful volumes are entered with the specific subjects in this catalog

Clark, Victor Selden

History of manufactures in the United States. 3v 1929 McGraw set $15; 75s 670

1 U.S.—Manuf. 2 U.S.—Indus. 29-10065

"Much valuable reference material on the history of American manufacturers." Mudge

Clark, Victor S.—Continued

"These volumes comprise a revision of History of manufactures in the United States 1607-1860, published in 1916, a continuation of this history down to 1914 and additional chapters reviewing the principal facts of our manufacturing development from the beginning of the world war to the present time." Preface

"Part of a series of Contributions to the economic history of the United States, begun under the Department of economics and sociology of the Carnegie institution of Washington and continued by the Board of research associates in American economic history." Introductory note

Keir, Robert Malcolm

Manufacturing. 1928 Ronald $5 670

1 U.S.—Manuf. 2 U.S.—Indus. 28-22931

"Presents concisely the development of some of the more important manufacturing activities in the United States." Pittsburgh

"Those who know Professor Keir's Manufacturing Industries of America published in 1920 will recognize in this volume the same material revised in detail and enlarged to approximately double its former size. The revision is the first volume of a series to be known as Industries of America and to include volumes by various authors on agriculture, lumber, mining, finance, transportation, communication, geography, and economics." Amer. econ. rev.

Warshow, Herman Thomas

* (ed.) Representative industries in the United States. (American business ser.) 1928 Holt $5, students' ed $4; Allen, G. 18s 670

1 U.S.—Indus. 2 U.S.—Manuf. 28-13679

"The contributors to this volume are twenty-one leaders of American industry, each writing of the particular industry with which he is identified. While not exhaustive, the book offers a comprehensive survey of the country's leading industries." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

671 METAL WORK

In this Catalog material on founding has been classed in 621.74

Berg, Edward, and Wing, Bristol E.

* Essentials of metalworking; a textbook for schools and shops. 1927 Manual arts press $1.32 671

1 Metal work 27-8171

An elementary textbook describing metalworking tools and their uses, and processes common to metalworking shops. Well illustrated

Bollinger, Joseph Walter

Elementary wrought iron. 1930 Bruce pub. $1.32 671

1 Ironwork 30-7396

"Describes the materials and tools used, and gives detailed descriptions of twenty-four basic operations to be employed in the projects suggested. The projects range from simple processes to the more difficult and include magazine baskets, end tables, fern stands, andirons, candlesticks, lamps and other articles. Illustrated." Ontario library review

Butler, John B.

Problems in metal work. 1929 Manual arts press o.p. 1933 671

1 Sheet-metal work 2 Metal work 29-30527

"Contains general information pertaining to the organization and equipment, as well as the methods used in teaching the subject." Preface

Crane, Edward Villeroy

Plastic working of metals and power-press operations. 1932 Wiley $4; Chapman 25s 671

1 Metal work 2 Dies 32-30870

"An excellent book on properties of metals and modern methods of hot and cold working. Concerned to a considerable extent with steel." Pittsburgh

Field, Samuel, and Bonney, Samuel Robert

Chemical coloring of metals and allied processes. 1925 Van Nostrand $4; Chapman 10s 6d 671

1 Metals—Coloring [25-10571]

"Describes a large number of methods for protective or decorative surface treatment of various metals. A practical work for the craftsman." Pittsburgh

Grayshon, Alfred B.

General metal work. 1930 Van Nostrand $1.70; Chapman 8s 6d 671

1 Metal work 30-5870

"A textbook for use in junior high, continuation, and manual arts schools. Has chapters on sheet metal work, vise work, drilling, taps and dies, lathe work, and sixty-four projects with operation sheets. Includes reference tables. A suggestive book for teachers. Distinctly a school textbook, not for the amateur worker. Author is instructor in metal work and machine shop practice in Philadelphia high schools." Donald Hendry

Petersen, Louis Christian

101 metal working projects; a guide in shopwork for students in secondary, continuation, and vocational schools. 1929 Bruce pub. $2 671

1 Metal work 29-23724

"These problems in machine-shop work are graded according to difficulty of technique, ranging from such simple projects as the making of scribers and box corners to vises and universal joints. Complete working drawings and directions for each operation." Bkl.

"Metal work for schools" by J. G. Stevens and F. J. May (1932 Harrap 10s 6d) is a well illustrated English text

Van Leuven, Edwin Perry

Cold metal working; an introductory course to the metal trades. 1931 McGraw $2.25; 13s 6d 671

1 Metal work 31-30299

"Designed to give the student facility with hand tools before beginning forging, and to figure stock. There are numerous job-sheets, each covering the making of some useful article. Author is an instructor in the Union High School and Junior College, Bakersfield, California." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Williams, Hall V., pseud.

New tinsmith's helper and pattern book. 7th ed 1927 Scientific bk. corp. $3 671

1 Tinsmithing [23-2393]

With the exception of the chapter on mensuration and some fifty pages of problems and tables, this edition is practically rewritten and enlarged by 338 pages and almost 200 figures

"A practical explanation of the properties of circles, the mensuration of surfaces and solids, simple geometrical drawings . . . with one hundred and sixty five tables and many shop kinks, recipes and formulas." Subtitle

Yates, Raymond Francis

Soldering and brazing. 1920 Henley pa 75c 671

1 Solder and soldering 20-7350

"Practical handbook giving formulae for solders and methods used in soft soldering, hard soldering, and brazing." Pittsburgh

671W Welding

In the Decimal classification there is no separate number for books on welding, and they may be put with other books in 671. For libraries where it is a convenience to have them separate it is suggested that W be added to the class number

American welding society. Educational committee

Gas welding and cutting; instructions for beginners. rev 1929 The society 50c 671W

1 Welding 2 Metal-cutting 30-20615

Contains character of gases, materials and apparatus for welding and cutting, general directions for use and problems in welding cast iron, wrought iron, steel and non-ferrous metals

Hendricks, Meredith Sherwood

Oxy-acetylene welder's handbook; a complete and practical manual of modern practice. 1929 Welding engineer $2 671W

1 Welding 29-18062

Contents: Welding gases; Welding equipment; Setting up equipment; Methods of welding; Preparation for welding; Inspecting the weld; Training operators; Welding properties of common metals; Testing; Important applications

"Few engineers will ever handle a welding torch themselves, but yet will find this handbook of value. While it is written in a simple and non-technical manner for use by the practical welder, very little of the information in its 200 pages is of a type to be out of place in the library of the engineer who designs for or specifies welding." Chemical and metallurgical engineering

"Oxy-acetylene welding and cutting; a course of instruction" by Stuart Plumley (2d ed 1931 University printing co. $5) is a practical textbook, well adapted to trade school courses

Lincoln electric company, Cleveland

Procedure handbook of arc welding design and practice. new and enl ed 1934 The company $1.50 671W

1 Electric welding 34-9870

"The text is clear and concise, and the many photographs and diagrams are apropos. Valuable data are given on procedure, speeds and welding costs. . . Will appeal alike to the designer and maintenance man, while departmental heads as well as welders will also find a great deal of value." Welding engineer

Mackenzie, Louis Burton, and Card, Harold Sumner

* (eds.) Welding encyclopedia. 8th ed 1932 Welding engineer $5 671W

1 Welding [30-9002]

A practical reference book which is subject to frequent revision

"Valuable compilation of matter on the processes, materials, apparatus and methods employed in gas torch, electric, and thermit welding, together with much related matter. Contains a trade catalogue section." Donald Hendry

674 Lumber. Forest products

Brown, Nelson Courtlandt

* Forest products, their manufacture and use. 2d ed rev 1927 Wiley $4; Chapman 25s 674

1 Forest products 27-17771

"Embracing the principal commercial features in the production, manufacture, and utilization of the most important forest products other than lumber in the United States." Subtitle

Bryant, Ralph Clement

Logging. 2d ed rev 1923 Wiley $4.50; Chapman 28s 6d 674

1 Lumbering 23-18035

Prepared for use in schools of forestry. It covers all parts of the work connected with logging, including forest resources and the getting out of the logs. Bibliography and illustrations

"A very useful addition to the scanty literature on the subject in the English language." Nature

Lumber, its manufacture and distribution. 1922 Wiley $4.50; Chapman 28s 6d 674

1 Lumber 22-17619

"Textbook for use in schools of forestry, but valuable to anyone interested in the subject. . . Begins with mill location and equipment and follows the details of lumber manufacture and markets, trade associations, grades and inspection of lumber, tariffs, etc. Many useful tables and other data are appended. A bibliography is included." Donald Hendry

Kellogg, Royal Shaw

‡ Lumber and its uses. 4th ed rev and enl 1931 Scientific bk. corp. $4 674

1 Lumber 31-10652

"The present edition, the fourth, follows the structural lines of its predecessors, but every chapter and every paragraph have been revised, where necessary, to align them with the developments of wood technology, use and manufacture technique. Important new matter in this edition is that relating to American Lumber Standards. . . Much new material, both text and illustrations, has been added upon the use of lumber and timber for purposes of general construction." Foreword

"Contains useful information on the properties, preservation and commercial uses of lumber." Ontario library review

Koehler, Arthur, and Thelen, Rolf

Kiln drying of lumber. (Industrial education ser.) 1926 McGraw $3; 18s 674

1 Lumber 26-4158

"A text intended for a correspondence-study course at the University of Wisconsin, which presents simply and accurately the principles underlying the successful seasoning of lumber in kilns. Several chapters are devoted to the behavior of wood under various conditions of moisture, and the importance of keeping the drying process right is emphasized." Bkl.

"Kiln drying of lumber" by H. D. Tiemann (4th ed 1921 Lippincott $5; 25s) is another reliable book on the subject

Newell, Adnah Clifton

Wood and lumber. 1927 Manual arts press $2.25 674

1 Wood 2 Lumber 27-23769

"Carefully organized discussions of such subjects as the structure, growth, characteristics, and chemistry of wood. . . To this illuminating and important theoretical knowledge, which is taken from the field of abstract science, there has been added much empirical and practical information that has been gleaned from the experience of practical lumbermen, mill operatives, and woodworkers. A very careful study has been made in order to find the fundamental information which is most essential to success in such trades as those of the cabinet-maker and general woodworker, and also to provide a background which should precede a course in wood-finishing." Preface

Noyes, William

Wood and forest. 1912 Manual arts press $4.25 674

1 Wood 2 Forests and forestry 12-7599

"Textbook giving information about our common woods, including their sources, growth, properties and uses. Describes 67 of the principal species of w[illegible] habitat, leaf drawings, life-size photographs and microphotographs. Profusely illustrated with photographs from U.S. Forest service." Publisher

675 LEATHER

Books on fur farming and on trapping are classed in this Catalog in 636.9

Three books noted for the benefit of libraries needing such material are:

Rogers, Allen. Practical tanning; partly based on the 3d ed of "Practical tanning," by L. A. Flemming. 1922 Baird $7.50; Lockwood, C. 45s A handbook covering the whole subject

Wilson, J. A. Chemistry of leather manufacture. (American chemical soc. Monograph ser.) 2d ed 2v 1928-29 Chemical catalog co. ea $7.50 A standard work useful for reference in larger libraries

Wilson, J. A., and Merrill, H. B. Analysis of leather and materials used in making it. 1931 McGraw $7 An authoritative book, valuable in a reference library and to the leather chemist

American leather producers, inc., New York
American leathers. 1929 Am. leather producers $1 675
1 Leather 2 Boots and shoes 29-18063
"Amply illustrated booklet that tells the layman and the retailer salient facts concerning many kinds of leather, their sources, preparation, and preservation." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Arnold, John Randall
* Hides and skins. (Raw material markets) 1925 McGraw $6; 36s 675
1 Hides and skins 25-27870
"Mr. Arnold ably discusses every kind of light and heavy hides and skins, domestic and foreign, their physical qualities, take-off and cure, grading, defects, trade organization and procedure and touches on the wide variety of leathers produced." Hide and leather

676 PAPER

Clapperton, George
* Practical paper-making. 3d ed rev by R. H. Clapperton 1926 Van Nostrand $2.50; Lockwood, C. 7s 6d 676
1 Paper making and trade [Agr26-932]
"A manual for paper-makers and owners and managers of paper mills." Subtitle
In the third edition some obsolete processes have been omitted and new ones added to bring the book up to date. Contains useful tables, calculations, data, etc.

An additional English text which will be useful in libraries needing more material is "Textbook of paper making" by C. F. Cross and E. J. Bevan (5th ed 1920 Spon $10; 30s)

Hunter, Dard
Paper-making in the classroom. 1931 Manual arts press $1.35 676
1 Paper making and trade 31-22670
"Concise, copiously illustrated, and nontechnical work by a well-known expert, covering primitive and ancient writing surfaces, a brief history of paper-making, modern rag processes, and instruction in paper-making for amateurs." N.Y. public lib. New technical

Joint executive committee of the vocational education committees of the pulp and paper industry of the United States and Canada
Manufacture of pulp and paper. 5v 1921-29 McGraw v 1-2 ea $5, v3-5 ea $6 676
1 Paper making and trade 2 Wood pulp (23-17934)
Contents: v 1 Mathematics, how to read drawings, physics; v2 Mechanics and hydraulics, electricity, chemistry; v3 Preparation of pulp. 2d ed; v4-5 Manufacture of paper. 2d ed
"A text book for workers and others employed in the paper industry, but good for the use of anyone desiring up-to-date practical information about the manufacture of pulp and paper as practiced in this country, the materials, processes and machinery employed." Donald Hendry

G. S. Witham's "Modern pulp and paper making" (1920 Chemical catalog co.) which describes the processes used in American mills, is unfortunately out of print, 1933

Maddox, Harry A.
Paper, its history, sources, and manufacture. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 4th ed 1933 Pitman $1; 3s 676
1 Paper making and trade 33-16186
First published 1916. The later editions contain minor changes only
"A book written with a view to acquainting the general reader with a full understanding of how raw material is converted into paper. . . Gives an excellent history of the introduction of early forms of crude paper from the East, together with matter relating to the making of paper in England and the Continent in early times." Inland printer
"Primarily for those concerned in making, handling or using paper, yet written in language intelligible to the general reader." Pittsburgh

Sutermeister, Edwin
Chemistry of pulp and paper making. 2d ed 1929 Wiley $6.50; Chapman 40s 6d 676
1 Paper making and trade 2 Wood pulp 29-8458
"In the second edition the author has brought the book up to date by the addition of much new material from his experience and from a review of the technical literature which has appeared since the publication of the first edition [1920]. . . The book is well arranged and well written in a clear and comprehensive manner and, although primarily intended as a reference book, it would seem to be equally useful as a textbook for students of pulp and paper making." Industrial and engineering chemistry

G. A. Jahans's "Paper testing and chemistry for printers" (1931 Pitman $3.75; 12s 6d) is a practical, simply written English text which gives fully the various methods of testing stationery and allied materials

677 TEXTILES

Books on weaving are not included here because they are included in class 745

Joseph Schober's "Silk and the silk industry; tr. by R. Cuthill" (1930 Constable 21s) is a reliable nontechnical survey of the history of silk culture, spinning, weaving and marketing, with something about the relation between natural and artificial silk

Avram, Moïs Herban
Rayon industry. 2d ed 1929 Van Nostrand $12; Constable 52s 6d 677
1 Silk, Artificial 30-1582
"A complete revision of the 1927 edition in which every process of manufacture and use of this artificial fiber is described in detail. The author is lecturer on industrial engineering in New York University." St Louis

"The author states in the Preface that the objects of his book are to attempt a comprehensive outline of the rayon industry, and to supply the ever increasing demand for 'information and facts so far as they are now known regarding the marvels of this latest textile fiber.' The book is written from the textile rather than the chemical viewpoint. Approximately the first half of the book is devoted to historical background. The second half of the book is devoted to a consideration of the four commercial processes for the manufacture of rayon, methods of testing and processing, and a list of pertinent patents." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Bray, Helen Agnes

* Textile fibers, yarns, and fabrics. (Century vocational ser.) 1929 Appleton-Century $2.50 677

1 Textile industry and fabrics 2 Fibers 3 Yarn 29-17910

"An excellent book for a general view of the subject. Simply and clearly written, and yet sufficiently technical to be useful as a reference work. Does not duplicate other books." Wis. bul.

"Gives so much of the story of textiles as will make of the reader a competent purchaser and user of fabrics. The book, covering the whole textile field, presents a course of study practicable for textile classes in high schools or colleges or for study classes in women's clubs. This volume then has every home-maker in mind as a possible reader. The maker and dealer in textiles and fabrics should also find the book helpful. A bibliography follows each of the four divisions of the subject." Industrial arts index

Brinton, Reginald Seymour

Carpets. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 2d ed 1932 Pitman $1; 3s 677

1 Carpets 34-3102

First published 1919. In the second edition the author has "endeavoured to bring up to date the developments, on the manufacturing side, of the past twelve years; and I have added an entirely new chapter on 'Complaints.'" Preface to the second edition

"This volume of Pitman's Common commodities and industries series comprises the following chapters: History; Materials; Dyeing; Handmade carpets; Brussels; Wilton; Axminster; Chenille; Tapestry; Ingrain; Design and colour; Statistics; Employers and employed; Conclusion. There are thirty illustrations and an index." Book rev. digest

Darby, William Dermot

Cotton, the universal fiber. rev ed 1932 Textile pub. co. $1.50 677

1 Cotton growing and manufacture 33-1065

"A survey of the cotton industry from the raw material to the finished product, including descriptions of manufacturing and marketing methods and a dictionary of cotton goods." Subtitle

Linen, the emblem of elegance. 1926 Textile pub. co. $1.50 677

1 Linen 26-17675

"A survey of linen manufacture from the raw material to the finished product, including a brief history of linen and a dictionary of linen fabrics. supplemented by chapters on the merchandising, display, and advertising of linens in the store." Subtitle

* Rayon, and other synthetic fibers. 1929 Textile pub. co. $1.50 677

1 Silk, Artificial 29-8455

"A brief account of the origin, development, use and manufacture of rayon, together with chapters on the merchandising and care of rayon fabrics." Subtitle

"A clear, concise, well-informed treatment of the subject. . . Likely to prove a convenient reference book for teachers and college students of textiles as well as for the general reader in search of readable information regarding this increasingly important addition to our textile fibers." Journal of home economics

Two other good books on the subject which will interest libraries having a special demand for the material are: Otto Faust's "Artificial silk" (1929 Pitman $3; 10s 6d) which is a comprehensive work translated from the German; and an English work by Edward Wheeler "Manufacture of artificial silk" (2d ed 1931 Van Nostrand $5; Chapman 12s 6d)

Denny, Grace Goldena

* Fabrics and how to know them. 3d ed rev 1928 Lippincott $1.50; 6s 677

1 Textile industry and fabrics 28-21337

"Definitions of fabrics; practical textile tests; classification of fabrics." Subtitle

"The book has been largely rewritten and expanded five pages. It now includes also rugs and carpets, knit goods, mechanical fabrics, and some imported materials for drapery purposes. Definitions arranged alphabetically. Good textile illustrations. No index." Bkl.

Libraries needing a more extensive dictionary of textiles will find the "Dictionary of textiles" by Louis Harmuth (3d ed enl 1924 Fairchild pub. co. $10) useful. It defines about 6600 terms

Dyer, Elizabeth

‡ Textile fabrics. 1923 Houghton $1.75 677

1 Textile industry and fabrics 23-6512

"How to select, use and care for textiles, both in clothing and house furnishings, with some attention to line and color; in concise textbook form. Fifty-nine page dictionary of staple textile fabrics; helpful illustrations." N.Y. state lib.

"Aside from the very interesting method of presentation which the author has given us in 'Textile Fabrics' and its many original features, the book recommends itself on several other counts. It is rich in practical suggestions and makes abundant use of concrete example." Journal of home economics

Gibbs, Charlotte Mitchell

Household textiles. 3d ed rev 1930 Barrows $1.50 677

1 Textile industry and fabrics 30-24886

"The revision for this edition has been made to bring the book up to date as to new terms, theories and methods. A Chapter on Rayon [by Margia B. Haugh] has been included to give a greater appreciation of the industry." Preface to the third edition

"Admirable popular survey from the viewpoint of the American consumer, describing the processes of manufacture of the more important textile fabrics and discussing tests, hygiene of clothing, design and color and labor conditions. Bibliography." N.Y. state lib.

Hess, Mrs Katharine (Paddock)

Textile fibers and their use. 1931 Lippincott $2.40; 10s 6d 677

1 Textile industry and fabrics 2 Fibers 31-31906

"College textbook, including laboratory exercises designed to enable the student to become familiar with fabrics, manufacturing processes, and simple methods of testing. There are chapters on dyeing, design, synthetic fibers,

Hess, Mrs Katharine P.—Continued
and choice and care of fabrics. Author is a professor in the Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Hunter, J. A.
Cloths and the cloth trade. (Pitman's common commodities and industries) 1926 Pitman $1; 3s 677
1 Textile industry and fabrics 27-1568
"For the general reader. Of British origin and relates to conditions in that country, but much of the matter is of general interest. The information is briefly stated and instructive." Donald Hendry

Johnson, George Henry
Textile fabrics. 1927 Harper o.p. 1933 677
1 Textile industry and fabrics 2 Laundry 27-18611
"Practical information for the housewife, teacher and launderer concerning the manner in which various types of fabric are likely to wear and launder. Weaving, bleaching, dyeing, printing, and finishing are discussed as well as natural agencies and corrosives that attack textiles. The illustrations are a valuable aid in the presentation of the subject. Bibliography and index." N.Y. libraries

Matthews, Joseph Merritt
* Textile fibers. 4th ed rewritten and enl 1924 Wiley $10; Chapman 62s 6d 677
1 Fibers 24-5705
"An excellent work treating the subject thoroughly. Considers animal, vegetable, mineral, and artificial fibers from various reclaimed materials. Discusses also analysis, waterproofing and flameproofing of fabrics. Is very comprehensive, including brief consideration of many products (for example, spun glass and spider silk) on which little information is available." Pittsburgh
Bibliography: p1021-34

Read, John
Elementary textile design and fabric structure. 1931 Longmans $1.75; Arnold, E. & co. 5s 677
1 Textile industry and fabrics 2 Textile design 32-11878
"It deals with the fundamental weaves requiring one warp and one weft, and, while there are complete designs given to cover each class, the bulk of the examples are incomplete in some respect. It is intended that the book shall afford an opportunity for the very necessary practice in squared paper designing, without which a student cannot become a successful cloth constructor. It is therefore as much an exercise-book as a textbook for fabric structure." Introduction
G. B. Haven's "Mechanical fabrics" (1932 Wiley $10; Chapman 62s 6d) deals with the construction, manufacture, testing and specification of various fabrics especially those adapted for engineering purposes such as tires, airplanes and balloons

Small, Cassie Paine
How to know textiles. 1925 Ginn $1.64; 8s 677
1 Textile industry and fabrics 25-10171
A volume intended primarily for high school and college classes, by a teacher experienced in retail store as well as school work. Includes information regarding production, manufacture, and trade, illustrations, practical suggestions for teachers, glossaries of materials and terms, and an abundance of bibliographical helps

"Architectural building construction" by W. R. Jaggard and F. E. Drury (2d ed 2v in 3 1922 Macmillan v 1 $3, v2 pt 1-2, ea $5; Cambridge univ. press v 1 7s 6d, v2 pt 1-2 ea 12s 6d) is an authoritative text book for the architectural and building student

Briggs, Martin Shaw
Short history of the building crafts. 1925 Oxford $3.50; 8s 6d 690

1 Building 2 Building trades 26-2918

"Based on lectures to architectural students at University College, London. The book is designed as collateral reading for students of architecture and of building construction. Traces, from earliest times, the history of brickwork, masonry, concrete, carpentry, joinery, ironwork, roof covering, plasterwork, external plumbing and glazing. Contains 238 illustrations." Donald Hendry

Dana, Richard Turner
Handbook of construction equipment, its cost and use. 2d ed 1926 Gillette pub. co. $6 690

1 Contractors' operations 2 Building 26-17677

In this edition "the introductory chapter . . . has been carefully revised and in part rewritten in order to fit present-day requirements." Preface to the second edition

"This book with its dictionary arrangement will appeal to the man who buys, sells or has use for engineering equipment. It [the 1921 edition] is virtually a new edition of the author's 'Handbook of construction plant,' published in 1914. . . Descriptions of apparatus and operation are unusually complete for so compact a work. Included is a classical list of manufacturers and dealers." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Gay, Charles Merrick, and Parker, Harry Ewing

Materials and methods of architectural construction. 1932 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d 690

1 Building 2 Building materials 32-24654

"It is not intended that this book is to supplant the more complete treatises on the many subjects discussed herein, but rather, its purpose is to condense in one volume essential information concerning materials as well as the fundamental theories pertaining to their use in building construction. Particular care has been taken in the arrangement of the subject matter so that it may lend itself to use as a text-book for classroom work." Preface

Halbert, Blanche

* (ed.) Better homes manual published in co-operation with Better homes in America. (Univ. of Chicago home economics ser.) 1931 Univ. of Chicago press $3; Cambridge univ. press 16s 6d 690

1 Dwellings 2 Architecture, Domestic 3 House decoration 31-29482

"Useful advice by many well informed persons. Deals with buying, building, outfitting, and maintaining the house and considers both city and rural homes." Pittsburgh

"It assembles compactly the results of work in a large number of specialized fields that have never before been brought together in one, or even a half dozen volumes. . . Altogether [it] is a most timely work, virtually indispensable to well-rounded treatment in home building and household management courses, and should be on the reference shelves of all public libraries." Journal of home economics

Hill, Charles Shattuck

Winter construction methods; processes and plant employed in prosecuting construction operations in cold weather. 1928 McGraw $3; 18s 690

1 Contractors' operations 2 Building 3 Concrete construction 28-25514

"To all constructors Mr. Hill's 'Winter Construction Methods' is an invaluable aid and an admirable book to be consulted and used. . . For many years the author has been interested in the problem of winter construction in the construction industry and has made exhaustive and painstaking economic studies of this subject. As a result the book contains much valuable information from authoritative sources." Engineering news-record

Hool, George Albert, and Johnson, Nathan Clarke

(eds.) Handbook of building construction. 2d ed 2v 1929 McGraw ea $5; 50s 690

1 Building 29-15121

"Data for architects, designing and constructing engineers, and contractors." Subtitle

"The first edition was published in 1920. For the present edition the matter has been completely revised and considerable additional matter has been included. An increased number of specialists collaborated in its preparation. The work is a standard covering its broad field comprehensively and in considerable detail and is well illustrated. Senior editor-in-chief is professor of structural engineering, University of Wisconsin." Donald Hendry

Huntington, Whitney Clark

* Building construction. 1929 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d 690

1 Building 2 Building materials 29-17109

"Deals with types of construction, materials, methods of estimating cost and cost keeping during construction, with particular attention to terminology. For students, architectural draftsmen, inspectors and superintendents." Cleveland

Phelan, Vincent Baldwin

‡ Care and repair of the home. (American home book of repairs) 1931 Doubleday, Doran $1 690

1 Repairing 2 Dwellings 31-2712

"A handbook prepared under the direction of the Division of building and housing of the United States Department of commerce [slightly abridged from the author's "Care and repair of the house, including minor improvements" (Supt. of doc. pa 15c)] Tells how to go about inspecting the house and its equipment, and how to repair and care for walls, roofs, doors and windows, plumbing, electrical equipment, etc. With appended list of addresses for other sources of information." Book rev. digest

"Especially timely in connection with present interest in minor house improvements as a means of combatting unemployment, but permanently valuable as a well-arranged, reliable little handbook of practical information for the home owner." Journal of home economics

Reigeluth, Ray John
Safety and economy in heavy construction. 1933 McGraw $2.50 690

1 Building—Accidents 2 Accidents—Prevention 33-29980

"Addressed to superintendents and foremen in charge of heavy construction work, in the interest of safety and economy in carrying on the operations. Describes and illustrates the equipment employed with practical examples of safety practice and of the hazards of carelessness, and contains much valuable advice." Pratt quarterly

Tucker, Milton
* Buying an honest house. 1930 Little $2 690

1 Building 2 Dwellings 30-8149

"A book that furnishes information long needed by the prospective buyer of a ready-made house. The author gives explicit suggestions for judging construction, presenting his material clearly and with apparent accuracy. Not the least attractive feature of the book are the plentiful drawings scattered through the text. With the accompanying legends they give much information in themselves and their humor is a delightful addition to the book." Wis. bul.

Underwood, G.
Standard construction methods. 2d ed 1931 McGraw $5; 30s 690

1 Building 2 Contractors' operations 32-26080

First published 1927. Second edition enlarged by 100 pages to bring the material up to date

"Covers methods of building construction in great detail. Clearly worded and well illustrated. Primarily for the contractor, but some of the suggestions should also be of interest to the property owner." Pittsburgh

691 MATERIALS. PRESERVATIVE PROCESSES

H. F. Weiss's "Preservation of structural timber" (2d ed rev and enl 1916 McGraw $3.50; 17s 6d) is a good treatise of importance in larger libraries

Bland, Miles Carlisle
Handbook of steel erection. 1923 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 691

1 Steel, Structural 2 Building, Iron and steel 23-4550

"A collection of experience notes, discussions and stress analyses of various erection tools such as locomotive cranes, derricks, and ginpoles, and solution of a number of specimen problems of steel erection, form the substance of this novel book." Engineering news-record

Burt, Henry Jackson
Steel construction; a text and reference book on the design of steel framework for buildings. rev by Herman Ritow 1931 Am. tech. soc. $2.50 691

1 Building, Iron and steel 2 Steel, Structural 31-2538

"A very useful handbook containing a great deal of valuable information on the design, not the erection, of steel buildings, except mill buildings. Valuable to structural designers, especially to young engineers. Much of the matter is original with the author. Instructors in engineering schools will find the book useful. Author was structural engineer for a firm of architects, and writes from large experience." Donald Hendry

Dencer, Frederick William
Detailing and fabricating structural steel. 2d ed 1930 McGraw $5; 25s 691

1 Steel, Structural 30-32189

In this edition "the original material has been extensively revised, old data being brought up to date and new material added. Many new drawings have been supplied, and the book has been entirely reset." Preface to second edition

"Treats in detail of the work performed in structural shops and drawing rooms where steel as it comes from the mills is fabricated into the variously dimensioned members required for structural purposes according to specifications." Donald Hendry

"A thoroughly practical manual for the use of those engaged in actual design." Engineering

Fish, Gilbert Dudley
Arc-welded steel frame structures. 1933 McGraw $5; 30s 691

1 Building, Iron & steel 2 Bridges 3 Electric welding 4 Steel, Structural 33-7532

"Arc-welded construction, rather than the arc-welding process, is the subject of the text, the plan being to give only the information needed to change from riveting and bolting to welding in steel frame construction. The book has been written from the viewpoint of the practicing engineer." Industrial arts index

Hauf, Harold Dana
Design of steel buildings. 1932 Wiley $2.75 691

1 Building, Iron and steel 33-24655

"General principles of structural design as applied to the more common types of buildings such as apartment houses, schools, office and institutional buildings, bearing in mind the requirements of young architects and engineers. An elementary knowledge of statics and strength of materials is assumed. Practical problems for solution. Author is instructor in architectural engineering in Yale University." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Holtman, Dudley Frank
Wood construction, principles—practices—details; a project of the National committee on wood utilization. 1929 McGraw $6; 30s 691

1 Wood 2 Building, Wooden 29-13877

"The first seven chapters include information on the factors affecting the use of wood in construction; lumber grading, grade provisions, and working stresses; the principal woods used in building and construction; the identification of common woods; preservation treatment; the use of paints and stains and methods of preventing termite damage. The last four chapters contain information on approved methods of using lumber in light building construction and millwork, and in both heavy timber and temporary construction." Preface

"He has not produced a work on the theoretical side, but one that is wholly practical in character. . . As a work of reference for the guidance of the designer as well as the actual constructor, it will be found invaluable." Engineering news-record

Ivey, George Franks
Physical properties of lumber. 1934 The author $1.50 691

* Properties and uses of wood. (Industrial education ser.) 1924 McGraw $3.50; 21s 691

1 Wood 24-19184

"A correspondence course textbook. Deals with the physical, mechanical and chemical properties of wood, wood seasoning and drying, deterioration and protection, the kinds of wood and their uses, commercial grading and standard sizes, etc. Useful to the forester, lumberman, manufacturer, dealer, builder, and woodworker. Much of the information is based on research work performed in the Forest products laboratory of the United States forest service." Donald Hendry

Leighou, Robert Benjamin

Chemistry of engineering materials. (International chemical ser.) 3d ed 1931 McGraw $4.50; 22s 6d 691

1 Chemistry, Technical 2 Building materials 31-5162

First published 1917 with title: "Chemistry of materials of the machine age." Revised 1925. The present edition has been enlarged by over one hundred pages; contains additional material on hydrogenation of coal, industrial uses of magnesium and cadmium and recent developments in cellulose nitrate lacquers

"A textbook for technical schools, considering from the standpoint of the user the chemistry of water, fuels, refractory materials, iron and steel, nonferrous materials and alloys, foundry sands, building stones, lime and gypsum products, cement, clay and its products, paints, varnishes, lubricants, glue, rubber, insulating materials, etc." Cleveland

Mills, Adelbert Philo

Materials of construction, their manufacture and properties. 4th ed, ed by H. W. Hayward 1931 Wiley $4; Chapman 25s 691

1 Building materials 31-17622

"The changes in the Fourth Edition consist in the revision of certain chapters that had become more or less obsolete, the addition of considerable new material and a rearrangement in the order of presentation which brings the metals first." Preface to fourth edition

"While it makes no pretense to the completeness of the earlier treatises by Johnson and Thurston, it amply satisfies the ordinary wants of both student and practitioner, although frankly directed more to the former than to the latter." Engineering news

Rawdon, Henry S.

Protective metallic coatings. (American chemical soc. Monograph ser.) 1928 Chemical catalog co. o.p. 1933 691

1 Corrosion and anti-corrosives 28-3570

"Discussion of various metallic coatings, including their usefulness and limitations, in a manner interesting to the non-technical reader as well as to the specialist, is the aim sought and achieved by the author." Industrial and engineering chemistry

Speller, Frank Newman

* Corrosion, causes and prevention: an engineering problem. 1926 McGraw $6; 36s 691

1 Corrosion and anti-corrosives 26-10656

"Comprehensive, authoritative treatment with special reference to ferrous metals and chief attention to practical problems. Based on a very thorough examination of existing literature and on the experience of the author who is Director of the metallurgical department of the National tube company." Pittsburgh

"Much of the information has not been previously published. The reader cannot expect to have every specific problem directly discussed in a work of this character, but any plant engineer who has a corrosion problem, or student interested in the generalities of the subject, can obtain the best available information from this work." Industrial engineering chemistry

"Corrosion of metals" by U. R. Evans (2d ed 1926 Longmans $5; Arnold, E. & co. 15s) is another treatise on the subject which treats of the various theories of corrosion of metals

1 Building—Estimates 30-15519

"A compact, well-arranged collection of data covering the costs of materials, operations, and labor. With the exception of a few changes and extension of the index, it is practically the same as the 14th edition, published in 1926." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

The author's "Estimating building costs" (3d ed rev and enl 1928 Scientific bk. corp. $2) is a briefer book than his "New building estimators' handbook"

Barnes, Frank Edwin

* Estimating building costs. 3d ed 1931 McGraw $5; 25s 692

1 Building—Estimates 31-18820

First edition published 1924 under title: "Estimating building costs and appraising buildings." In this edition revision has been made where necessary. "The chapter on Heating and ventilating has been entirely rewritten and a new chapter on The Insulation of Buildings has been added. Three new chapters have also been included; namely, Storage Silos and Circular Bins, Concrete Masonry, and Cement Gun Work." Preface to the third edition

"A noteworthy reference book for contractors estimating costs of building construction preparatory to bidding on contracts, and for appraisers, insurance adjusters and real estate dealers interested in knowing building costs of various periods during the past thirty years." Donald Hendry

Dingman, Charles Francis

Building estimators' data book. 1929 McGraw $2.50; 12s 6d 692

1 Building—Estimates 29-9454

"A compact, useful handbook for ready reference for the building estimator. All the labor tables are based on the number of labor hours required to produce a given quantity of work. Quantities, weights, formulas are included as part of the useful information." Providence

Construction job management. 1928 McGraw $2.50; 15s 692

1 Building—Superintendence 2 Building—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 28-5026

"Concise practical information and advice for construction men who are not technically educated. Deals with the start and equipment of the job, the selection of a foreman and other employees, relations with sub-contractors, and the handling of masonry and concrete operations, fireproof construction, plaster and stucco work, and carpenter work." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

* Architectural graphic standards. 1932 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d 692

1 Building—Details 32-12507

A technical book important to libraries serving architects, but not essential for all small libraries

"Widely scattered material from handbooks, architectural reference books, and magazines has been collected and presented in graphic and diagrammatic form, with no text except in necessary tables of data. The book follows the usual building construction procedure, from foundation to furniture, and presents material that is standard where any standards exist, otherwise customary practice is shown. Well indexed." Bkl.

Underwood, G.

* Estimating construction costs. 1930 McGraw $6; 30s 692

1 Engineering—Estimates and costs 2 Building—Estimates 30-21750

"Makes estimating easy by using charts covering costs of labor and materials, thus avoiding all mental computations and comparisons. The charts of each chapter are preceded by explanations of procedure." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

"Quantities; a guide to the measurement and valuation of building works for the use of architects, surveyors and civil engineers" by Sir B. F. Fletcher, and H. P. Fletcher; 10th edition rev. and enl. by A. E. Bayliss (1931 Batsford 16s) is the latest edition of a standard English work

Walker, Frank Rabold

Building estimator's reference book. 2v 7th ed 1931 Walker, H. $10 692

1 Building—Estimates 32-1440

New edition of a book which first appeared in 1915 and has had frequent revisions

"A practical and thoroughly reliable reference book for contractors and estimators engaged in estimating the cost of and constructing all classes of modern buildings; giving the actual labor costs and methods employed in the erection of some of our present-day structures, together with all necessary material and labor quantities entering into the cost of all classes of buildings." Subtitle

693.2 Brick construction

Briggs, Howard L.

* Practical bricklaying. rev & enl by William Carver 1924 McGraw $1.75; 8s 9d 693.2

1 Bricklaying 24-28907

"Considers the materials and tools employed and the work of the bricklayer from the beginning on through the details of construction. Includes chapters on how to establish a school for bricklayer apprentices, on teaching the craft trade tests, etc. Senior author is director of vocational education, Cleveland public schools." Donald Hendry

Stewart Scrimshaw's "Bricklaying in modern practice" (1920 Macmillan $1.20; 7s 6d) is an elementary textbook which also contains a brief history of the subject

Common brick manufacturers' association of America, Cleveland

Brick structures; how to build them. 1931 The assn. pa 25c 693.2

1 Bricklaying

"Practical reference data on materials, design and construction methods employed in brick construction; for contractors, builders, architects, engineers and students. An authoritative manual on brick masonry, with particular reference to the structural uses of common brick. Prepared under the direction of Ralph P. Stoddard and L. B. Lent by Taylor, Rogers & Bliss, Inc." Subtitle

693.4 Hollow tile construction

White, Charles Elmer, and Lowndes, William Shepherd

Hollow tile construction. 1924 McKay $1.25 693.4

1 Hollow brick, tile, etc. 33-27286

First published in 1919 as a textbook of the International correspondence school. Describes the types of hollow tile and their use in building construction with a chapter on stucco finish

693.5 Concrete construction

"Concrete, plain and reinforced" by F. W. Taylor, and others (4th ed v 1-2 1925-28 Wiley v 1 $8, v2 $7.50) is a standard work which is noted for the benefit of larger libraries and reference libraries interested in the subject

Crane, Theodore

Concrete building construction, ed by Thomas Nolan. 1927 Wiley $6; Chapman 37s 6d 693.5

1 Concrete construction 27-19137

"The purpose of this text is to present in simple, practical form, the generally accepted principles of concrete design, together with recommended methods of office procedure and field construction." Preface

"A favorable impression is imparted by the well considered arrangement and organization of the matter presented and by the typography and illustrations. A high degree of concentration is necessarily involved in a text that covers in less than 700 pp. the entire field of reinforced-concrete building construction." Enginering news-record

696 PLUMBING

Babbitt, Harold Eaton

Plumbing. 1928 McGraw $5; 30s 696

1 Plumbing 28-3569

A book for the architect and engineer, not for the practical plumber

"A guide to plumbing design and installation with little or no instruction in the use of tools. Embodies the results of the most recent researches and has information which simplifies plumbing and dwelling houses and reduces the venting required in larger buildings. Water supply and drainage are fully discussed from engineering points of view. Numerous types of apparatus and fittings are described and amply illustrated. The appendix contains extracts from standard specifications for pipes, fittings, and materials. A good glossary. Author is [1932] Professor of Sanitary Engineering, University of Illinois." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Alt, Harold Lynn
House heating plans. 1933 Engineering publications $1 697
1 Heating 33-13486
"One of the best known heating men in the country . . . gives floor plans and instruction details . . . and then shows how to heat the buildings with steam, hot water, vapor and vacuum heat."

American oil burner association
‡ Handbook of oil burning, by H. F. Tapp. 1931 Am. oil burner assn. $3 697
1 Petroleum as fuel 2 Heating 31-9899
New edition in preparation, March 1934
"The first edition appeared in 1928 under the title 'Handbook of domestic oil heating.' The [1931] edition, enlarged by over 200 pages, includes oil as a fuel in commercial and industrial as well as domestic heating. Valuable to the salesman of oil burning installations, to the industries interested in investigating the use of fuel oil, to the architect who is concerned with heating buildings, and to all desiring knowledge of this form of producing heat." Donald Hendry

Apmann, Arthur Martens
Domestic gas appliances. 1931 Am. gas journal $1 697
1 Gas—Heating and cooking 31-20006
"Although written primarily for salesmen, these descriptions of the different types of appliances are valuable for anyone using them. Herein are treated the gas range, gas water heater, gas furnace and, finally, the gas refrigerator." Providence
A revision of articles which appeared in serial form in "American gas journal" under the title, "Gas utilization technology for the domestic salesman"

701 PHILOSOPHY. ESTHETICS

"Art and religion" by Von Ogden Vogt (1921 Yale univ. press $5; Oxford 13s 6d) is a "sane and scholarly review of the uses of art in religion, not only in architecture and decoration, but also in music and ritual."

Ames, Van Meter
Introduction to beauty. 1931 Harper o.p. 1933 701

1 Esthetics 31-21723

"Professor Ames seeks to measure beauty not for the aesthete, but for the ordinary man and woman. He writes about such mundane things as the movies, books, dancing and business, not to overlook love and education. . . He has sought to comprehend the meaning of beauty for the practical worker in terms that he and she can easily understand." Boston Transcript

"This book is itself a thing of beauty, a book that sparkles and glows, and it will be a dull reader who does not feel that he has been in contact with the stuff which esthetics makes an object of research." Christian century

"Develops a complete theory of visual art. Indicates the essentials in a work of art, and shows the relation between art and religion, history and ethics." M. E. Clark's Art in home economics

"The root of Mr Bell's argument is that a true work of art produces in us aesthetic ecstasy and emotion, and by doing so awakens and stimulates the spiritual side of our nature." Saturday rev.

Bosanquet, Bernard
History of æsthetic. (Library of philosophy) [2d ed] 1904 Macmillan $5; Allen, G. 16s 701

1 Esthetics [31-13898]

A standard work "primarily addressed to those who may find a philosophical interest in understanding the place and value of beauty in the system of human life, as conceived by leading thinkers in different periods of the world's history." Preface

The second edition has not been rewritten, but contains corrections, usually in the form of foot-notes, made necessary by the publication of a treatise on Aristotle by Professor Butcher.

The author's "Three lectures on aesthetic" (1915 Macmillan $1.50; 4s 6d) is valuable as a simple and untechnical presentation of the general nature of the esthetic attitude, nature and the arts, and the contrasted qualities of esthetic experience, that is beauty and ugliness

Art, for amateurs and students. 1926 Doubleday, Doran $5; Batsford 21s 701

1 Art 2 Art—Study and teaching 26-12330

"In this book, which is itself a work of art, the author explains the principles which are the foundation of all art. To illustrate these principles and to furnish material to exercise the reader's powers of discrimination, the author has reduced to fundamental terms examples of all the arts—painting, sculpture, architecture, and the rest—in primitive, medieval, and modern times. These [36] plates are separate from the text and form the second half of the book." Book rev. digest

Dewey, John
Art as experience. 1934 Minton $4 701

1 Esthetics 2 Experience 34-27080

The æsthetic attitude. 1920 Harcourt o.p. 1933 701

1 Esthetics 2 Art 21-113

"The author defines the nature of appreciation and discusses the mental processes involved therein. The latter part of the book considers the application of the aesthetic attitude to problems of human happiness." Cleveland

Mrs E. D. P. Howes' "Psychology of beauty by E. D. Puffer" (1905 Houghton $2.25; Constable 15s) is an older book which will still be useful at times. It is made up of eight essays on different phases of esthetics

Lessing, Gotthold Ephraim

Laokoon, and How the ancients represented death. (Bohn's popular lib.) 1914 Harcourt 85c; Bell, G. 2s 701

1 Esthetics 33-27237

"The translation of the 'Laokoon' in this volume is substantially that of Mr E. C. Beasley. . . published in 1853. . . For this edition it has been subjected to a complete and careful revision. . . A synopsis of its contents, which it is hoped will be found useful in a careful study of the work, has also been prefixed. The essay on 'How the ancients represented death,' which has a close connexion with a portion of the 'Laokoon,' is translated by Miss Helen Zimmern." Introduction

"This famous essay revolutionized literary taste in Germany. It is an essay on the limits of painting and poetry, a contribution to esthetics as well as to literature." Bessie Graham's Bookman's manual

McMahon, Amos Philip

* Meaning of art. 1930 Norton $3 701

1 Art—Philosophy 30-29444

"The author's method is to apply various theories of art to certain well known examples. After examining these theories from Plotinus to Elie Faure, he concludes that 'art is not concerned with anything less than a high and comprehensive value.' " Pittsburgh

"A stimulating and provocative book for students of esthetics." New republic

Mason, Daniel Gregory

Artistic ideals. 1927 Norton $2.50 701

1 Esthetics 2 Art 27-5045

"These papers. . . were first presented to the public as a series of lectures on the Norman Waite Harris foundation, at Northwestern university, Evanston, Illinois, December, 1925." Foreword

"Many questions of moment are discussed here by Mr Mason, composer, author and lecturer, that should be helpful to the artist who wishes to adhere to his highest ideals and yet, in order to live, must make his art attractive to the public. Also, the discussion of the universality of art, and whether the attitude of both 'highbrows' and 'low-brows' favor it, provides food for thought." Providence

Neuhaus, Eugen

Appreciation of art. 1924 Ginn $3; 15s 701

1 Art 2 Esthetics 24-23029

Intended for students and general readers

"To increase the ability to discern the qualities in art that constitute beauty, and that give pleasure, and to point out the social and economic forces that influence the currents of art is the twofold object of this readable book. The principles presented are illustrated not only by photographs but by discussions of modern as well as classical art. Bibliography." N.Y. state lib.

Opdyke, George Howard

Art and nature appreciation. 1932 Macmillan $3.50; 18s 701

1 Art 2 Esthetics 3 Nature (Esthetics) 32-32876

Opinions differ as to the value of this book but it received many votes for inclusion

"A layman writing for laymen, the author attempts to show how the beginner may learn to see nature as the artist sees it and apply this knowledge to his appreciation of art in its various forms. The book is divided into sections on art; light and dark; color; light and dark plus color; line, form, mass;

Opdyke, George H.—Continued
and composition. At the end of each chapter the author has collected ten or twelve brief excerpts on the subject from other writers. Index to authors and artists quoted and general index." Book rev. digest

Paget, Violet
The beautiful; an introduction to psychological aesthetics, by Vernon Lee, [pseud.] (Cambridge manuals of science and literature) 1913 Macmillan $1; Cambridge univ. press 2s 6d 701
1 Esthetics [14-969]
"Vernon Lee deals with what is, rather than with what ought to be. She does not attempt to tell how things can be made beautiful, or even how we can recognize them when they are beautiful. She conceives beauty as existent and ready to be enjoyed, and she analyzes and explains its existence and its enjoyment." Boston Transcript

Parker, De Witt Henry
Analysis of art. 1926 Yale univ. press $4; Oxford 18s 701
1 Art 2 Esthetics 26-24585
"The professor of philosophy in the University of Michigan [1933] has here expanded the material of lectures which he gave at the Metropolitan museum of art in January, 1926. He studies some of the problems underlying the philosophy of art and applies the results to an analysis of beauty in the arts of painting, sculpture and architecture from which most of his illustrations are drawn." Book rev. digest
"The author's theories are largely influenced by Schopenhauer, Freud and other German philosophers, but he is a profound thinker on his own account, and ably defends his own beliefs where they differ from accepted views. A remarkably fine presentation, stimulating and well written." Chicago

Parkhurst, Helen Huss
Beauty; an interpretation of art and the imaginative life. 1930 Harcourt $4.50; Douglas 16s 701
1 Esthetics 2 Art 30-13659
"An interpretation of the allied arts and their mainspring, imagination, is carried forth in these chapters on the sources of art, esthetic substance and form, painting and sculpture, prose and poetry, architecture and music, esthetic appreciation, etc. With many illustrations embodying specific esthetic principles." Book rev. digest

Pearson, Ralph M.
Experiencing pictures. 1932 Harcourt $3.50 701
1 Art 2 Esthetics 3 Art criticism 4 Composition (Art) 32-25259
"The author believes that the modern movement in art furnishes the key to the understanding of all works of art of all time. His analysis of art principles is thus based very largely on modern examples, or on modern in comparison with ancient. He also believes that one way of experiencing pictures is to make them and in his classes at the School for Social Research he has tried interesting experiments with adults who have had no previous art training. A book [illegible]
Well illustrated

How to see modern pictures. 1925 Dial press $2.50 701
1 Art criticism 2 Composition (Art) 25-10123
"Mr. Pearson bases his principles of art appreciation on design, the one quality without which a work of art cannot exist. His book is, therefore, a study in the nature and appreciation of fundamental design as revealed in the works we call 'classic' as well as in those of the modern school." International studio
"The principles essential to an understanding of pictorial art, clearly analysed and applied to modern work. For laymen in general, and for the art departments of women's clubs in particular. Appendix contains a variety of suggestions on such subjects as buying pictures, art in the schools, and books to read. Illustrated in line and half-tone." N.Y. state lib.

Phillipps, Lisle March
Works of man. 1911 Duckworth 7s 6d 701
1 Art A12-141
Formerly carried also by Holt with title: Art and environment
"A distinctly suggestive and helpful book upon the interpretation of art as an expression of the collective human mind, working under the combined socialized force of a national consciousness. The author's conception is not new; but as a distinct thesis, consistently carried out, it has not received the explicit elaboration here accorded it. . . Architecture naturally carries the illustrative burden of the theme; since it is the most national expression, the most collectively enduring record, in the language of art." Dial
Bibliography: p328-43
The author's "Form and colour" (1915 Scribner $3; Duckworth 10s) is an interesting treatment of this subject with special reference to architecture, sculpture, and glass

Poore, Henry Rankin
Art principles in practice. 1930 Putnam $4; 10s 6d 701
1 Art 30-15706
"A technical book on the principles of art as applied to the production and criticism of pictures. For the artist and student rather than for the layman. It is intended to supplement and amplify the author's 'Pictorial composition' and 'The conception of art.'" Bkl.
Contains illustrations and bibliographical footnotes
The author's "Conception of art" (2d ed rev 1913 Putnam $4; 20s) is also better suited to the art student than the amateur as the treatment is quite technical. It attempts to define the nature of art and esthetic appreciation

Read, Herbert Edward
Anatomy of art; an introduction to the problems of art and aesthetics. 1931 Dodd $3; Faber 3s 6d 701
1 Art 2 Art—Hist. 3 Esthetics 32-26207
Published in England under title: Meaning of art
"The expression of art principles through different mediums, from the primitives to modernists, is explained in this elementary book of esthetics which originated in articles published in the 'Listener,' the journal of the British broadcasting corporation. Illustrated with plates of sculpture, paintings, and metal work. No index. English title: The meaning of art." Bkl.

Santayana, George
* Sense of beauty. 1896 Scribner $2; Constable 12s 6d 701
1 Esthetics 9-15248
Based upon a course of lectures on the theory and history of esthetics at Harvard university from 1892 to 1895. Mr Santayana does not attempt any novelty of ideas except that which may result from systematizing esthetics according to naturalistic psychology

703 ART—DICTIONARIES

Adeline, Jules

* Adeline's art dictionary; tr. from the French and enl. 1891 Appleton-Century $3.50; 15s 703

1 Art—Dictionaries 20-1479

"Attempts to include all terms used in art, archaeology, architecture, heraldry, painting, sculpture, engraving and etching, and technical terms used in describing articles in museums, e.g. terms relating to costume, armor, pottery, etc. Incorporates all the material in the original French work and also considerable information from Fairholt's 'Dictionary of terms in art.' " Mudge

Bailey, Henry Turner, and Pool, Ethel

* Symbolism for artists, creative and appreciative. 1928 Davis press $4.50 703

1 Symbolism 28-9440

First published 1925, second printing 1928. New plates have been added in the second printing

"A most useful and valuable handbook, giving abbreviations of words used in symbolism, illustrations of certain much-used symbols and well-known symbolic works of art; a dictionary of symbols; with appendices containing a list of college colors and a very extensive bibliography." Providence

Another useful book relating to symbols is "Decorators' symbols, emblems & devices" by G. C. Rothery (1907 Trade papers pub. co. o.p. 1933). Unlike Bailey and Pool, it is not an alphabetical dictionary, but a small manual which is planned to be a practical aid to designers and decorators when emblematic work is included in their schemes. Illustrated

H. Walker

"Written by specialists, these essays will be helpful to the layman desiring wider comprehension of the arts. Particular emphasis is placed on architecture from the classical period to the present. . . Chapter bibliographies and excellent illustrations." N.Y. state lib.

Cortissoz, Royal

Art and common sense. 1913 Scribner $3; Murray, J. 7s 6d 704

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 13-21718

"Fourteen essays, addressed rather to the amateur than to the artist, in which author advocates use of common sense, good judgment and a sense of humor in the appreciation of art and proves his possession of these qualities in the discussion of Whistler, Sargent, Spanish art, the 'post-impressionist illusion,' J. P. Morgan as a collector and other subjects. Clever, piquant, readable." N.Y. state lib.

Cram, Ralph Adams

Ministry of art. 1914 Houghton $2.25 704

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 14-10384

"Addresses by an American architect, contrasting later and modern tendencies unfavorably with the ideals of the middle ages when art, the revelation of the human soul, achieved its highest forms in the service of religion." Cleveland

Contents: Art the revealer; Philosophy of the Gothic restoration; Place of the fine arts in public education; Artist and the world; The craftsman and the architect; American university architecture; Ministry of art

Five arts by W. Frank, M. Turbyfill, K. Hackett, C. J. Bulliett, W. R. Greeley. (Man and his world ed by B. Brownell, v10) 1929 Van Nostrand $1.75 704

Fry, Roger Eliot

Vision and design. 1921 Coward-McCann $2.50; Chatto 7s 6d 704

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures A24-711

Twenty-five essays extending over a period of twenty years by an English critic who is also an artist

"Among the present-day writers on art Mr Roger Fry holds a position of much prominence, a position he has gained to some extent by his persistent advocacy of the more advanced modern movements, but to a far greater extent by his skill in argument and the sound literary quality of his work. This book does justice to his reputation." International studio

Mr Fry has also written an interesting volume of critical and speculative essays on art, called "Transformations" (1927 Coward-McCann $10; Chatto 31s 6d) in which he discusses, among other subjects, Chinese art, Fra Bartolommeo, Sargent, Van Gogh, and Seurat

Henri, Robert

* The art spirit; comp. by Margery Ryerson. 1930 Lippincott $3; 12s 6d 704

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 31-622

Reissue of a book published in 1923 adding an introduction by Forbes Watson and reproductions of sixteen of the author's paintings. The book is compiled from miscellaneous writings and class talks and gives the artist's opinions on art and painting and his advice on the technique of making pictures

"Mr Henri is full of individuality, a dynamic soul, and he delights in giving electric shocks. There are plenty of these in his criticisms and in his apothegms. His book is not meant for a long bath but for a quick plunge." Boston Transcript

Morris, William

Hopes and fears for art. 1901 Longmans $1.40; 3s 6d 704

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Arts and crafts movement 4-14806

Contents: Lesser arts; Art of the people; Beauty of life; Making the best of it; Prospects of architecture in civilization

"It would be difficult to give a general account of them, because they traverse very large and not very clearly defined fields of opinion; but it is easy to indicate what is their tendency, to praise their energy and common sense, and even to illustrate the occasional bits of whim, the genial dogmatism, and the poetic fancy which add not a little to their charm." Athenaeum

Rodin, Auguste

Art; tr. from the French of Paul Gsell by Mrs Romilly Fedden. 1916 Dodd $5 704

1 Art 2 Sculpture 12-27821

"A new, less expensive edition of a work first published in English in 1912, a record of a series of conversations with Rodin in which the great sculptor expresses many of his theories of painting and sculpture, criticizes his own work and makes comparisons between ancient and modern art. There are 106 illustrations of the works of art discussed in the text." Cleveland

Rosenfeld, Paul

By way of art. 1928 Coward-McCann $1 704

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Music—Addresses, essays, lectures 3 Literature—Addresses, essays, lectures 28-25564

"Criticisms of music, literature, painting, sculpture, and the dance." Subtitle

"It would be difficult for anyone not to profit by reading this kind of criticism. To begin with, there is much information about a number of highbrow, esoteric, and ultra-modern artists, authors, and composers whose works are the brightest foci of contemporary curiosity, and a good deal more about others who are perhaps the incipient foci of attention that will accrue tomorrow. . . Mr. Rosenfeld's importance to our time rests in the fact that his criticism arises from a curiosity that is active, current and personal." Nation

Ruskin, John

"A joy for ever" (and its price in the market); introd. by Charles Eliot Norton. Brantwood ed 1891 Longmans o.p. 1933 704

1 Art [10-3947]

A cheap edition is available in the World's classics (Oxford 80c; 2s)

Two lectures on the political economy of art delivered 1857. First published in 1857 under the title: "The political economy of art"

"It is simply impossible for the present generation to comprehend what Mr Ruskin has done for art. . . His influence has permeated far and wide, and acts now on many who are probably quite unconscious of it and of what they owe him." Spectator

Ruskin's "Eagle's nest" (Allen, G. 6s) contains ten lectures on the relation of natural science to art, given before the University of Oxford, 1872. His "Two paths" (Allen, G. 6s) consists of lectures on art and its application to decoration and manufacture, delivered in 1858-59

Symons, Arthur

Studies in seven arts. 1925 Dutton $3.50 704

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Music 3 Theater 25-24886

The first fifteen of the twenty-eight essays in this volume were published in 1906 under the same title

"In this book I have tried to deal with the other arts, as I know or recognise them; and I find seven: painting, sculpture, architecture, music, handicraft, the stage (in which I include drama, acting, pantomine, scenery, costume and lighting) and separate from these, dancing. Each of these arts I have tried to study from its own point of view, and (except in the case of architecture, which has almost ceased to exist as an art) in its contemporary aspects, and in those contemporary aspects which seem to me most important or most characteristic." Dedication

Tolstoi, Leo Nikolaievich, count

Tolstoy on art, by Aylmer Maude. 1924 Oxford $7; 17s 6d 704

1 Art 2 Art and morals 25-1582

"A slightly amended version of [Mr Maude's] translation of Tolstoy's 'What is art?' together with the other papers bearing on the same subject by the famous Russian novelist. . . It certainly merits the praise of being the best, and most complete, English presentation of Tolstoy's views on art which has yet been placed before the public." Connoisseur

Collins, M. R., and Riley, O. L.—Continued

"The book is planned to be used in the classroom under direction and is arranged to fit school terms, the aim being to arouse in young people a natural and lasting interest in art." Pratt quarterly

Lemos, Pedro Joseph

Art teacher; a book for children and teacher. 1931 Davis press $8 707

1 Art—Study and teaching 31-31830

"A book filled with information and helpful suggestions of benefit to the young student as well as to the teacher. It contains hundreds of small illustrations, in color and in black and white, a large proportion of which represent the actual work of children in drawing, sewing, weaving, basketry and toy and puppet making." Providence

This book covers almost the same ground as the author's "Applied art" (class 740) but does not duplicate the material

Mathias, Margaret E.

Art in the elementary school. 1929 Scribner $2.50; 7s 6d 707

1 Art—Study and teaching 2 Drawing—Instruction 29-12164

"The book outlines a course in art for the elementary school, and is fully illustrated with reproductions of children's work in color and black and white, and with photographs which illustrate the principles laid down in the text." Book rev. digest

"This is an American publication, and the suggestions contained in it are naturally designed to fit into the American educational system. There is, however, a good deal for us to learn from it." Times (London) lit. sup.

Beginnings of art in the public schools (Ser. on childhood education) 1924 Scribner $1.25; 6s 707

Teaching of art. 1932 Scribner $3 707

1 Art—Study and teaching 32-18823

A textbook for students who are preparing to teach art in the elementary grades. Three problems are presented: Recognizing the art needs of children; Learning the educational processes essential to the teaching of art; Mastering the essential subject matter in the field of art. Practical details of teaching are given with lesson plans and suggestions for practice teaching. Contains illustrations and bibliography. This book is more concerned with the value and need of art in the elementary school than is the author's "Art in the elementary school"

"Enjoyment and use of art in the elementary school" by J. M. Todd and A. Van N. Gale (1933 Univ. of Chicago press $1.50; Cambridge univ. press 8s 6d) is another recommended book with a modern point of view and one which is in keeping with modern educational tendencies suggestions for the teacher and supervisor of art. The numerous classifications of source material and suggested courses of study offer unlimited possibilities for a practical working program and for the development of lesson plans for both the elementary school and secondary school." Elementary school jour.

To accompany this, the author has devised "Art education charts" (1930 Warwick $1.58) consisting of black and white illustrations accompanied by full description, under the general headings of color, form, arrangement, lettering, and construction

708 ART GALLERIES AND MUSEUMS

Material on general museum administration will be found in class 069

The Metropolitan museum of art in New York city publishes well illustrated pamphlets and books of interest to the collector and valuable to the library. A complete list, their pamphlet "Publications on sale" will be sent to any library free of charge. A few of those most useful in the smaller library have been entered in their proper classes. The Museum's handbooks and catalogs to the various wings and collections in the Museum are desirable in special art libraries. "The industrial arts monographs" is a series covering the relation of the museum and industry

L. D. Tuckerman's "Suggestions for the library of a small museum of art" (1928 Am. assn. of museums pa 50c) is a classified list of art books, based on the library of the Worcester Art museum, useful to those who are starting to build up an art reference library

* Wanderer among pictures; a companion to the galleries of Europe. 1924 Methuen 8s 6d 708

1 Art—Galleries and museums 2 Paintings [24-31900]

Formerly also carried by Doran

"Something of the author's own unbounded enthusiasm over pictures is conveyed in this survey of the great galleries of Europe. The book is selective in that the emphasis is rather 'on the few pictures that must not be missed than on the many that must be seen.' Noteworthy for the surprising amount of information compressed into an illuminating phrase. Seventy-two photographic reproductions and index." N.Y. state lib.

Contents: London, the National gallery, the Tate, the Wallace, and other collections; Paris, the Louvre, the Luxembourg and other galleries; Madrid, the Prado; Milan, the Brera and other collections; Florence, the Uffizi, the Pitti and others; Rome, Vatican frescoes; Venice; Vienna; Munich; Dresden; Berlin; Amsterdam; The Hague; Antwerp; Brussels

"Not a revised edition, but a reprint of the 1909 edition with an additional forty pages of text describing important acquisitions of the past twenty years, and several new illustrations." Bkl.

"Within the walls of the Museum are to be found archaeological studies of Egypt, Assyria, Babylonia, Greece, and Rome. This collection has been greatly increased within the last twenty years by the many original pieces of sculpture. The many painters and schools of painting from the olden days to modern times are described in the handbook briefly and appreciatively. There are also chapters devoted to metal work, jewelry, woodwork, ceramics, textiles and laces, sculpture, and to new acquisitions. The book is copiously illustrated and has a good index." N.Y. Richards, Charles Russell

Industrial art and the museum. 1927 Macmillan $1.50; 7s 6d 708

1 Art—Galleries and museums 2 Art industries and trade 27-23972

Describes first the development of European museums of industrial art, which is understood to include furniture, rugs, textiles, ceramics, glass, silver, and all other products of industry in the production of which art is a distinctive element. Next, the policies and practices of the European museums are applied to American needs, and the book defines the scope and character desirable in collections of industrial arts in American museums, indicates the most effective methods of display, and suggests related educational activities. Good illustrations

Richards, Charles R.—Continued
Companion volume to the author's "Industrial museum" (1925 Macmillan $3) which is devoted to a study of the industrial museum in Europe alone and is therefore too special for the average small library

709 ART—HISTORY

Joseph Pijoan's "History of art; tr. by R. L. Roys" (3v 1927-28 Harper ea $12.50; ea 40s, set 120s) is an unusually fine and scholarly work covering the history of art from primitive times to the present. Many excellent illustrations add to its value

The old series of special numbers of the Studio, devoted to peasant art in different European countries, published by Lane, has long been out of print, 1933. Volumes on the following countries were included: Austria and Hungary; Italy; Russia; Sweden, Finland, Lapland and Iceland; Switzerland. For a recent addition to the series, "Peasant art in Roumania", see class 709.49

"Primitive and peasant art; assembled from special issues of 'Design'" edited by Felix Payant (1932 Keramic studio pub. co. $4) is a good collection useful for designs

Beginnings of art. (Appleton dollar lib.) 1928 Appleton-Century $1; 3s 6d 709

1 Art—Hist. 2 Art, Primitive 4-8997

First published 1897

"A contribution to ethnology rather than to art criticism or history. The author's contention is that the only scientific method of investigating the origin of art is to examine the art of the primitive peoples that still exist. He, therefore, devotes himself to an examination of what is definitely known of the arts of the Australians, the Bushmen, the Eskimo, and two or three other like tribes, taking up in their order, personal decoration, ornamentation, representative art, the dance, poetry and music." "Based on the lectures of the author as professor at the University of Wisconsin. Very clear and readable, especially for the person who has little knowledge of the subject. Though comprehensive, does not attempt to crowd a great deal of detailed fact into small compass. The excellent reproductions of paintings and sculpture add much to the enjoyment of the reader. The emphasis is placed on painting. Index." Wis. bul.

Howey, Martha Melissa

Short guide to the art of Europe. 1931 Houghton $2.50 709

1 Art, European 31-10894

"A guide to the paintings, architecture and sculpture of Europe. Individual works of art are not described, but in Part one on painting, under each country, school and period, the principal artists are noted, their works briefly characterized, and the museums containing their works listed. Part two on architecture and sculpture is also arranged chronologically and each school and period briefly discussed and examples listed. An appendix gives Christian legends, New Testament scenes, a key to mythological figures and a list of the principal galleries and frescoed churches." Book rev. digest

"This little volume should be in the handbag of every transatlantic traveler, not for instruction merely, but for a richer enjoyment. It will make good deck-chair reading during the ocean traverse, and will serve as Baedeker on jaunts through the Louvre, the Uffizzi, the Tate and other famous repositories of art." N.Y. Times

Lübke, Wilhelm

Outlines of the history of art; ed, rev and largely rewritten by Russell Sturgis. 2v in 1 1904 Dodd $7.50 709

1 Art—Hist. 4-10947

First published 1860 under the title: "Grundriss der kunstgeschichte." The basis for the English edition is the translation made under the supervision of E. L. Burlingame and edited by Clarence Cook in 1877 from the 7th German edition. An old standard covering the ground from antiquity thru the 19th century, somewhat old fashioned in makeup. Illustrations in black and white

"It abounds in most carefully prepared illustrations, and is perhaps equally adapted to interest and instruct. It is an excellent book from which to obtain the fundamental knowledge necessary for a good judgment concerning works of art." C. K. Adams

André Blum's "Short history of art from prehistoric times to the present day for the use of students and general readers; ed and enl by R. R. Tatlock" (1926 Scribner $7.50; Batsford 21s) is another history presented in translation, which covers practically the same grounds as Lübke, but more briefly

Magonigle, Harold Van Buren

Nature, practice and history of art. 1924 Scribner $2.50; 10s 6d 709

1 Art 2 Art—Hist. 24-27653

"In the first part of the book the author gives some notion of the nature of art, of the artist's point of view, and of the way he does his work. In the second and longer part he gives the briefest possible introduction to the history of art and indicates its relations to the great movements in the history of mankind. There are 128 illustrations." Book rev. digest

"The first [part] is far superior to the second. The four chapters on the technique of architecture, sculpture, painting and 'other vehicles of expression' are particularly helpful in supplying in simple form information that the layman cannot find so conveniently elsewhere." * New backgrounds for a new age. 1927 Harcourt $5 709

1 Art—Hist. 2 Decoration and ornament 3 Art industries and trade 4 House decoration 5 Architecture, American 27-13406

"An interesting study of the impress of the machine age on modern art. New trends in architecture, decoration and design, and in the arts and handicrafts, are discussed and illustrated in chapters headed Industrial democracy and art; Discovering the new beauty; Steel, concrete, and terra cotta; Modern American decorators and craftsmen, etc." Book rev. digest

Modern art: why, what and how? 1931 Putnam $4; 16s 709

1 Art 2 Impressionism (Art)—1910- 31-17546

"This is a careful analysis of recent tendencies in painting and sculpture. The point of departure is reverence for the tradition and faith in certain general principles of art, which are still valid. Towards the modernistic painter the attitude is skeptical rather than unfriendly . . . The argument is worked out rather with caution and good sense than with brilliancy. [50 illustrations]" Sat. rev. of lit.

The author's "Thinking straight on modern art" (1934 Putnam $2) is a condensation from "Modern art; why, what, and how" and the "Conception of art." It contains the arguments concerning modern art and omits the chapters on the personnel of the movement

H. E. Read's "Art now; an introduction to the theory of modern painting and sculpture" (1934 Harcourt $3.75; Faber 12s 6d) is another book on the ideas which have inspired present-day art. Has many illustrations, in monochrome, of the work of symbolists and later groups

The small library will probably not need both Bénézit and Bryan. Bénézit, which is published in French only, is more general and complete as well as cheaper but libraries which are not able to make the fullest use of it because of the language will doubtless prefer Bryan

"A very comprehensive list. . .Includes many minor and contemporary names, and is especially strong for French names." Mudge

Two other excellent foreign works which will be useful in German speaking communities are "Allegemeines kuenstler-lexicon" by H. A. Müller and H. W. "Is of importance to archaeological students, as it brings within reach, for the astonishingly moderate sum of half a guinea, a survey which covers the development side by side of Greek sculpture and painting. Besides being strangely enough the only book of its kind in English, it is also one of the most brilliant productions of present-day scholarship. But an extremely sane and extremely entertaining summary of ten centuries of Greek art in the space of a hundred pages is not of interest to archaeologists alone." Spectator

Symonds, John Addington
Renaissance in Italy: the fine arts. 3d ed 1897 Scribner $3.75; Murray, J. 12s 709.45
1 Art, Italian [9-16935]
First published 1877. This is the third volume in the author's "Renaissance in Italy"
"He tells us that he 'does not pretend to retrace the history of the Italian arts, but rather to define their relations to the main movement of renaissance culture.' In this retrospective view he goes as far back as the end of the thirteenth century. . .Mr Symonds has consulted the best written authorities; but he rightly attaches more importance to that personal knowledge of pictorial, plastic, and structural works which forms the premises to the argument. . .His descriptions show quick perceptions, and kindle into eloquence under a diction which sometimes has less of the sobriety of the historian than of the ardour of the rhapsodist." Saturday rev.

Venturi, Adolfo
‡ Short history of Italian art; tr. by Edward Hutton. 1926 Macmillan $4; 10s 6d 709.45
1 Art, Italian 26-17744
"A beautiful and compact book which traces the development of Italian art from its beginnings in Christian art of the fourth century through the flowering of architecture. sculpture, and painting in succeeding centuries to the close of the renaissance. A brief final chapter discusses the period following the renaissance. There are three hundred illustrations, and the work is indexed." Book rev. digest

709.55 Persia

Pope, Arthur Upham
Introduction to Persian art since the seventh century A.D. 1931 Scribner $4; Davies 10s 6d 709.55
1 Art, Persian 31-26737
"This excellent survey of the arts of Persia, occasioned by the International exhibition of Persian art recently held in London, is written by the director of that exhibition. It is an admirable undertaking: the occidental reader, often puzzled by an art based on decorative design, is led to an appreciation of its esthetics and history. The chapter on Persian gardens is particularly delightful. One hundred plates show beautiful examples of ceramics, books, textiles, carpets, and metal work." Bkl.
"Dr. Pope's is a pioneer work, but is likely to become a standard one. He writes with enthusiasm, but the enthusiasm is supported by knowledge. He has succeeded in stimulating present-day Persia to reviving the ancient glories of its art, so that he may claim to be a practical specialist." New statesman and Nation

Brenner, Anita
Idols behind altars. 1929 Harcourt $5 709.72
1 Art, Mexican 2 Mexico—Antiq. 3 Indians of Mexico 4 Artists, Mexican 29-19615
"Written as the result of an investigation of Mexican art which was sponsored by the University of Mexico and of which the author was in charge, this is the first attempt at a treatment of the subject at once comprehensive and intensive. It shows throughout its length the close interrelation between the native art of Mexico and its history, its customs and, above all, its religion, which is the very breath of its being. The early chapters cover the art of the Aztec civilization and of the Spanish invasion, following which is a description of the art of the Colonial period. The final part is given over to the work of the moderns." Providence
"The book is profusely illustrated with examples of Mexican art, ancient and modern. To say that some of them are as charming as Miss Brenner's style is high praise." N.Y. Times

A scholarly treatment of the subject which presents "a brief review of the various types of art to be found in pre-Columbian Peru. . . The main purpose will be to establish a basis for the classification of Peruvian art-objects." Introduction

Seven plates in black and white

C. W. Mead's "Peruvian art, as shown on textiles and pottery" (5th ed 1929 Am. museum of natural hist. pa 10c) based on collections in the American museum of natural history, may be found sufficient for the small library

710 LANDSCAPE GARDENING

For the benefit of larger libraries Frau Marie Luise Gothein's "History of garden art; tr. by Mrs Archer-Hind" (1928 Dutton $15; Dent 84s) is noted here. It is a large two volume work, profusely illustrated, covering the history of gardening in all countries and ages from ancient Egypt to modern America

Two older books, both out of print, which are still useful at times are:

Parsons, S. Art of landscape architecture; its development and its application to modern landscape gardening. 1915 Putnam Covers the field of larger landscape operations

Root, R. R., and Kelley, C. F. Design in landscape gardening. 1914 Century A compact theoretical study

Bennett, Jessie Merle

Roadside development. (Land economics ser.) 1929 Macmillan $5; 25s 710

1 Roads 2 Trees 29-17014

"'Roadside Development', by J. M. Bennett, is concerned with the complete development of highways, which is much more than improvement of the traveled way only. Safety, comfort, convenience, and beauty are factors to be considered. Thus design, construction and maintenance of roadsides, landscaping and planting, bridges, lighting, location of utilities, are among the subjects covered. Public officials responsible for highway work, public utility companies, park commissioners, landscape architects, as well as students of highway engineering and municipal forestry, should find this volume of value." Industrial arts index

Cridland, Robert B.

Practical landscape gardening. (3d ed) 1927 De La Mare $2.50 710

1 Landscape gardening 27-4071

The new edition adds 5 planting plans with keys, and 4 pages of photographic illustrations

"The importance of careful planning, locating the house, arrangement of walks and drives, construction of walks and drives, lawns and terraces, how to plant a property, laying out a flower garden, architectural features of the garden, rose gardens and hardy borders, wild gardens and rock gardens, planting plans and planting lists." Subtitle

"Outcome of a series of articles in 'The florists' exchange.' Practical with simple illustrations, and very usable for the amateur." Wis. bul.

Hubbard, Henry Vincent, and Hubbard, Mrs Theodora (Kimball)

Introduction to the study of landscape design. rev ed 1929 Macmillan $6; 30s 710

1 Landscape gardening 29-17344

First edition 1917. Slight changes have been made in the text and the bibliography has been enlarged

"Discusses the various materials of which landscape compositions are made and treats at length certain examples of the problems of design. Appendix contains valuable notes on professional practice. Many plates and drawings." Pittsburgh

Olver, Edward W.

* Landscaping the small home. 1931 De La Mare $2 710

1 Landscape gardening 31-3420

"Advice on planting trees, arranging attractive flowering shrubs, planning perennial and rose gardens, and constructing rock gardens, accompanied by many diagrams and plans." St Louis

Ramsey, Leonidas W.

* Landscaping the home grounds. 1930 Macmillan $2; 10s 710

1 Landscape gardening 30-9104

Aims "to supply to home owners a volume which shows in simple terms just how to develop the home grounds, according to the standards of good taste as they prevail today." Preface

Ramsey, Leonidas W., and Lawrence, Charles H.

* Outdoor living room. 1931 Macmillan $2.50; 12s 6d 710

1 Landscape gardening 32-428

"Discusses the planning and planting of the backyard garden and garden living room, describing how to locate them; the planting of the hedges, shrubs, and other greenery; the planting of trees for shade and for decoration; the choice of flowers; and the making and care of lawns. [Illustrated]" Book rev. digest

"The authors are professional landscape architects of wide, practical experience. They make clear each point, as it arises, building up a picture which is straightforward, sharply defined and finally drawn into a well rounded composition. Altogether an excellent book which, within its intentional limitations, can be unreservedly commended." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Mrs E. J. D. Wangner's "American home book of outdoors" (1931 Doubleday, Doran $1) in the American home library series, is a less expensive book which has many good suggestions on how to furnish and utilize lawns, terraces and porches

Simonds, Ossian Cole

Landscape-gardening. (Rural science ser.) Macmillan $2.50 710

1 Landscape gardening 20-21341

First published 1920. Well illustrated

"After outlining the aims of landscape gardening and pleading for the conservation of natural features and resources, the author discusses land, planting materials and planting, water, home grounds, farms, and semi-arid regions, thoroughfares, railway properties, parks, golf and school grounds, arboretums and botanic gardens, cemeteries and city planning. An appendix contains two short papers on landscape work by the late Bryan Lathrop, of Chicago. Brief allusions are made to the part that the engineer may take in landscape planning. . . Freshness of treatment, sanity, and relative brevity characterize this book." Engineering news-record

Taylor, Albert D., and Cooper, Gordon D.

Complete garden. 1921 Doubleday, Doran $6 710

1 Landscape gardening 2 Plants, Cultivated 21-7181

"A first abridged edition of this book was published in 1916. The present volume is greatly enlarged and revised. Its purpose is to supply a compact reference manual for the use of those who have no authoritative source of information, and its lists of plants are selected for their specific adaptation to design and composition. The General planting suggestions of part one contains: Planting and seeding seasons; Pruning; Planting and transplanting; Lawns; Bulb culture; Maintenance; Winter protection and mulching. Part two contains the lists for reference. The book is well illustrated—some of the plates in color—and has a bibliography, a glossary and an index." Book rev. digest

Waugh, Frank Albert

Textbook of landscape gardening. 1922 Wiley $5 710

A comprehensive, well-illustrated book not now entirely up to date but still useful

711 City Planning

Two good older books which deal with special phases of city planning are N. P. Lewis's "Planning of the modern city" (2d ed rev 1922 Wiley $5) which deals with the engineering aspects; and F. B. William's "Law of city planning and zoning" (1922 Macmillan $4; 20s) which is useful in the city library rather than in the town library

The "Harvard city planning studies" series consists of authoritative studies which will be of interest to larger libraries. Some titles are:

Bartholomew, Harland. Urban land uses; amounts of land used and needed for various purposes by typical American cities; an aid to scientific zoning practice. 1932 Harvard univ. press $3.50; Oxford 15s

Comey, A. C. Transition zoning. 1933 Harvard univ. press $2.50

Ford, G. B., Randall, A. B., and Cox, Leonard. Building height, bulk, and form; how zoning can be used as a protection against uneconomic types of buildings on high-cost land. 1931 Harvard univ. press $3.50; Oxford 15s

Hubbard, Mrs Theodora (Kimball)

Manual of planning information. 1928 Harvard univ. press $4.50 711

1 City planning 2 City planning—Bibl. A29-458

Including Part 1, "Manual of information on city planning and zoning," 1923 by Mrs T. K. Hubbard, and Part 2, its supplement covering the years 1923-28 "Planning information up-to-date," by Mrs T. K. Hubbard and Katherine McNamara. The volumes are bound together without change. The supplement includes, as before, a supplementary subject index and a combined index to authors in the bibliographies

"Highly useful bibliography with its 2000 references. . .Beside a generous bibliography ranging over regional, rural and national planning as well as the older divisions of the field, she has provided a terse summary of the problem and several satellite lists which will be of special service to the every-day reader and student—lists, for example, of selected references for a city-planning commission of periodicals carrying matter relating to these topics, and of typical American city-plan reports." Survey (reviewing Part 1)

Hubbard, Mrs Theodora (Kimball), and Hubbard, Henry Vincent

Our cities, to-day and to-morrow. 1929 Harvard univ. press $5; Oxford 22s 6d 711

1 City planning 2 Cities and towns—Zone system 3 Cities and towns—U. S. 4 Regional planning 29-25174

"A survey of planning and zoning progress in the United States." Subtitle

"City improvement from the points of view of efficiency and utility is the subject of the book, in which the authors give the results of their survey of 120 cities and a number of metropolitan regions. They take up the legal and administrative background of scientific planning; municipal commissions and agencies; state organizations, technical procedure; street and traffic plans; parks and recreation; etc. The shortcomings of the present and the possibilities of the future in city planning are discussed in concluding chapters." Book rev. digest

James, Harlean

Land planning in the United States for the city, state and nation. (Land economics ser.) 1926 Macmillan $5 711

1 City planning 2 U. S.—Public lands 26-17743

"An interesting and well illustrated volume, arranged as a textbook with bibliographies and index, which explains the principles of city planning and points out how these same principles may be applied to the national problem of the disposition of farm and forest lands." Book rev. digest

"An important contribution to the scanty American literature of this subject by the executive secretary of the American civic association [1932] who knows at first hand many of the conditions and projects described." Journal of home economics

Jeanneret-Gris, Charles Édouard

City of to-morrow and its planning by Le Corbusier (pseud); tr. from the 8th French ed of Urbanisme. 1929 Rodker o.p. 1933 711

1 City planning 29-27594

"Le Corbusier as an architect stated his theories of building in 'Towards a new architecture.' Here he applies the same principles to the art of town planning, stressing planned rather than haphazard space allotment for immense urban populations. In details Le Corbusier is often an extremist, but his ingenious plans for decongestion, augmentation of density, increase of means for city travel, and increase of parks and open spaces show remarkable vision." Bkl.

"M. Le Corbusier's remarkable book is translated from the eighth French edition of 'Urbanisme' and . . . has provoked much controversy. It is a tribute to the author that his literary achievement is welcomed even by his professional opponents because they realise that here is a live philosopher whose voice is loud enough to carry architectural discussion into the market place." Sat. rev. of lit.

Lohmann, Karl Baptiste

Principles of city planning. 1931 McGraw $4; 20s 711

1 City planning 2 Cities and towns—Civic improvement 31-11820

"A professor of landscape architecture at the University of Illinois presents the subject for the benefit of college students, city officials, and ordinary citizens interested in this important means of improving the physical, social, and esthetic conditions of urban development." Journal of home economics

"This volume meets a definite need for something readable, well-balanced, non-technical, of convenient size, with plentiful illustrations, telling what the intelligent citizen ought to know about American city planning. Lay members of our numerous planning boards ought to be especially grateful to Professor Lohmann." Survey

"Recent advances in town planning" by Thomas Adams and others (1932 Macmillan $6.50; Churchill 25s) is a good English book on developments and trends, particularly in Great Britain

Nolen, John

* (ed.) City planning. (National municipal league ser.) 2d ed 1929 Appleton-Century $3.50; 15s 711

1 City planning 2 Regional planning 29-25171

First edition 1916 now reissued with new chapters on zoning and regional planning, and the chapter on legislation rewritten and brought up to date. Bibliography p494-501

"The practical rather than the artistic side of the subject. There are chapters on public control of private real estate, neighborhood centres, water-supply and the city plan, the effect of rapid transit on the city plan, city planning legislation, etc. Contains brief biographical sketches of the contributors." Pittsburgh

712 PRIVATE GROUNDS. LAWNS

Bottomley, Myrl Elijah

Design of small properties; a book for the home-owner in city and country. (Rural science ser.) 1926 Macmillan $2.50; 15s 712

1 Landscape gardening 26-13182

" 'The aim of this book is to encourage and direct the creative impulse of the person who is interested in his own out-of-doors.' It is a practical handbook, giving advice in the design of city and of country places, in garden architecture and the planting and maintenance of trees, shrubs and flowers. There are 64 diagrams and comprehensive tables giving information about deciduous trees, deciduous shrubs, evergreens, vines and flowers, both perennials and annuals." Boston

A desirable book, unfortunately out of print 1933, is A. J. Jennings and L. H. Johnson's "Complete home landscape" (1924 De La Mare). It deals in a very satisfactory manner with all ordinary questions relating to the creation and maintenance of the home grounds

Butterfield, William Harold

Making fences, walls and hedges. (House and garden making books) 1914 McBride 75c; Batsford 3s 712

1 Fences 2 Walls 3 Hedges 14-9844

Dickinson, Lawrence S.

The lawn; the culture of turf in park, golfing and home areas. 1930 Judd $1.25; Routledge 7s 6d 712

1 Lawns 30-26559

"Concise information on all kinds of grasses, fertilizers, amount of seed needed, weeds and other subjects connected with lawn making. There are useful tables, plans, and illustrations from photographs." Ontario library review

Earle, Mrs Alice (Morse)

Old time gardens. 1901 Macmillan $3 712

1 Gardens 2 Landscape gardening 1-26599

"Beginning with colonial days and the early Pilgrim gardens, she follows the garden through the New England village and the larger towns of the East, pointing out interesting evidences of Old English, Dutch and European garden styles. She then gives us much cherished pictures of some of the gardens of our American poets and finally leaves us steeped in delightful bits of flower and garden lore gathered about our early gardens." Minneapolis

Many illustrations

Grace Tabor's "Old-fashioned gardening" (1913 McBride o.p. 1933) is another interesting book dealing with the old time gardens. It describes types of gardens that were found among the colonists and gives suggestions for reconstructing such gardens

Sun dials and roses of yesterday. 1902 Macmillan $2.50 712

1 Sundials 2 Roses 3 Rosicrucians 2-28497

Interesting information about the history, construction, manufacture and setting of sun dials, with many illustrations; and, lest the book be bare like a sun dial standing alone in a garden, the latter part is devoted to roses and quaint rose recipes

Jay, Mary Rutherfurd

Garden handbook. 1931 Harper $2.50 712

1 Gardens 2 Landscape gardening 32-1358

"In this small volume the library can obtain the kind of information usually available only in elaborate and expensive works—fully illustrated descriptions of famous gardens in foreign lands. These descriptions which embrace South America and the Orient as well as Europe, constitute part 1 (about half the book). Part 2 is devoted to garden details; part 3 to American adaptations, with lists for planting." Wis. bul.

Murray, Pauline

* Planning and planting the home garden. 1932 Judd $3.50 712

1 Gardens 2 Landscape gardening 32-8396

"Here are at once the general principles and the definite details of what to plant, where and how to plant it, and how to keep it in health and continuing beauty. Trees, shrubs, annuals, perennials, vines, aquatic plants, roses, vegetables—these are the principal groups. But in addition to them are sections on garden furniture, pruning, propagation, garden costs, house locations and numerous other pertinent matters." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Illustrations, plans and 31 plates from photographs

Ortloff, Henry Stuart

* Informal gardens; the naturalistic style. 1933 Macmillan $1.60; 7s 6d 712

1 Gardening 2 Landscape gardening 33-13958

"Mr. Ortloff shows how, in America particularly, rock gardens, wild flower sanctuaries, bog and water gardens, and bird gardens may enhance the natural beauty of hills and valleys, woodlands and pleasing streams." Cincinnati

Ortloff, Henry Stuart, and Raymore, Henry Bond

New gardens for old; how to remodel the home grounds. 1934 Doubleday, Doran $2 712

1 Landscape gardening 34-3896

"The basic principles of landscape design and planting and their application in rearranging, improving and revitalizing home grounds." Cleveland

"There must be many thousands of puzzled gardeners who are in need of just the sort of guidance provided by 'New Gardens for Old.' Read it discerningly, and the riddle of what to do to make those trees or shrubs or flower borders or lawns look right will in all likelihood be solved." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Rockwell, Frederick Frye

‡ Lawns. (Home garden handbooks) 1929 Macmillan $1; 5s 712

1 Lawns 29-9736

"The book is more than one on how to make a lawn. By text and pictures the reader is informed how to lay it out and place the other elements of the landscape picture, how to correct mistakes, what grasses to use and how to maintain the lawn with least labor and best results." Boston Transcript

"An excellent addition to Macmillan's series of Home Garden Handbooks. It covers its subject fully in a practical, unwordy manner. . . . The excellent index makes the book useful for constant reference." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

"Lawn making and maintenance; a discussion of the problems involved" by The O. M. Scott and sons company (1932 The author, gratis) is an excellent small pamphlet on practical care of the lawn

Rohde, Eleanour Sinclair

Story of the garden. 1932 Hale $4.50; Medici soc. 16s 712

1 Gardens 33-7357

A history of garden design in England from the earliest days to the present. Contents: Traditional influence of ancient garden lore; Mediaeval garden; Tudor age; Stuart times; French and Dutch influences; Georgian period; Landscape school and the Victorian and Edwardian eras; American gardens. Steele, Fletcher

* Design in the little garden. (Little garden ser.) 1924 Little $1.75; Batsford 8s 6d 712

1 Gardens 2 Landscape gardening 24-5820

"Deals with the principles and practice of gardening as an art and has little to do with planting problems. . . Mr Steele is interested in landscape design in limited space, gardens planned for privacy and comfort, small enclosed lawns or green gardens, rock, wild and wall gardens, garden walks and furniture, arbors and fences. Three chapters are given to a discussion of three different plans for a garden on an average suburban lot." Book rev. digest

Contains illustrations and plans

Taylor, George Crosbie

Garden making by example. 1932 Scribner $3; Country life 10s 6d 712

1 Landscape gardening 32-26889

"This guide is meant to assist the owners of suburban and other small gardens in making the most of the space at their disposal and to direct them in its general lay-out and planting. To this end there are thirty pages of text dealing briefly with plans, levels, design, fences, paths, lawns, rose, rock and kitchen gardens, with a summary of points to be borne in mind. The chief part of the instruction is contained in some 130 photographs of existing gardens and twenty-six plans. Most of these are serviceable as suggestions for the treatment of moderate-sized and small areas attached to modern houses." Times (London) lit. sup.

712P PUBLIC PARKS

In the Decimal classification there is now no separate number for books on public parks. 711 was used in earlier editions and the new Decimal classification includes this material in class 712. For libraries in which it is convenient to have these books in a separate class it is suggested that P be added as here to form the class number. For books on our national parks see class 917.8

Burnap, George

Parks, their design, equipment and use. (Landscape architecture ser.) 1916 Lippincott $8.50; 36s 712P

1 Parks 2 Landscape gardening 16-22994

Contains valuable material for libraries needing more material than is to be found in general books on landscape gardening, or in the smaller book listed below

"The author [was] landscape architect of public buildings and grounds, Washington, D.C., and this book on parks is addressed particularly to executives who have the development of parks in their charge. The chapters are devoted to: Park design; 'Passing-through' parks; Neighbourhood parks; Recreation parks; Playgrounds in parks; Effigies and monuments in parks; Architecture in parks; Decorative use of water; Planting design of parks; Park administration in relation to planting design; Seats in public parks; Disposition of flowers in parks; Park utilities. The illustrations, 163 in number in addition to the colored frontispiece, show photographic views of parks at home and abroad." Book rev. digest

Where there is a wide interest in gardening, "Aristocrats of the garden" (2v 1926-32 Stratford $10) by E. H. Wilson, formerly head of the Arnold arboretum, will find readers. It includes much information about oriental plants and shrubs suited to the climate of the United States. Formerly published as "Aristocrats of the garden," new edition 1926, and "More aristocrats of the garden" 1928

Bailey, Liberty Hyde

Cultivated conifers in North America, comprising the pine family and the taxads. 1933 Macmillan $7.50; 37s 6d 715

1 Evergreens 2 Trees 33-11163

A revision and enlargement with additional illustrations, of parts 1 and 2 of the author's "Cultivated evergreens" published in 1923, which included material on the conifers and the broad-leaved evergreens. The new book is limited to the true conebearers and the yews. Contents: Book 1 The kinds of conifers; book 2 Growing of conifers for ornament and interest

"The book can be well-recommended to all who are interested in the Coniferae." Garden chronicle (London)

Cloud, Katharine Mallet Prevost

* Cultivation of shrubs. 1927 Dodd $2.50 715

1 Shrubs 27-4289

"The first part of this conveniently arranged and attractively illustrated book contains general instructions that apply to the cultivation of shrubs of all kinds. The second part contains specific directions for the care of a long list of shrubs alphabetically catalogued and described. [Illustrated]." Book rev. digest

"Miss Cloud. . . is a consulting horticulturist. . . Her book is not for those who buy one shrub at a time; but whoever wants a reference book, with general advice on planting and propagating, pruning and spraying, forcing and fertilizing. . .will find Miss Cloud an invaluable guide." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Greeves-Carpenter, C. F.

Care of ornamental trees. 1928 Macmillan $1.25; 6s 6d 715

1 Trees 28-10702

"This small handbook of simply written directions for the care of ornamental trees includes chapters on planting, fertilizing, pruning, tree surgery, and spraying, and is illustrated from photographs. Indexed." Book rev. digest

"It contrives to reduce to a thoroughly understandable, clear-cut basis a phase of home-grounds work [with] which many, even of those who have excellent flower gardens, are unfamiliar. . . If the principles set forth in this small book were generally known and practiced the health and beauty of countless suburban and rural elms, maples, oaks and other ornamentals would be many times enhanced." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Hottes, Alfred Carl

Book of shrubs. 2d ed 1931 De La Mare $3 715

1 Shrubs 31-22344

"In this edition descriptions of many additional plants have been included, more copious notes on culture have been added, the lists of shrubs for various purposes have been supplemented, and many new illustrations have been included." Preface to the second edition

"A very instructive guide to cultivation of shrubs. Describes species and varieties (both native and introduced), points out desirable and objectionable features, gives much attention to propagation, and deals, more fully than any other book on the subject, with soil requirements. Author is [1928] professor of horticulture at Ohio State University." Pittsburgh

A good brief handbook in the Farm and garden library is F. A. Waugh's "Hardy shrubs" (1928 Judd $1.25; Routledge 7s 6d)

* Book of trees. 1932 De La Mare $3.50 715

1 Trees 2 Tree planting 32-11587

"Legends, stories, poems, descriptions of historical trees, discussions of tree repair, street trees, and a variety of related topics form almost one-half of this handbook of miscellaneous information. The remainder of the book consists of descriptions of 'important deciduous trees' and of 'important coniferous trees.' Contains indexes of plant names and topics. Will not take the place of a complete, well arranged reference book." Bkl.

"Its author evidently has not only a comprehensive knowledge of trees but an understanding of them and a brotherly affection for them that enable him to make, somehow, his knowledge very intriguing . . . The volume is copiously, accurately and beautifully illustrated." N.Y. Times

An English book which is practical but needs some adaptation for American use is A. J. Macself's "Flowering trees and shrubs" (1925 Scribner $2; Butterworth, T. 3s 6d)

Johnson, Leonard H.

Foundation planting. 1927 De La Mare $5 715

1 Landscape gardening 2 Evergreens 3 Shrubs 27-9745

An excellent compilation of suggestions as to the selection, arrangement and care of ornamental plant materials around the foundations of houses, garages, outbuildings, schools and factories. The book has over 200 photographic illustrations of many different types of planting, with excellent plans and keys explaining them. Both common and scientific names of plants are given. Valuable also are the illustrations of specimen evergreens and shrubs with good descriptions of each

* Evergreens for the small place. (Home garden handbooks) 1928 Macmillan $1; 5s 715

1 Evergreens 2 Landscape gardening 28-14796

"A small, compact handbook on evergreens which contains chapters on evergreens for year-round beauty; evergreens as foundation plantings; dwarf evergreens; the larger evergreens; soils and fertilizers preferred by evergreens; when and how to plant them, general care, and insects and diseases attacking evergreens. There is a list of evergreens for special purposes." Book rev. digest

"The little book is well illustrated and when used, as it is intended, with the catalogues of nurseries, may well prove of great value to anyone who loves to see growing things." Boston Transcript

Another practical guide for the amateur is one of the Farm and garden library, F. A. Schrepfer's "Hardy evergreens" (1928 Judd $1.25; Routledge 7s 6d)

Shrubs. (Home garden handbooks) 1927 Macmillan $1; 5s 715

1 Shrubs 27-18275

Like others of the series, this book is a good, inexpensive handbook. It is illustrated only where it is necessary to explain the text, and by line drawings instead of expensive reproductions from photographs. The book discusses planning, buying, planting, pruning, and the general care of shrubs, describes different types of shrubs and furnishes also lists to aid in the selection of shrubs, classifying them by height, color and season of bloom, according to various purposes, and according to soil and climate to which they are suited

Two useful bibliographies on gardening are: Evans, Mary, comp. Garden books, old and new. 1926 Pennsylvania horticultural soc. $1 An annotated list of good books on gardening

New York. Public library. Gardens and gardening. 1927 N.Y. public lib. 10c A selected list of books prepared by the Garden club of America, the Horticultural society of New York, and the New York Public library

E. H. Wilson's "If I were to make a garden" (1931 Stratford $10) is an expensive and beautifully illustrated book by the late keeper of the Arnold Arboretum. A chapter is devoted to cultural directions and chapters on various plant groups such as rhododendrons, lilacs, azaleas, asters, conifers

Two interesting books on special phases of gardening are Mrs F. A. Bardswell's "Herb-garden" (2d ed 1930 Macmillan $3; Black, A. & C. 7s 6d) which tells how to start and cultivate an herb garden, and E. S. Rohde's "Scented garden" (1931 Hale $3.75; Medici soc. 10s 6d) on cultivation and flower-lore, with a list of scented trees and plants

Many useful pamphlets on gardening subjects are issued by the United States Department of agriculture. These are entered under subject in the Agricultural index (listed in class 050) and also in "Price list no. 44: Plants" (1933 Supt. of doc. gratis)

Doubleday, Mrs Nellie Blanchan (de Graff)

American flower garden. 1909 Doubleday, Doran $3 716

1 Gardening 2 Flowers 9-11251

With 92 full-page photographs

"The general plan of her chapters may be gathered from her treatment of 'The wild garden': First, she touches on the abstract idea, and tells what an ideal wild garden might be and what such gardens have actually been in the past; then she describes some of the most useful materials for a wild garden, interspersing the story with the practical knowledge necessary to the making of one. After each chapter follow the planting tables, by Leonard Barron, which, though not by any means exhaustive, give all the best flowers, and fully as many as anybody but Croesus has any business to try." Nation

Durand, Herbert

My wild flower garden; the story of a new departure in floriculture. 1927 Putnam $2.75 716

1 Flowers 2 Floriculture 27-10218

With 49 illustrations from photographs taken in the author's garden

"The wild flower garden attractively described and illustrated in these pages was originally a bare rocky tract of ground measuring roughly sixty by one hundred feet. The author-gardener tells how by successful transplantings from woodlands near and far he transformed this barren plot into the beauty spot of the illustrations. Other garden treatments are described, with notes on culture and care of plants." Book rev. digest

"An interesting and fascinating story, even if the reader cannot go and do likewise by making a garden of his own." Boston Transcript

Formerly published under the title: "Taming the wildings"

Illustrated with 23 colored plates and 140 other illustrations, all from photographs taken in the wild, and showing the plants as they grow in their natural haunts

"Based on the author's own study and experience, this attractive manual contains information on the cultivation of our native wild flowers, bushes and ferns. There are extensive lists of plants that may be transplanted successfully, while the colored plates and photographs are of value in showing the plants in their natural environment." N.Y. state lib.

Findlay, Hugh

Garden making and keeping. 1926 Doubleday, Doran $1.95 716

1 Gardening 2 Gardens 26-10244

"How to beautify the small space with flowers, trees, and shrubs is charmingly and lucidly told here by a professor of agriculture in Columbia university. The book deals informally with subjects generally left to the specialist, and includes directions for making attractive pools, bird baths, and bird shelters. Beautifully illustrated." Bkl.

"A practical, at the same time appealingly written book for those who want to make gardens. Beautiful illustrations. Thorough lists of plants supplement the chapters. A specially useful feature is the appendix which contains definitions of terms used in gardening, certain technical terms, names and descriptions of various types of roses, peonies, dahlias, iris." Boston

Jekyll, Gertrude

Colour schemes for the flower garden. 6th ed 1925 Scribner $6.50; Country life 15s 716

1 Gardens 2 Color [A17-8]

This excellent book, although written by an English woman, is applicable to American gardens. Well illustrated

"The real masterpiece in garden color. . . Provides the structure of gardening with 'a more exquisite and carefully considered garnishment' than has ever been given to garden lovers before by any man or woman. She creates pictures that the garden lover cannot choose but see and follow in the lovely flowering paths of equal inspirations. Miss Jekyll has given the greatest impulse toward the fine art of gardening in her eight books of any present day writer in this country or in England, as the constant reference to her name and writings in our current garden literature testifies." Minneapolis

Kains, Maurice Grenville

Modern guide to successful gardening. 1934 Greenberg $2.50 716

1 Gardening 34-5438

"The book is divided into 50 rather short chapters, and contains information on the stock subjects such as annuals, perennials, roses, rock gardens, lawns, trees, soil, pruning, fertilizers, seed starting, insect and blight control. The author discusses also amateur greenhouses, hotbeds and cold-frames, vegetable gardening in its numerous phases, including harvesting and storing, fruit gardens for the small home owner (he urges a greater use of dwarf fruit trees), trees and shrubs that will attract birds, the buying of nursery stock, cover crops, watering, tillage and drainage." Springfield Republican

"It would be difficult to find a more comprehensive volume on gardening. . . He covers a great deal of ground and covers it thoroughly, giving clear instructions and good advice on almost every phase of modern gardening." F. Rockwell in N.Y. Times

Kift, Jane Leslie, and Hedenberg, Karin B.

‡ Success with house plants. 1932 De La Mare 75c 716

1 House plants 32-24854

"All the familiar plants for indoor growth, and some less well known ones, are included. Careful directions for cultivation and many illustrations make the book very useful." Providence

Two older books that are now less popular but still useful are: P. T. Barnes's "House plants and how to grow them" (1909 Doubleday, Doran $2), and F. E. Palmer's "Milady's house plants" (1926 De La Mare $1.25)

King, Mrs Louisa (Yeomans)

From a new garden. 1930 Knopf $3 716

1 Gardens 30-9443

"She writes here about the general making and the special factors of a garden, of the kinds, the beauties and the planting of tulips and lilacs, of roses and peonies and delphiniums and other flowers of the garden in general during the Spring and Summer months, of ingenuity in gardens, of gardens in the South, of tools and house plants and of books about gardening." N.Y. Times

Books on gardening: p204

Little garden. (Little garden ser.) 1921 Little $1.75; Batsford 8s 6d 716

1 Gardens 21-17360

A practical little book, with illustrations and tables

"Crowds in small space a mass of practical suggestions, and proves to the owner of a small place that there are for him great possibilities in the way of garden enterprise. Most books discourage the average householder because they plan on extensive scales. The true principles of landscape art and garden care are here, and presented in alluring form." St Louis

Mrs King has written a number of other garden books which will still be useful to libraries which have them. Three are: "The beginner's garden" (1927 Scribner $2) a collection of articles on plan, color, and design; "Variety in the little garden" (1923 Little $1.75) which has useful information about varieties of flowers, shrubs and trees; and "Well-considered garden" (new and rev ed 1922 Scribner $2.50; Batsford 12s 6d) a book about color arrangements and harmony, written for women's garden clubs

Another helpful volume in the Little garden series is F. E. McIlvaine's "Spring in the little garden" (1928 Little $1.75)

Macself, A. J.

Hardy perennials. (Home garden books) [2d ed] 1925 Scribner $2; Butterworth, T. 3s 6d 716

1 Flowers [Agr22-1114]

Corrections and a few additions are the only changes made for this edition of a very useful book by an English authority. Illustrated with color photographs by R. A. Malby: water-color drawings by Winifred Walker: line drawings by Maud A. West

"A comprehensive book which describes the characteristics, purposes and treatment of hardy perennials in such a way as to be useful to both the beginner and the more advanced grower." Pratt quarterly

L. B. Holland's "Garden bluebook, a manual of the perennial garden" (1915 Doubleday, Doran o.p. 1933) is a good illustrated manual, arranged alphabetically by names of plants

Muller, Richard Theodore

American greenhouse construction, heating and equipment. 1927 De La Mare $1.50 716

1 Greenhouses 27-24748

Some libraries may prefer to class this in 728.98. It is classed here because of its interest to gardeners

"This concise manual on various methods in greenhouse construction and equipment by a member of the faculty of the Massachusetts agricultural college [1927] is a valuable assistant to the amateur gardener who desires to build his own greenhouse." Bkl.

W. J. Wright's "Greenhouses; their construction and equipment" (new ed with corr. 1931 Judd $2; Routledge 12s) is a standard work on this subject

Ortloff, Henry Stuart

Perennial gardens. 1931 Macmillan $1.25; 6s 6d 716

1 Flowers 2 Floriculture 31-9236

"Excellent plans for a variety of gardens, both in regard to the space available and the color scheme and seasoning of bloom desired." Providence

Illustrated by diagrams of plantings

Ortloff, Henry Stuart, and Raymore, Henry Bond

Garden maintenance. 1932 Macmillan $2.50; 12s 6d 716

1 Gardening 32-26214

J. C. Wister's "Bulbs for American gardens" (1930 Stratford $6.50) is a comprehensive and beautifully illustrated book on this subject

Gardening under glass. [2d ed rev] 1928 De La Mare $2.50 716

1 Greenhouses 2 Gardening 28-22415

First published in 1923 by Doubleday. In the second edition, minor changes have been made and the bibliography omitted

"A practical book which passes on greenhouse secrets to the amateur who the author thinks can garden as successfully inside as outside. Mr Rockwell begins at the beginning and discusses soils, fertilizers and tools, tells what plants to combine at given temperatures, and describes the cultivation of special crops." Book rev. digest

Rock gardens. (Home garden handbooks) 1928 Macmillan $1; 5s 716

1 Rock gardens 28-17879

"This book has been written for the home owner who desires to experiment with this fascinating type of garden. A garden wall, steps leading to the house, are some of the suggestions for the small house owner. Careful directions and diagrams are given for the construction of the garden. The author is well known for his works on gardening." Providence

Another good guide is S. F. Hamblin's "American rock gardens" (1929 Judd $1.25; Routledge 7s 6d) in the Farm and garden library. A more detailed guide, written by a famous gardener, is Henry Correvon's "Rock garden and Alpine plants, ed. by Leonard Barron" (1930 Macmillan $6; 25s) Mrs L. B. Wilder's "Rock garden" (1933 Doubleday, Doran $1.50) which covers plans, the soil and plants to grow is readable and practical. It was formerly published as part of the author's "Adventures in my garden and rock garden"

Shelton, Louise

Continuous bloom in America. 1915 Scribner $3.50 716

1 Floriculture 2 Gardening 15-18425

"An excellent work for the person who is more than an amateur and less than a professional. Besides definite chapters on what plants to use, where to place them and where they bloom, there are eleven charts offered as a guide to arrangement, each of which represents actual beds. The range of plants goes beyond those in common use, and the full directions for using show personal experience. Miscellaneous advice and photographic reproductions complete a book which meets a very definite need despite the many good ones in print." Wis. bul.

The author's "Seasons in a flower garden" (3d ed 1926 Scribner $2) is simple, practical and excellent for beginners

Sherlock, Chesla Clella

City and suburban gardening. 1928 De La Mare $2 716

1 Gardening 2 Gardens 28-23004

"An experienced gardener talks informally of the small garden in the city or the country, how to make it, what plants to choose for it, and how to make them grow." Book rev. digest

"In a conversational style that is at once concise and packed with information, he writes of the different phases and stages and elements of making a beautiful garden out of what would otherwise be an unsightly yard." N.Y. Times

S. B. Mitchell's "From a sunset garden" (1932 Doubleday, Doran $3) is a good book, based on experiments in a California garden. It is primarily of local interest but has many general suggestions applicable to gardens elsewhere

Speller, Mrs Florence C.

Garden clubs. 1931 Mohawk $2.50 716

1 Gardening—Societies 31-14744

"From much experience with the organizing of garden clubs and their subsequent problems, Mrs. Speller has written this book, 'to help the novice in garden club work.' Herein are discussed most, if not all, of the many interests pertaining to a garden club. From the formation, possible constitution and bylaws, the members and the first meeting, to the programs for the year, with lists of lectures and the flower shows, also suggestions for special club activities, each and all are given consideration." N.Y. Times

Illustrations from photographs

Mrs E. R. B. Fisher's "Garden club manual" (1931 Macmillan $2; 10s) is another recommended book which would be useful for libraries in suburban or rural districts where there is an interest in the subject

Stevens, Glenn A.

Garden flowers in color; a picture cyclopedia of flowers. 1933 Macmillan $3.75 716

1 Flowers 33-34791

"Unusually handsome and accurately coloured pictures of every important flower-garden plant, in some cases including several varieties of the same one. The accompanying text treats each plant briefly and gives cultural directions. A guide-book for the beginner and a book of reference for the advanced gardener." Ontario library review

Thornton, Archie

* Rock garden primer. [2d ed rev] 1931 De La Mare $2 716

1 Rock gardens 30-26176

First edition 1929. Almost no changes have been made for this edition

"Construction, drainage and planting are explained and illustrated with diagrams, photographs and coloured plates, also gives a list of suitable plants, bulbs, shrubs and trees." Ontario library review

Two other useful contributions to rock garden literature are: "American alpines in the garden" by Mrs A. W. A. McCully (1931 Macmillan $2.50; 12s 6d) and "Western American alpines" by I. N. Gabrielson (1932 Macmillan $3.50; 18s)

Tipton, Mrs Edna (Sibley)

Flowers for every occasion. 1930 Stokes $3 716

1 Floral decoration 30-9105

"A comprehensive book on flower arrangement and the use of flowers. Contains chapters on the home use of flowers, church decoration, flowers for all sorts of festival occasions and anniversaries and for funerals, flowers to wear or carry, flowers for gifts, and garnishing food with flowers. State and national flowers are listed, and the language of flowers is given briefly." Cleveland

Anne Lamplugh's "Flower and vase" (1929 Scribner $2; Country life 5s) is another good book on flower arrangement tho rather expensive for its size

Volz, Emil Conrad

* Home flower-growing. (Rural science ser.) 1928 Macmillan $3.50; 18s 716

1 Floriculture 2 Gardening 28-9304

" 'Home flower-growing,' as its name implies, is quite complete and, parenthetically, well illustrated. It covers flower-garden planning, soil preparation and enrichment, the selection and culture of outdoor annuals, herbaceous perennials, bulbs, roses, indoor house plants for blossoms and foliage, various types and methods of plant propagation, cut-flower arrangement and suggestions for the formation and programs of a garden club. Its lists are adequate and, of course, composed of species and varieties that are generally available." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

"The author has kept in mind the needs of his students in floriculture at Iowa State College, but his concise statement of the principles underlying modern home flower growing is well suited to the needs of the general reader." Cleveland

Everybody's garden. 1930 Judd $3.50; Routledge 21s 716

1 Gardens 30-8222

"A compendious work dealing with all phases of year-round gardening. Chapters of unusual interest are: Furnishing the garden; Life in the garden; The bird garden; The sub-tropical garden; Indian summer; The garden after frost; The garden in winter; Bush fruits; Plant foods. There are numerous excellent illustrations and each chapter is concluded with pertinent quotations from general and garden literature." Cleveland

"Such a book, thoroughly practical in its suggestions, based on long experience in garden planning, with wide observation of American and foreign cities and villages, should have a marked influence in raising the standards of landscape architecture, rural, and urban. Everyone who cultivates flowers, whether in large or small plots, can get helpful hints from 'Everybody's Garden.' " Review of reviews

Weston, Thomas A.

All about flowering bulbs for home and garden. 1931 De La Mare $2 716

1 Bulbs 2 Floriculture 31-18007

A revision of the author's "Bulbs that bloom in the spring" published 1926, with chapters added on summer flowering bulbs and on tender bulbs and roots. Increased in size by about 40 pages. The book is written for the small home owner and contains the essential instructions about varieties and care. Many illustrations, some in color

Two other useful books devoted to spring flowers are: C. L. Thayer's "Spring flowering bulbs" (1928 Judd $1.25; Routledge 7s 6d) one of the volumes in the Farm and garden library; and C. L. Allen's "Bulbs and tuberous-rooted plants" (Judd o.p. 1933) an older book now out of print but still useful, on the history, description and cultivation of bulbs. It is arranged alphabetically by plant groups

White, Edward Albert

Principles of flower arrangement. 2d ed rev and enl 1926 De La Mare $3 716

1 Flowers 2 Floral decoration 26-23198

The revised edition omits all details of flower arrangement for the professional florist such as the first edition included, and the material for the amateur has been expanded. Contains many illustrations

"The author, a professor of floriculture at Cornell university [1933] gives succinct advice on floral arrangement in the home, hall, and church. The treatment is all the way from the corsage to mass arrangement." Chicago

Wilder, Mrs Louise (Beebe)

Adventures in a suburban garden. 1931 Macmillan $3.50; 18s 716

1 Gardens 2 Rock gardens 31-25011

"The author's own one-acre garden, in which she plans to have something of interest and beauty for each week of the year, was the scene of many of these garden adventures. The garden is situated a 'scant half hour by rail from the Grand Central station in New York City.' About one-third of the book is devoted to the consideration of the perennial garden, the other two-thirds is given over to the rock garden and wild garden." Book rev. digest

"Aside from her practical knowledge of plants and their needs, Mrs Wilder has also a rich store of quaint literary allusions from forgotten writers of the past, with which she enlivens the pages of this book. It is well illustrated with photographs." Springfield Republican

In the author's earlier book "Adventures in my garden and rock garden" (1923 Doubleday, Page o.p. 1933) she writes about her gardening experiences. In "My garden" (1916 Doubleday, Page $1.95) Mrs Wilder has written entertaining papers on garden plants and flowers. Good for unusual suggestions. Another book of personal experiences, charmingly told, is "Garden whimseys" by C. R. Lomas (1923 Macmillan $1.50)

Colour in my garden; illustrated in colour by Anna Winegar. 1927 Doubleday, Doran $5 716

1 Gardens 2 Color 27-6179

Popular and cheaper edition of a book first published in 1918

"It is a beautiful and careful piece of work." Minneapolis

Wilder, Mrs Louise B.—Continued

Fragrant path. 1932 Macmillan $3; 15s 716

1 Gardening 2 Flowers 3 Leaves 4 Plants 32-25681

"The author . . . treats of one specific phase of plants and flowers, namely, their fragrance. The following chapter headings indicate the range of topics: The sweets of May, Gilliflowers, Night scented flowers, Green aromatics (herbs), Odorous grasses, ferns, and mushrooms. Written in a delightfully informal style with frequent alluring reference to other books. Carefully prepared lists giving definite information are included throughout and the whole is well indexed." Bkl.

Mrs H. M. Fox's "Gardening with herbs for flavor and fragrance" (1933 Macmillan $3.50) gives history, folklore, methods of cultivation and recipes for the use of herbs in cookery

Wright, Richardson Little

Gardener's bed-book. 1929 Lippincott $2.50; 10s 6d 716

1 Gardening 29-26567

"Pithy, clever, practical, or philosophical paragraphs and discussions of the delights and compensations of a garden for each day in the year—intended as a soothing, bedtime draught for the gardener." Bkl.

"Mr. Wright has a witty, whimsical way of saying very practical things. Few men appreciate the subtle delights of a garden as much as he, and fewer still can put their appreciation in such a delightful way. Each month has a 'long piece' at the close which is a choice essay of a wider range of thought, and indicates how good a writer the editor of 'House and Garden' can be." Boston Transcript

Practical book of outdoor flowers. 1924 Lippincott $7.50; 35s 716

1 Gardening 2 Floriculture 24-11778

"Mr Wright's book justifies its title. It is a thoroughly practical book, the outcome of experience, mostly his own but broadened also by that of other gardeners. It is also an exceedingly beautiful book, well printed and handsomely made and adorned with copious illustrations." N.Y. Times

The author's "Flowers for cutting and decoration" (1923 Dutton $4; Batsford 21s) deals with raising flowers for house decoration and with cutting and arranging flowers

717 GARDEN ORNAMENTS AND FURNITURE

"Garden ornament" by Gertrude Jekyll and C. Hussey (2d rev ed 1927 Scribner $25; Country life 63s) is the best book available on the subject but is too expensive for the small library. It is made up of plates with brief descriptive notes. No good inexpensive books on this subject, suitable for the needs of small American libraries, are available

Fallon, John Tiernan

(ed.) How to make concrete garden furniture and accessories. 1917 McBride o.p. 1933 717

1 Concrete construction 17-17213

Some libraries will prefer to class this book in 693

"The preface traces the history of concrete as a building material, showing that its use dates from early antiquity. The seven chapters of the book are devoted to: The selection and testing of material; How to proportion and mix the materials; Making forms and placing the concrete; How to make garden walks, steps and other simple utilities; How to make sundials, benches and swiming pools; Bird baths, lanterns, pottery and water gardens; Making concrete garden frames and garden rollers. There are nineteen half-tone plates and numerous illustrations in the text." Book rev. digest

Two other good books, unfortunately out of print, 1933, are: Mrs P. W. Humphreys' "Practical book of garden architecture" (1914 Lippincott) chiefly useful to owners of large estates; and M. H. Northend's "Garden ornaments" (1916 Duffield)

718 MONUMENTS

Weaver, Sir Lawrence

Memorials and monuments old and new. (Country life lib.) 1915 Scribner $6.50; Country life 15s 718

1 Sepulchral monuments 15-22728

"Two hundred subjects chosen from seven centuries." Subtitle

"The purpose of this book is not so much to provide a historical account of the development of those types of memorials which are the most suitable for present use, as to focus attention on good examples, old and new." Preface

"The pages from beginning to end are obviously written 'con amore,' and in no commercial or bookmaking spirit; the author shows himself to be not only a gentleman and a scholar, but also imbued with a true poetic temperament." Athenaeum

Contains 258 illustrations

720 ARCHITECTURE

Many excellent books essential to the architect but too special for the average public library are not included here. The books included are those which will be of interest to home builders, travelers and students of architecture

A classic mainly of interest to architects is "Vitruvius; the ten books on architecture" (1914 Harvard univ. press $4) translated by M. H. Morgan

"The library of architectural documents" (4v 1923-25 Pencil points press v 1 $4, v2 $5, v3-4 o.p. 1933) is a valuable series of reprints of old books of architectural plates which makes this material, useful to architects, available at reasonable cost. Contents:

v1 Grandjean de Montigny, A. H. V., and Famin, A. P. S. M. Architecture toscane

v2 Espouy, H. d'. One hundred selected plates from Fragments d'architecture antique

v3 Selected monuments of French Gothic architecture; one hundred plates from Monuments historique, chosen from the Archives de la Commission des monuments historiques

v4 Masterpieces of Spanish architecture, Romanesque and allied styles; one hundred plates from Monumentos arquitectonicos de Espana, with text by J. V. Van Pelt

Two very useful books not included in main list because they are out of print 1933, are:

Sturgis, Russell. How to judge architecture. 1903 Baker & Taylor. Also published under title: "Appreciation of architecture"

Wallis, F. E. How to know architecture. 1910 Harper

Belcher, John

Essentials in architecture; an analysis of the principles and qualities to be looked for in buildings. 1907 Batsford o.p. 1933 720

1 Architecture 7-38022

"It is astonishing how much information he has agreeably imparted in one hundred and sixty-six pages, many of which are occupied with illustrations. . . In a few words and these as simple

and free from technical terms as possible, he has set before his readers the principles underlying all good architecture." Pittsburgh

Braddell, Darcy
How to look at buildings. 1932 Dutton $2; Methuen 6s 720
1 Architecture—England 2 Architecture 33-15108

A small introductory book on the appreciation of architecture, illustrated with pictures and plans of examples mostly from English architecture. Contains sections on expression, composition, proportion, scale, detail, ornament, texture, colour, and the civic sense

"Mr. Braddell . . . succeeds in making us see that a building need not necessarily be ugly to be cheap nor expensive to be beautiful. . . His treatment of a rather difficult subject is sympathetic and his language simple." Saturday rev.

Bragdon, Claude Fayette
The beautiful necessity; seven essays on theosophy and architecture. 2d ed 1922 Knopf $2.50 720
1 Architecture 2 Theosophy 22-21924

"The text stands. . .as originally published save for a few verbal changes. . . Its thesis, briefly stated, is that art in all its manifestations is an expression of the cosmic life, and that its symbols constitute a language by means of which this life is published and represented. Art is at all times subject to the beautiful necessity of proclaiming the world order." Preface

Contents: Art of architecture; Unity and polarity; Changeless change; Bodily temple; Latent geometry; Arithmetic of beauty; Frozen music

Hamlin, Talbot Faulkner
‡ Enjoyment of architecture. 1916 Scribner $3; Batsford 18s 720
1 Architecture 16-25111

"Admirable, enthusiastic explanation for laymen of the basic principles of beauty in architectural design and construction as shown in ancient and modern structures, with special attention to American buildings. Excellent illustrations, bibliography, index." N.Y. state lib.

Jeanneret-Gris, Charles Édouard
Towards a new architecture, by Le Corbusier [pseud.]; tr. from the 13th French ed with an introduction by Frederick Etchells. 1927 Payson & Clarke o.p. 1933 720
1 Architecture 28-10186

An important and stimulating book on the modernist movement in architecture. In it "one of the most distinguished of modern French architects discusses with insight the significance and the potentiality of the new engineering architecture, which includes not only houses, but ocean liners, airplanes and automobiles." Providence

"A book which has had a success in France, and it is a kind of manifesto in which important points are reiterated as if the writer were a prophet...The book is illustrated with a great many interesting photographs of buildings and of machinery and factories and the like, and in few books are the illustrations chosen so well to bear out the writer's points." Times (London) lit. sup.

Price, Charles Matlack
A B C of architecture. 1927 Dutton $2 720
1 Architecture 27-21023

"The first part of the book deals with architecture as a profession, the training and qualifications of the architect and his relations to his client. Part two is an outline of the story of architecture." Book rev. digest

"Mr Price's book proves to be an 'A B C' mainly for the student of architecture rather than for the person who desires a general survey to inform and enhance his own appreciation of old buildings and new. Mr Price is a competent guide, but in 140 pages he cannot complete the survey." Springfield Republican

* Practical book of architecture. new ed 1932 Lippincott $7.50; 35s 720
1 Architecture 32-19375

First edition 1916. The new edition is a reprint with a supplement added on Architecture and the new age. Many excellent illustrations

"Part 1 aims to give the general reader an understanding of the evolution of architecture and its modern phases, with a working knowledge of the principal styles. Part 2, addressed to those who are building, offers practical information on the choice of a site, the arrangements with architect and contractor, building materials, plans and details." Pittsburgh

Ruskin, John
* Seven lamps of architecture. (Everyman's lib.) Dutton 70c, lib. binding $1; Dent 2s, lib. binding 3s 720
1 Architecture A10-2371

The Brantwood edition of this work, which is a very desirable one, is out of print, 1933

"This book was first published in 1849; it is a marvelous piece of work...compact and vigorous in thought...As a book of art criticism, it is of no value. The architecture it treats of is a dream, a conception of the writer, having no connection with the actual Gothic buildings of Europe, upon a close study of which it is supposed to be founded." Russell Sturgis

720.3 Architecture—Dictionaries

Longfellow, William Pitt Preble
(ed.) Cyclopaedia of works of architecture in Italy, Greece, and the Levant. 1895 Scribner $7.50 720.3
1 Architecture—Dictionaries 4-11661

"Arranged alphabetically by names of places with an account of the chief architectural monuments in each. Has good illustrations, a glossary, and a selected bibliography, but no bibliographical references in the text." Mudge

"All the important monuments of the countries covered are included, preference being given to classic examples. Architectural interest is considered before historic value, though brief historic notes are given. The illustrations are chiefly from photographs and drawings made for this volume." Chicago

Sturgis, Russell
(ed.) Dictionary of architecture and building, biographical, historical, and descriptive. 3v 1901-02 Macmillan o.p. 1933 720.3
1 Architecture—Dictionaries 2 Architects 1-27695

"Encyclopaedic dictionary, in which every word related to the principal subject is given and

Sturgis, Russell—Continued
defined, while the more important are treated in articles of several hundred or several thousand words. Includes biographies of architects, mural painters and decorative sculptors. Illustrated." Pittsburgh
Bibliography: p1141-1212

720.9 Architecture—History

"European architecture" (University prints $5) is a bound volume of 500 pictures, useful to libraries in this form. These pictures, which form Series G of the "University prints," may also be obtained separately at 1½c each

Barstow, Charles Lester
Famous buildings; a primer of architecture. 1915 Appleton-Century $2; 7s 6d 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 15-8727
The 1932 reprint contains ten new pages on American architects and modern architecture. The table of buildings in the United States, which was included in the 1915 edition, has been omitted
"Elementary presentation of the leading styles in architecture and their setting in time and place. May be used as a handbook for classes, clubs or reading circles." Pittsburgh

Caffin, Charles Henry
* How to study architecture. 1917 Dodd $4; Batsford 20s 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 17-24868
"Popular but comprehensive history of the development of architecture from time of the ancient Egyptians to the present. Especially good on early period. Its distinguishing feature is the tracing of the evolution of architecture as the product and expression of successive phases of civilization. Photographs and drawings, glossary, index." N.Y. state lib.

Carpenter, H. Barrett, and Knight, Joseph
Introduction to the history of architecture. 1929 Longmans $2.50; 6s 6d 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 29-28678
"An elementary textbook presenting the essentials in the study of architecture. Each chapter is devoted to an important architectural period." Industrial arts index
Contains illustrations, a table of historical periods of British architecture, a list of buildings in Great Britain of value in the study of architecture, and a glossary

Fletcher, Sir Banister Flight
‡ History of architecture on the comparative method, for students, craftsmen & amateurs. 9th ed rev and enl 1931 Scribner $12; Batsford 42s 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 2 Architecture—Bibl. 32-5254
An admirable and exceedingly useful one volume history intended for reference use. It contains an excellent glossary of architectural terms and is profusely illustrated
"The ninth edition, has been corrected in accordance with the latest investigations. The illustrations, many of which have been reproduced to a larger scale, have been reinforced by the addition of nearly 500 subjects representing notable buildings of all periods referred to in the text, including restorations of important edifices now in ruins or entirely destroyed. Modern architecture in England and America has also been treated at much greater length." Preface

Hamlin, Alfred Dwight Foster
Text-book of the history of architecture. (College histories of art) new ed rev 1928 Longmans $2.50; 10s 6d 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 28-18471
A standard book by the late professor of the history of architecture at Columbia university. First published 1896. In the 1928 edition a chapter on contemporary architecture has been added. Additions and revisions to bring the book up-to-date were made by T. F. Hamlin
"Intended mainly for study. . . The text itself is singularly intelligent, and indicates a firm grasp of the reality rather than of the mere external appearance of things." Russell Sturgis
M. S. Briggs's "The architect in history" (1927 Oxford $3.75; 10s) is not a complete history of architecture but forms an interesting survey of architecture and its makers from antiquity to the twentieth century

Kimball, Sidney Fiske, and Edgell, George Harold
* History of architecture. (Harper's fine arts ser.) 1918 Harper $3.75; Batsford 21s 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 18-6423
Good compressed account of the subject. Excellent glossary
"Comprehensive and, considering its necessary condensation, a remarkably readable account of architectural development from prehistoric times. Emphasizes modern, occidental practice. Embodies the latest results of archaeology and critical study of the art itself and in its relation to the evolution of civilization. Profuse illustrations, bibliographies etc." N.Y. state lib.

Rathbun, Seward Hume
Background to architecture. (Philip Hamilton McMillan memorial publication fund v8) 1926 Yale univ. press $4; Oxford 21s 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 26-16647
"It is not at all a history of architecture, nor is it a factual survey of the background out of which developments of architecture have grown. It is rather a philosophical discussion concerned more with those backgrounds than with architectural features." N.Y. Times
"Discusses the architecture of Egypt, Greece, Rome, France, Italy, and England, analyzing the underlying principles on which the types of each period were based and showing the relationship between the architecture and other phases of civilization." Pittsburgh

Russell, Andrew Laurence Noel
Architecture. (Simple guide ser.) 1927 Dutton $3; Harrap 5s 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. [28-13072]
"It is a practical introduction to the study of architecture, addressed to people who know nothing about the matter, who are anxious to learn, and for whom more advanced and specialized books are, for the moment, useless. Mr. Russell rapidly surveys the history of his subject from Mesopotamia and Egypt, passing through Greek and Roman building, Norman, Gothic, and Renaissance, to the present day." Saturday rev.
Illustrated with photographs and line drawings

Simpson, Frederick Moore
History of architectural development. (Architects' lib.) 3v 1905-11 Longmans ea $5; ea 16s 720.9
1 Architecture—Hist. 6-10483
Contents: v.1 Ancient, early Christian, and Byzantine; v.2 Mediæval; v.3 Renaissance in Italy, France, and England

Simpson, Frederick M.—Continued

"It traces the development of architecture through the various historic periods, describing in detail the plans, construction, materials, and designs of the outstanding buildings of each period. It gives also the religious, social, and political events which influenced the various styles, giving to them their distinctive characteristics. Well illustrated with drawings and photographs." M. E. Clark's Art in home economics

Statham, Henry Heathcote

Short critical history of architecture. 2d ed rev & enl, ed by G. M. Aylwin 1927 Scribner $5.50; Batsford 16s 720.9

1 Architecture—Hist. 27-27515

"Many new illustrations have been added; the whole work has been brought down to date; and there is a remodelled introduction 'designed to restore balance to the book in its new form.'" Bkl.

Offers a critical estimate of all the great phases of architectural development in Europe and the Near East, and groups the material so that it is possible to emphasize the persistence of tradition and the continuity of architectural practice through periods ordinarily regarded as unrelated. Adapted from Architectural review

Short history of architecture; Europe. 1923 Macmillan o.p. 1933 720.9

1 Architecture—Europe 2 Architecture—Hist. 8-30257

A comprehensive and authoritative work first published in 1896 under title "European architecture, an historical study." It covers the subject from the Grecian period to the end of the 18th century. Well illustrated

"History of architecture" by Russell Sturgis and A. L. Frothingham (4v 1906-15 Doubleday, Page o.p. 1933) is a monumental work of especial value in larger libraries which covers the subject very completely from ancient to modern times. Volumes 1-2 are by Sturgis, volumes 3-4 by Frothingham

720.942 Great Britain

Godfrey, Walter Hindes

Story of architecture in England. 2v in 1 1931 Harper $6; Batsford 12s 6d 720.942

1 Architecture—England 31-27236

A well-illustrated book which will be useful to both the student of architecture and the general reader. Contents: v 1, From Roman times to the Reformation, originally published 1928; v2, From Tudor times to the end of the Georgian period

"Mr. Godfrey's book has the great merit of really explaining how things happened, not only in relation to social changes, but as a result of different materials and methods of workmanship. He gives the 'reason why' of stylistic features, and we cannot think of a writer who contributes more to the understanding as distinct from the mere knowledge of architectural history." Times (London) lit. sup.

Stratton, Arthur James

Introductory handbook to the styles of English architecture. 2v 1929 Lippincott ea $1; Batsford ea 2s 6d 720.942

1 Architecture—England (30-6840)

"Compact handbooks, illustrated by numerous small line-drawings, for the use of secondary schools or for adult students desiring a brief introduction to the study of English architecture. Part I covers the Middle Ages and Part II, the Tudor and Renaissance periods." Providence

720.945 Italy

Cummings, Charles Amos

History of architecture in Italy. new ed with an introduction by R. A. Cram 2v 1927 Houghton $12.50; Benn 35s 720.945

1 Architecture—Italy 27-13404

"First published twenty-five years ago, [it] is as valuable to-day as it was then. . . Devoid of meticulous technicalities, it is nevertheless a lucid chronicle of the development of Christian architecture in Italy from the time of Constantine down to the flowering of the renaissance, and is as readable for the layman as for the architect." Ralph Adams Cram in Introduction

Contains several hundred admirably chosen illustrations in text

720.973 United States

"Georgian period; colonial details of measured drawings" (1922 Scientific bk. corp. o.p. 1933) consists of 100 plates and 24 pages of text selected from the much larger work edited by W. R. Ware. While not a history it is useful in connection with the books on American architecture. A new edition is in preparation, 1934

"Contemporary American architects" (McGraw ea $3; ca 15s) is a series which will be good for the public library which has much demand for this kind of material. Each volume contains a brief text and illustrations of the architect's work. The volumes available, 1933, are on Ralph Adams Cram, Raymond M. Hood, and Ely Jacques Kahn

Eberlein, Harold Donaldson

* Architecture of colonial America. 1915 Little $4 720.973

1 Architecture, Colonial 2 Architecture—U. S. 15-22725

"Systematic but popular treatment for the general reader as well as the architect, considering the architectural types of different colonies: Dutch, New England, southern, etc. and distinguishing colonial from Georgian. Devotes most space to dwelling houses, but churches and public buildings receive attention and also the architects. Lavishly illustrated from photographs." N.Y. state lib.

Edgell, George Harold

‡ American architecture of today. 1928 Scribner $6; 30s 720.973

1 Architecture—U. S. 28-8477

"A very fully illustrated volume with readable descriptive text. An introduction traces the development of architecture in America with stress on the influence of the great expositions. 'Modern' architecture is dated from 1893, and is treated under the headings, Domestic and academic, Ecclesiastic and monumental, and Commercial architecture. Illustrations are admirably placed in relation to text, and the classified list of monuments is a clue to the contents, but does not replace a needed index." Wis. bul.

Separate volumes of this series are sold to schools and libraries. The complete series will be found described in class 973 Series

"A valuable addition to the Pageant of America series, outlining the backgrounds and progress of American architecture of the colonial, the expansion, the Victorian, and the modern eras, and showing the types of building that have predominated during those periods. . . The book is especially noteworthy for its illustrations." Bkl.

Jackson, Joseph Francis Ambrose
American colonial architecture; its origin & development. 1924 McKay $2 720.973

1 Architecture, Colonial 2 Architecture—U. S. 24-20061

"A readable account of the origins and development of colonial architecture, giving at the same time a good historical picture of the times. Gives a rather full treatment to French influences in American building. Bibliography, index." Wis. bul.

Development of American architecture, 1783-1830. 1926 McKay $2.50 720.973

1 Architecture—U. S. 26-6948

"A continuation of his 'American colonial architecture,' carrying the story of American architecture down to 1830. Its special value is that it relates architectural developments to national life and shows how changes in taste were influenced by other factors. Well illustrated." Wis. bul.

Bibliography: p215-17

Kimball, Sidney Fiske
American architecture. 1928 Bobbs $4; Harper 30s 720.973

1 Architecture—U.S. 2 U.S.—Historic houses, etc. 28-9510

"Covers the whole field from colonial days to the present, with professional competence but without the crowding of technical details, in a fashion to give the non-professional reader a genuine basis for appreciation in the one art to which America has made a distinctive contribution. Illustrated." Industrial arts index

Notes: p231-43

Mumford, Lewis
Sticks and stones. (White oak lib.) Norton $2 720.973

1 Architecture—U.S. [24-24043]

A satisfactory cheap reprint of a book published by Liveright in 1924. The first edition had a bibliographical chapter which has been omitted

"A discussion of the import of the changes that have come in American architecture and the way it reflects the social and industrial characteristics of each period, from the early New England village to the city skyscraper. Provocative in subject matter, and facile in style." N.Y. state lib.

Tallmadge, Thomas Eddy
* Story of architecture in America. 1927 Norton $4; Allen, G. 16s 720.973

1 Architecture—U. S. 27-23393

A non-technical history for the general reader by a fellow of the American institute of architects

"Has freshness and vividness of style. What is written about the personalities of architects is pertinent and revealing. It is not the most learned book that might be written on the subject or the most exact. But it is an intelligent survey, and it does make an excellent popular introduction to a branch of art of which the average educated person in America is woefully ignorant." Springfield Republican

722 ANCIENT AND ORIENTAL ARCHITECTURE

Two older books, each valuable in its own field are:
Cram, R. A. Impressions of Japanese architecture and the allied arts. [new ed] 1930 Jones, Marshall $4; Harrap 12s 6d Has fifteen new pages on developments since 1905 when this book was first published
Warren, H. L. Foundations of classic architecture. 1919 Macmillan $5

Anderson, William James, and Spiers, Richard Phené
* Architecture of Greece and Rome. rev ed 2v 1927 Scribner ea $7.50; Batsford ea 21s 722

1 Architecture—Greece 2 Architecture—Rome [8-26389]

A highly authoritative work first published in 1902 in one volume. In the present edition v.1 (Greece) is revised by W. B. Dinsmore and v.2 (Rome) by Thomas Ashby. Many excellent illustrations. The bibliographies have been brought up to date

"It is a tribute to the excellence of Messrs. Anderson & Spiers' volume on the history of Greek and Roman architecture that, in spite of the researches which a generation of archæologists have made in the same field, the original treatise needed to be revised but not superseded." Nation and Athenaeum

Bell, Edward
Architecture of ancient Egypt; a historical outline. 1915 Bell, G. o.p. 1933 722

1 Architecture, Egyptian 2 Egypt—Antiquities A16-543

"Though little more than an outline and pretending to no technical treatment, it 'notes the changes in aesthetic ideals which, notwithstanding the innate conservatism of the Egyptian race, took place at one or two periods of their history.' An appendix is added in the shape of a paper by Lepsius, dealing with some features of Egyptian art, which has not been translated before." International studio

M A. Murray's "Egyptian temples" (1931 Low 12s 6d) is a popular account of the temples as they now are. It is suitable for the general reader

Material on Egyptian architecture will also be found in Sir G. C. C. Maspero's "Art in Egypt" listed in class 709.32

Hellenic architecture; its genesis and growth. (Origins of architecture) 1920 Harcourt $2.75; Bell, G. 7s 6d 722

1 Architecture—Greece 20-23190

A very good small work which is reliable and popular. Numerous clear illustrations showing buildings, plans, and details, and a folded map

The author's "Prehellenic architecture in the Aegean" (1926 Harcourt $3.50; Bell, G. 8s 6d) in the same series is a similar book with good material on Crete and the Mycenaean civiliza-

Brooks, Alfred Mansfield
Architecture. (Our debt to Greece and Rome) 1924 Longmans $1.75; Harrap 5s 722

1 Architecture, Greek 2 Architecture, Roman 25-807

"A study of the spirit rather than the details of Greek, Hellenistic, and Roman architecture, and of the influence of each in various countries through the ages." Pittsburgh

Bibliography: p179-82

Browne, Edith A.
Greek architecture. (Great buildings and how to enjoy them) 1909 Macmillan $2; Black, A. & C. 5s 722

1 Architecture, Greek [W9-274]

"A series of 48 views of Greek buildings with short notes explaining their period and character and introductory chapters 'covering simply and briefly, history, structural principles, philosophy and influence.'" Cleveland

Robertson, Donald Struan
Handbook of Greek & Roman architecture. 1929 Macmillan $7; Cambridge univ. press 25s 722

1 Architecture—Greece 2 Architecture—Rome [29-16617]

"A sound standard handbook of Greek and Roman architecture dealing with its successive phases from dim prehistoric times. . . The book may be unreservedly recommended for its scholarly and lucid style and the fullness of its materials." Times (London) lit. sup.

"As a work of reference, its usefulness is much increased by chronological lists of important buildings from 1000 B.C. to 330 A.D., by an excellent classified bibliography, both topographical and technical, by a glossary of architectural terms, and by a general index." New statesman

Allan Marquand's "Greek architecture" (1909 Macmillan o.p. 1933) is an analytical rather than historical treatment

723 MEDIEVAL ARCHITECTURE

Two books by Sir T. G. Jackson, which are valuable to students and architects are: "Byzantine and Romanesque architecture" (2d ed 2v 1921 Cambridge univ. press 84s) and "Gothic architecture in France, England and Italy" (2v 1915 Cambridge univ. press o.p. 1933)

Browne, Edith A.
Early Christian and Byzantine architecture. (Great buildings and how to enjoy them) 1912 Macmillan $2; Black, A. & C. 5s 723

1 Architecture, Byzantine [A12-1557]

"A popular treatment, in the form of a travel talk, giving the history of the style and explaining the growth of the characteristic features. The illustrations follow the text. Each plate is accompanied by a short descriptive and historical note." St Louis

Gothic architecture. (Great buildings and how to enjoy them) 1906 Macmillan $2; Black, A. & C. 5s 723

1 Architecture, Gothic [6-35616]

Similar in make-up to the other volumes of the series. A simple study of Gothic architecture with plates illustrating the style

Romanesque architecture. (Great buildings and how to enjoy them) 1910 Black, A. & C. o.p. 1933 723

1 Architecture, Romanesque A10-1118

A brief introduction to the study of Romanesque architecture written specially for the amateur. Largely made up of plates illustrating examples of this style

Cram, Ralph Adams
* Substance of Gothic. 2d ed 1925 Jones, Marshall $2.50; Batsford 9s 6d 723

1 Architecture, Gothic 2 Architecture, Medieval 3 Civilization, Medieval 26-26278

Six lectures on the development of architecture given at the Lowell institute, Boston, in November and December, 1916, to which has been added a later essay on the essential spirit of the middle ages. Illustrated

"Mr Cram points the way to a new understanding of the middle ages. He deals with the development of architecture from Charlemagne to Henry VIII, rather in relation to its substance than its accidents. The purpose is to point out not only the material progress but also the spiritual forces which made that progress possible." Pittsburgh

Two other good books on Gothic architecture, both unfortunately out of print, 1933, are C. H. Moore's "Development and character of Gothic architecture" (2d ed 1899 Macmillan) a one volume history which stresses the supremacy of French Gothic architecture; and T. F. Bumpus's "Guide to Gothic architecture" (1914 Dodd) which deals mainly with the development of medieval architecture in England

Hammett, Ralph Warner
Romanesque architecture of western Europe: Italy, France, Spain, Germany and England. 1927 Architectural bk. $12.50 723

1 Architecture, Romanesque 2 Architecture—Europe 3 Church architecture 4 Decoration and ornament, Romanesque 27-21596

An excellent book tho somewhat expensive for the small library. Made up of 145 fine plates with brief text. Contains no historical material

A more popular treatment of this subject is V. R. Markham's "Romanesque France" (1929 Dutton $7; Murray, J. 18s) a readable enthusiastic book which gives also a background of medieval life

Porter, Arthur Kingsley
Medieval architecture, its origins and development, with lists of monuments and bibliographies. 2v 1908 Yale univ. press o.p. 1933 723

1 Architecture, Medieval 9-3216

The publisher has a few sets of unbound sheets for sale at $6 the set

Contents: v. 1 The origins; v. 2 Normandy and the Ile de France

"Traces the development of the formative styles from the early Christian to the renaissance. Prominent examples of each are described in classified list of monuments which follows each chapter. Intended for the general reader as well as the student of architecture. Illustrated from photographs and measured drawings." Pittsburgh

724 RENAISSANCE AND MODERN ARCHITECTURE

A scholarly work which will be of special interest in art libraries is W. H. Ward's "Architecture of the renaissance in France" (2d ed rev and enl 2v 1926 Scribner ea $7.50; Batsford ea 21s)

"Modern architecture" (University prints $4) is a bound volume of 265 pictures, useful to libraries in this form. These pictures which form series GM of the "University prints," may also be obtained separately at 1½c each

Anderson, William James
* Architecture of the renaissance in Italy. 5th ed rev and enl 1927 Scribner $7.50; Batsford 21s 724

1 Architecture, Renaissance 2 Architecture—Italy 27-27798

A general view for the use of students and others. With 90 plates and 150 illustrations in the text. A revised edition of a standard work

"The revision has been undertaken by Arthur Stratton, a worthy successor of the author in the interpretation and application of classical standards in architecture. He has added many

new illustrations and brought the chronological charts and bibliography up to date, and has extended the scope by including a detailed survey of the baroque period, which is now better appreciated than in the days of the earlier editions of the book." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Blomfield, Sir Reginald Theodore
Short history of renaissance architecture in England, 1500-1800. 1900 Bell, G. 8s 6d 724
1 Architecture, Renaissance 2 Architecture—England 1-25141
Formerly carried also by Harcourt
Abridgment of the author's larger standard work, "History of renaissance architecture in England" (2v 1897 Bell, G.). Interesting to both the student and the general reader. Many good illustrations
J. A. Gotch's "Early renaissance architecture in England" (2d ed rev 1914 Batsford o.p. 1933) an authoritative work, is "a historical and descriptive account of the Tudor, Elizabethan, and Jacobean periods, 1500-1625." Publishers announce a new edition in preparation, 1933

Cheney, Sheldon Warren
* New world architecture. 1930 Longmans $10; 42s 724
1 Architecture 30-32130
"Altho high priced, this is a splendid book for any library that has calls for material on the new architecture. Has unusually well-selected illustrations and the text offers an intelligent discussion of modern developments here and abroad." Wis. bul.
"It is hardly possible to overstate the lucidity, the incisiveness or the tolerance of Mr. Cheney's writing. He is, in his own person, as evidenced in this book, the best argument for the opinions he advocates. One should not forget, either, the 389 admirably chosen and carefully placed illustrations. No one who wishes to understand modern architecture and to get at the same time a wise insight into our changing civilization should miss this book." N.Y. Times

Clute, Eugene
Practical requirements of modern buildings. 1928 Pencil points press $4 724
1 Architecture—U.S. 2 Architecture—Designs and plans 29-5270
"Designed for the use of architects, draughtsmen, and students, this book aims to present the practical requirements in the construction of hospitals, nurses' homes, schools, churches, hotel buildings, apartment buildings, theaters, commercial buildings, garages and service stations, passenger stations, farm buildings, libraries and museums. Many photographs and plans supplement the excellent text." Bkl.

Gromort, Georges
Italian renaissance architecture; tr. from the French by G. F. Waters. 1922 Helburn $7.50 724
1 Architecture, Renaissance 2 Architecture—Italy 24-30073
Published by A. Vincent, Paris. In 1914 awarded the Bailly prize by the Institut de France
"A short historical and descriptive account with a series of one hundred and ten photographs and measured drawings and forty-five illustrations in the text." Subtitle

Hitchcock, Henry Russell
Modern architecture, romanticism and reintegration. 1929 Harcourt $5 724
1 Architecture 29-25446
"Mr Hitchcock devotes the first part of his book to an analysis of romanticism in architecture, beginning with the middle of the eighteenth century, and ending with the classical and medieval revivals. The second part of the book is given over to a discussion of the new pioneers in Europe and America, leading to the development of modern building. With index and fifty-eight illustrations." Book rev. digest
"Mr. Henry Russell Hitchcock's 'Modern Architecture' is the first word of importance to appear on this subject in English; and it will, I think, rank in scholarship and general grasp with the best works that have so far appeared in either French or German. . . His scholarship combines the historic wealth of the New Traditionalists with the boldness in facing and appraising contemporary fact that characterizes the New Pioneers." New republic
An equally good book by H. R. Hitchcock and Philip Johnson is "The international style: architecture since 1922" (1932 Norton $5) It is a discussion of the new architecture which the authors consider has developed a distinct style which they call International. Illustrated with 139 pages of photographs and plans. Bruno Taut's "Modern architecture" (1929 Studio $10) is also recommended

New York. Museum of modern art
Modern architects, by A. H. Barr, H. R. Hitchcock, Philip Johnson, and Lewis Mumford. 1932 Museum of modern art $3, pa $1.50; Allen, G. 16s 724
1 Architects 2 Architecture 32-26297
Altho this book was issued as a catalog of an exhibit at the Museum of modern art, New York, in 1932, the detailed text which accompanies the many plates makes it a good brief introduction to the work of some of the leading exponents of the modern architecture known as the International style
"Monographs on nine modern architects: Frank Lloyd Wright, Walter Gropius, Le Corbusier, J. J. P. Oud, Miës van der Rohe, Raymond M. Hood, Howe & Lescaze, Richard J. Neutra, Bowman brothers. Illustrated with eighty reproductions of models, plans and photographs. The book also includes a short history of the modern movement, together with a special essay by Lewis Mumford on Housing." Book rev. digest

Wright, Frank Lloyd
Modern architecture. (Princeton monographs in art and archaeology) 1931 Princeton univ. press $5; Oxford 21s 724
1 Architecture 2 Architecture—U.S. 31-26857
"Six lectures on modern architecture delivered at Princeton University in 1930 and 'dedicated to young men in architecture.' The lectures embody this architect's theories about the architecture of a machine age. Contents: Machinery, materials and men; Style in industry; The passing of the cornice; The cardboard house; The tyranny of the skyscraper; The city." Book rev. digest
"Living architecture" edited by Arthur Woltersdorf (1930 Kroch $4.50) an interesting discussion of present day problems, is a collection of essays sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the American institute of architecture

Yerbury, Francis Rowland
Modern European buildings; 1st ser. 1929 Harcourt $10 724
1 Architecture—Europe [29-4689]
A brief introduction and one hundred and forty-four full page photographs of public buildings constructed since the World war. Exteriors, interiors and some plans are given chosen by an architect who believes that "there is every promise of the building of the twentieth century taking an honourable place with that of the great architectural periods of the past."

725 PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Libraries will probably not wish to buy many books in this class until the actual need for them arises, as they soon go out of date. Some volumes which will be useful are:

Hoak, E. W., and Church, W. H. Masterpieces of architecture in the United States. 1930 Scribner $20; 84s

Hopkins, Alfred. Fundamentals of good bank building. 1929 Bankers pub. $7.50 Including illustrations and plans

Pichel, Irving. Modern theatres. 1925 Harcourt o.p. 1933 Contains material on auditoriums, stage equipment, etc. which will be of use even in small libraries

Sexton, R. W. American commercial buildings of today; skyscraper office buildings, banks, private business buildings, stores and shops. 1928 Architectural bk. $18

Sexton, R. W., ed. American public buildings of today; city halls, court houses, municipal buildings, fire stations, libraries, museums, park buildings. 1931 Architectural bk. $12.50

Sexton, R. W., and Betts, B. F. American theatres of today. 2v 1927-30 Architectural bk. v 1 $12.50, v2 $13.50

Stevens, E. F. American hospital of the twentieth century. 3d ed 1928 Architectural record $7.50 Contains chapters on the administration of a hospital as well as its planning and construction

Urban, Joseph. Theatres. 1929 Theatre arts $7.50 Sketches, drawings, and ground plans for six theatres

The "Architectural forum" publishes six times a year monographs or "Reference numbers" at $1 each on various phases of modern architecture. This is the most up to date material to be obtained and it is very valuable for the library which needs material about special types of buildings, e.g. shops and stores, schools, libraries and museums, university buildings, etc. Subjects previously covered in these Reference numbers are repeated from time to time, bringing the old numbers up to date. As not all of the numbers are available, the publishers will furnish a list of those obtainable

Community service, incorporated

Community buildings for industrial towns. 1921 Community service pa 75c 725

1 Community centers 22-2093

A practical little work which treats of the planning and operation of the buildings and includes suggested constitution and by-laws for a community building associations. Illustrations and plans

Starrett, William Aiken

Skyscrapers, and the men who build them. 1928 Scribner $3.50; 12s 6d 725

1 Architecture—U. S. 2 Building 3 Mercantile buildings 29-3961

"Takes up the planning and construction of skyscrapers and the administration and functioning of a modern building organization. Various materials used are followed back to their place of origin while the author includes some of his own experiences in building which add to the readability of the book. Designed for laymen, it avoids technicalities." N.Y. libraries

"Especially valuable on the structural side of skyscraper development. Fully illustrated with photographs that ably supplement the text." Wis. bul.

726 ECCLESIASTICAL AND RELIGIOUS ARCHITECTURE

For libraries needing an authoritative book on mission architecture in the Southwest, Rexford Newcomb's "Old mission churches and historic houses of California" (1925 Lippincott $15) is highly recommended. This book, which is intended for the architect and general reader, contains many beautiful illustrations

F. R. Webber's "Church symbolism" (1927 Jansen $7.50) is good but will usually be needed only for specialized work. It explains the more important symbols of the Old and New Testament and of the primitive, the mediaeval and the modern church. F. S. Unwin's "Decorative arts in the service of the church" (1912 Morehouse o.p. 1933) is a small non-technical book which deals briefly with architecture and the arts of painting, sculpture, mosaic etc. used in church decoration

Adams, Henry

Mont-Saint-Michel and Chartres. 1913 Houghton $7.50; Constable 30s 726

1 Mont St. Michel, France 2 Chartres, France. Notre-Dame (Cathedral) 3 Middle ages 14-30080

Privately printed in 1904. The American institute of architects arranged for the publication of an edition for the general public in 1913 Introduction by R. A. Cram. Well printed with fine illustrations

Study, made with considerable insight, of the philosophy and religion of the middle ages as expressed in literature and art and especially in the architecture of such cathedrals as Chartres and Mont-Saint-Michel. Condensed from Spectator

Émile Mâle's "Religious art in France, XIII century; tr. by Dora Nussey" (1913 Dutton $9.50; Dent 28s 6d) is a notable study in medieval iconography and the sources of its inspiration. The numerous illustrations are excellent photographs of details of cathedral decoration

Bodington, Oliver Eaton

Romance churches of France. 1925 Richards press 18s 726

1 Church architecture 2 Churches—France 25-23004

Formerly carried also by Houghton

"A study of the French churches of the twelfth century including those less frequently visited. Profusely illustrated with photographs." Pratt quarterly

Bumpus, Thomas Francis

Cathedrals and churches of Italy. 1926 Laurie 31s 6d 726

1 Church architecture 2 Cathedrals—Italy 26-27428

Formerly carried also by Dodd

Formerly published in 3 volumes under the titles: "Cathedrals and churches of northern Italy," "Cathedrals and churches of central Italy," and Cathedrals and churches of Rome and southern Italy." The present edition is compressed into one volume. There are seventy-nine illustrations, eight of which are in color

"The present handsome edition is finely printed and bound, and illustrated with excellent photographs of some of the most interesting churches in Italy from Trent to Otranto." Nation and Athenaeum

"As a work of reference this book is valuable, but it may prove disappointing to those who value substance only for its spirit, loving, for instance, the stone of a cathedral floor not because it is stone but because of the magic interplay of light and shadow upon it." Times (London) lit. sup.

Cathedrals of England and Wales. [1930] Laurie 5s 726

1 Cathedrals—England 2 Cathedrals—Wales 21-21077

Formerly carried also by William F. Payson

Contains a popular description of the history and architecture of each cathedral. A glossary of architectural terms is included

This is a pocket edition of a book first published in three volumes in 1905-06, revised and combined in one volume in 1921 and

Bumpus, Thomas F.—Continued
still available on larger paper with 8 plates in color and 48 in halftone (Laurie 25s). The smaller edition is complete but the illustrations are printed in the text and are less attractive

Byne, Mrs Mildred (Stapley)
Forgotten shrines of Spain. 1926 Lippincott $5; 21s 726
1 Monasteries 2 Convents and nunneries 26-23225

"A glorified guidebook dealing with some of the picturesque cloisters of Spain which are not in the beaten track of tourist travel. The author's reminiscences are mingled with bits of history, art criticism and anecdote, and enhanced with unusually attractive illustrations from photographs." Cleveland

J. A. Gade's "Cathedrals of Spain" (1911 Houghton o.p. 1933) is a desirable book describing the better known cathedrals

Clark, Sydney Aylmer
Cathedral France. 1931 McBride $3.50 726
1 Cathedrals—France 2 France—Descr. & trav. 31-32010

"A gossipy book on the human aspects of the cathedral towns. Not a travel or architectural guide but rather a discussion of obviously interesting characteristics and human backgrounds." Pittsburgh

The author "envisages each cathedral as a distinctive outcome of its place and time, and interests the reader in the human history of its town and surroundings. He then brings out the story of the cathedral itself and of its significance to the age that built it. He pays little attention to the technical side of its architecture, but does make clear its general principles and esthetic interests." N.Y. Times
Illustrations

Cram, Ralph Adams
Church building; a study of the principles of architecture in their relation to the church. 3d ed 1924 Jones, Marshall $7.50; Batsford 38s 726
1 Church architecture 24-23028

First published in book form in 1901. The present edition is a new printing of the 1914 reprint with an additional chapter tracing the development of church building from 1905 to 1924. Sixty-six new illustrations have been added

"Elucidates the difference between modern civil and ecclesiastical styles. There are many illustrations of exteriors, plans, interiors and details of churches of various localities, most of them in the United States." St Louis

Two other books edited by R. A. Cram are "American church building of today" (1929 Architectural bk. $16.50) a collection of almost 300 views of exteriors and interiors of churches recently built in the United States, with an index of their architects; and "American churches, a series of authoritative articles on designing, planning, heating, ventilating, lighting and general equipment of churches" (2v 1915 Am. architect o.p. 1933) an earlier book on the same subject. Altho some parts of the book are not now up to date, much of the material is still useful. Well illustrated with some 500 photographs of modern churches

Embury, Aymar
1 Church architecture 2 Churches—U. S. 14-19297

"An interesting volume that aims to rescue from oblivion every church building in America of 'respectable antiquity, which either possesses architectural interest or historical traditions of importance.' Photographs of one hundred and two churches are scattered thru the text which gives brief historical sketches of the structures. Their importance architecturally and historically is related carefully to the forces of the formative period in America, making the work one of distinct value." Book rev. digest

Green, Edmund Tyrrell
French church architecture. 1928 Macmillan $4.50; S.P.C.K. 10s 6d 726
1 Church architecture 29-8697

"This book has been written in the hope that it may serve as a guide to the better appreciation of the architectural treasures of France by the ever-increasing number of English-speaking tourists. It is a convenient summary and reference guide to the study of French churches, as well as an appreciation." Providence

Contains line drawings by the author and many photographs

T. F. Bumpus's "Cathedrals of France" (2d ed 1927 Laurie 31s 6d) is a well illustrated historical and architectural guide

James, Montague Rhodes
Abbeys. 1925 Am. express $2; Great western railway 5s 726
1 Abbeys 26-13641

A beautifully illustrated popular book on the English abbeys, meant to "provide the traveller with an adequate explanation of the buildings he is to visit, and to bring out the importance, relative or individual, of the communities to which they belonged." Preface

"Cathedrals" (1924 Am. express $2; Great western railway 5s) is a companion volume. R. A. Cram's "Ruined abbeys of Great Britain" (new ed) 1927 Jones, Marshall $4, Harrap 10s 6d) is a new edition of a noteworthy book which was long out of print. It is printed from new plates and with more attractive illustrations

Pennell, Mrs Elizabeth (Robins)
French cathedrals, monasteries and abbeys, and sacred sites of France. 1909 Century o.p. 1933 726
1 Cathedrals—France 2 France—Descr. & trav. 9-29391

"A beautiful book in which the French cathedral and associated structures are set forth in some four hundred pages of text accompanied by one hundred and eighty-three reproduced drawings and sketches by Joseph Pennell. The architectural route has been covered leisurely... beginning in the cities of Provence, was continued to other centers of the Romanesque in France—to cities in Aquitane, the far north, Auvergne and Languedoc. Then followed the journeys to the Gothic churches—from Albi to Paris, from Bourges to Beauvais, from Chartres and Le Mans to Laon and Rheims, from Amiens to Rouen." Book rev. digest

Two other well-illustrated books are Epiphanius Wilson's "Cathedrals of France" (1900 Churchman o.p. 1933) and "How France built her cathedrals; a study in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries" by E. B. O'Reilly (1921 Harper o.p. 1933)

Pratt, Helen Marshall
Cathedral churches of England. (new ed) 1924 Duffield $4; Batsford 20s 726
1 Cathedrals—England 24-26451

First published 1910. This edition adds over 100 new illustrations but the text is the same

A guide-book to English cathedrals. "The introductory chapters give much information in condensed form about the cathedral establishment and officers, the cathedral fabric, architectural styles, stained glass, and practical suggestions; and the thirty-two cathedrals are separately treated in the alphabetical order of the cathedral towns." Dial

A very useful handbook for travelers is P. H. Ditchfield's "Cathedrals of Great Britain" (rev and enl ed 1930 Dutton $2.50; Dent 7s 6d). This gives architectural descriptions of the cathedrals of England, Scotland and Wales, with a brief history of each

Short, Ernest Henry
The house of God. 1926 Allan, P. o.p. 1933 726

1 Church architecture 2 Christian art and symbolism 26-4143

"A comprehensive history of religious architecture and symbolism which traces from its beginnings the effort of man to form sanctuaries to enshrine his idea of God and as places for common worship. From the earliest sanctuary, which was nothing more than a clearing in the natural forest, to the most beautiful cathedral, the development of the house of God is shown to be a continous story in which history, faith and craftsmanship are interwoven. There are 110 illustrations." Book rev. digest

"The book can be read with equal profit as an untechnical history of religions or as an untechnical history of architecture. In both cases, too the freedom from technicalities is the result of clear thinking on the fruits of a very wide range of reading and observation." Times (London) lit. sup.

Tralle, Henry Edward, and Merrill, George Earnest
Building for religious education. 1926 Appleton-Century $2 726

1 Church architecture 2 Church architecture—Designs and plans 26-16648

By a specialist in religious education and on architecture

"Discusses the advantages of a three-unit type of church building including a church auditorium, a fellowship hall, and facilities for religious education. Gives specific advice for planning, building, and financing, and contains 12 illustrative plans and other illustrations." Pittsburgh

Van Rensselaer, Mrs Mariana (Griswold)
English cathedrals. 1893 Century o.p. 1933 726

1 Cathedrals—England 2 Church architecture 4-11674

First published 1887. Several revisions of the text have been made since then. The 1893 edition has 154 drawings by Joseph Pennell, also plans and diagrams. A handy edition in finer print and smaller pages with the title "Handbook of English cathedrals" has long been out of print, 1933

"The cathedrals described are Canterbury, Peterborough, Durham, Salisbury, Lichfield, Lincoln, Ely, Wells, Winchester, Gloucester, York, London, selected as typical examples and, in the order given, as illustrating the development of English architecture. The author writes for the reader who cares for both architectural and general description." Pittsburgh

"Shows not only a thorough knowledge of her subject, but excellent critical judgment and a power of grasping the architect's point of view of which she has more than once given remarkable evidence." Architectural review

727 EDUCATIONAL ARCHITECTURE

For library buildings see class 022

"School architecture" by J. J. Donovan and others (1921 Macmillan $20) is probably the most comprehensive study covering grounds, sanitation, etc. as well as architecture. Excellent but expensive

"School buildings of today and tomorrow" by W. K. Harrison and C. E. Dobbin edited by R. W. Sexton (1931 Architectural bk. $16.50) is a good book to buy if the community is about ready to build a new school. It contains measured drawings as well as photographs

Klauder, Charles Zeller, and Wise, Herbert Clifton
College architecture in America. 1929 Scribner $5; 21s 727

1 Architecture—U. S. 2 Universities and colleges—Buildings 3 Universities and colleges—U. S. 29-12161

"A survey of the development of college architecture as observed in seventy institutions of the United States. Buildings for heating plants, athletic activities, etc., are included as well as those for academic pursuits." Pratt quarterly

"This is not a book of plans. It is rather a book of principles, standards, and suggestions. Illustrations of buildings and plans are profusely given, with the hope that the interested reader may discover ideas and suggestions worthy of adoption . . . The book is the outcome of a joint endeavor of the Association of American Colleges and the Carnegie Corporation." Industrial arts index

"Architectural planning of the American college" by J. F. Larson and A. M. Palmer (1933 McGraw $2) was authorized by the Association of American colleges in 1931 as a complement to Klauder's "College architecture in America" and is addressed particularly to those concerned with the development of the small liberal-arts colleges

National education association of the United States. Committee on school house planning
Report. 1925 The association pa $1 727

1 Schoolhouses 25-14737

Contents: Process of planning and constructing a school building; Determination of the schedule of rooms; Choice of the general plan; Capacity of instruction rooms; Capacity of library and study halls; Detecting waste in the plan; State regulations; Illumination; Safety to life; Specifications; Estimating the cost of a building; Planning gymnasiums and their accessories for junior and senior high schools

Strayer, George Drayton, and Engelhardt, Nickolaus Louis
Standards for elementary school buildings. rev ed 1933 Teachers college $1.60 727

1 Schoolhouses 33-21746

A full statement of standards for elementary school buildings, prepared for use in connection with the authors' "Score card for elementary school buildings." First published as a pamphlet in 1916 but much enlarged for this edition

The authors' "Standards for high school buildings" (1924 Teachers college pa $1) is a useful pamphlet

728 RESIDENCES

A number of desirable books in this field, out of print, 1933, are:

Chandler, J. E. Colonial house. rev ed 1924 McBride A well-illustrated book for both the architect and the general reader

Embury, Aymar. Building the Dutch colonial house; its origin, design, modern plan and construction. (Country house lib.) 1929 McBride

Mead, Marcia, and Higgins, D. P. Homes of character. 1926 Dodd Each chapter is devoted to a popular style such as Dutch colonial, English cottage, etc.

Wright, R. L., ed. House & garden's second book of houses. 1925 Condé Nast Illustrations and plans for ideal houses suited to the average family

"American country houses of today" is a series of 7 volumes with illustrations of houses designed by leading American architects. Small libraries will not need the entire set but they might be interested in having one of the later volumes (v7 1930 Architectural bk. $12.50). Volumes 4-6 are devoted to smaller houses

Trade publications by dealers in builder's supplies have been omitted from this list. Such publications vary in worth but when they are good are often very useful in libraries. They cost little or nothing and give floor plans and exterior views of small houses. A few typical firms which issue these publications have been recommended. These are:
American face brick association. Chicago
Architect's small house service bureau of the United States, Minneapolis
Portland cement association, Chicago

Aldrich, Chilson D.
* Real log cabin. 1928 Macmillan $2.50; 20s 728
1 Log cabins 28-13071

"Informally and enthusiastically written and well illustrated with diagrams, plans, and reproductions of photographs, this book, by an architect who devotes himself to this type of building, is a first aid for anyone, especially a novice, who intends to build a small or large cabin of logs. Details, from choosing the site, and making gable ends, windows, porches, and fireplaces, to furniture for the cabin, are discussed. Useful in all libraries. No index." Bkl.

Allen, Edith Louise
American housing as affected by social and economic conditions. 1930 Manual arts press $2 728
1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Housing 30-16971

"A history of American home building from earliest days to the present, which stresses the effects of economic and social conditions on the types of buildings. There is a chapter on European and other backgrounds of the American house, one on American furniture, and a table of dates of inventions and social and economic events useful to the student of home economics." Book rev. digest
Bibliography: p209-11

‡ Small homes of architectural distinction; a book of suggested plans; Robert T. Jones editor and technical director. 1929 Harper $5 728
1 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 30-699

"The houses are really small, six rooms or less, the designs are pleasing, and ground plans, with pictures either from photographs or architect's drawings are provided for each. Users of the book should understand that further services, in the way of working drawings and advice, are available from the bureau." Wis. bul.

Batsford, Harry, and Fry, Charles
Homes and gardens of England. 1933 Scribner $3.75; Batsford 12s 6d 728
1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Gardens 33-14268

"A work which sets forth the domestic country architecture of England from the Middle Ages to the nineteenth century, as well as the evolution of characteristic gardens and parks from that same beginning down to the present day." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)
"A clear instructive text and numerous photographs of the exceptionally high standard for which Messrs. Batsford are renowned. Its appeal should be great, for England is a country peculiarly rich in its houses and gardens." Times (London) lit. sup.

Bemis, Albert Farwell, and Burchard, John
Evolving house; v 1 A history of the home. 1933 Mass. inst. of technology $4 728
1 Dwellings 2 Architecture, Domestic 33-11225

"A history of the home, from the earliest times to the most modern type, viewed from the standpoint of architecture, construction, uses by the family, and influence in the community. The text is in three parts: Prehistoric and primitive homes, Evolution of the modern American home, and Modern homes of the world. A valuable reference work presenting a unified treatment of the subject and bringing in social life and customs. Well illustrated with plans and architectural sketches. Bibliography: p469-89." Bkl.
Housing conditions and construction will be the subjects of the second and third volumes

Briggs, Martin Shaw
Homes of the pilgrim fathers in England and America (1620-1685). 1932 Oxford $4.75; 18s 728
1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Architecture, Colonial 32-31716

"Mr. Briggs is the first writer to show—and to prove by 96 illustrations drawn from America and England—that the characteristic clap-board construction of New England was not due, as has been glibly repeated, to limitations of material. He has traced the sources of the New England construction to the parts of England from which the Pilgrims came, especially Essex. He compares and illustrates in detail the beautiful timber cottages, houses, watermills, and windmills built during the 17th century in southeastern England and New England, revealing a remarkable kinship." Sat. rev. of lit.

Brimmer, Frank Everett
Camps, log cabins, lodges and clubhouses. 1925 Appleton-Century $2; 8s 6d 728
1 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 2 Camping 3 Log cabins 25-7465

"Well illustrated and highly practical material on building in the woods or on the shore and the selection of a building site in the national forests. Valuable chapters are also given on the making of rustic furniture." Chicago

Another good book somewhat simpler than the one by Brimmer is W. S. Wicks' "Log cabins and cottages; how to build and furnish them" (Forest & Stream pub. co. o.p. 1933). First published in 1900

Eberlein, Harold Donaldson, and Tarpley, Donald Green
Remodelling and adapting the small house. (Lippincott's home-maker ser.) 1933 Lippincott $3.50 728
1 Dwellings 2 Repairing 3 Architecture, Domestic 33-27182

"This book is meant for the owner, or prospective owner, of the small or moderate-sized house. It is intended to assist those of moderate or small means to whom the subject of remodelling is a matter of present consideration and immediate interest. . . It is the aim of the book to be helpful with definite, direct and concrete suggestions and information to those perplexed by the various problems and aspects of the question that inevitably arise." (Foreword) Illustrations from photographs of houses before and after remodelling. Plans

Three older books, now out of print, 1933, which will still be useful where there is much demand for this material are: A. L. Hill's "Redeeming old homes, country homes for modest purses" (1923 Holt); C. E. Hooper's "Reclaiming the old house" (1913 McBride); and M. H. Northend's "Remodeled farmhouses" (1915 Little) which describes the making over of twelve old-fashioned farmhouses of varying types into modern homes

Gotch, John Alfred

Old English houses. 1925 Dutton $5; Methuen 16s 728

1 Architecture, Domestic 2 England—Historic houses, etc. 26-1457

"A simple and readable account of the growth of English domestic architecture from medieval to Georgian times, showing how the developing social customs and the changing ideal of comfort were expressed in the construction of the houses. The book is devoted mainly to the great old houses of England, there being very few of the smaller houses of the peasantry of early times still extant. There are forty-eight illustrations and seven plans." Book rev. digest

The author's "Growth of the English house" (2d ed 1928 Scribner $4.50; Batsford 12s 6d) is a valuable book which traces the history of the English house in its architectural development from 1100 to 1800. Deals with the subject in more detail than the book listed above and some libraries prefer it on this account

R. C. Hunter's "Old houses in England" (1930 Wiley $8.50; Chapman 42s 6d) is useful to libraries specially interested in domestic architecture of old England. It has 114 excellent photographic plates showing a wide variety of types of houses

Gray, Greta

House and home. (Lippincott's home manuals) 1923 Lippincott $3; 12s 6d 728

1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Dwellings 27-10323

"It considers the sanitary, economic, social and architectural problems involved in housing and is designed as a text for students, study groups and the general reader, not architecturally trained but interested in acquiring their own homes. It is also intended to arouse interest in community housing problems and city planning. Its scope includes location, plans, materials and construction, plumbing, heating, lighting, built-in-conveniences and labor savers, interior and exterior designs, grounds and alterations. There are problems at the end of each chapter, a bibliography, a glossary and an index. [Many illustrations]." Book rev. digest

Hollister, Paul Merrick

Famous colonial houses. 1921 McKay $5 728

1 U. S.—Historic houses, etc. 2 Architecture, Colonial 3 Architecture, Domestic 22-26312

"The smallest part of the description of these houses is architectural, history and tradition claiming most of the author's attention. The houses described are Monticello; The haunted house, New Orleans; Doughoregan Manor; The Jumel mansion; Mount Vernon; The Quincy homestead; The Timothy Dexter mansion; The Kendall house; The Longfellow house; Cliveden; The Wentworth mansion; The Pringle house. There is an introduction by Julian Street and a full plate illustration in color by James Preston for each of the houses." Boston Transcript

Hopkins, Alfred

Planning for sunshine and fresh air. 1931 Architectural bk. $5 728

1 Dwellings 2 Architecture, Domestic 3 House decoration 32-796

"An experienced architect endeavors to put the client into the frame of mind to work harmoniously with his architect in developing a house suited to his way of living. English, Italian, colonial, and other styles are illustrated by examples of the author's design." Pittsburgh

Kaufman, Gerald Lynton

American home book of building. (American home lib.) 1931 Doubleday, Doran $1 728

1 Dwellings 2 Architecture, Domestic 31-33054

Like other books in this series this is a practical brief introduction. Photographs and plans

Mixer, Knowlton

Old houses of New England. 1927 Macmillan $5; 25s 728

1 New England—Historic houses, etc. 2 Architecture, Domestic 3 Architecture, Colonial 27-23395

"This volume is not the work of an architect nor that of an historian but aims to present typical old houses of New England as an expression of its unique history and as illustrating the liberation of thought which took place through the succeeding generations which built them." Pittsburgh

Both historical and architectural in interest. Many original sources have been consulted such as Winthrop's journal, the Letters of Roger Williams, etc and family records of the households into which the author was permitted to venture. Illustrated with many photographs by the author

Newcomb, Rexford

Colonial and federal house; how to build an authentic colonial house. (Lippincott's home-maker ser.) 1933 Lippincott $3.50; 15s 728

1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Architecture, Colonial 3 Dwellings 33-12552

A practical book on colonial architecture, both design and construction, with photographs and plans of many well known examples of old and modern houses in this style. There are chapters on The doorway, Windows and window treatment, Fireplaces, and Mantels, and other details

Spanish house for America; its design, furnishing, and garden. 1927 Lippincott $3.50; 16s 728

1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Architecture, Spanish 3 Furniture 27-6886

"This book describes and illustrates in full the Spanish house adapted to its American environment, devoting separate chapters to interesting architectural details both inside and out, to the furnishings in keeping with the style of the house, and to the arrangement of the patio and garden. The very fine illustrations are from photographs of Spanish houses chiefly in California and Florida." Book rev. digest

A very useful and attractive book with unusually good illustrations. Contains a 2 page bibliography on Spanish-American architecture, gardens and furnishings

"Spanish colonial or adobe architecture of California, 1800-1850" by D. R. Hannaford and Revel Edwards (1931 Architectural bk. $7.50) is a more elaborate book which will interest the prospective builder of a home of the Spanish type. It is fully illustrated with working drawings

Newcomb, Rexford, and Foster, William Arthur

Home architecture. 1932 Wiley $3.25; Chapman 20s 728

1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Dwellings 3 House decoration 32-25672

"A textbook for schools and colleges; a manual for the home builder and home owner." Subtitle

"A wealth of material, gleaned from many years of teaching experience, is given to student and home builder. Detailed consideration of every phase of the subject, including mechanical appliances and decoration, and some excellent illustrations, makes this a most useful volume." Providence

Olney, Dorothy, and Olney, Julian
American home book of garages; ed by R. T. Townsend. (American home lib.) 1931 Doubleday, Doran $1 728
1 Garages 31-33049

"The essential data and information . . . which the home-owner should have available in building his garage to the best appearance and usefulness suited to his purposes. And for those whose garages have already been erected, many suggestions will be found herein in the way of improvements and equipment that can be added at small cost and some labor." Foreword

Oman, Sir Charles William Chadwick
Castles. 1926 Am. express $2; Great western railway 5s 728
1 Castles 26-21482

Explains the historical and architectural interest of each of 80 castles located in England and Wales. The author, a professor of history at Oxford, 1933, visited and carefully inspected all but six of the castles described. The book is well illustrated with numerous photographs and drawings

Peters, Frazier Forman
Houses of stone. 1933 Baker & Taylor $3.50, pa $2.50 728
1 Stone houses 2 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 3 Flagg, Ernest 33-23228

"The author describes the construction of field stone houses making use of Flagg masonry, which involves walls of concrete faced with stone. All the problems of such building are discussed—the processes of laying the stone, running the concrete, and the use of steel reinforcement, as well as those other problems of roofing and finishing common to all types of building. The twenty-two plans show a wide range of size and adaptation to family needs and to topography, while the many excellent photographic illustrations reveal the charm of such houses." Bkl.

Power, Ethel B.
* Smaller American house. 1927 Little $3 728
1 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 27-9145

"Fifty-five houses of the less expensive type selected from the recent work of architects in all parts of the country." Subtitle

"A delightful book of house plans with lovely illustrations from photographs. The author is [1932] editor of the 'House beautiful.' The foreword states: 'The purpose of this book is, first of all, to give you a number of plans for playing' the game that is 'to almost all grown-ups as enjoyable a game as is playing house to children,' the game of mentally changing house plans to suit one's own needs and desires." Wis. bul.

Another little book on the small house, unfortunately out of print, 1933, is "Book of little houses" edited by L. E. Hubbell (1927 Doubleday, Page)

Robinson, Albert Gardner
Old New England houses. 1920 Scribner $5 728
1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Architecture, Colonial 3 Architecture—New England 20-16280

"'Old New England houses' has about one hundred sumptuously printed views, mostly of the type of plain, unpretentious small country houses of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, which we roughly classify as 'colonial,' though quite a few of the more pretentious mansion type of house, such as were built by the wealthier merchants and shipmasters in the larger coast towns, are included. The subjects are selected from an artistic rather than an architectural or antiquarian viewpoint. The first few pages are given to an untechnical talk on the varied types and styles of houses. . . but the greater part of the book is devoted to the pictures of the houses themselves." Boston Transcript

Howard Major's "Domestic architecture of the early American republic: the Greek revival" (1926 Lippincott $15) is another beautiful and valuable book dealing with early American architecture. About a third of the book is text and the rest consists of half-tone plates. S. F. Kimball's "Domestic architecture of the American colonies and of the early republic" (1922 Scribner) is an authoritative treatise which is unfortunately out of print, 1933

Sexton, Randolph Williams
Interior architecture; the design of interiors of modern American houses. 1927 Architectural bk. $7.50 728
1 Architecture, Domestic 2 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 3 House decoration 27-23394

"The design of the interior of a building, based on the fundamental principles of architecture, as is the exterior, becomes in reality interior architecture, and that term will, in the pages that follow, be used to refer to the design of the interior which is associated with the building as a permanent factor. The other phase of the design of the complete room or interior, to which reference will be made, is its furnishings." Introduction

"Discusses the structural design of interiors and its relation to other elements of decoration. Well illustrated with views and plans." Pittsburgh

Shepard, Augustus D.
Camps in the woods, comp. and ed by R. W. Sexton. 1931 Architectural bk. $6 728
1 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 2 Camping 31-10891

"The camps illustrated in this book are in reality 'summer homes in the woods.' They are built of the best materials, and are permanent, liveable, comfortable, and provided with every modern convenience. . . They can be so constructed and equipped that they may serve as all year round houses." Page 1

The book consists of photographs, descriptions and plans of both simple and elaborate houses planned to harmonize with rustic surroundings. Drawings give many details of furniture, fireplaces, etc.

1 Farm buildings 2 Architecture, Domestic 28-20254

"In this second edition. . . the subject matter has been revised to conform to the newer knowledge in the field of farm structures. Many materials and methods have been changed; the text has been rearranged to present the subject matter in a more logical teaching order." Preface to the second edition

"Treats of the location, planning, construction, and repair of farm buildings. Discusses the relative merits of materials for various purposes and gives information on cost estimating." Pittsburgh

729 ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN AND DECORATION

Roger Gilman's "Great styles of interior architecture" (1924 Harper o.p. 1933) is a study of the styles of architecture which have influenced modern interiors, with their decoration and furniture. Many illustrations

C. H. Sherrill's "Mosaics in Italy, Palestine, Syria, Turkey and Greece" (1933 Lane 15s) is a general illustrated history and a fairly comprehensive work on mosaic art

Bragdon, Claude Fayette

Frozen fountain. 1932 Knopf $3.75 729

1 Design, Decorative 2 Architecture 3 Decoration and ornament, Architectural 32-8925

"A book of essays on architecture and problems of design. Mr. Bragdon uses the fountain as the symbol of life in its upward rise and its necessitous downward droop toward death; he considers therefore that the architecture which suggests a frozen fountain best expresses the life it serves. . . The chapters on color, on the geometric principles of design and dynamic symmetry, on isometric perspective, and finally a treatise on the magic square are richly illustrated with diagrams and striking drawings by the author." Boston

Geerlings, Gerald Kenneth

Metal crafts in architecture. 1929 Scribner $7.50; 35s 729

1 Metal work 2 Architectural metal work 3 Decoration and ornament, Architectural 29-6644

"A first book to treat decorative metals from a purely architectural point of view. It contains one hundred and fifty pages of fine illustrations from the workshops of craftsmen in bronze, cast iron, copper, lead, tin, and zinc, with chapters on lighting fixtures, enamelling, etc. This is a book for the craftsman or architect." Bkl.

730 SCULPTURE

Two desirable books which are out of print, 1933, are:

Hill, G. F. One hundred masterpieces of sculpture from the sixth century B. C. to the time of Michaelangelo. 1910 Lane

Sturgis, Russell. The appreciation of sculpture. 1904 Doubleday, Page

"Primitive Negro sculpture" by Paul Guillaume and Thomas Munro (1926 Harcourt o.p. 1933) is a well illustrated book on the art of the negro which will vary in interest according to the locality. Illustrations are from specimens in the Barnes collection at Merion, Pennsylvania

Barstow, Charles Lester

Famous sculpture. 1916 Appleton-Century $2; 8s 6d 730

1 Sculpture 16-23029

The 1932 reprint contains a new chapter of eight pages on "Modernistic sculpture"

"It deals only with the most famous pieces of sculpture of Egypt, Greece, Rome, and medieval and modern times. Though primarily for older children it is useful for elementary reference in the very small library." Wis. bul.

Fowler, Harold North, and Fowler, Mrs Mary Zay (Blackford)

Picture book of sculpture. 1929 Macmillan $2.50 730

1 Sculpture 29-20800

"Full page photographic plates of the world's most famous pieces of sculpture from ancient times to the present, with a descriptive note on each, and an introduction describing in terms that can easily be understood by children the process of making a statue." Book rev. digest

Rindge, Agnes Millicent

* Sculpture. 1929 Harcourt $6 730

1 Sculpture 29-19617

"An attempt to evolve a standard by which one may select good sculpture from mediocre. The book discusses the nature, requirements, function, origin and purpose of sculpture, and discusses the contemporary creed. With illustrative plates." Book rev. digest

"Miss Rindge presents her views with a certain hard sense that is rare in books on art—much rarer than erudition." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

Ruskin, John

Aratra Pentelici; seven lectures on the elements of sculpture, given before the University of Oxford, 1870; introduction by C. E. Norton. Brantwood ed 1892 Longmans o.p. 1933 730

1 Sculpture 4-13948

A students edition is published by Allen, G. at 8s 6d

"The parts of them which show his genius at its best are those which treat of matters of sight, the visible qualities of things, of style in art and technical methods of execution. . . . But when he treats of general and abstract propositions, and enters upon paths where learning and not observation is the only trustworthy guide, his conclusions and assertions seem to me not unfrequently fanciful and unwarranted." C. E. Norton in Introduction

730.9 Sculpture—History

C. R. Post's "History of European and American sculpture from the early Christian period to the present day" (2v 1921 Harvard univ. press o.p. 1933) is a very valuable book

Chase, George Henry, and Post, Chandler Rathfon

‡ History of sculpture. (Harper's fine arts ser.) 1924 Harper $4.75; 16s 730.9

1 Sculpture—Hist. 25-3621

"Concise but illuminating exposition of the development of the art of sculpture from its beginnings in Egypt to the present day, with some reference to historic background. Recent discoveries and discussions receive special attention and there are bibliographical notes at chapter ends. Index of sculptors and one of monuments and places. Illustrations are clear and profuse." N.Y. state lib.

Bibliographical notes at ends of chapters

Fowler, Harold North

History of sculpture. 1916 Macmillan $3.75; 12s 6d 730.9

1 Sculpture—Hist. 16-12249

"Authoritative handbook of sculpture from beginnings of civilization in Egypt and Babylonia to the present day, with chapters on American and oriental art. Thoroughly adapted to needs of general public and young students. 196 well-selected illustrations, bibliography, index." N.Y. state lib.

"Every chapter gives evidence of sound scholarship, careful accuracy, moderateness of statement and infinite labor." Nation

Marquand, Allan, and Frothingham, Arthur Lincoln

Text-book of the history of sculpture. (College histories of art) new ed rev 1911 Longmans $2.25 730.9

1 Sculpture—Hist. 11-29719

A valuable brief survey, first published in 1896. The book covers the ancient nations, as Egypt, Assyria, Babylonia, the Hittites, etc., and thereafter confines itself almost entirely to European sculpture. There is nothing on prehistoric, primitive or oriental sculpture. Fully illustrated

"The two authors are scholars of the right sort; each in his way as thorough and careful as could be desired—systematic and critical." Russell Sturgis

731 Materials and methods

Bayes, Gilbert

* Modelling for sculpture. 1930 Winsor 3s 731

1 Modeling 33-27229

"A practical treatise for students whether actually working in different plastic materials or wishing to appreciate the art of modelling and sculpture. Fully illustrated by photographs and line drawings." Pratt quarterly

Toft, Albert

* Modelling and sculpture. (New art lib.) 1910 Lippincott $6; Seeley 15s 731

1 Modeling 2 Sculpture—Technique [11-8926]

"Starting with the elementary stage of modelling, takes the student step by step through the various technical processes essential to the sculptor's training, such as portrait bust modelling, figure and group building, waste moulding and casting, gelatine moulding and casting, modelling in relief, modelling for bronze and marble, etc., the text being supplemented by over a hundred excellent illustrations." International studio

"Modelling: a guide for teachers and students" by Edward Lanteri (3v 1902-11 Scribner ea $7.50) is another book on the processes of sculpture

732 Egyptian sculpture

Murray, Margaret Alice

Egyptian sculpture. 1930 Scribner $5; Duckworth 15s 732

1 Sculpture, Egyptian [31-26095]

"A survey of Egyptian sculpture and painting which follows the chronology of the historic periods, and covers the four or five thousand years during which the Egyptian school of sculpture preserved its conventions. [Illustrated]" Book rev. digest

"Miss Murray's survey is all that one could wish such a study to be: full, learned and arresting. . . The book, indeed, is a valuable essay on an Art that deserves the serious and separate study which Miss Murray has given it, and is a very welcome addition to the literature of Egyptology." Saturday rev.

733 Greek and Roman sculpture

G. M. A. Richter's "Sculpture and sculptors of the Greeks" (2d ed 1930 Yale univ. press $12; Oxford 55s) is an illuminating analysis of Greek sculpture and the technical problems it mastered. Almost 800 examples are reproduced in half-tone. The first edition, published in 1929 at a much higher price, contained some fine color plates which have been omitted in the cheaper edition

An excellent summary will also be found in "Greek sculpture and painting" by Beazley and Ashmole, listed in class 709.38

Furtwängler, Adolf, and Urlichs, Heinrich Ludwig

Greek & Roman sculpture; tr. by Horace Taylor. 1914 Dent o.p. 1933 733

1 Sculpture, Greek 2 Sculpture, Roman 14-17680

Descriptions with illustrations of individual pieces. The aim is "by means of a careful and just selection of examples to give a general understanding of the antique in its historic development and aesthetic importance." Preface

A. W. Lawrence's "Classical sculpture" (1929 Smith, P. $5; Cape, J. 15s) is recommended as a readable and well illustrated history of the subject

Gardner, Ernest Arthur

Six Greek sculptors. 1910 Scribner $3; Duckworth 10s 733

1 Sculptors, Greek 2 Sculpture, Greek A10-548

Contents: Characteristics of Greek sculpture; Early masterpieces; Myron; Phidias; Polyclitus; Praxiteles; Scopas; Lysippus; Hellenistic sculpture; Index

"Prof. Gardner's discussion is detailed and illuminating, and the book is a valuable one for those who wish to know the modern view of Greek sculpture, resting upon modern research, discovery, and deduction." N.Y. Times

Well illustrated

Richardson, Rufus Byam

History of Greek sculpture. (Greek ser. for colleges and schools) 1911 Am. bk. $1.80 733

1 Sculpture, Greek 11-10319

"Convenient and on the whole correct summary. Devotes the most considerable part to the archaic period. Fully illustrated." Pittsburgh

"In spite of its compactness, records many interesting points of view." Chase and Post's History of sculpture

W. R. Agard's "Greek tradition in sculpture" (1930 Johns Hopkins $3; Oxford 13s 6d) is a small book of 59 pages and 33 plates which traces Greek influences in sculpture from its glories in Greece and Rome, through the renaissance, and in work of the modern period

735 RENAISSANCE AND MODERN SCULPTURE

"Handbook of modern French sculpture" by D. C. Eaton (1913 Dodd o.p. 1933) is a compact handbook arranged chronologically. It gives brief biographies of the sculptors and estimates of their work

"Modern architectural sculpture" edited by William Aumonier (1930 Scribner $20; Architectural press 63s) a volume of plates showing development and trend of recent decorative sculpture in various countries, is a desirable book for larger libraries

Adams, Mrs Adeline Valentine (Pond)

Spirit of American sculpture. rev ed 1929 Nat. sculpture soc. $1.60 735

1 Sculpture, American 29-7413

Illustrated with reproductions of well-known works. The new edition has an additional chapter on later developments and five new plates

"A comprehensive and delightful review of American sculpture, written for the opening of the 1923 exhibition of the National sculpture society." Cleveland

Bode, Wilhelm

Florentine sculptors of the renaissance; tr. by Jessie Haynes. 2d ed rev by F. L. R. Brown 1928 Scribner $10; Methuen 30s 735

1 Sculpture, Italian 2 Sculpture, Renaissance 3 Sculptors, Italian 30-7779

First published in 1908, a translation of a volume published in Germany in 1903, to which were added essays on Leonardo da Vinci and Niccolo Spinelli. It is now revised, the chapter on Leonardo dropped, and a chapter on Ghiberti added. The number of plates has been increased from 93 to 104

"Not a comprehensive work but a collection of essays of varying importance. Some of the best chapters are devoted to Donatello, Luca della Robbia, Bertoldo di Giovanni and the medalist Nicollo Spinelli." Pittsburgh

"Florentine sculptors of the fifteenth century" by W. G. A. Ormsby-Gore (1930 Macmillan $3; 7s 6d) is another book on the sculpture of this period. It is a review of the careers and well-known works of the fifteenth century Florentine sculptors

Casson, Stanley

Some modern sculptors. 1928 Oxford $3.50; 9s 735

1 Sculpture 29-26161

"The main trend of modern sculpture is discussed in the text, emphasizing as representative of this age the work of Barye, Maillol, Bourdelle, Bernard. Despiau, Meštrović, Rosandić, Gill, Gaudier-Brzeska, and Epstein. The book is attractively illustrated from photographs." Bkl.

"Mr. Stanley Casson treats a dozen artists with an admirable discrimination. The scheme of text and illustration in this volume is orderly and intelligent, and there is an excellent opening chapter on 'Methods and Aims.'" Spectator

* XXth century sculptors. 1930 Oxford $3.50; 9s 735

1 Sculpture 2 Sculptors 30-23881

"Writing to meet arguments arising over his 'Some modern sculptors,' the author attempts to answer contentions as well as to discuss the work of Carl Milles, Paul Manship, George Kolbe, Archipenko, Zadkine, Herzog, and Frank Dobson." Pittsburgh

"The excellence of the illustrations deserves special mention. The chapters on these artists are just and interesting appreciations by a critic with well-considered standards to apply to their work." Spectator

Freeman, Lucy Jane

Italian sculpture of the renaissance. 1901 Macmillan $3.50; 17s 735

1 Sculpture, Italian 2 Sculpture, Renaissance 1-27086

"Criticism pure and simple. . . .The works discussed are well known, and, for the most part, undisputed, and the effort is to explain the nature of their aesthetic appeal—the kind and quality of pleasure to be received from them. . . .A work not for the specialist but for the general public. . . The illustrations are well selected, well executed, and sufficiently abundant." Nation

McSpadden, Joseph Walker

Famous sculptors of America. 1924 Dodd $3.50 735

1 Sculptors, American 2 Sculpture, American 24-24271

"To acquaint the casual reader with outstanding contemporary sculptors is the purpose of this readable volume. While not primarily art criticism, the more important work of each is mentioned. Among the sculptors included are J. Q. A. Ward, Augustus St Gaudens and Gutzon Borglum, while one chapter is devoted to Harriet Hosmer, Anna Vaughn Hyatt, Janet Scudder, and Bessie Potter Vonnoh. Bibliography and illustrations from photographs." N.Y. state lib.

National sculpture society, New York

* Contemporary American sculpture. 1929 The society $1.75 735

1 Sculpture, American 2 Sculptors, American 29-8040

"Issued for the exhibition held by the National Sculpture Society in co-operation with the trustees of the California palace of the Legion of honor."

National sculpture society, N.Y.—Continued

"Contains brief biographical sketches, with list of works and very lovely illustrations. A beautiful book invaluable as a work of reference. Based on the exhibition held in San Francisco, April to October of this year." Wis. bul.

Sculpture of to-day. (Universal art ser.) 2v 1921 Chapman v1 25s, v2 30s 735

1 Sculpture 22-923

Formerly also carried by Scribner who still has volume 2 at $9.50

"The first volume discusses the sculpture of England, Australia, Canada, America, South America and Japan, and volume two describes the sculpture of Europe. There are also chapters on the materials used and the methods of sculptors. There are many beautiful illustrations." Providence

The author's "Art of carved sculpture" (2v 1931 Scribner ea $8.50; Chapman ea 21s) in the Universal art series, a study of methods and tendencies in modern carved sculpture, which stresses the distinction between modelled and carved sculpture, will interest larger libraries

Taft, Lorado

* History of American sculpture. (History of American art) new ed with a supplementary chapter 1930 Macmillan $5; 25s 735

1 Sculpture, American 30-32611

A comprehensive work which has become a classic. A supplementary chapter covering the 20 years since the book was first written, was added in the 1924 edition and a briefer one by Adeline Adams in this edition. Includes a 12 page bibliography. Well illustrated

A good book to supplement the above is "American masters of sculpture" by C. H. Caffin (1913 Doubleday, Page o.p. 1933)

Modern tendencies in sculpture. (Scammon lectures for 1917) 1921 Univ. of Chicago press $5 735

1 Sculpture 21-26560

Contents: Auguste Rodin; Recent French sculpture; Recent German sculpture; Recent sculpture in various lands; Augustus Saint-Gaudens; Some recent tendencies in American sculpture

"Interesting reading and has reference value in identification of works and characterization of sculptors. Four hundred twenty-nine illustrations, all of which are discussed more or less briefly in the text." N.Y. state lib.

Waters, William George

Italian sculptors. 2d ed enl 1926 Methuen 10s 6d 735

1 Sculptors, Italian 26-27444

Formerly carried also by Doran

In the second edition an appendix has been added and additions have been made in some of the original notices. Contains 78 illustrations

"A convenient and moderately good dictionary of the plastic masters of Italy in the mediaeval, renaissance, and baroque periods." Chase and Post's History of sculpture

Wilenski, Reginald Howard

Meaning of modern sculpture. 1932 Stokes $3; Faber 10s 6d 735

1 Sculpture 2 Sculpture, Greek 32-28096

A controversial but interesting and suggestive book on modern sculpture, by an English champion of the moderns. The author objects strongly to the general high estimate of Greek sculpture, which he contends hinders the appreciation of modern sculpture. The sections dealing with specific sculptors and the illustrations are very good

Individual sculptors

Cellini, Benvenuto

‡ Life; tr. by J. A. Symonds. Scribner $2.50 735

27-3598

Cellini was "the first goldsmith of his time, an adequate sculptor, a restless traveler, an indefatigable workman, a Bohemian of the purest water, a turbulent bravo, a courtier and companion of princes; finally, a Florentine who used his native idiom with incomparable vivacity of style. . . Those who have made themselves thoroly familiar with Cellini's 'Memoirs' possess the substance of that many-sided epoch [the 16th century] in the form of an epitome. It is the first book which a student of the Italian renaissance should handle in order to obtain the right direction for his more minute researches. . . From the pages of this book the Genius of the renaissance, incarnate in a single personality, leans forth and speaks to us." J. A. Symonds

Symonds' translation is a classic but expurgated. It was first published in two volumes in 1887. It is also obtainable in the Modern library (1927 Modern lib. 95c) and in the Star series as his "Autobiography" (Garden City pub. co. $1) and many other reprint editions

Cellini's "Life; translated by Anne MacDonnell" (1926 Dutton $3) lacks the poetic quality of the translation by Symonds but has dramatic force. This translation, which originally appeared in 1903. is also available in Everyman's library entitled "Memoirs" (Dutton 70c, lib. binding $1; Dent 2s, lib. binding 3s) A colorful biography based upon his autobiography is: "Benvenuto Cellini and his Florentine dagger" by Victor Thaddeus (1933 Farrar $3.50)

Donatello

Cruttwell, Maud. Donatello. (Classics of art) 1911 Methuen 16s 735

11-35691

"The book is notable for care, scholarship and research. It is largely in the nature of a catalogue raisonné, the summarized analysis of Donatello's art being condensed into the first dozen pages. Admirably illustrated." Pittsburgh

Rodin, Auguste

Cladel, Judith, comp. Rodin, the man and his art; tr. by S. K. Star. 1917 Century o.p. 1933 735

17-29347

"In the biographical chapters the events of Rodin's life are elaborated and a reasonable perspective is kept, bringing into relief the important moments [of his career]. . . The pages devoted to Rodin's own notes cover a wide field of comment. Throughout he raises a hymn to work." N.Y. Times

Beautifully illustrated

Camille Mauclair's "Auguste Rodin, the man, his ideas, his works; tr. by Clementina Black" (1905 Dutton o.p. 1933) is an enthusiastic life which received the approval of the sculptor and presents many of his ideas

Saint-Gaudens, Augustus

Reminiscences; ed. and amplified by Homer Saint-Gaudens. 2v 1913 Century o.p. 1933 735

13-22528

"Autobiography written during the last year of his life, arranged and edited by his son, with many letters written between 1870 and 1907. Gives a clear picture of his life as sculptor and teacher, and shows his capacity for long, delightful friendship." Pittsburgh

Chronology of the works of Augustus Saint-Gaudens, v2, p361-65

The monograph on "Augustus Saint-Gaudens" by Royal Cortissoz (1907 Houghton o.p. 1932)

Saint-Gaudens, Augustus—Continued
published at $9, is important, as, though brief, it presents discriminating and authoritative criticism and interesting biographical notes on this first really great American sculptor

Scudder, Janet
* Modeling my life. 1925 Harcourt $3.50 735
25-19390

"A distinguished sculptor, who instead of designing iron dogs for the gardens of America, and 'bronze gentlemen in Prince Alberts,' has created gay little pagan figures, full of the joy of life, tells of her artistic struggles and successes with buoyancy of spirit and delightful informality. Many fine examples of her sculpture are reproduced in half-tone photographs." N.Y. state lib.

736 CARVING

736 CARVING. GEMS. SEALS

Many libraries will not need separate treatises on engraved gems. The following are two reliable books:
Dalton, O. M. Engraved gems. Oxford $10; 25s
Osborne, Duffield. Engraved gems, signets, talismans and ornamental intaglios, ancient and modern. 1912 Holt o.p. 1933

Faurot, Walter L.
* Art of whittling. 1930 Manual arts press $1.35; Batsford 8s 736
1 Wood carving 2 Handicraft 30-14490

"Practical instructions on how to make wooden chains and puzzles, build ships and other objects in bottles, carve animal toys and other articles. A jack-knife is the chief tool used. The descriptions, diagrams, and illustrations are clear and useful." Bkl.

Jack, George
Wood carving: design and workmanship. (Artistic crafts ser. of technical handbooks) 1903 Pitman $2.50; 8s 6d 736
1 Wood carving 3-27973

Deals with the craftsmanship of wood carving, the theory of design, and with the subject matter which the artist should select to carve. Illustrated

The best history of wood-carving is Alfred Maskell's "Wood sculpture" (Connoisseur's lib. 1912 Putnam $8.50; Methuen 31s 6d). It covers the period from prehistoric to late Gothic times, dealing mostly with the carving of the human figure. Valuable though it is, the book is rather too special and too expensive for the smaller libraries

Jackson, James
* Handicraft of woodcarving. (Pitman's handwork ser.) 1921 Pitman $1.50; 4s 736
1 Wood carving 22-7010

"With an appendix on imagination in education, and a plea for introducing woodcarving into the practical work of elementary and secondary schools." Subtitle

"A manual of instruction in the early stages of the study of wood carving. It aims to give good ideas of line and form, to help to acquire habits of observation and to develop individuality in the worker. Good illustrations." Pratt quarterly

Maskell, Alfred
Ivories. (Connoisseur's lib.) 1905 Methuen 31s 6d 736
1 Ivories 5-40802

Formerly carried also by Putnam
The most complete English manual but somewhat special for the smaller libraries. Treats of the ivory carving from antiquity to the present time. Excellent illustrations

Berthold Laufer's "Ivory in China" (1925 Field museum pa 60c) is an interesting pamphlet on the ivory trade and the importance of the art of ivory in Chinese life and culture. Has illustrations and ten excellent plates

Moore, Harris W.
Chip carving. 1933 Manual arts press pa 75c 736
1 Wood carving 23-2652

First published 1922. A few changes have been made in this edition

"Adapts the primitive geometric carving of Sweden, Japan, and the South Sea islands to modern principles of design. Tools described and instructions for making nineteen different articles. Drawings are full sized." N.Y. public lib. New technical books

Woodcarving. (Woodworker ser.) 1924 Lippincott $1.75; Evans 3s 6d 736
1 Wood carving [24-16545]

"Written by an experienced woodcarver who, for many years, has had the opportunity of training others in the craft. He does not regard woodcarving as an end in itself, but as a means of artistic woodwork decoration. He assumes his reader to be the practical man who, in turning to woodcarving, has a definite object in view—the object of combining an art craft with everyday woodwork." Foreword

Well illustrated

Eleanor Rowe's "Practical wood-carving" (3d ed rev and enl 2v 1930 Batsford ea 5s, 2v in 1 10s) is an excellent practical book. Volume 1, Elementary woodcarving, is a good book for beginners. Volume 2, on advanced work, treats Gothic carving, Renaissance carving, etc. Illustrations show processes and also fine examples from the best French and English carving

737 NUMISMATICS

The main authority on Greek numismatics is B. V. Head's "Historia numorum; a manual of Greek numismatics" (new and enl ed 1911 Oxford $16.75; 50s). It is a scholarly work for reference use which deals with the subject in all its branches. An excellent smaller work covering a wider field which is unfortunately out of print, 1933, is G. F. Hill's "Handbook of Greek and Roman coins" (1899 Macmillan)

Burgess, Frederick William
Chats on old coins. 1913 Stokes $4; Benn 10s 6d 737
1 Numismatics [14-30806]

1 Coins, American 34-27002

To be published annually. First issue 1934
A catalog of all coins issued by the United States mint, with present-day value of different conditions. Clearly illustrated

Frey, Albert Romer
Dictionary of numismatic names; their official and popular designations. 1917 Am. numismatic soc. o.p. 1933 737

1 Numismatics—Dictionaries [18-7569]

Forms volume 50 of the American journal of numismatics. Also issued separately

"A dictionary of names of coins and paper money, numismatic terms, materials of which coins are made, etc. Gives definitions, brief encyclopedic and historical information, and some bibliographical references. Does not tell the rarity or present values of old coins. Has a geographical index and a paper money index.' Mudge

Another useful publication of the American numismatic society, also out of print, 1933, is Howland Wood's "Commemorative coinage of the United States," 1922, an authoritative little handbook of 63 pages

Guttag brothers
‡ Coins of the Americas. [new ed] 1927 The author pa $1 737

1 Numismatics [24-28020]

An illustrated catalog of United States, Mexican, Central, and South American coins, especially those which sell at a premium, together with the prices they bring. The company deals in coins

Two useful publications of the United States Bureau of the mint are "Catalog of coins of United States" (1928 Supt. of doc. pa 20c) a pamphlet of 112 pages, and "Information relating to United States coins and medals" (1931 Supt. of doc. 5c)

Numismatics company of Texas
Star rare coin encyclopedia and premium catalog. 1932 The company pa $1 737

1 Numismatics (19-11968)

Published from time to time with revisions, especially of prices. The 1932 illustrated catalog is called the 36th edition

An illustrated catalog of rare coins of the United States with their present values, a brief history of money and a list of rare American stamps. Modern foreign coins are listed and illustrated with their value in American money

Rawlings, Gertrude Burford
Coins and how to know them. 1908 Methuen 7s 6d 737

1 Numismatics 9-2023

Formerly carried also by Stokes

A general introduction to the science of numismatics which is useful to beginners though not ideal. The only thing of its kind. Illustrated

738 POTTERY. PORCELAIN

Few libraries of limited means will need separate volumes on different kinds of ware. If there is a demand, however, the following are desirable:

Barnard, H. Chats on Wedgwood ware. 1925 Benn 10s 6d

Bosanko, W. Collecting old lustre ware. (Collector's pocket ser.) 1916 Doran o.p. 1933

Cannon, T. G. Old Spode. 1924 Stokes $5

Hurlbutt, Frank. Old Derby porcelain and its artists-workmen. 1925 Laurie 25s

Robert Schmidt's "Porcelain as an art and a mirror of fashion" tr. and ed. by W. A. Thorpe (1932 Harrap 21s) is interesting and well illustrated in both monochrome and color

Anthonies, Susanna Whitehead
Pottery and modelling. 1931 Pitman $1.25; 3s 6d 738

1 Pottery 2 Modeling 32-21219

"A training in handicraft and art for infants and juniors." Subtitle

A well illustrated little book on the possibilities of clay-work in the junior elementary school. The author states that all the work suggested has been attempted in a mixed school for children from five to eleven years of age

Barnard, Harry
Art of the potter. (Peeps ser.) 1932 Macmillan $1; Black, A. & C. 2s 6d 738

1 Pottery 2 Pottery, English [32-16530]

A clear exposition of the various processes employed in making commercial pottery. The illustrations, some of which are in color, are well reproduced

Binns, Charles Fergus
* Potter's craft. 2d ed rev and enl 1922 Van Nostrand $2.50; Constable 14s 6d 738

1 Pottery 22-17241

"A guide to the potter's craft that is based upon thirty-six years' experience. The author . . . writes supposedly for the amateur, yet devotes much of the text to processes difficult for professionals. The book is fully illustrated." Book rev. digest

Burgess, Frederick William

Material is arranged by grade thru the grammar grades, then material for academic grades is given under the headings: Drawing and painting, design, color, handicraft, lettering, illustration, and poster art. Lesson outlines are included and the book can be used for self-instruction. First published 1920. In the new edition a chapter on poster art has been added. The author's later book "Art teacher" (class 707) which covers somewhat the same ground, does not duplicate the material in this earlier book

"Very well arranged and illustrated. An inspiration to students and teachers of art." California

Another book in the field of art education is F. J. Glass's "Drawing, design and craftwork for teachers, students, etc" (2d ed 1927 Batsford 12s) which covers a wide field and contains many valuable suggestions

Lutz, Edwin George

Practical drawing; a book for the student and the general reader. 1915 Scribner $2; Batsford 6s 6d 740

1 Drawing—Study and teaching 15-18587

"A brief text-book full of sound, practical information for the young student. There are chapters on composition, perspective, lettering, materials and equipment, etc." Cleveland

Explanatory illustrations by the author

Modern American design by the American union of decorative artists and craftsmen; ed by R. L. Leonard and C. A. Glassgold. Washburn $1 740

1 Design, Decorative 2 Decoration and ornament

First published 1931 under title: "Annual of American design." Reprinted in 1933 at a reduced price. Deals with modern design in the shop, home, textiles, architecture, and numerous other aspects, and is illustrated by excellent full page photographs

A yearbook of interest to libraries needing material on modern decorative art is "Decorative art; the Studio year book," edited by C. G. Holme (Studio $4.50, pa $3.50; 10s 6d, pa 7s 6d) a survey of 20th century trends illustrated by excellent photographic reproductions. First number published 1906. Only the volumes for 1926, 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1934 are available, 1934

Richmond, Leonard

Essentials of pictorial design. 1933 Pitman $3.50; 10s 6d 740

1 Composition (Art) 33-19331

Beginning with simple lines and exercises and proceeding to the analysis of a dozen famous pictures the book aims to teach the technique of drawing and to give an understanding of basic designs on which these pictures are planned

Sinel, Joseph

(comp.) Book of American trade-marks & devices. 1924 Knopf $5 740

1 Trade-marks 2 Devices 25-709

An important book for use in commercial art. Illustrations only

"The book," the compiler says, "is not a technical work on commercial designing; its purpose is to show marks that have ornamental significance as well as characteristic trade value, with the hope that it will prove a worthy influence in the creation of new marks, and in the adaptation of old ones. The majority of the reproductions are taken from the marks of less well-known organizations and individuals, for the reason that our national advertisers use marks that may have distinctive features, but which are frequently so devoid of design as to be positively ugly."

For Commercial art, magazines such as "Inland printer," "Printers' ink monthly," "Printed salesmanship," "Advertising arts," and other current material are often more useful than books which soon go out of print. Booklets are important and they are easily collected as they are noted in such periodicals as "Inland printer"

Books on lettering are to be found in this list in class 745L

Airy, Anna

* Art of pastel. 1930 Winsor pa 4s 741

1 Pastel drawing 31-15833

Art libraries and larger libraries would probably prefer to buy first the much more comprehensive work by Richmond and Littlejohns listed below. This book by Airy is one of a well illustrated series of more than 60 little art manuals each written by an authority

"Practical for use without an instructor. The possibilities of success are seen to lie in economy of means, in a clear view of tone, and a clean, fresh execution. The book is a little sermon on the artistic attitude." Pittsburgh

Annual of advertising art. Book service co. $6 741

1 Advertising, Art in (22-5053)

Annual. First published 1922

One of the most valuable works for commercial art. Reproductions from the advertisements shown at the annual exhibition of the Art directors club, New York. No text. Many of the illustrations are in color

Aymar, Gordon Christian

‡ Introduction to advertising illustration. 1929 Harper o.p. 1933 741

1 Advertising, Art in 29-26565

"A practical book for the beginner in free-lancing which contains chapters on the materials and technique of his art but has for its main object to show him how to go about getting his work accepted and how to protect himself against unfair dealings." Pratt quarterly

Well made and well illustrated

Blake, Vernon

Art and craft of drawing. 1927 Oxford $6.50; 18s 741

1 Drawing 27-26907

"A study both of the practice of drawing and of its aesthetic theory as understood among different peoples and at different epochs; especial reference being made to the construction of the human form from the practical draughtsman's point of view." Subtitle

Contains valuable illustrations, a general index and an index to anatomical terms

The author's "Way to sketch" (1925 Oxford $2.50; 7s 6d) is a well illustrated exposition of landscape sketching written for the amateur

Briggs, Clare A.

* How to draw cartoons. 1926 Harper $3 741

1 Caricatures and cartoons 26-5230

"The originator of 'Mr and Mrs,' 'When a feller needs a friend' and other popular cartoon series writes a book of advice to the young aspirant who would follow in his steps. Other well known cartoonists contribute friendly suggestions in the concluding chapter, and the whole volume is profusely illustrated from the work of the author and his fellow artists." Book rev. digest

A book of a somewhat different character which is unfortunately out of print, 1933, is Bohun Lynch's "History of caricature" (1927 Faber). It is a history which begins with the drawings of the ancient Egyptians and ends with the present time. Fine illustrations. H. R. Westwood's "Modern caricaturists" (1932 Dickson 12s 6d) contains examples of the work of some of the best modern caricaturists, and brief text on their lives and works

Brown, J. Hullah

* Sketching without a master. 1920 Nelson $2.50; 6s 741

1 Pen drawing 2 Landscape drawing [20-23191]

"Devoted to pen-and-ink-drawing. The attitude of the author is that pen-and-ink is a tonal medium and is not line work pure and simple. He regards line work as a means to an end, but gives the technical information necessary to secure varied effects with the restricted medium." St Louis

Many illustrations

Calder, Alexander

Animal sketching. 1926 Bridgman $1; Lane 5s 741

1 Animal painting and illustration 26-13445

"The essentials in recording the action and characteristics of animals are briefly explained and admirably illustrated in this little volume." Chicago

Darton, Frederick Joseph Harvey

Modern book-illustration in Great Britain and America. 1931 Studio $4.50; 10s 6d, pa 7s 6d 741

1 Illustration of books 31-34990

"A review and analysis of book illustration today, with many reproductions in black and white and color showing recent trends." Book rev. digest

"There is no phase of the subject that finds Mr. Darton in ignorance. Personal preference has not blinded him to the merits of the many types of illustrative work, or to the achievements—and shortcomings—of those artists he comments on." Books (N.Y. Herald Tribune)

A good book on the problems of the commercial artist is E. J. Sullivan's "Art of illustration" (1921 Scribner $8.50; Chapman 10s 6d) a well illustrated English work on the history and technique of illustration

"Contemporary illustrators of children's books" compiled by B. E. Mahony and Elinor Whitney (1931 Women's educ. & industrial union $5) is a useful book which contains biographies of living artists, many examples of their work, and also lists of the books in which their work has appeared

Doust, Len A.

Simple sketching; how to turn your ideas and impressions into pictures. 1933 Warne $1; 2s 6d 741

1 Drawing 34-27088

"A series of lessons setting forth a scheme for learning to sketch figures, animals and simple objects. Would be helpful to the amateur who wants to master informal sketching for purposes of illustrating or cartooning, and is also good fun." Wis. bul.

The author's "How to draw for reproduction in black and white" (1933 Lane 5s) is another good book for beginners

Foster, Walter Raymond Maxwell

Drawings for advertisements, book illustrations, etc.; how to prepare and sell them. 1928 Macmillan $3; Black, A. & C. 7s 6d 741

1 Drawing 2 Advertising, Art in [29-10476]

A very useful book which supplies the practical help not given in art schools, to the youthful aspirant to fame and fortune in the realm of commercial art. Is largely devoted to advice on such matters as the type and kind of drawings to make, the financial and legal aspects of dealings with business men, the technique of reproduction, etc. Fully illustrated

R. P. Gossip's "Advertisement design" (1927 Scribner $8; Chapman 21s) in the Universal art series, is an informative, detailed English textbook covering many phases of advertising design, well illustrated in color and in black and white. "Art in advertising" by E. W. Twining, and D. E. M. Holdich (1931 Pitman 25s) is another good, well illustrated book on advertising art which treats of artists' work in connection with all branches of publicity

Furniss, Dorothy

Drawing for beginners. 1928 Bridgman $3.50; Harrap 10s 6d 741

1 Drawing—Study and teaching [28-13074]

"About half the chapters are arranged according to subjects drawn, such as 'Drawing our toys,' 'Drawing hands,' etc. Other chapters are on colour, measuring and perspective, sketching out of doors, catching a likeness and other problems." Boston

"A helpful book of self instruction for the talented student whether old or young. It presents a rather more exhaustive handling of the subject of drawing than can be applied in its entirety in the usual public school situation, but would prove excellent in special art classes, in art schools, or in the home." School arts magazine

Geen, Evelyne

* Pencil sketching. 1930 Pitman $1.75; 5s 741

1 Pencil drawing 31-16294

"An English book written for the adult who 'wishes he could draw' and devoted almost wholly to subjects that do not move, as suitable for first efforts." Pittsburgh

Well illustrated

Glass, Frederick J.

Sketching from nature; a practical treatise on the principles of pictorial composition. 1926 Scribner $3; Batsford 10s 6d 741

1 Landscape drawing 27-26449

"A practical treatise for the ambitious amateur, discussing pictorial composition, and the materials and methods used in landscape sketching. The drawings in line and in color help to illustrate the author's points. A chapter is included on examples from old masters." Chicago

Guptill, Arthur Leighton

* Drawing with pen and ink, and a word concerning the brush. 1928 Pencil points press $8.50; Batsford 40s 741

1 Pen drawing 2 Architectural drawing 3 Drawing—Study and teaching 28-21718

"A comprehensive treatise covering every kind of technique used in pen drawing, with illustrative examples by modern artists. Of the utmost practical value to students and young artists." Chicago

Fully illustrated, mainly by examples of contemporary work

If more material is needed G. M. Ellwood's "Art of pen drawing" (1927 Scribner $4.50; Batsford 10s 6d) is a good book for the man engaged in illustrative and advertising work

Freehand drawing self-taught. 1933 Harper $3.50 741

1 Drawing 2 Drawings 33-37455

Part one contains instructions for the beginner, on equipment, blocking out, line drawing, drawing with pencil, charcoal, crayon, and chalk, wash manipulation, pen and ink, drawing from a photograph, trees, etc. Illustrated by the author; part two contains examples of drawings by other artists with descriptive text on how the work was done

"The material has been assembled with thoroughness. Particular emphasis is placed upon the techniques of various mediums. Professor Guptill estimates that his book should prove suitable to junior high schools, high schools and for the first-year courses in art schools and colleges." N.Y. Times

* Sketching and rendering in pencil. (Pencil points lib.) 1922 Pencil points press $5; Batsford 30s 741

1 Pencil drawing 2 Drawing—Study and teaching 3 Architectural drawing 22-19501

"A great number of reproductions of pencil drawings by the best artists and of all subjects, with chapters upon each subject by the author." Pratt quarterly

"In preparing this volume we have presupposed that our readers would be, in the main, students of art or architecture or some allied subject, on the one hand, and architects or draftsmen, artists and art teachers on the other. We have endeavored to offer suggestions of value to all these classes of individuals." Foreword

Hartman, Emil Alvin

How to make fashion illustrations. 1932 Fashion academy pa $1 741

1 Drawing—Study and teaching 2 Clothing and dress A32-2340

"In the format of a fashion magazine, detailed directions for drawing the fashion figure

are given. Accompanying sketches show the beginning and intermediate stages of the drawing, as well as the final draft. This is one number in a home study course offered by the Fashion academy." Bkl.

Edith Young's "Student's manual of fashion drawing" (2d rev ed 1930 Wiley $2.50; Chapman 10s) is a good book for beginners, with the material arranged in thirty lessons

Another manual which "explains and illustrates the various methods and styles of drawing in general use for recording dresses of different types" is "Fashion drawing and design" by L. M. Chadwick (1926 Scribner $6; Batsford 15s)

Johnson, Borough

* Art of the pencil. 1929 Pitman $5; 16s 741

1 Pencil drawing 30-17647

"A practical book for the beginner, containing pencil studies of landscapes and buildings, with explanatory notes." Providence

Another very good book is the author's "Technique of pencil drawing" (1927 Pitman $6; 21s) The fine illustrations by the author form the bulk of the book

Knights, Charles C., and Norman, Frank E.

Commercial art practice. 2d ed 1930 Lockwood, C. 10s 6d 741

1 Drawing 2 Posters 3 Advertising 4 Photomechanical processes [28-16062]

Seventy-seven colored illustrations and 116 black and white illustrations are shown." Industrial arts index

E. M. Kauffer's "Art of the poster" (1928 Palmer, C. o.p. 1933) is an older work on French, German. Russian, American and English posters. Another older work, practically out of print, 1933, is "Essentials of poster design" (1925 Poster) edited by Burton Harrington from a series of articles appearing in the "Poster" on the purpose of posters and the principles of design

Richmond, Leonard, and Littlejohns, John

Technique of pastel painting. 1931 Pitman $6; 21s 741

1 Pastel drawing 2 Pastels 32-1240

"With the publication of 'The Technique of Pastel Painting' the authors' previous work, 'The Art of Painting in Pastel,' is superseded. Their earlier volume was written when the authors were less experienced . . . Continual and varied experiments have made them less positive in their claims for the relative merits of certain technical methods. They now believe that they can be of more service to the serious student if they indicate no personal preferences, but give the results of their investigations into several methods without attempting to influence the reader's personal choice." Chapter one

"The clean drawing and successive stages of building up the color so that erasures are unnecessary are demonstrated in color plates with explanatory text." Pittsburgh

Rines, Frank M.

Drawing in lead pencil. 1929 Bridgman $2.50 741

1 Pencil drawing 30-4112

"Since it presupposes that the reader has already had some experience in drawing, the appeal of this book will be to students, teachers and architects. It gives the principles of pencil technique as applied to out-of-door subjects, the different strokes and the various ways of producing given effects." Providence

Illustrated with full-page pencil sketches of English scenes admirably reproduced

Salwey, Jasper Philip

Art and practice of sketching. 1930 Scribner $4.50; Batsford 12s 6d 741

Text with numerous illustrations

Van Devanter, Anne Woodrow
* Poster making for the amateur. 1928 Nat. pub. $1 741
1 Posters 29-2800

"In this short manual the author gives advice, based on experience, concerning the use of posters for church publicity, and directions for making them. These directions, simple, detailed, and well illustrated, make the book useful for other purposes than the specific ones for which it was designed." Bkl.

J. E. Perkins's "Amateur poster-maker" (1924 Pilgrim press $1) is another simple book intended for the amateur and not for the commercial artist

Vinall, Joseph William Topham
Crayon and pastel work for schools. 1932 Pitman $2.25; 7s 6d 741
1 Drawing—Study and teaching 2 Crayon drawing 3 Pastel drawing 32-25263

A small book intended to aid the teacher of pastel drawing but also useful to anyone beginning work in this medium. The chapters are of graduated difficulty, divided into crayon work, pastel work and design, and illustrated with good color plates

J. K. Popham's "How to use pastels; with notes on composition, harmony, etc." (1932 Dodd $2; Lane 7s 6d) another small book, is for the somewhat more experienced artist. It contains many illustrations but only two in color

1 Advertising, Art in 2 Drawing 3 Lettering 30-11042

"A well planned textbook covering both commercial art and advertising layout. It is intended to correlate, in a commercial art course, the teaching of design, drawing, and lettering; and the elementary principles of these subjects are well presented, and problems given. Chapters on poster work and reproducing processes are included, and the whole book is well illated." Bkl.

Another book of use to commercial artists is F. H. Young's "Modern advertising art" (1930 Lib. press 31s 6d) Well illustrated. V. L. Danvers' "Training in commercial art" (1926 Pitman $5; 21s) is an older book which is still useful

742 PERSPECTIVE

Brahdy, Joseph
Perspective drawing. 1929 Van Nostrand $2 742
1 Perspective 2 Shades and shadows 3 Drawing—Study and teaching 4 Architectural drawing 29-15729

"The text has been arranged to teach perspective drawing within the sphere of architectural drawing, just as geometry and trigonometry are taught as part of mathematics. . . The subject is presented so that the student needs only a minimum of mathematics, and formal descriptive geometry has been eliminated entirely." Preface

Cole, Rex Vicat
Perspective. (New art lib.) 1921 Lippincott $6; Seeley 15s 742

Sawer, Daisy D.
Perspective in drawing. 1931 Scribner $1.75; Batsford 5s 742
1 Perspective 2 Drawing 31-28487
"In discussing basic principles, the cube, the cylinder, shadows, reflections, aerial perspective, color, and drawings in perspective, the author of this brief little English book points out the usual errors of beginners and explains simply the theory of perspective. Many clear diagrams and drawings illustrate the text." Bkl.
Draftsmen as well as artists will find help in B. A. Gill's "Perspective delineation" (1921 Architectural bk. $2)

743 ART ANATOMY

Borough Johnson's "Figure drawing and portraiture in lead pencil, chalk, and charcoal" (1931 Pitman $7.50; 25s) is a very good book on this subject

Alston, Rowland Wright
Rudiments of figure drawing, a handbook for teachers and students. 1933 Pitman $4.50; 15s 743
1 Human figure in art 2 Anatomy, Artistic 34-2027
"One of the best ways to discover the nature of drawing, the author believes, is to study the work of great draughtsmen. This book therefore offers the serious student of art a careful analysis of the drawing of the Masters of the Renaissance, in whose artistic creed the third dimension was an indispensable tenet." Cincinnati

Bement, Alon
* Figure construction. 1930 Gregg $2.40; Batsford 12s 6d 743
1 Human figure in art 2 Anatomy, Artistic [27-14264]
First edition 1921. Some half dozen new plates have been substituted and new text written for them in the 1930 edition
"The result of work in costume design classes in Teachers college, Columbia university, specially useful in high schools and colleges where the student cannot attend a life class. It reduces the profile figure to its two fundamental lines, making each additional essential line so simple and clear that any student can follow them with excellent results." Bkl.

Bridgman, George B.
Constructive anatomy. 1920 Bridgman $7.50; Lane 15s 743
1 Anatomy, Artistic 20-9910
A standard work on art anatomy very profusely illustrated with drawings
"Bridgmans life drawing" by the same author (1924 Bridgman $5.50; Lane 15s) is another valuable textbook for artists and students which consists of anatomical sketches with instructions upon figure drawings
Features and faces. 1932 Bridgman $3.50; Lane 8s 6d 743
1 Face 2 Anatomy, Artistic 32-16527
"Drawings of the masses and their proportions, studies of separate features, characteristic heads drawn from masterpieces, are followed by general conclusions on construction. The text is brief." Pittsburgh
"Fifty figure drawings; a selected group of the best figure drawings submitted to the Fifty best drawing jury" (1927 Bridgman $1; Lane 5s) is small but useful when additional material is needed

Cox, George James
Art and "the life". 1933 Doubleday, Doran $5 743
1 Human figure in art 2 Anatomy, Artistic 33-15653
"A book on the human figure, its drawing and design." Subtitle
"A fresh, original contribution to the subject in this manual. Students learning to draw the human figure, and amateurs interested in art principles and appreciation, will find in it sound, unprejudiced advice, helpfully illustrated. Two chapters appraise art books and periodicals." Bkl.

Doust, Len A.
How to sketch from life. 1929 Bridgman $1; Warne 6d 743
1 Human figure in art 2 Drawing—Study and teaching 29-10471
"This book teaches clearly and concisely how to become an efficient figure artist. It analyzes the details of the subject and puts forward a program of study." Title page
P. G. Braun's "Figure composition" (1930 Bridgman $2.50; Lane 7s 6d) is a good book for students of this subject. It discusses arrangement, composition, light and shade, etc. and has a chapter on story illustration

Dunlop, James M.
Anatomical diagrams for the use of art students, arranged with analytical notes. Macmillan $3.25; Bell, G. 10s 743
1 Anatomy, Artistic 26-9668
First published in 1899. The author appeals to the eyes instead of depending on description. The book consists of diagrams showing the skeleton and muscles
"A useful manual of human anatomy for the art student." Cleveland

Fripp, Sir Alfred Downing, and Thompson, Ralph
Human anatomy for art students. (New art lib.) 1911 Lippincott $6; Seeley 15s 743
1 Anatomy, Artistic A11-551
With drawings by Innes Fripp, and an appendix on comparative anatomy by Harry Dixon with 151 illustrations, many from the living model
"Describes form and workings of the various parts of the body, the structure of the skeleton, the muscular effects of the emotions, etc. Explains necessary technicalities as compactly as possible." N.Y. state lib.
Arthur Thomson's "Handbook of art anatomy for art students" (4th ed 1915 Oxford $8.50) is another standard book. It has numerous illustrations and diagrams

Hatton, Richard George
1 Human figure in art 2 Composition (Art) A15-498
A companion volume to the author's "Figure composition." The two volumes were originally published in one volume under title: "Figure drawing and composition," 1895. Of the original volume Russell Sturgis says: "A useful guide for the student, not of art as a pursuit to be followed, but of works of art to be studied as we study literature. The difficulties in the way of the figure draughtsman and the conventions adopted by artists are well explained. The great difficulties which attend the right drawing of the human figure are well for even the theoretical student of art to understand; this book is capable of giving to such a student a sense of what figure drawing really is."

Lutz, Edwin George
Practical art anatomy. 1918 Scribner $2; Batsford 8s 6d 743
1 Anatomy, Artistic 18-10849
A text book on the structural anatomy of the human figure. For the beginner as well as the mature artist. Well illustrated by the author

Oehler, Bernice Olivia
1 Human figure in art 26-13529
"Aims to present a few fundamental facts that will help teachers in presenting the subject to pupils. The illustrations are excellent to show figures in motion. Useful suggestions for the student practicing alone." Wis. bul.

Pérard, Victor Semon
* Anatomy and drawing. 2d ed 1931 The author $3.50; Batsford 16s 743
1 Anatomy, Artistic 2 Human figure in art 31-16710
An excellent book for students in artistic anatomy. Slightly larger than the first edition published in 1928
"The purpose of this book is to present in a simple and direct manner the subject of anatomy as it is applied to Art. As little text as possible has been used, and much dependence has been placed on pictorial representations because the latter are a more direct means of impressing the artist with construction and form." Preface

Renggli, Edward
How to draw the head in light & shade. 1927 Bridgman o.p. 1933 743
1 Drawing—Study and teaching 27-21028
A good book when something more than the general work of Vanderpoel is needed
"Unusual illustrations which show drawings in process as well as finished." Boston

Vanderpoel, John Henry
‡ Human figure. 1919 Inland printer co. $2.75; Batsford 16s 743
1 Human figure in art 19-15215
First published in 1907
"Very good for figure drawing in art courses. Well illustrated." M. E. Clark's Art in home economics

744 MATHEMATICAL AND SCIENTIFIC DRAWING

An excellent book for engineers, draftsmen and mechanics is "Engineering descriptive geometry and drawing" by F. W. Bartlett and T. W. Johnson (new ed 1932 Wiley $5.50). A very complete treatment of mechanical and free hand drawing will be found in "Engineering drawing" by H. H. Jordan and R. P. Hoelscher (2d rev ed 1928 Wiley $3)

Bishop, Calvin Collier
Electrical drafting and design. 2d ed 1931 McGraw $2; 10s 744
1 Mechanical drawing 2 Electric engineering 31-9531
First edition 1924. Revised thruout and enlarged by 25 pages
"Designed to supplement the usual course in mechanical drafting, by dealing with those subjects which are of particular interest to draftsmen specializing in electrical work." Pittsburgh

Bishop, Carlton Thomas
Structural drafting and the design of details. 2d ed rev and corr 1928 Wiley $5 744
1 Structural drawing [23-24031
First edition 1920. The second edition, 1922, was necessary because of extensive changes in the standards of the Association of American steel manufacturers. Frequently reprinted with additions and corrections to accord with changes in specifications of the American institute of steel construction. Latest printing 1928
"A useful work. Presupposes ability to use drawing instruments, and presents fully the fundamental operations within the province of the structural steel draftsman." Pittsburgh

Brahdy, Joseph
* Blueprint reading for the machine shop and related trades. 2d ed 1929 McGraw $2; 10s 744
1 Mechanical drawing 2 Blue prints 23-17960
First edition in a larger format was published by Van Nostrand in 1923. Now revised and reset
"The most complete work of its kind. Teaches enough practical drawing to fix principles firmly in the reader's mind. A large number of facsimile blueprints and searching questions concerning their details." N.Y. public lib. New technical books
"Will be found very useful by teachers in apprentice, trade and vocational schools." School

Dalzell, James Ralph; McKinney, James and Ritow, Herman
Blueprint reading for the building trades. 1929 Am. tech. soc. $1.25 744
1 Architectural drawing 2 Blue prints 29-27908
"A correspondence school home study book for contractors and builders on the reading of architect's drawings. Includes, as examples, plans for a seven-room house, and for an apartment hotel, with directions for reading them." Pratt quarterly
Another good book for home study is W. S. Lowndes's "Reading architects' blueprints" (1922 Int. textbook $2) intended to teach the building trade mechanic to interpret architects' drawings. It was formerly published under title "Builders' blueprints" and with title "How to read blueprints" is also available from McKay at $2

Field, Wooster Bard
‡ Introduction to architectural drawing. 1932 McGraw $2.50; 15s 744
1 Architectural drawing 2 Lettering 32-21733
"To make the matter as comprehensive as possible in a book of one hundred pages, the author has taken The House—the simplest sheltering structure—as subject matter for discussion. The various elements essential in a house are listed, and in elevation, pictorial, and orthographic plans the details are accurately laid down. Because the draftsman must supplement his drawings with descriptive titles, etc., which require good lettering, a chapter is given to several styles of letters which are essential to know." School arts magazine
"Architectural drawing, perspective and rendering" by C. A. Farey and A. T. Edwards (1931 Scribner $6; Batsford 16s) is a well illustrated English handbook for students and draughtsmen which is recommended for libraries needing material for the professional architect

Fortman, Robert H., and McKinney, James
Blueprint reading for the machine trades. 1932 Am. tech. soc. $1.50 744

1 Mechanical drawings 2 Blue prints 3 Machinery—Drawing 32-12512

"An elementary text which deals briefly with the making of drawings and blue-prints, and gives considerable instruction in interpretation." Pittsburgh

French, Thomas Ewing
* Manual of engineering drawing for students and draftsmen. 4th ed rev and enl 1929 McGraw $3; 15s 744

1 Mechanical drawing 29-13849

This standard text has been revised to conform with new standards of the American standards association. Expansions of text, new problems and new illustrations enlarge the book by 55 pages

"Of service to the beginner preparing for either civil or mechanical work." E. H. McClelland

French, Thomas Ewing, and Svenson, Carl Lars
Mechanical drawing for high schools. 3d ed rev and enl 1934 McGraw $1.50; 7s 6d 744

1 Mechanical drawing 34-7389

Previous edition 1927. "This edition has been rewritten, changes in the arrangement of content have been made, the problems have been increased from 279 to 350, many illustrations have been replaced and new ones have been added." Preface to the third edition

An excellent textbook for high schools with enough material for two years' work. The first part of the book is a complete textbook which may be used with any problems; the second part, almost half the book, consists of problems to illustrate each chapter

Givens, Harrison Crandall
Reading house plans; blue print reading for the building trades. 1927 Wiley $1.50; Chapman 7s 6d 744

1 Architectural drawing 2 Blue prints 28-468

"A very clearly written manual. Explains the general principles of making and interpreting drawings, presents comments and questions on typical plans, and includes a chapter on specifications." Pittsburgh

Hake, Guy Donne Gordon, and Button, Eustace Harry
Architectural drawing; a practical handbook for students and others. 1929 Scribner $3.75; Batsford 10s 6d 744

1 Architectural drawing [30-26560]

" 'Architectural drawing' by the headmaster of the Royal West of England Academy School of Architecture, Bristol, and the assistant master of the same school bears the imprint of practical teaching experience and drawing projects . . . The book is, in itself, an elementary course in draughtsmanship and should prove useful in schools on both sides of the Atlantic." Boston Transcript

"At a first glance rather elementary, this turns out to be a useful guide to the practice of drawing as it concerns the architect . . . The illustrations are taken from good models." Times (London) lit. sup.

T. R. Abercrombie's "Applied architectural drawing" (1931 Bruce pub. $2) is another good textbook. While it is intended for the use of students in secondary, trade and vocational schools and junior colleges, it will also be useful to the layman planning to build a house

Kirby, Richard Shelton
Fundamentals of mechanical drawing. 3d ed 1930 Wiley $2; Chapman 10s 744

1 Mechanical drawing 30-19170

"Additional material in this edition consists of a chapter on charts and graphs, with four new plates and some problems. Minor corrections and betterments have been made throughout the book." Preface to the third edition

An illustrated book for first-year college or technical school courses. Several hundred drill problems are included

Another recommended book intended for college use is "Introductory mechanical drawing" by C. E. Townsend and S. F. Cleary (1930 Wiley $3; Chapman 15s)

Lubschez, Ben Jehudah
Over the drawing board. 2d ed rev 1923 Nelson & Nelson $2; Batsford 14s 744

1 Architectural drawing 23-12833

This second edition of a handbook of drafting room methods and equipment by a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, has received some slight revision and the addition of some new material

"Practical and readable. The chapters on Sketches, Photography and reproductive Processes will interest the commercial artist as well as the draftsman." St Louis

Eugene Clute's "Drafting room practice" (1928 Pencil points press $4) treats the subject from the point of view of the architect's office. Contains brief text and many reproductions of drawings selected from the actual work of a number of the best drafting rooms

Magonigle, Harold Van Buren
* Architectural rendering in wash. 1921 Scribner $3; Batsford 15s 744

1 Architectural drawing 21-15656

Intended for beginners "this book is devoted principally to the rendering of geometrical drawings, elevations, sections, plans and details—what may be called formal or academic rendering." Foreword

Rouillion, Louis, and Ramsay, Charles George
Architectural details. 1924 Wiley $3 744

1 Architectural drawing 2 Architecture—Details 24-22395

"A textbook based upon large practical and teaching experience designed to acquaint the student with the best prevalent practice in architectural drafting." Pratt quarterly

Svensen, Carl Lars
Drafting for engineers; a textbook of engineering drawing for colleges and technical schools. 1927 Van Nostrand $2.75; Blackie & Son 12s 744

1 Mechanical drawing 27-11947

"The aim is to develop engineering concepts, exact thinking, and systematic methods. The presentation of the problems by means of layouts is in keeping with the purpose of the book as an engineering text. Includes chapters on architectural, structural, and electrical drafting." Pittsburgh

Svensen, Carl Lars, and Shelton, Edgar Greer
Architectural drafting. 1929 Van Nostrand $2 744

1 Architectural drawing 29-4892

"Although of a technical nature, this book is so planned that it requires no previous course in mechanical drawing. The more elementary chapters are followed by others covering architectural details, constructions, plan drawings and the applications of architectural drafting." Providence

Turner, William Wirt

* Essentials of mechanical drawing. 1926 Wiley $2 744

1 Mechanical drawing 26-15648

"The text is especially designed to meet the demands of normal schools, high schools, trade schools, and evening schools, or to be used as a home study course for those wishing to become draftsmen." Preface

Woellner, Robert Carlton, and Wittick, Eugene Charles

General mechanical drawing for beginners. 1932 Ginn $1.12 744

1 Mechanical drawing 32-3585

A brief general textbook. Illustrated

C. W. Weick's "Elementary mechanical drawing; theory and practice" (2d ed 1925 McGraw $2; 10s) is a good older book for beginners

Zipprich, Anthony E.

Freehand drafting. 1924 Van Nostrand $1.60; Batsford 8s 744

1 Drawing 2 Geometrical drawing 24-28584

"Clear instruction and explanatory plates relating to free-hand sketching. Though most of the illustrations are within the province of mechanical engineering, the book will be useful also in civil engineering, architecture, and other fields." Pittsburgh

745 ORNAMENTAL DESIGN

Since 745 is not yet subdivided in the latest edition of the Decimal classification, this number has been used here for (1) books on ornamental design in general, and (2) the practical application of design as exemplified in books on leather work, rugs, stencil work, textile fabrics, wall paper, etc., For the convenience of those who may wish to have the general treatises together in a separate alphabet, the material is here arranged in two alphabets: 1. General treatises; 2. Special applications. Books on lettering are given the number 745L in this catalog

Alphabet 1. General treatises

A valuable set of plates for designers and for schools interested in art training is "Research: design in nature," edited by J. G. Wilkins (2d rev ed in two portfolios 1931 Practical drawing co. $30) The book consists of 268 plates, showing over 5000 designs in 17 different subjects on 9x12 inch sheets. The drawings were made by students of the Art institute, Chicago, at the Field museum of natural history. A specialist in art education says of it "costly but more worth while for illustrative material and applied design from nature than any other American publication." The editor's "Nature; modern decorative illustration" (1933 Perleberg $6) is a collection of 18 plates on the use of large animals in design

Three works which are recommended for larger libraries and libraries needing material for designers, decorators, and art students are:

Ball, K. M. Decorative motives of oriental design. 1927 Dodd $15 As it deals mainly with animal symbolism, it is very useful for suggestions about the use of animals in design

Blossfeldt, Karl. Art forms in nature, first-second series. 2v 1929-32 Weyhe v 1 $12.50, v2 $10.50; Zwemmer, A. ea 42s Beautiful and enlarged photographs of plants for decorative design

Bossert, H. T. Encyclopaedia of colour decoration. 1928 Weyhe $20 A fine large volume consisting of many colored plates with brief explanatory text covering the use of color in the artistic sense in all countries and in all periods up to the middle of the nineteenth century

Batchelder, Ernest Allen

Design in theory and practice. 1910 Macmillan $2.20; 11s 745

1 Design, Decorative 10-16010

"A series of discussions of practical problems of various types, with examples from all countries and periods. Considers tools, processes and materials, but not color. Primarily intended for workers, but of interest to general inquirers on this line. Fully and well illustrated." N.Y. state lib.

Best Maugard, Adolfo

* Method for creative design. 1927 Knopf $2.50; Allen, G. 12s 745

1 Design, Decorative 27-164

"The method set forth herein, in a simple and fascinating manner, is primarily for those who love drawing, but have not the time for the study that individual creation requires." Providence

"Mr Best-Maugard explains the fundamental law of design and its seven elements, shows the student how to apply it in his own work and leads him along gradually from the first simple uses of each motive to the more difficult problems of composition, perspective and the representation of the human figure. Throughout there is full and simple exposition of the author's meaning in both the text and the accompanying illustrative designs. The second part of the volume is devoted to philosophical analysis, discussion and representation of the theoretical side of the theme." N.Y. Times

Bush, Florence Guild, and Welbourne, Frances

Design, its fundamentals and applications. 1932 Little $1.90 745

1 Design, Decorative 2 House decoration 3 Clothing and dress 32-23123

"Primarily a textbook for high school students of home economics who have had little previous training in art. It is a very direct manual of instruction, information, and illustrations. . . The matter is arranged under three units: (1) Fundamental principle of design; (2) Costume; (3) The home. . . . Very practical, progressive, well illustrated, with a good bibliography and index." School arts magazine

Christie, Archibald H.

Traditional methods of pattern designing. 2d ed 1929 Oxford $3.50; 10s 745

1 Design, Decorative 30-26399

"An introduction to the study of formal ornament; with numerous examples drawn by the author, and other illustrations." Subtitle

"This book attempts to analyse methodically the structural mechanism of formal ornament. The gradual evolution of pattern-work from obscure utilitarian beginnings into a purely decorative art, and the several phases of progress and decay to which all designs are subject, are discussed briefly, as a prelude to more specialized studies . . . this second edition is practically a new book, so considerably has it been rewritten, some redundant illustrations have been suppressed, and some new ones added. With few exceptions, mostly diagrammatic in nature, the examples reproduce historic designs." Preface

A. F. Barker's "Ornamentation and textile design" (1930 Methuen 15s) a volume of 94 plates with brief text, is another useful work

Cole, Herbert

Heraldry and floral forms as used in decoration. 1922 Dutton $3.25; Dent 10s 6d 745

1 Design, Decorative 2 Heraldry 3 Design, Decorative—Plant forms 23-3148

"A study of heraldry from the decorative rather than the historical or technical viewpoint. The illustrations are drawn from the heraldry of various countries and cover a wide range, from the beginnings of the art down to the eighteenth century. The text, which includes some account of the heraldic terms most frequently met with, is for the most part concerned with a critical analysis of the examples illustrated. The second half of the book deals with floral forms as used in decoration." Book rev. digest

"A storehouse of attractive models from which artists engaged in depicting this official blazonry may draw inspiration. He produces examples of really effective work from periods usually considered to be inferior in the matter of heraldic style." Times (London) lit. sup.

Crane, Walter

Bases of design. 1902 Bell, G. 10s 745

1 Design, Decorative 4-13467

Formerly carried also by Harcourt

First published 1898. The 1902 edition is a reprint in which errors were corrected and a word added here and there. Well illustrated

Influences affecting design; as utility, material, climate, symbolism, etc. Includes design in architecture, mural decoration, textile fabrics, book making. Index

Day, Lewis Foreman

Pattern design. 2d ed rev and enl by Amor Fenn 1933 Scribner $4; Batsford 10s 6d 745

1 Design, Decorative 2 Pattern making [4-7318]

"A book for students, treating in a practical way the anatomy, planning, and evolution of repeated ornament." Subtitle

First edition 1903, reprinted several times and supersedes the "Anatomy of pattern." "The book for the first time since its appearance has received a thorough overhaul; the order of the chapters has been rearranged, and that on Borders . . . has been transformed and re-illustrated. A number of illustrations have been redrawn or replaced, and others added, including two coloured plates, while the Editor has contributed a chapter summarizing the course of the design of pattern during the past eighty years . . . illustrated." Preface to second edition

The author's "Nature and ornament" (2d ed rev 1929 Scribner $3; Batsford 7s 6d) is a book of nature illustrations from the plant world. This edition has one new chapter and a few new illustrations. Libraries having the earlier edition (1908), will not find it necessary to buy this later edition

Ellis, Mrs Jessie Croft

(comp.) Nature index. (Useful reference ser.) 1930 Faxon $3 745

1 Design, Decorative—Bibl. 2 Nature (Esthetics)—Bibl. 30-20661

It's use in the average small library will be somewhat restricted unless the library has a fair proportion of the material indexed

A small index to about 55 books and 15 magazines, in English and foreign languages, in the University of Michigan architectural library

The compiler's "General index to illustrations" (1931 Faxon $5) is a companion volume which indexes pictures in the fields not covered by the "Nature index." Most small libraries will not have a large proportion of the material indexed

Geddes, Normal Bel

Horizons. 1932 Little $4.75 745

1 Design 2 Industrial arts 3 Architecture—Designs and plans 32-35322

"A book opening up new horizons in the field of industrial design with illustrations showing new and old designs in automobiles, airplanes and airports, houses, public buildings, factories, radios, kitchen ranges, as well as other utilities with which the word 'art' is seldom associated. A fascinating and stimulating book." Wis. bul.

Glazier, Richard

Manual of historic ornament. 5th ed rev and enl 1933 Scribner $4; Batsford 12s 6d 745

1 Decoration and ornament—Hist. 2 Architecture—Details 3 Art industries and trade 34-27035

Some color plates and other illustrations have been added in this edition, and slight changes made in the text

A manual for students and craftsmen. Treats of the evolution, tradition and development of architecture and the allied arts, including ceramics, glass, furniture, carving, textile fabrics, etc. First published in 1899. The fourth edition contains 670 illustrations including 16 photographic plates added in this edition. The work of preparing the new material has been done by Francis M. Kelly

Hamlin, Alfred Dwight Foster

* History of ornament. 2v 1916-23 Appleton-Century ea $5; Batsford ea 24s 745

1 Decoration and ornament—Hist. 16-23391

Contents: v. 1 Ancient and medieval; v. 2 Renaissance and modern

"Sketches the general historic movement of the arts of decoration, and the evolution and succession of the various styles. Though architecture is still treated as the first of the decorative arts, a larger proportion of space [in volume 2] is allowed. . .to the allied and minor arts than in the earlier volume. There are. . . illustrations." Book rev. digest

"While learned, and for the technical student, it is immensely interesting to anyone interested in art." Independent

Hope, Sir William Henry St John

Heraldry for craftsmen & designers. (Artistic crafts ser. of technical handbooks) 1913 Pitman $3.75; 12s 6d 745

1 Heraldry 26-13883

A somewhat fuller treatment of the subject than is given in Cole's book, entered above

"No artist can see this book without wanting to buy it, if it were only for the beauty of the objects selected for illustration. There is an excellent index, and the more striking of the illustrations are repeated at the end of the book in a chronological series—a good idea." Athenaeum

Another desirable book on decorative heraldry, unfortunately out of print, 1933, is "Decorative heraldry; a practical handbook of its artistic treatment," by G. W. Eve (2d ed 1908 Bell, G.)

Hornung, Clarence Pearson

Handbook of designs and devices; geometric elements. 1932 Harper $4; 21s 745

1 Design, Decorative 2 Devices 3 Geometrical drawing 32-15601

A volume made up of plates showing 1836 geometrical designs adaptable for decorative uses by the artist, architect, textile designer, and printer. There is a brief introductory chapter and a bibliography

Horth, Arthur Cawdron

Design and handicraft. 1932 Pitman $1.50; 4s 745

1 Design, Decorative 2 Handicraft 33-280

"It is hoped that the suggestions outlined in these pages will help in developing an appreciation of the right use of materials, sound construction, and good proportion, and in the formation of good taste in decoration, as well as illustrating." Preface

A briefer practical book with helpful suggestions is T. E. Dickson's "Elements of design" (1933 Pitman $1.25; 5s)

Jones, Owen

Grammar of ornament. 1910 Quaritch £3, 3s 745

1 Decoration and ornament—Hist. 2 Design, Decorative [4-11692]

A standard work of the first importance originally published in 1856. A collection of 112 large plates which contain nearly 3000 colored illustrations of various styles of ornament covering many centuries. Arranged by countries and periods, and accompanied by brief text

Lemos, Pedro Joseph

* Indian arts: Pueblo and Navajo. 1932 School arts mag. $1.50 745

1 Indians of North America—Art 2 Pueblo Indians—Art 3 Navaho Indians—Art 32-19800

Twenty-seven plates in a portfolio. Three in color show scenes from Indian dances. The rest in black and white depict Indian designs with examples of their use in Pueblo and Navajo rugs, pottery, and embroidery

Indian decorative designs. 1926 Davis press $1.50; Batsford 10s 745

1 Indians of North Americ. Art 26-24568

Twenty-eight plates in a portfolio, showing Indian designs taken from the work of the Toltecs, Mayas, Aztecs and other tribes of America. Both ancient and modern sources are used

Oriental decorative designs. 1927 School arts mag. $1.50; Batsford 10s 745

1 Decoration and ornament, Oriental 2 Design, Decorative 27-11929

A portfolio of 28 plates, some in color, showing Chinese, Japanese, Indian, Javanese and Persian designs. There is a brief introductory text which includes an outline for a course of study and explanation of the plates

Useful in the same manner are four similar works by P. J. Lemos "Trees in decoration;" "Birds in decoration;" "Ships in decoration"; "Figures in decoration" (School arts mag. ea $1; Batsford ea 5s) The author's "Art ages" (1929 Davis press $4.75) is a collection of plates in portfolio, some colored, which will also be found useful

Book of studies in plant form, with some suggestions for their application to design. enl ed 1907 Scribner $3.75 745

1 Design, Decorative—Plant forms 8-20538

"Fully illustrated work intended to show the students how plant forms may be simplified and converted into ornament. By placing historical and other ornamental renderings side by side with the drawing from nature the requirements of ornament are shown and special designs are suggested for gesso, stencilling, wallpapers, textiles, etc." Pratt quarterly

Chapters on "Leather embossing" and "Plant ornament in relief" have been added

Meyer, Franz Sales

‡ Handbook of ornament. 4th American ed Architectural bk. $3.60; Batsford 16s 745

1 Decoration and ornament 2 Design, Decorative [28-9442]

A standard work, first published in 1888, containing about 3000 illustrations, representing the styles of ornament of practically all periods and nations. The antique receives the most attention, and next the renaissance style. Modern times are hardly represented. Each division and subdivision is prefaced by a few remarks on style and history, characteristics, motives, symbolism, aim, and application

Contents: Division 1 Elements of decoration; Division 2 Ornament applied to features; Division 3 Decorated objects

"Meyer's Handbook of ornament; geometrical and floral" (1928 Bridgman $1) is the first of a series of 3 volumes taken from the author's "Handbook of ornament." It includes about one half of the plates and text of the first of the 3 divisions of the original work

1 Weaving 2 Looms 21-11960

First published 1910. The 1920 edition is a reprint with a page or two of "necessary addenda"

"Textbook for art workers, giving brief historical treatment and descriptions of various looms and methods of working them, with suggestions for fabrics and designs. Many operations are too elaborate for the amateur, but all will interest him. Well illustrated." N.Y. state lib.

A simple little handbook by this author is "Weaving for beginners" (1920 Pitman $1.50; 5s)

Weaving with small appliances. 3v 1922-25 Pitman ea $2.25; ea 7s 6d 745

1 Weaving (23-8842)

Contents: bk. 1 The weaving board; bk. 2 Tablet weaving; bk. 3 The table loom

According to the author "the appliances for weaving and the instructions for using them to be described in this book are not intended for commercial craftsmen; they are specially designed for and adapted to the use of students." Many illustrations and colored plates

The author's "New draw-loom" (1932 Pitman $6; 25s) is a more technical book which gives a minute description of the construction of a hand loom

James, George Wharton

Indian blankets and their makers. 1914 McClurg $10 745

1 Indians of North America—Textile industry and fabrics 2 Navaho Indians 14-15372

"A thorough, entertainingly written and well illustrated study of the Indian blanket, particularly the Navajo blanket. Discusses their origin, symbolism, and artistic qualities, throws light upon the life and customs of their makers and includes practical suggestions for purchasers." Cleveland

Too expensive and special for the library where there is no particular interest in Indian textiles

Kent, William Winthrop

Hooked rug. 1930 Dodd $5; Batsford 16s 745

1 Rugs 30-28751

"A record of its ancient origin, modern development, methods of making, sources of design, value as a handicraft, the growth of collections, probable future in America, and other data." Subtitle

"This is the first detailed study of the popular hooked rug, and is presented in unusually attractive form. It discusses various processes and designs, and contains more than 170 illustrations of both antique and modern rugs." Cleveland

M. P. Taylor's "How to make hooked rugs" (1930 McKay $2) is a good manual containing simple, well-illustrated suggestions for this handicraft

Lewis, George Griffin

Practical book of oriental rugs. (Lippincott's practical books for the enrichment of home life) 5th ed 1920 Lippincott $10; 42s 745

1 Rugs, Oriental 21-419

This edition has added more color plates and other illustrations. The prices of rugs as given in Part 2 have not been revised

"Contains systematized and tabulated descriptions of the different varieties of rugs, explaining the distinguishing characteristics and the weaving of each. The material is so arranged that it will enable the reader to identify the different varieties of patterns. Includes suggestions for the selection, purchase, care, and cleaning of rugs. Well illustrated with photographs and drawings." M. E. Clark's Art in home economics

A thorough and comprehensive work which gives a close analysis of the weaves of rugs, from the earliest examples to the manufactured carpets of today, is W. A. Hawley's "Oriental rugs, antique and modern" (1913 Lane 42s) "Oriental rugs and carpets" by A. U. Dilley (1931 Scribner $15; 70s) is a comprehensive study expensive but useful in any library that has a special interest in the subject. It has 79 plates, many in color. G. B. Leitch's "Chinese rugs" (1928 Dodd $4; Batsford 16s) is an introductory handbook describing materials, designs, methods of weaving and symbolism of the rugs

Mijer, Pieter

* Batiks, and how to make them. 1919 Dodd $3; Batsford 10s 6d 745

1 Batik 19-12233

Batik is not a crude method of decorating material, but a craft which requires a good deal of skill and knowledge of design, as well as a good idea of color. Most of the hints given here are the outcome of many years experience, added to observations of workers both in Java and Holland. Adapted from Preface

Well illustrated

"Batik and other pattern dyeing" by W. D. Baker and I. S. Baker (1920 Mentzer $1.80; Batsford 8s 6d) contains material on the history of batiks, principles of dyeing, stick painting, block painting, and stencil dyeing. G. C. Lewis's "First lessons in batik" (1921 Prang pa $2) is an elementary book on batik, tie-dyeing and other pattern dyeing, giving detailed directions for doing the work under American conditions

Mumford, John Kimberly

* Oriental rugs. [4th ed] 1915 Scribner $6; Low 42s 745

1 Rugs, Oriental [2-29899]

An authoritative work, first published 1900. This edition is practically the same as the earlier ones with the exception of the correction of errors. Many full page illustrations, sixteen of them in color

"Guide for the purchaser of rugs. Explains the significance of the names by which he is often perplexed, how to distinguish an old rug from a new one which has been 'doctored' to change its color or increase its lustre; discusses materials; classifies names of tribes, districts and methods of weaving." Pittsburgh

Mrs C. B. Faraday's "European and American carpets and rugs" (1929 Dean-Hicks co. $15) is an extensive history of the subject with 32 plates in color

Percival, MacIver

The chintz book. 1923 Heinemann o.p. 1933 745

1 Chintz 2 Textile design 23-18154

Traces the development of the industry both historically and technically. The author is fully alive to the esthetic appeal of the examples he discusses, irrespective of their antiquity, so that the book has an appeal to the general public as well as to the collector and the person who is interested in furnishing his house strictly to period. Condensed from Spectator

Contains 32 plates in black and white and 4 in color

Phillips, Mrs Anna M. Laise

Hooked rugs and how to make them. 1925 Macmillan $2 745

1 Rugs 30-24885

The 1930 reprint has a seven page addenda on the usefulness of the book

"This small book describes various kinds of hand made rugs and tells how to make them, but more than that it makes a plea for the revival of this neglected household art. The author gently urges the prospective rug maker to eschew patterns and machines, and to learn the thrill that comes from designing a rug and executing one's own design." Book rev. digest

Contains 16 plates in black and white

Roberts, Edna H.

Oriental rugs; the way to know and judge them. 1928 Textile pub. co. $2 745

1 Rugs, Oriental 28-19543

A somewhat sketchy little book, which will prove useful, however, to libraries where there is a need for a less expensive, concise handbook to supplement such works as those by Lewis and Mumford. It describes the various types of rugs, as to color, texture, and patterns, and gives a brief history of each. Illustrated

C. W. Jacobsen's "Facts about oriental rugs" (1931 The author $3) is another small book which deals with the subject in a concise manner. It is written by a rug dealer with the object of arming the prospective buyer with elementary knowledge

Carpets of Persia; a book for those who use and admire them. 1931 Luzac 3s 6d, pa 2s 6d 745

1 Rugs, Persian 2 Carpets 31-29179

Published for the International exhibition of Persian art at the Royal academy, 1931. Types of warp and weft, methods of knotting material and many patterns are given. Illustrated with 7 drawings, 33 plates and a map of Persia showing the locations of tribes for which rugs are named.

"The object of this book is to give a general account of what is known about Persian carpets, partly for the use of those who, not already connoisseurs, have admired and felt interested when seeing them in exhibitions, public collections or even shop windows; and also in order to supply practical information to others who own them—or perhaps at present only feel an inclination to own them—and who wish to enjoy them to the full, and, by knowing how to take care of them, to make that enjoyment last as long as possible." Introduction

Todd, Mattie Phipps

Hand-loom weaving; a manual for school and home. 1914 Rand $1.25 745

1 Weaving [2-28494]

First published 1902. In the 1914 edition the author has added "new suggestions in presenting weaving to the little industrial workers of the world, whether in school or at home."

Includes chapters on primitive and modern looms; methods of work; dycing; and directions for making rugs, mats, hammocks, raffia mats and Navajo blankets. Could be used in classes studying the history of industry. Illustrations and index

Hewitt, Graily

Lettering for students and craftsmen. (New art lib.) 1930 Lippincott $6; Seeley 15s 745L

1 Lettering 30-33934

"A master of lettering who has for many years been a teacher of calligraphy is the author of this book on the history of manuscript writing. The volume contains also a technical discussion, with illustrations, of the theory and practice of good lettering from the standpoint of both beauty and utility." Book rev. digest

"The legacy of Mr. Graily Hewitt's training and experience is condensed into this beautiful book; a book as good to look at as to read, as practically useful as it is inspiring, and destined, one may hope, to bring back the sense of lettering to a world so long content to suck the meaning of 'printed matter' that it has lost the finer faculty of its eyes." Saturday rev.

1 Architecture, Domestic 2 House decoration 23-13748

"The essential features that go to make a home liveable, and at the same time appear to its best advantage, are discussed simply and practically with emphasis on light and color. The exterior of the house is considered in connection with its environment, while the furnishing, decorating, and arrangement of the interior are dealt with in detail. Illustrated." N.Y. state lib.

The author's "Art of home decoration" (1921 Dodd o.p. 1933) is a well illustrated book which will furnish some useful suggestions, tho, like the book listed above, it is now somewhat old

Parsons, Frank Alvah

* Interior decoration; its principles and practice. 1915 Doubleday, Doran $4; Batsford 30s 747

1 House decoration 2 Furniture 15-21595

Excellent for theory

"The author, [formerly] president of the New York School of fine and applied arts, hopes that this book 'may be of service to somebody in pointing out what a house is really for and what it should express.' In it he has attempted 'to express simply the principles of colour and form harmony in such a way that any one, who desires to, may express with some degree of confidence his individual ideas.' Part 1 of the book, opening with an introduction on 'When, where, and how to decorate,' is devoted to a consideration of these principles. Part 2 takes up the historic art periods. Part 3 is devoted to the modern house. The illustrations chosen are admirably suited to the author's purpose. The book is indexed." Book rev. digest

Patmore, Derek

Colour schemes for the modern home. 1933 Studio $4.50; 10s 6d 747

1 House decoration 2 Color 34-1715

"Designed as a practical guide in the field of interior decoration. Derek Patmore approaches the problem of color from several angles. He discusses 'psychology,' combinations, relationship to furniture and fabrics, etc. The twenty-four mounted plates are unusually successful as examples of color reproduction, and each of the decorative ideas thus projected serves to illustrate points enlarged upon in the text." "Containing over two hundred color schemes and three hundred illustrations of halls, living rooms, dining rooms, bed chambers, sun rooms, roofs, garden rooms, kitchens and baths; the characteristic colors of each decorative period; how to select a color scheme; with unusual treatments for painted furniture and floors; a portfolio of crystal rooms and eight pages of unusual interiors in color." Subtitle

"House and garden's second book of interiors" by the same editors (1926 Condé Nast $5) contains seven hundred illustrations of rooms, together with their color schemes

748 GLASS

Three well illustrated books on early American glass, which are valuable now on account of the present-day interest in the subject, are noted here for the benefit of libraries able to afford them:

Chipman, F. W. Romance of old Sandwich glass, with dictionary of old Sandwich patterns. 1932 Sandwich pub. co. $5 An authoritative guide

Lee, Mrs. R. W. Early American pressed glass; a classification of patterns collectible in sets together with individual pieces for table decorations. enl & rev 1933 The author $10

Watkins, Mrs L. W. Cambridge glass, 1818 to 1888; the story of the New England glass company. 1930 Jones, Marshall $3.75

Edward Dillon's "Glass" (1907 Methuen) in the Connoisseur's library, one of the best books on the history of glass, is now out of print, 1933. It covers the subject from the earliest times to the present

Arnold, Hugh

* Stained glass of the middle ages in England and France; painted by L. B. Saint. 1913 Macmillan $5; Black, A. & C. 12s 6d 748

1 Glass painting and staining 2 Art, Medieval [14-30359]

A popular work in which the author has chosen certain typical windows in each century and has written the interesting facts about them. Fifty colored illustrations

"The author describes a few of the best known examples of medieval stained glass surviving in England and France. 'The English instances are almost exclusively taken from the cathedral church of Canterbury, and from the remarkable window pictures of York minster and certain parish churches of that northern city. . .The treatment of French glass is also confined, so far as illustrations are concerned, to the noble examples to be seen at Chartres, Rouen, Poitiers, and Le Mans." Athenaeum

Duthie, Arthur Louis

Decorative glass processes. 1908 Constable 8s 6d 748

1 Glass 2 Glass painting and staining 3 Glass embossing 9-12266

Formerly carried also by Van Nostrand

"Detailed descriptions of various methods, by a practical designer and worker in stained glass. Has chapters on leaded lights, stained and embossed glass, etc. For the specialist rather than the beginner. Illustrated." Pittsburgh

Eden, Frederick Sydney

Ancient stained and painted glass. 2d ed enl 1933 Macmillan $2.50; Cambridge univ. press 8s 6d 748

1 Glass painting and staining 33-32352

This study of ancient stained and painted glass made before 1714 and still to be found in ancient buildings in England and in a few on the continent is a revised and enlarged edition of a book published in 1913 as one of the Cambridge manuals of science and literature. Fifty-four pages, and many illustrations have been added. Bibliography

"A series of excellent chapters with clear statements of methods and principles and an interesting set of examples; and in most cases the photographs are well placed to help the reader. . . It is a book which all lovers of ancient glass will welcome." Times (London) lit. sup.

Knittle, Rhea Mansfield

‡ Early American glass. 1927 Appleton-Century $4; 16s 748

1 Glass 2 Glass manufacture 27-24362

"An exhaustive survey of the entire field of American glassware according to the three periods of its development is presented in this authoritative work. The general reader, as well as the collector, will find it of interest, since the material is entertainingly presented, and the accompanying illustrations are noteworthy. Libraries having frequent requests for information on antiques will find it a valuable addition." Wis. bul.

Bibliography: p449-53

Lewis, J. Sydney

Old glass and how to collect it. 1925 Laurie 25s 748

1 Glass 26-3348

Formerly carried also by Dodd

A well illustrated English handbook on English and Irish glass first published in 1916. The 1925 edition has at the end a new list of the latest prices of glass sold by auction which replaces the list in the 1916 edition

"Should be useful to collectors, especially in the notes on frauds and prices. . .The illustrations are so very good that they will set some new collectors to work." Spectator

Moore, Mrs N. Hudson (Woodbridge)

Old glass, European and American. 1924 Stokes $10; Hodder 748

1 Glass 24-28131

"Designed primarily for the collector, especially of American glass, but of general interest and valuable for reference in the history of crafts or household furnishings." Journal of home economics

"Part one gives the history of Venetian, Bohemian, Dutch and Flemish, German, Spanish, French, English, and Irish glass making. Part two is devoted to American glass and includes a list of American glass factories before 1850." Pittsburgh

With two hundred and sixty-five illustrations

Northend, Mary Harrod

American glass. 1926 Dodd o.p. 1933 748

1 Glass 26-22377

"Attractively illustrated, popular survey of Wistar, Stiegel and Sandwich glass and other early American glass making, with chapters on bottles, windows, table glass, cup plates, lamps, candlesticks, etc." N.Y. libraries

"A book which will serve rather to interest the beginner than to inform the collector deeply versed in his subject." Cleveland

Whall, C. W.

Stained glass work. (Artistic crafts ser. of technical handbooks) 1905 Pitman $3; 10s 6d 748

1 Glass painting and staining 5-32377

"Combines practical instruction with chapters on the general principles of color, light, architectural fitness, and the place of imagination and allegory. Diagrams, illustrations and collotype reproductions of typical windows." Pittsburgh

749 ARTISTIC FURNITURE

Books on antiques are classed in 749 in this catalog. Many libraries use this number while others prefer 700

Below are noted three valuable books for reference purposes, each covering an extensive field

Foley, Edwin. Book of decorative furniture. 2v 1911-12 Nelson 42s Very fine illustrations

Hunter, G. L. Decorative furniture. 1923 Batsford £5, 5s

Shapland, H. P. Practical decoration of furniture. 3v 1926-27 Benn ea 12s 6d Covers veneering, inlay, turned work, applied metal work, covering with textiles and lacquer, etc.

G. M. A. Richter's "Ancient furniture; a history of Greek, Etruscan and Roman furniture" (1926 Oxford $27.50; 105s) is comprehensive and too expensive for small libraries but it is noted for the benefit of larger libraries, since there is no substitute for it

Wallace Nutting's "Furniture treasury" (1928-33 Old America co. $30) is a large three volume work containing photographic illustrations, with brief descriptions, of six thousand examples of furniture and utensils, mostly of American origin, with some foreign examples. Another desirable book is "Masterpieces of furniture design" by Mrs V. C. Salomonsky (1931 Periodical pub. $20) a collection of measured drawings, accompanied by photographs and explanatory text, of 101 pieces of furniture selected from those exhibited in museums. Twenty-five of the plates in this book were first published as "An exemplar of antique furniture design" by Edgar Salomonsky and Mrs V. C. Salomonsky (1923 Periodical pub.) now unfortunately practically out of print, 1933. The "Exemplar" if obtainable will probably answer the needs of the small library

Bibliography

The Grand Rapids Public library which specializes in books on furniture has published a "List of books on furniture with descriptive notes" (1927 The library $1.50) which constitutes a valuable bibliography. Another useful bibliography is "Furniture; a list of books in the Detroit public library, Fine arts department" (1929 The library pa 5c)

Binstead, Herbert Ernest

Furniture styles. new and rev ed 1929 Pitman $3; 10s 6d 749

1 Furniture 30-26396

"This new and slightly revised edition contains a chapter on modern styles in furniture. The last chapter contains a chronology of styles." Cleveland

"From the Elizabethan to the modern style. Included are biographical accounts of leading designers." Boston

Bode, Wilhelm

Italian renaissance furniture; tr. by M. E. Herrick. 1921 Helburn $4; Batsford 25s 749

1 Furniture, Italian 21-21374

An authoritative book containing 47 pages of text and many good plates. The original work was first published in 1902

Bowles, Mrs Ella (Shannon)

About antiques. 1929 Lippincott $3.50; 15s 749

1 Collectors and collecting 29-27652

"A book on colonial antiques which includes Sandwich glass, pewter, chests, clocks, tapestries, chairs, dolls, etc., with digressions into occasional descriptions of early New England life." Pratt quarterly

Britten, Frederick James

Old clocks and watches & their makers. 6th ed enl 1933 Spon $12; 32s 749

1 Clocks and watches 2 Clock and watch makers [26-26940]

"Being an historical and descriptive account of the different styles of clocks and watches of the past, in England and abroad, to which is added a list of nearly twelve thousand makers; with 934 illustrations, mostly from photographs." Subtitle

Britten, Frederick J.—Continued

The first edition, 1899, was recast from the author's earlier work: "Former clock and watch-makers and their work" published 1894. Several times revised and new material added. The present edition is larger than the 5th ed, 1927, by 69 pages and 75 illustrations

Burgess, Frederick William

Antique furniture. 1915 Putnam $5; Routledge 7s 6d 749

1 Furniture 15-22727

"A handy book of reference for the possessor of one piece of antique furniture no less than for the owner of many. The writer points out briefly the styles that have predominated in different periods; then he considers in detail the furniture of the different periods in this country's history, and traces the evolution of household furniture from remote ages, together with the influences which have governed its progress. The volume is handsomely illustrated." Book rev. digest

"The old furniture book" by Mrs N. Hudson Moore (1903 Stokes $5) is an older book on the subject which treats of Dutch, English, French and colonial furniture. Many illustrations

Candee, Helen Churchill

Decorative styles and periods in the home. 1906 Stokes $5 749

1 Furniture 2 House decoration 6-43919

A good historical survey of furniture from early days to the present time, intended for the general reader. Well illustrated

Carrick, Alice Van Leer

Collector's luck. 1919 Little $3 749

1 Collectors and collecting 19-18378

"Contagiously enthusiatic papers, charmingly illustrated, on such appealing topics as old stenciled furniture, pressed glassware, woven coverlets, lustre pitchers, candlesticks, lamps, silhouettes, valentines, counter-panes and dolls." N.Y. state lib.

Next-to-nothing house. 1922 Little $3 749

1 House decoration 2 Furniture 22-19885

"The story of how the author furnished her old New England house, picking up choice pieces here and there about the country. Pictures and text are alike fascinating to all who love old furniture. Partly reprinted from 'House beautiful.'" Wis. bul

Century furniture company, Grand Rapids

* Furniture as interpreted by the Century furniture company. 1926 The company $1 749

1 Furniture 26-14875

A well illustrated handbook which gives a concise statement of periods and styles of furniture. Frequently reprinted with slight changes in text and illustrations. Latest printing 1931

Cescinsky, Herbert, and Hunter, George Leland

English and American furniture. 1929 Dean-Hicks $7.50 749

1 Furniture, English 2 Furniture, American 29-3668

Publisher reports almost out of print, 1933

"A pictorial handbook of furniture made in Great Britain and in the American colonies, some in the sixteenth century but principally in the seventeenth, eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries." Subtitle

Herbert Cescinsky is one of the foremost living authorities on old furniture, and the library specializing in this subject will do well to obtain any of his books. He has done several books on old English furniture and one on Chinese furniture. They have been omitted from this list as too expensive for the small or medium sized library

Clifford, Chandler Robbins

The junk snupper; the adventures of an antique collector. 1927 Macmillan $4 749

1 Collectors and collecting 27-6540

"An informal and entertaining discussion of the art of finding quaint and valuable things in junk heaps and the ability to get them cheap, which is what Mrs Theodore Roosevelt, senior, calls 'snupping.' There are numerous illustrations of remarkable finds." Cleveland

* Period furnishings. 4th ed 1927 Clifford & Lawton $10 749

1 House decoration 2 Furniture 3 Decoration and ornament 27-22644

To the 4th edition have been added a "Chronology of wall and ceiling treatments," and also of rugs, together with an index

"An encyclopedia of historic furniture, decorations, and furnishings, from the Egyptain period to the present time. Valuable in showing the evolution of the various styles influenced by historic, social, industrial, and political events. Well illustrated." M. E. Clark's Art in home economics

Cornelius, Charles Over

‡ Early American furniture. (Century lib. of American antiques) 1926 Appleton-Century $4; 16s 749

1 Furniture, American 26-20048

"The associate curator of American art in the Metropolitan museum of art [1933] traces the changes, the transitions, the development in American furniture design as influenced by cultural growth, from the earliest settlements on into the nineteenth century. The characteristics of early craftsmen are portrayed not only in the readable text but in the many excellent illustrations." N.Y. libraries

A brief list of books and articles for the study of American furniture: p262-68

Mr Cornelius is the author also of the beautiful volume, "Furniture masterpieces of Duncan Phyfe" (1922 Doubleday, Doran $4) a valuable book on the subject

Dyer, Walter Alden

Handbook of furniture styles. 1918 Appleton-Century $2; 7s 6d 749

1 Furniture 18-18043

"Intended primarily for ready reference, this small book takes up the furniture of the main historic periods, including a chapter on American styles. Has many illustrations, chronological tables, a bibliography and an index. Can be used to good advantage where the library is unable to afford the more expensive books. Much of the material first appeared in the 'Art world.'" Wis. bul.

J. F. Gayler's "Furniture, yesterday and today" (1926 Currier & Harford o.p. 1933) is another good little manual on the principal periods of furniture. Illustrated

Eberlein, Harold Donaldson, and McClure, Abbot

* Practical book of period furniture. 1914 Lippincott $8.50; 42s 749

1 Furniture 15-514

An excellent book, "workmanlike and clear. Each period is carefully distinguished and can be studied separately. Identification is made easy by an illustrated chronological key to which there are frequent references. Treats of furniture of the English, American colonial, post-colonial and principal French periods with chapters devoted to important designers. Diagrams, illustrations, glossary, bibliography, index." N.Y. state lib.

Eberlein, Harold Donaldson, and Ramsdell, Roger Wearne

Practical book of Italian, Spanish and Portuguese furniture. 1927 Lippincott $10; 42s 749

1 Furniture, Italian 2 Furniture, Spanish 3 Furniture, Portuguese 27-25314

"This book deals with the furniture of Italy, Spain and Portugal, from the Renaissance to the early years of the nineteenth century. It gives in concise, analytical and readily accessible form the historical and critical information necessary to a knowledge of the subject, and it is planned to serve as an handbook for convenient reference over the period covered. . . The volume is illustrated with the best and most characteristic examples from the several periods treated." Foreword

Intended for the general reader, the decorator and the architect

Valuable books for libraries needing more material on Italian and Spanish furniture and decoration are H. D. Eberlein's "Interiors, fireplaces and furniture of the Italian renaissance" (2d ed 1927 Architectural bk. $7.50) and "Spanish interiors, furniture and details from the 14th to the 17th century" (1926 Architectural bk. $18)

Lockwood, Luke Vincent
Colonial furniture in America. 3rd ed 2v 1926 Scribner $30; Batsford 120s 749

1 Furniture, American 26-22375

While expensive, this fine book is very desirable if a library can afford to buy it or can secure it as a gift. Supplementary chapters and 136 plates of new subjects have been added to this edition, which now includes over a thousand illustrations of representative pieces

"The author aims to provide a reliable handbook showing the natural development of the different styles, and enabling one to see at a glance to what style and period any piece belongs. Information has been derived from inventories and contemporary records, old newspapers, books on manners and customs, cabinetmakers' books of design, and the study of much furniture, both colonial and foreign. Finely illustrated." Pittsburgh

R. H. Kettell's "Pine furniture of early New England" (1929 Doubleday, Doran $35) is another beautifully illustrated work which will interest larger libraries

Rogers, John Charles

Furniture & furnishing. (Little craft bks.) 1932 Oxford $2.25; 6s 749

1 Furniture 2 House decoration 33-572

"Mr. Rogers has limited himself to the aspect of furniture design as the outcome of a union of architecture and craftsmanship. His very readable pages touch lightly upon the history of furniture, and he is at pains to show the modernity of our ancestors. The latter part of his book is concerned with the case for modern furniture." Times (London) lit. sup.

Saglio, André

French furniture. (Batsford's collector's lib.) 1913 Scribner $4.50; Batsford 8s 6d 749

1 Furniture, French [W7-141]

A good elementary book which gives the history from the earliest period through the Empire style. Illustrated. The 1913 edition is a reissue of the 1907 edition published by Newnes. Useful books of reference: p167-72

Another attractive book dealing with interior decorating and the furniture of the French houses from the time of Louis XIII to the Restoration is "Old French furniture and its surroundings, 1610-1815" by Elisa Maillard (1925 Scribner o.p. 1933)

Schmitz, Hermann

(ed.) Encyclopaedia of furniture. 1926 McBride $15; Benn 42s 749

1 Furniture [26-21483]

"An outline history of furniture design in Egypt, Assyria, Persia, Greece, Rome, Italy, France, the Netherlands, Germany, England, Scandinavia, Spain, Russia, and in the Near and Far East up to the middle of the nineteenth century, with 659 illustrations arranged on 320 plates." Subtitle

Not an encyclopedia in the usual sense of the word but a good brief narrative of the whole history of furniture. The attractive illustrations, which take up the larger part of the book, are preceded by 63 pages of text

Schmitz, Hermann—Continued

"Illustrated history of furniture, from the earliest to the present time, containing four hundred illustrations of representative examples of the different periods" by Frederick Litchfield (7th ed 1922 Truslove & Hanson 36s) is a standard work covering the same field as Schmitz. Attractive. The illustrations are in the text in place of being collected at the end as in Schmitz

Singleton, Esther

Collecting of antiques. 1926 Macmillan $7.50; 37s 6d 749

1 Collectors and collecting 2 Art objects 26-19235

"Miss Singleton's book covers so wide a field of collecting—china, silver, glass, furniture, clocks, textiles, metal-work—that only a small space can be given to each. Her taste as a connoisseur dominates her enthusiasm as a collector, and frank advice is given as to what is and is not worth collecting. 'The principle of selection regarding the articles and objects discussed in the text and represented in the illustrations has been that of beauty—beauty of color, beauty of form, and beauty of decoration." Book rev. digest

"The chapter on furniture, one of the most useful in the book, reveals Miss Singleton at her best. . .One does not always agree with her dicta. . .but as a rule her judgments are sound, and sanctioned by the best authorities." Sat. rev. of lit.

Furniture of our forefathers. 8 pts in 1v 1913 Doubleday, Page o.p. 1933 749

A scholarly work intended for those who know something about art. Illustrated with 106 reproductions of paintings. In the second edition considerable new material has been added

Barnes, Albert C.—Continued

"The general account of esthetic principles with which the book opens. . .is followed by a specific statement of these principles in the field of plastic art. The last two-thirds of the book applies these principles to the more important schools in painting, past and present. . . In conclusion, there is an analysis of more than a hundred paintings." Pittsburgh

Barstow, Charles Lester

Famous pictures. new and rev ed 1930 Appleton-Century $2; 8s 6d 750

1 Paintings 30-30212

First edition 1912. A brief chapter on modern art has been added. Libraries that have the old edition will not need to replace

"Intended for older children. . .The pictures are grouped according to the theme presented (portraits, child life, landscapes, etc.) and the examples represent the different schools. The 78 half-tone illustrations are very poorly reproduced and the book is unattractive in appearance. Chronologic tables and a glossary of technical terms. Will have more value for teachers than children." Bkl.

Another popular book, written for children, which contains short biographical sketches with illustrations, is "Pictures that every child should know" by Mrs M. S. H. Bacon (Grosset $1)

Booth, Mary Josephine

Bulley, Margaret H.

Simple guide to pictures and painting. (Simple guide ser.) 1927 Dutton $3; Harrap 5s 750

1 Painting 2 Art criticism [28-14486]

Divided into two parts: pt. 1 General, dealing with the theoretical aspect of painting; pt. 2 Particular, dealing with the historical. The author says that there are passages in the first part of the book that are not simple. Contains plates in color as well as in black and white

"Comprises not only a general introduction to the theory of art and to the art of looking at pictures, but a general outline of painting in Europe from Cimabue to Picasso. . .She writes clearly and interestingly, explains and criticizes with intelligence and lucidity, and does not trouble the head of her reader with a greater number of names and dates than are necessary for following her as she traces the thread of great painting through different schools and in different countries. . . Miss Bulley's writing is founded on a scholarly knowledge of her subject, moreover she has a discriminating enthusiasm, and it is this that makes her book not only informative but readable." Nation and Athenaeum

"Mr Neale of the State normal school at Stevens Point [1933] has prepared this manual for the use of teachers. Each picture is accompanied by an informal discussion, questions and suggestions for language lessons. Teachers with no art training will find it very helpful and libraries will want to add it to their school collections." Chicago

Questions for the pupils and suggestions for the teacher at ends of chapters

Oliver, Maude I. G.

First steps in the enjoyment of pictures. 1920 Holt $1.75 750

1 Painting 2 Art 20-4272

"A book designed for boys and girls which may also be helpful to other beginners in picture study. The fifty-five illustrations show examples from American museums and art galleries, and are limited to the work of American painters. One aim of the book is 'to furnish a background for the reading of descriptive books on art.' Consequently the author has taken pains to introduce all the accepted art terms and phrases and to make their meaning clear." Book rev. digest

Contents: Media; Classification; Color; Draughtsmanship; Values; Perspective; Composition; Technique; Character; Conclusion—A glimpse into fairyland

Ruskin, John

Hale, Gardner
Fresco painting. 1933 Rudge $2.50 751
1 Mural painting and decoration 33-32351

"The technique of fresco is here explained in practical detail—the wall, the plaster, colors and grinding, the cartoon, brushes and tools, painting, retouching, use of gold, and methods of removing frescoes for transportation. There is a chapter on the history of fresco, and on its future prospects in the United States as a medium for direct wall decoration. . . There are 11 illustrations, including three of Mr. Hale's designs and one by José Clemente Orozco, Mexican fresco painter, who wrote the book's preface." Christian science monitor

The author "has given the essentials of what has wrongly been called a lost art and has translated into simple, practical language the teachings of the famous Cennino Cennini. . . But he explains that art from the point of view of a practising artist, instead of from the point of view of an antiquarian." Sat. rev. of lit.

First edition 1925. Now rewritten, enlarged by 70 pages, and 16 new illustrations

"The authors tell how to obtain certain results in water color painting. The various methods and experiments described in the text are illustrated in color plates and there are other illustrations from paintings by two artist-authors." Book rev. digest

"Studies in water colour" by Richmond (1933 Pitman $7.50; 21s) supplements the above

Ross, Denman Waldo

On drawing and painting. 1912 Houghton $4 751

1 Design 2 Painting 12-25085

Contents: Materials and first exercises; Setpalettes; Drawing and painting; On design; On pure and applied design; On representation; Modes of representation; Representation in forms of design

The author's "Painter's palette" (1919 Houghton $2) is a small supplementary volume

Solomon, Solomon Joseph

* Practice of oil painting and of drawing as associated with it. (New art lib.) 1910 Lippincott $6; Seeley 10s 6d 751

1 Painting 2 Drawing W10-120

Primarily intended for the use of art students but will also be helpful to art teachers. Many excellent illustrations

"First there is a course of fifteen lessons or chapters, in which the student is instructed in the fundamental principles of pictorial representation, the first six dealing with the delineation of the figure and light and shade, while the rest are mainly concerned with the technique of painting. The remainder of the book is devoted to discussing the methods and characteristics of the master-painters of all the great European schools—Italian, Flemish, Dutch, Spanish, French, and English; the value of copying, the method of analysing a pictorial composition, winding up with some timely observations on the study of aesthetics." International studio

752 Color

Bernstein, Martha

Colour in art and daily life; tr. by R. G. Watkin. 1928 McBride $2.50; Methuen 6s 752

1 Color 28-12624

"After a preliminary survey of the general properties of color and the scientific theories regarding the nature of light and color, Professor Bernstein takes up each of the primary colors in turn, and concludes with considerations of color in relation to line, surface and space. How colors have been used by different peoples and different artists, to what uses and materials they are best suited, how they may be combined—these are some of the aspects which the author treats. The artist and student may find helpful and shrewd hints as to the application of color; the amateur will acquire a refreshing sense of the importance of color in everything which the eye sees—in the stuff of our clothing and house decorations no less than in the art of museums." Bookman

Chase, Joseph Cummings

An artist talks about color. 1930 Wiley $1.50; Chapman 7s 6d 752

1 Color 2 Colors 3 Pigments 4 Painting —Technique 30-1291

Bailey, Albert Edward

* Gospel in art. [new ed] 1931 Pilgrim press $4 755

1 Christian art and symbolism 2 Jesus Christ —Art 31-31197

First edition 1916, A few corrections and changes have been made, especially in the addresses of publishers of pictures, and seven new plates printed on both sides have been added

"A study of the great pictures portraying the life of Christ 'to discover their spiritual values.' About 1227 pictures are analyzed and when possible their reproductions are given. Brief biographies of the artists are to be found at the end. A list of cheap reproductions of the pictures, published by eleven picture firms, is given, arranged in biographical sequence. Specially useful for ministers, Sunday-school teachers and study clubs." Wis. bul.

Bles, Arthur de

How to distinguish the saints in art by their costumes, symbols, and attributes. 1925 Art culture publications $7.50 755

1 Christian art and symbolism 2 Saints—Art 25-21075

"A useful reference work including mention of almost one thousand pictures by more than two hundred of the old masters, and containing numerous classified lists, also full index. Well illustrated." Chicago

Goldsmith, Elizabeth Edwards

Ancient pagan symbols. 1929 Putnam $3; 12s 6d 755

1 Symbolism 2 Mythology 3 Art and mythology 29-7583

"The brief and compact account given by Miss Goldsmith of the numerous symbols with which art, life and religion have made us familiar is extremely valuable." Boston Transcript

"This well-illustrated little book should prove useful, though its information is not always as austere and scientific as is desirable in a work of reference. The author is inclined to be lyrical in expression and emotional in

thought. . . . Allowing however, for this fault, the book has many merits. The author is widely read, and in a somewhat desultory way has covered a wide field." New statesman

Sacred symbols in art. 2d ed rev and enl 1912 Putnam $3; 12s 6d 755

1 Christian art and symbolism 11-10321

A small well illustrated handbook which gives useful information in a compact form. It was reprinted in 1928 after being out of print for some time

La Farge, John

1 Jesus Christ—Art 13-24770

New and cheaper edition of a work first published 1913. There are 80 full page plates

"A review following the narrative in the four Gospels and illustrated with eighty reproductions from the great masters. The author manifests his usual sound judgment as an art critic and the reverent, appreciative spirit in which he approaches his subject makes the book helpful from a religious point of view." Cleveland

F. W. Farrar's "Life of Christ as represented in art" (Macmillan $2.50) which first appeared in 1894, deals principally with painting and is illustrated from the Italian masters

757 PORTRAIT PAINTING

Browne, Margaret Fitzhugh
Portrait painting. 1933 Pitman $4 757

1 Portrait painting 33-23231

A practical book by a successful modern portrait painter. Planning the portrait, Lighting, Painting children, are some of the chapter headings. Illustrated with examples of portraiture by well known artists, the frontispiece in color

"How to paint portraits" by Clifford Hall (1932 Lane 6s) is a good handbook on methods and, on the technical side, covers the subject more fully than does the book by Browne. The very useful book "Portrait painting: its nature and function" by H. E. A. Furst (1927 Lane) unfortunately out of print, 1933, is a history of portrait painting from pre-Christian to modern times

Lásló de Lombos, Philip Alexius

1 Portrait painting

A successful portrait painter tells how to paint a portrait. 32 photographs of method, 4 color plates and many other illustrations

Mann, Harrington
Technique of portrait painting. (New art lib.) 1933 Lippincott $6; Seelcy 21s 757

1 Portrait painting 34-27073

"A complete and detailed guide to the handling, composition and lighting of portraits in oils, with a comprehensive survey of the methods of portrait painters of to-day and of the past." Subtitle

"Advice on technique and style for amateur portrait painters and personal anecdotes from the English author's own years of experience in painting. Fifty full-page portrait plates, each with a short interpretive note. Examples of portraiture range from Bellini to Orpen." Bkl.

Williamson, George Charles, and Buckman, Percy
Art of the miniature painter. (Universal art ser.) 1926 Chapman 21s 757

1 Miniature painting 26-17785

Formerly carried also by Scribner

"A very excellent account of miniature painting, from the days of the old masters to modern times, embodying an exposition of the subject both from the craftsman's and the chemist's point of view, and including work with every medium and material." Providence

"The book gives an historical and technical survey of the art, with notes on old pigments, and hints on practice. The illustrations from Holbein to the present day include some superb examples and show how the art has suffered from the imitation of its own prettinesses, and from relying over much on its special attractions and the taste of its patrons rather than on the qualities of observation, draughtsmanship and style, common to all fine portraiture." Spectator

Cyril Davenport's "Miniatures, ancient and modern" (1907 Methuen o.p. 1933) is a reliable small work which gives a short account of the history and art of miniature painting

758 LANDSCAPE PAINTING. STILL LIFE

Bye, Arthur Edwin
Pots and pans; or, Studies in still-life painting. 1921 Princeton univ. press $5; Oxford 27s 6d 758

1 Still life painting 22-922

"Mr Bye traces the origins of still-life painting from even before its greater elaboration by the Dutch, who, he recognizes, were its rightful originators. The work is on the whole remarkably well conceived and carried out." Boston Transcript

A valuable book with many fine illustrations

Carlson, John Fabian
Elementary principles of landscape painting. (National art ser.) The author $4 758

1 Landscape painting 29-26566

A 1934 reprint of a book published in 1928 by the National publishing society

"The earnest endeavor of this book has been to present to the student of landscape-painting (as well as to the lover of pictures) a few of the logical and therefore teachable aids that must needs underlie even the most 'amateurish' approach toward achievement in this art, or toward an appreciation of the technical difficulties involved in its creation . . . It is not a book on art. It is a primer of painting." Foreword

F. J. Glass's "Composition & expression in landscape painting" (1930 Lippincott $6; Seeley 15s) is also a practical and well-illustrated treatise on the principles and methods of landscape painting

Cole, Rex Vicat
Artistic anatomy of trees, their structure & treatment in painting. (New art lib.) 1915 Lippincott $6; Seeley 15s 758

1 Plants in art A15-2469

"It is beautifully illustrated from the paintings of the masters and from drawings by Mr Cole. There is a bibliography of several pages and indexes to illustrations and texts." Book rev. digest

"The author begins with trees as painted by the masters from Bellini to Alfred East and Arthur Rackham. He then discusses and illustrates to perfection the appearance of trees in nature—as seen against the sky, as balanced, as affected by environment, prevailing wind, accident, old age. Every detail—branch, twig, bud, leaf, flower, fruit—is treated from the point of view of the lover of trees who sees with the informal eye of a trained artist." School arts magazine

East, Sir Alfred

Art of landscape painting in oil colour. 1907 Lippincott $6; Cassell 12s 6d 758

1 Landscape painting 8-15872

Intended for the student who has at least a practical knowledge of the rudiments of drawing. It deals with such subjects as equipment, composition, color, trees, skies, grass, distance, etc. It is illustrated with a large number of reproductions of pictures by the author in color and in black and white

Furst, Herbert Ernest Augustus

Art of still-life painting. (Universal art ser.) 1927 Scribner $8; Chapman 21s 758

1 Still life painting 28-12207

"A good historical and technical survey of still life painting. Owing to the small amount of literature in connection with that particular kind of painting, this book is answering a real need." Pratt quarterly

About one-third of the volume consists of reproductions in black and white, arranged chronologically, and each accompanied by a biographical and critical note

"Flower & still life painting" edited by Geoffrey Holme with an introduction by T. W. Earp (1928 Studio $4.50; 10s 6d) is a collection of fifty-two plates, some beautifully colored, preceded by a discussion of still life painting

Garside, Oswald

Landscape painting in water colour. (Art manual) 1929 Winsor 3s 6d 758

1 Landscape painting

One of a well illustrated series of more than 60 little art manuals each written by an authority

Terrick Williams's "Landscape painting in oil colour" (1929 Winsor pa 3s 6d) is an equally good little book in the same series

Harrison, Birge

Landscape painting. 1909 Scribner $2.50 758

1 Landscape painting 9-29386

Contents: Landscape art in general; Color; Vibration; Refraction; Values; Drawing; Composition; Quality; Pigments; On framing pictures; On schools; Arts and crafts; Mural painting; On vision; Importance of fearlessness in painting; Sub-conscious servant; Temperament; Character; What is a good picture? True impressionism; Future of American art

Contains 24 reproductions of representative pictures. Various chapters are reprints of magazine articles

Johnson, Mrs Esther (George)

Technique of flower painting in oil, water-colour and pastel. 1931 Pitman $7.50; 25s 758

1 Flower painting 32-887

"Reproductions of 54 of the author's paintings, including many flowers not often found in color and detail. Exact processes of painting each study are explained, following an introduction on general methods." Pittsburgh

Cecilia Elwes's "Flower painting in water-colour" (1932 Pitman $2.25; 7s 6d) is a good book for readers who wish something on this particular medium

Lutz, Edwin George

* Practical landscape painting in oils. 1930 Scribner $2; 7s 6d 758

1 Landscape painting 30-11365

"Simply written and of practical value to the beginner, this little book presents the fundamentals of painting in oils. It treats of materials and equipment, the use of paints and of brush technique. The final chapters are devoted to the subject of outdoor sketching." Providence

Richmond, Leonard

* Art of landscape painting. 1927 Pitman $7.50; 25s 758

1 Landscape painting 28-26352

Intended to be a guide for students who are desirous of taking up landscape painting. Written by a teacher and experienced painter. Contains 35 color plates and 4 pencil sketches

John Littlejohns's "Landscape sketching and composition" (1933 Pitman $4.50; 16s) is another recommended book which in addition to treating sketching and composition has a preliminary chapter on pastel

Stokes, Adrian

* Landscape painting. (New art lib.) 1925 Lippincott $6; Seeley 15s 758

1 Landscape painting [25-11050]

"A slight history is given of landscape painting, followed by an explanation of the workman's tools, and the value and nature of various colours, with instructions to beginners as to how to employ them. Critical notes on the reproductions of masters are of value." Chicago

"His manner is unpretentious and clear. For reference purposes it is well arranged and well indexed." Saturday rev.

Contains 97 plates and diagrams

A work which is historical rather than technical is "Landscape painting, from Giotto to the present day," by C. L. Hind (Universal art ser. 2v 1923 Scribner ea $8.50; Chapman ea 25s). It is intended for average men and women and is well illustrated

759 SCHOOLS OF PAINTING

"History of painting from the fourth to the early nineteenth century" by Richard Muther (2v 1907 Putnam $10) is a scholarly work long recognized as a standard. Translated from the German by George Kriehn

A very reliable handbook, unfortunately out of print, 1933, is E. R. O. van Mach's "Outlines of the history of painting from 1200-1900 A.D." (1906 Ginn)

Abbot, Edith R.

* Great painters in relation to the European tradition. 1927 Harcourt $5 759

1 Painting—Hist. 2 Painters 27-27514

"Author . . . is [1933] instructor of the history of painting at the Metropolitan museum, New York. Her intention has been, while throwing emphasis on the great periods, 'to illustrate the continuity of what may be called the European tradition in painting'. . .In the periods described—the Renaissance, great seventeenth century painting, eighteenth century portraiture and landscape work in England, and the modern movements, chiefly in France—a number of chapters are given to individual geniuses, others to groups or schools." Boston

"The emphasis is always on the painting, biographical details being relegated to an appendix. For the reader who knows anything of pictures, is a delightful book." Wis. bul.

Bell, Clive

Landmarks in nineteenth-century painting. 1927 Harcourt $3.50; Chatto 5s 759

1 Painting—Hist. [27-27683]

"In his tour of nineteenth-century painting, largely French, Clive Bell is concerned with artists 'in relation to other artists, in relation to movements, in relation to their age,' rather than as authors of particular works of art. His book deals with Ingres, David, Constable, Géricault, Delacroix, Millet, Corot, Guys, Turner, the Pre-Raphaelites, Daumier, Manet, Monet, Seurat and Divisionism and the end of Impressionism. [Illustrated]." Book rev. digest

Bell, Clive—Continued

"It is rather disappointing that Mr Bell stops short of Cézanne, whom he regards as the point of departure of Post-Impressionism and the new century; but this book, short as it is, will give anyone who is not a learned amateur of painting furiously, and perhaps aggressively, to think." Nation and Athenaeum

Since Cézanne. 1922 Harcourt $2.50; Chatto 7s 759

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Impressionism (Art)—1910- 22-13542

"Criticisms of the post-Impressionist school of painters which descends from Cézanne and in which his influence is so clearly traceable. . . He traces Cézanne's influence in the work of Rousseau, Renoir, Matisse and Picasso, Bonnard, Marquet, Friesz, and Derain, chapters on individual artists alternating with chapters on aesthetics, art criticism, negro sculpture and 'jazz.'" Book rev. digest

"Mr Clive Bell enjoys pictures, which is rare, and enjoys writing about them, which perhaps is not so rare. But the result of this double enjoyment is that we can enjoy what he writes." Times (London) lit. sup.

Another interesting analysis of the art of this period is A. J. Eddy's "Cubists and post-impressionism" (new and rev ed 1919 McClurg o.p. 1933). Profusely illustrated

Chubb, Edwin Watts

Sketches of great painters. 1915 Appleton o.p. 1933 759

1 Painters 2 Paintings 15-9328

Contents: Raphael; Millet; Leonardo da Vinci; Rembrandt; Whistler; Turner; Titian; Rubens; Corot; Michelangelo; Reynolds; Murillo; Velasquez; Rosa Bonheur; Van Dyck

"Readable and appreciative sketches of fifteen master painters from Raphael to Whistler, abounding in anecdotes, quotations and pleasant gossip. Written especially for the uninitiated general reader." A. L. A. bkl.

Cortissoz, Royal

Painter's craft. 1930 Scribner $3.50 759

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Painters 3 Sculptors 4 Architects, American 30-8567

"A series of essays dealing with painting, sculpture and architecture. The first makes the painter's craft a thing of the spirit as well as of craftsmanship. Among the essays that follow are discussions of Velasquez, Goya, Botticelli, Rossetti, Houdon, George Bellows, Saint Gaudens, a group of American architects. The author writes primarily as an art critic, but he delights his reader also with anecdotes of the artists and facts concerning methods of work and traits of character." Wis. bul.

Personalities in art. 1925 Scribner $3.50 759

1 Art—Addresses, essays, lectures 2 Artists 25-23375

"Discursive, entertaining sketches, ranging from religious painting to American industrial art, but which, for the most part, are concerned with the character and essential characteristics of such artists as Degas, Monet, Cézanne, Van Gogh, Redon, J. Alden Weir, Robert Blum and Fortuny. Reproductions of drawings and paintings." N.Y. state lib.

Craven, Thomas

* Men of art. 1931 Simon & Schuster $3.75 759

1 Painting—Hist. 2 Painters 31-26693

"The author has built his story around the outstanding figures who symbolize the turning points in the history of art from Giotto, Leonardo da Vinci, Michaelangelo, Rembrandt down to the contemporary modernists, symbolists and impressionists, and presents them as vital personalities, functioning against the background of their times." Ontario library review

Illustrated with full-page black-and-white reproductions of famous paintings

Davidson, Morris

Understanding modern art. 1931 Coward-McCann $4 759

1 Painting—Hist. 2 Impressionism (Art) 3 Impressionism (Art)—1910- 4 Art criticism 31-29177

Votes for including this book were conflicting but it received several votes for first purchase.

"An introduction by means of comparison with ideals and modes of expression of former periods. For the intelligent reader who finds modern art interesting but unpleasant." Pittsburgh

Illustrated with 50 reproductions of modern paintings

Gerwig, Henrietta

Fifty famous painters. 1926 Crowell $3.50 759

1 Painters 26-17147

"Covers the art of seven countries, including America and ranges in time from Giotto di Bondone of the 13th century to John S. Sargent. The sketches are very brief but they present interesting biographical details and with its 12 illustrations it makes a good small library purchase." Wis. bul.

A brief reading list: p395-406

Ludwig, Emil

Three Titans. 1930 Putnam $3.50; 15s 759

1 Michelangelo Buonarroti 2 Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn 3 Beethoven, Ludwig van 30-25437

"Michael Angelo, Rembrandt, and Beethoven are the three Titans, unrelated except in the kinship which the biographer finds in their art and their destinies. The writing is effective; if based on no profound scholarship or research, it at least makes of the artists vivid, living men, and for many readers it may be an inducement to further reading or to study of their work. Illustrated with self-portraits by Michael Angelo and Rembrandt." Bkl.

Marriott, Charles

* Modern movements in painting. (Universal art ser.) 1920 Chapman 21s 759

"The book as a whole is an interesting introduction to the modern movements, and perhaps it will be all the more valuable to the uninstructed mind on account of the reservations suggested by the author." Athenaeum

Well illustrated

Mather, Frank Jewett

Modern painting; a study of tendencies. 1927 Holt $6.50, students' ed $5 759

1 Painting—Hist. 27-6129

A survey of modern painting from the beginning of the 19th century. Rewritten from the Lowell lectures in 1916. Many illustrations

"This work is appreciative and critical, dealing with aesthetic ideas and ideals, rather than with biography. It implies some artistic knowledge on the part of the reader, although a brief historical outline is supplied." Providence

Orpen, Sir William

(ed.) Outline of art. 2v 1923-24 Putnam ea $5, set $9 759

1 Art 2 Painting—History 23-13538

Covers the history of painting from the early Florentines, Giotto and Angelico, to the art of today. Each volume contains over 300 illustrations, many of which are in color

"For the general reader. Reproduces many great pictures and tells enough about the painters for the reader to understand their special characteristics and the qualities that make the pictures beautiful and inspiring." St Louis

Also available in a cheaper edition (2v in 1 $5). The type has been reset, it is printed on smaller paper, illustrations have been much reduced in size, and none are in color

Rothenstein, John Knewstub Maurice

Nineteenth-century painting. 1932 Lane 7s 6d 759

1 Painting—Hist. 2 Impressionism (Art) 32-21850

"A study of the struggle between the classic and romantic traditions during the last century and of the eventual rise of modern painting. Separate chapters are devoted to the more famous exponents of each school, such as David, Ingres, Delacroix, Daumier, Millet." Providence

Rutter, Frank Vane Phipson

Evolution in modern art, a study of modern painting 1870-1925. 1926 Dial press $2.50; Harrap 7s 6d 759

1 Impressionism (Art) 2 Impressionism (Art)—1910- [26-13361]

Contents: Tradition and reaction; Legacy of impressionism; Pillars of post-impressionism: Cézanne, Van Gogh, Gauguin, and Matisse; Origin of cubism; Futurism and expressionism; Post-impressionism in England; Triumph of design; Bibliography

"Mr Rutter begins his book with a series of propositions, of which the gist is that there can be no art without life, no life without growth, and no growth without change; and that there can never be any standardized method of conveying emotion. Beginning with 'the legacy of impressionism,' the case for later movements is stated with much fairness. Mr Rutter emphasizes the interest to the historian of a study of modern art as an index to the psychology of Europe at a momentous period." Spectator

Contains 35 plates

Smith, Solomon Charles Kaines

Outline history of painting in Europe to the end of the nineteenth century. 1930 Morrow $7.50; Medici soc. 21s 759

1 Painting—Hist. 29-4896

There is also a 6 shilling edition, which contains fewer illustrations than the edition entered here

"This book appeared in England in 1928, published by the Medici society. It is now imported by an American firm. The outline covers seven schools—Italian, Netherlands, German, Dutch, Spanish, French, English—and is accompanied by reproductions in monochrome of 125 pictures on 64 plates, grouped together at the end of the book but unfortunately not indexed, and by 24 fine colored plates scattered throughout the text. Attractive format." Bkl.

E. H. Short's "Painter in history" (1929 Allan, P. 30s) is another good book. It covers the history of painting from the early cave paintings of prehistoric times to the present day

Outline of modern painting in Europe and America. 1932 Morrow $7.50; Medici soc. 18s 759

1 Painting 2 Painting, American [32-13250]

"Continuing the story of the 'Outline of the history of painting in Europe to the end of the nineteenth century,' the author has traced the development of painting in the various European schools and in America during the past hundred years. The book is well illustrated with monochrome and colored prints." Providence

Swindler, Mary Hamilton

1 Painting—Hist. [15-19874]

A reprint of a book formerly published with title: "Text-book of the history of painting." The 1927 edition had minor revisions only. General bibliography: pref. p17-19, also a list of books recommended, at the beginning of each chapter

"Covers the range of European art and that which preceded it, from Persian enamel, tile, and Egyptian wall-painting, to the American work of to-day." Pittsburgh

An older book, "Schools of painting" by Mary Innes (1911 Methuen 6s 6d) gives in convenient form a short historical sketch of painting from the beginnings of Christian art

Wright, Willard Huntington

‡ Modern painting; its tendency and meaning. 1915 Dodd $3.50; Lane 18s 759

1 Impressionism (Art) 2 Painters 15-22280

"A serious and comprehensive review of modern painting, extending from early impressionism to cubism, futurism and synchromism. The author, who is an out-and-out champion of the new art, attempts to explain the differences between the 'ancient' and 'modern' methods, and to point out the superiority of the new over the old. There are a number of well chosen reproductions, some of them in color." Cleveland

* History and ideals of American art. 1931 Stanford univ. press $6.50; Oxford 30s 759.1

1 Art, American 2 Painting, American
31-15082

"A history of American painting from Colonial times to the present, with brief biographical notes on the artists and a wealth of well-chosen illustrations. Many present-day artists receive brief mention." Cleveland

"Prof Neuhaus's book [is] substantially printed and especially notable for the character and quality of the illustrations . . . The material, though not always complete, is well arranged for consultation or study . . . The critical value of the work is less than the pedagogical, though the objective and impartial tone of the estimates deserves praise and there are many passages of sensitive appreciation." Springfield Republican

Bibliography: p427-38

Cuthbert Lee's "Early American portrait painters" (1929 Yale Univ. press $10) after a survey of the times and influences, has a chapter on each of the following: Robert Feke, Joseph Badger, Matthew Pratt, John Singleton Copley, Benjamin West, Charles Willson Peale, James Peale, Ralph Earle, Gilbert Stuart, Joseph Wright, John Trumbull, Mather Brown, Robert Fulton and Edward Greene Malbone. His "Contemporary American portrait painters; illustrating and describing the work of fifty living painters" (1929 Norton $5) is a competent guide to modern American portrait painting

Beaux, Cecilia

* Background with figures. 1930 Houghton $5 759.1

1 Artists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
30-32610

"In an autobiography as sensitive and restrained as her portraits, America's most distinguished woman painter tells the story of a full and interesting life—her girlhood in Philadelphia, study there with William Sartain and Thomas Eakins, later student days in Paris,

friendships with Saint Gaudens, Sargent, and the Gilders and the commission which brought her the privilege of painting war portraits of Clemenceau, Cardinal Mercier and Admiral Beatty." Book rev. digest

"This delightful book of reminiscences bears out the belief that painters are apt to write well. Background with Figures contains much critical comment on painters and on methods and ideals. But Miss Beaux's book is chiefly rich as the personal narrative of a woman both sensitive and alert who lived in a world which has disappeared." Outlook

Chase, William Merritt

Roof, K. M. Life and art of William Merritt Chase. 1917 Scribner o.p. 1933 759.1

17-30892

"A former pupil writes this authorized biography of the American artist who died in 1916. A vivid, sympathetic account of Chase as man, artist and teacher, throwing interesting sidelights upon contemporary American and European artists." Cleveland

Homer, Winslow

Downes, W. H. Life and works of Winslow Homer. 1911 Houghton o.p. 1933 759.1

11-27318

"An appreciative life and criticism, bringing out the essentially American and original character of the artist's work. Contains reproductions of his woodcuts, etchings and water colors as well as the better known paintings." St Louis

Inness, George

Inness, George, jr. Life, art and letters of George Inness. 1917 Appleton-Century $5 759.1

17-26890

"Informal and refreshing biography of the famous American landscape artist, by his son, also a well known artist. The critical side is not neglected, but the feature of the book which will ensure for it a wide circle of readers is the wealth of anecdote revealing an eccentric but lovable personality. There are thirty-seven reproductions of paintings." Cleveland

La Farge, John

Cortissoz, Royal. John La Farge; a memoir and a study. 1911 Houghton $5 759.1

11-11181

"Authorized memoir by an intimate friend with whom La Farge collaborated. Presents in felicitous style the subtle and vivid thinker, the fastidious talker, the delightful man of the world, sacrificing criticism of his stained glass work and painting to an affectionate portrayal of his personality." Nation

Fifteen photogravures, including three portraits and reproductions of paintings

Pennell, Joseph

Pennell, Mrs E. R. Life and letters of Joseph Pennell. 2v 1929 Little $10; Benn 42s 759.1

29-25172

"As nearly as possible, the author allows this great illustrator to tell his story in his own words. The letters are as full of character as he was himself. Delightful sketches add interest to the letters." Providence

"Though the material might better have been condensed, these two volumes have considerable charm and not a little substance. The narrative of Pennell's early life is refreshing, and through the rest, especially in Pennell's own letters, there is a sustaining spirit. Well chosen reproductions of Pennell's lithographs and etchings and of portraits of Pennell are sprinkled through the volumes." Springfield Republican

Joseph Pennell's "Adventures of an illustrator" (1925 Little $12.50) is a richly illustrated book with an interesting text

Pyle, Howard

Abbott, C. D. Howard Pyle: a chronicle. 1925 Harper o.p. 1933 759.1

25-25284

"A charming biography, beautifully illustrated, giving a very good record of illustrating in the last fifty years. Will interest art study clubs especially, but is also delightful to read." Wis. bul.

"The author has done well to quote voluminously from Mr. Pyle's letters and to reproduce many of his paintings and drawings. By so doing he has conveyed the peculiar atmosphere and quality of Howard Pyle's personality." Independent

Sargent, John Singer

Charteris, E. E. John Sargent. 1927 Scribner $6; Heinemann 30s 759.1

27-14260

"This story of John Sargent and his eminently successful career is filled with reminiscent anecdotes of the painter and his friends and eked out with quotations from his letters. It is illustrated with many reproductions of his work. A memoir by Vernon Lee, childhood friend of the artist, concludes the biography, to which is added a chronological list of Sargent's paintings with their present whereabouts." Book rev. digest

"Mr. Charteris had a difficult task set him when he undertook to write the biography of a painter to whom scarcely anything ever happened that was not agreeable. In short, he had nothing to write about but painting and the painter; and yet his book is continuously interesting." Spectator

25-23001

"A record of the life and work of one of the greatest portrait painters of our day. Written by one who can be trusted for accuracy in detail and sympathy of understanding. The book is in two parts, the smaller of which concerns itself with Sargent's life, the larger is a descriptive catalogue of his works. There are numerous and excellent illustrations." Amer. mag. of art

Stuart, Gilbert

Whitley, W. T. Gilbert Stuart. 1932 Harvard univ. press $5; Oxford 21s 759.1

32-13585

"Written to publish new information gleaned from original sources, this is a biography of the man rather a critique of his work." Pittsburgh

"The handling of the material is very workmanlike, and a vivid picture of the great portraitist who remained all his life a spoiled boy gradually emerges. It is a valuable contribution to a theme that seemed exhausted. All serious students of Gilbert Stuart and his art must consult it." Sat rev. of lit.

Whistler, James Abbott McNeill

Pennell, Mrs E. R., and Pennell, Joseph. Life of James McNeill Whistler. 6th ed 1920 Lippincott $8.50; Heinemann 25s 759.1

[A12-142]

Originally published in 1908 in 2 volumes and based on material furnished by Whistler and his family. "The present sixth edition has been revised and brought up to date with material, including new illustrations, which has come to hand in the interval." Preface

Whistler, James A. M.—Continued

"Mr. and Mrs. Pennell are as completely in sympathy with the man as with the artist. 'He was,' they frankly concede, 'the most wonderful man we have ever known, and the most delightful friend we have ever made.' Their volumes are alive with his personality." Pittsburgh

Another analysis of this picturesque and puzzling personality is provided in "Whistler" by James Laver (1930 Faber 15s). Illustrated with many reproductions

Two additional books on Whistler also by the Pennells are "The Whistler journal" (1921 Lippincott $8.50) the foundation from which the biography was built up, and "Whistler, the friend" (1930 Lippincott $2.50; 10s 6d) A story of the friendship of Whistler, Fantin-Latour, and Alphonse Legros

Bickley, Francis Lawrance

Pre-Raphaelite comedy. 1933 Holt $2.50; Constable 10s 759.2

1 Preraphaelitism [33-7073]

A history of the Pre-Raphaelite brotherhood from its beginnings in 1848 to about 1859. The chief names associated with the movement in this period are those of Holman Hunt, Rossetti, Millais, and Madox Brown. Illustrated with portraits of the artists and their friends

"A clear, straightforward account. . . It shows plenty of research, and in many points, by reference to unpublished letters, adds to our knowledge. Better still, the atmosphere of the book is pleasant, and one rises from reading it with the feeling that one has been among good companions." Christian science monitor

Johnson, Charles

English painting, from the seventh century to the present day. 1932 Dial press $5; Bell, G. 15s 759.2

1 Painting, English [32-19474]

"This is the first book on English painting to deal with the whole period from the Lindisfarne Gospels of the seventh century to the many schools of the present day. Most space is devoted to the great succession of landscape painters in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, whose work is England's most notable contribution to art. . . The book is liberally illustrated and indexed and provided with a bibliography." Book rev. digest

"His history is well proportioned. He does not waste space on the lesser men, and thus has room for instructive comment on the painters who really count." Spectator

A. J. Finberg's "English water colour painters" (1906 Duckworth 2s 6d) is a small book dealing with one branch of the subject

English edition has title: Time was

"Ellen Terry, his early idol, and Sarah Bernhardt figure largely in these fascinating reminiscences of an English artist, but the pages are crowded with other painters, actors, and authors of whom Mr. Robertson writes lightly and often humorously—among them Irving, Whistler, Sargent, Burne-Jones, Ada Rehan, Oscar Wilde. and Robert Browning." Pittsburgh

"Mr. Graham Robertson's charming, modest and attractive book is full of lovely figures, strange figures, great figures, but it is to the chapters about Ellen Terry that the book owes its unusual fascination . . . Mr. Robertson has known many of the most amusing people of his day. He writes of them all with judgment, and without malice, in a way refreshingly free from

Formerly carried also by Dodd

"A centenary biography. Rossetti, the poet, is considered as well as the painter. The book gives a good impression of the Pre-Raphaelites and aesthetes of the period, and Rossetti's relations to Millais, Holman Hunt, Ruskin, William Morris and others. There are numerous illustrations of his paintings." Boston

Winwar, Frances. Poor splendid wings; the Rossettis and their circle. 1933 Little $3.50 759.2

1 Preraphaelitism 2 Rossetti, Dante Gabriel 33-25225

"The chief distinction of . . . [this] biography of the Rossettis and their circle . . . lies in the rare combination of first-rate scholarship and the ability to write well. Without being a 'romanticized biography,' the book reads like a novel. Miss Winwar succeeded in capturing the youthful glow and fervor, and the peculiar charm, of the early Pre-Raphaelites." Boston

"A thoroughly intelligent re-creation of a glamorous period of English painting and poetry, and a book that presents the Pre-Raphaelites as vibrant human beings." Sat. rev. of lit.

Rossetti, Mrs Elizabeth Eleanor (Siddall)

Hunt, Violet. Wife of Rossetti; her life and death. 1932 Dutton $4; Lane 18s 759.2

1 Rossetti, Dante Gabriel 32-31596

This book is classified here because it is mainly interesting for material on Dante Rossetti and the Pre-Raphaelites

"The author, daughter of the artist Alfred Hunt, passed her youth in the shadow of the Pre-Raphaelite legend and she writes from full knowledge of Dante Gabriel Rossetti and his beautiful model, Elizabeth Siddall, who later became his wife. Ford Madox Brown, Holman Hunt, Burne-Jones, Millais, Morris and others of the Pre-Raphaelite brotherhood make the background for the picture of these ill-matched lovers, over whose troubled relations earlier biographers have drawn a discreet veil." Book rev. digest

"Miss Violet Hunt has woven a story which cannot be called a romance—for she has treated them with merciless realism. . . How far this clever and ingenious, though loosely written, book is to be regarded as a biography of Rossetti's wife, or how far it should be taken as a contribution to that mordant fiction in which Miss Hunt excels, each reader will judge for himself." 1 Artists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 31-26744

Reminiscences by a London artist who was companion and friend to almost all the notables in art and letters in London and Paris of his time. A volume rich in anecdotes. Among the names frequently recurring in these pages are Whistler, Swinburne, Sargent, Oscar Wilde, Max Beerbohm, Joseph Conrad, Augustus John, Gordon Craig, Bernard Shaw and W. H. Hudson

"As a personal revelation, as the chronicle of an epoch, as a finely planned and written book, 'Men and Memories' is an achievement. The printing, the beautiful paper, are worthy of the text. In content and in appearance it will be a collector's and student's hunting-ground. 1 Painters, German 12-6653

Contents: Early masters of the school of Cologne; Martin Schongauer; Albrecht Dürer; Hans Burgkmair, Hans Baldung, and Matthias Grünewald; Albrecht Altdorfer and the Nuremberg "Little masters"; Two Cranachs; Two Holbeins; Adam Elsheimer; Anton Raphael Mengs; Daniel Chodowiecki; Anton Graff

"The author has based his accounts largely upon the writings of Sandrart, the German Vasari." Cleveland

"The name of Dr Hans Singer is a guarantee of scholarly research, and his 'Stories of the German artists' is full of original and suggestive criticism. The chapter on the early masters, of whom so little is really known, is especially illuminating." Outlook [London]

A. C. Barnes and Violette De Mazia's "French primitives and their forms from their origin to the end of the fifteenth century" (1931 Barnes foundation press $5) is a comprehensive study of early French painting, tracing it from its beginnings in stained glass, frescoes, and miniatures. Illustrated

Two good popular historical surveys unfortunately out of print, 1933, are:
Bryant, Mrs L. M. French pictures and their painters. 1922 Dodd
Caffin, C. H. Story of French painting. 1911 Century

Clutton-Brock, Alan Francis
Introduction to French painting. 1932 Holt $2.50; Chapman 8s 6d 759.4
1 Painting, French 32-11779

A short volume on the development of painting in France. The first chapter deals with the Primitives, succeeding chapters with the work of artists from the sixteenth to the nineteenth century. Illustrated with 34 black and white reproductions of paintings

"Where Mr. Clutton-Brock differs from most other writers on the subject is in keeping to the fundamental, as distinct from the circumstantial, changes in French painting, and his book is as lucid in exposition as it is well founded in argument." Times (London) lit. sup.

Fry, Roger Eliot
Characteristics of French art. 1933 Coward-McCann $3.75; Chatto 12s 6d 759.4
1 Painting, French 33-6320

"Succeeds admirably in interpreting essentially French traits chiefly in the development of painting from Fouquet to Seurat. An awareness of actual life, an alertness in grasping the relations of things are, in the author's view, peculiar to the French artist. In brief, non-technical essays Mr. Fry sketches the main movements . . . and characterizes the individual artists." Boston

Modern French painters. 1923 Dodd $7.50; Lane 21s 759.4
1 Painting, French 2 Painters, French
3 Impressionism (Art)—1910- 23-9177

"Not for the expert, but for the ordinary man interested in art or for the art student. The author says, 'I have tried to give the ideas which lie behind the modern manifestations which are shown in the development of the new art in Paris and I want to show why art has taken the new form it has done.' Artists who have most definitely contributed to the new movement are included, such as Henri Rousseau and Vincent Van Gogh. Forty reproductions of paintings are given." St Louis

A good brief introduction to French impressionism is Camille Mauclair's "French impressionists, 1860-1900" (1903 Duckworth o.p. 1933) Fifty halftone illustrations

Masters of modern art. 1924 Viking press $3.50 759.4
1 Art—Hist. 2 Painting, French 24-28130

"An excellent introduction to the period which began with the French revolution. It traces the evolution of painting and sculpture from David and his uncompromising break with the eighteenth-century convention down to Braque and Picasso and their return from cubism to realism." N.Y. Tribune

"The present book offers in revised and considerably expanded form a series of articles which appeared in 'The freeman' (New York) during 1923." Contains 36 plates

Raynal, Maurice
Modern French painters; tr. by Ralph Roeder. Tudor $1.70 759.4
1 Painters, French 2 Painting, French
3 Impressionism (Art)—1910- 28-25752

A satisfactory cheap reprint of a book published in 1928 by Brentano's

"From the confusing mass of modernist painters in France M. Raynal has selected fifty 'who have sought to enrich the technic of their art and realize new conceptions of painting.' An introductory essay subdivides the school minutely, so elaborately indeed that it is evident that there is no coherent school at all, but merely so many diverging types of revolt against the Renaissance dogma of art as imitation of nature. There follows an alphabetical catalogue with biographical notices of the painters and citations from their sayings or writings about their ideals of work. This feature is very convenient for reference and introduces a number of interesting painters who are unknown or nearly so even to the up-to-date American amateur. At the end are about one hundred good half-tone cuts, generally two for each artist, alphabetically presented." Sat. rev. of lit.

"Modern French painting: The post-impressionists, from Monet to Bonnard" and its companion volume "The modernists, from Matisse to De Segonzac" by Adolphe Basler, and Charles Kunstler (1931 Payson, W. F. ea $2.50; Medici soc. 7s 6d) distinguish the various schools and give in each volume 72 illustrations which cover the field and are well selected

Underwood, Eric G.
* Short history of French painting. 1931 Oxford $3.50; 8s 6d 759.4
1 Painting, French 31-28606

"Mr. Underwood's contribution should fill the need for a book of handy size which covers the whole ground from the first beginnings up to the present day. It is easily written in extremely simple and non-technical language. Mr. Underwood has marshalled the facts about the lives and careers of the more considerable figures with care and detail. He has gone to some trouble in compiling a number of very useful aids to the study of French painting . . . Most people, too, will find the two last chapters, 'Other Painters since 1870' and 'Modern School of Paris,' extremely useful for their brief biographies." Spectator

Illustrated with 48 half-tone plates

R. H. Wilenski's "French painting" (1931 Hale $7.50; Medici soc. 30s) is another recommended book which covers the history of French painting from the fourteenth to the twentieth century, excluding living artists. It contains more than 200 illustrations. Two briefer works are "Introduction to French painting" by P. G. Konody, and Xenia Lathom (1932 Cassell 10s 6d) and Clive Bell's "Account of French painting" (1932 Harcourt $2.75; Chatto 7s 6d) a critical and historical introduction to French painting from the 12th to the 20th century

23-10477

"The well-known connoisseur and Cézanne enthusiast, and the author of this sketch of Cézanne's life and art tells us of the artist's school days and his friendship with Zola. . . He is not a critic of art, but a dealer in works of art. His method of valuation is quantitative and not qualitative, so that his Life and Art of Cézanne is of the order of 'ana' rather than of biography or criticism. Yet his brochure has an interest of its own which justifies its existence. M. Vollard has lived to see his faith (in Cézanne) justified and to reap the golden harvest which his shrewdness or his understanding or his intuition urged him to anticipate." Nation

Corot, Jean Baptiste Camille

Lafargue, Marc. Corot; tr. by Lindsay Wellington. (Masters of modern art) 1926 Dodd $2; Lane 5s 759.4

26-14379

A sketch (62p) of the life and work of Corot, with forty reproductions of his works

"Of value to artist and layman alike is the monograph on Corot in the admirable series, 'Masters of modern art.' Here at least are wit and a certain understanding of creative struggles, an unforced enthusiasm for paint and recognition of the fact that the artist is a man and not a phenomenon." Books (N.Y. A brief account of the life and work of Gauguin, with 40 illustrations

"Paul Gauguin, his life and art" by J. G. Fletcher (1921 Frank-Maurice) is a good biography unfortunately out of print, 1933

Paul Gauguin's "Noa noa" tr. from the French by O. F. Theis (1919 Brown, N. L. o.p. 1933) is a vivid account of the impression which the tropic splendor of Tahiti made on the painter, many of whose works were inspired by this locality

Matisse, Henri

Barnes, A. C., and De Mazia, Violette Art of Henri-Matisse. 1933 Scribner $5; 21s 759.4

33-2609

"Pursuing a laboratory method that is postulated upon the close relation between method and art, the authors of this exhaustive study of Matisse have produced a work that is of large usefulness in its clear statement of fundamentals of design. In thus tying up a specific painter with the whole field of creative art on what might be called its decorative side, they placed their subject in perspective with the modernist movement." Christian science monitor

"With one hundred and fifty-one illustrations from the artist's work, this is a desirable addition to the art collection of medium and larger libraries." Wis. bul.

"Henri-Matisse" (1931 Museum of modern art pa $2) the catalog of an exhibit, contains a critical introduction to his works, notes on his art by the artist himself, and reproductions of 161 works, paintings, drawings and sculpture

"Claude Monet" by Xenia Lathom (1931 Macmillan $5; Allan, P. 15s) is an interesting introduction to the artist's work with 24 plates of reproductions

Renoir, Auguste

Vollard, Ambroise. Renoir, an intimate record; tr. by H. L. Van Doren and R. T. Weaver. 1925 Knopf $3 759.4

25-21651

A biography by one of Renoir's personal friends. Contains twenty-six illustrations from his work

"His book is lively as an intimate conversation; it is in refreshing contrast with the ponderous eulogies issued in the name of art, which are made contributory to reputations of painters dead or not yet officially dead. M. Vollard gives us the feeling of a direct contact with a bright, active life." N.Y. Times

"Mrs. Taylor is a fit interpreter for this terrible yet tender spirit, this very modern mystic who would be flying now as well as philosophizing if he could revisit the glimpses of the moon. . . . Something of his invincible and virgin spirit, of his magic and mastery, has been set down for us by Mrs. Taylor. No one will ever see more than she has told us of that proud soul." Spectator

"The chief distinction . . . lies in the imaginative quality of the portraiture. One is swiftly carried on from picture to picture. One sees Florence and the men with whom Leonardo had intercourse. . . . One sees Milan and the court of Lodovico Sforza, with its brilliant women. One follows Leonardo to the Vatican, to the court of the French king. But everywhere he is secretly aloof. The biographer emphasizes the Hellenistic nature of his spirit, and a genius which seemed superhuman, but with a strain of the demoniac." Boston

1 Painting, Chinese 2 Painting, Japanese

24-26030

"An introduction to the history of pictorial art in Asia especially China and Japan." Subtitle

"His book is a notable one, comprehensive in its outlook, clear in its statements, and irrefragable in its philosophy." Dial

First published 1908. In this edition "a good deal of revision has been necessary." New material has been added especially in the chapters on early Chinese painting. Contains 41 plates in black and white

Bowie, Henry P.

On the laws of Japanese painting; an introduction to the study of the art of Japan. 1911 Elder $3 759.9E

1 Painting, Japanese 12-706

"Nine years of study with the best modern Japanese painters have given the author sufficient familiarity with the seventy-two important rules of Japanese art and of the general Japanese practice to enable him to make clear many points difficult to Europeans. Eight full-page illustrations, and fifty-four plates explanatory of the origin of Japanese art form and the application of Japanese academic theories." Bkl.

"Of all the works we have seen on Chinese art or the tributary art of Japan, we know of none which in an unpretentious and homely fashion is likely to be more immediately useful to European art students as an introductory handbook than this little volume." Athenaeum

Brown, Percy

Indian painting. (Heritage of India) 1918 Oxford $1; 3s 759.9E

1 Painting, Indian 19-12673

"This book is a presentation of all that is known of the history of painting in India, beginning with an account of the frescoes at Ajanta. The illustrations serve their purpose excellently." Nation

"Frescoes of Diego Rivera" (1933 Museum of modern art $15) contains 19 color plates and 15 in monotone of Mexican frescoes by this artist. Notes by Jere Abbott are included

760 ENGRAVING

Thomas Bewick's "Memoir, written by himself, 1822-28" (1925 Dial press $4) the autobiography of an important wood-engraver, illustrated from his own work, is interesting also as an illuminating picture of the times

A. M. Brooks's "From Holbein to Whistler" (1920 Yale univ. press $7.50; Oxford 32s 6d) is a beautiful, well-illustrated book which presents the history of drawing, engraving and etching

An excellent series, each volume of which is illustrated with eight large mounted color plates is "Masters of the colour print" (Studio ea $2; ea 5s) Books on the following artists are now (1932) obtainable: Debucourt, Giles, Lord, Hiroshige, Hokusai, Roth, J. R. Smith, Verpilleux and Elizabeth Keith

Chicago. Art institute

Catalogue of a Century of progress exhibition of prints. 1933 Art institute of Chicago pa 50c 760

1 Engravings 33-14266

"Will be useful . . . for art collections. The exhibition is not limited to American art, but is made up of masterpieces, both foreign and American, from art galleries and private collections. . . Has a brief explanation of processes, and a survey of print making during the past hundred years. Illustrated with thirty-four plates." Bkl.

Clayton, Muriel

Print collector. 1930 Dodd $4; Jenkins 10s 6d 760

1 Engraving—Hist. 2 Engravings [30-3772]

An English guide-book for the amateur collector. Each branch of engraving and etching is treated and the work of its foremost exponents discussed. Contains very little material on American prints

"This is an admirable little book, fresh and lively in style, not without humour, and composed with a good regard to proportion . . . A short, but careful bibliography, an excellent index, and illustrations of unusually fine quality complete the attractions of a book which may well tempt readers who have never yet bought a print to start on a career of collecting." Sat. rev. of lit.

"Point-lover's hundred; first series" edited by Fitzroy Carrington (1932 Rudge $2) is a book for the collector rather than the general reader. It contains a selection of prints from the fifteenth to the twentieth century, arranged by countries and chronologically

Drepperd, Carl W.

Early American prints. (Century lib. of American antiques) 1930 Appleton-Century $4; 15s 760

1 Engravings 2 Lithographs, American 30-10916

"A book for collectors on the art of engraving in America from colonial times to the Civil war. The author deals in chronological order with various print-making processes. There are chapters on the golden age of American engraving, the development of Currier and Ives prints, book and magazine illustrations, and early American caricatures." Book rev. digest

The book by Drepperd has enough on Currier and Ives prints for the average small library but if more material is needed Russel Crouse's "Mr Currier and Mr Ives; a note on their lives and times" (1930 Doubleday, Doran $5) is recommended. "Spirit of America," "Red Indian," "Clipper ships" and "Early steamships," (Currier and Ives prints nos. 1-4) are the first four volumes of a series each volume of which will contain eight colored reproductions (1930-33 Studio ea $2; ea 5s)

Hind, Arthur Mayger

History of engraving & etching from the 15th century to the year 1914. 1923 Houghton $12; Constable 42s 760

1 Engraving—Hist. 2 Engravers 23-11637

"Being the third and fully revised edition of 'A short history of engraving and etching' with frontispiece in photogravure and 110 illustrations in the text." Title page

A useful and interesting work. In this edition the most considerable revisions and additions have been made in the chapter on modern etching. The general bibliography has been enlarged and new names added to the index of engravers. Contains three appendices: Classified list of engravers (p343-92); General bibliography (p393-419); Index of engravers (p420-87)

Hubbard, Eric Hesketh

(ed.) How to distinguish prints, written and illustrated by members of the Print society. (Print society publications no. 3) 1926 Forest press 21s 760

1 Engravings 2 Engraving—Technique 26-9667

"This is an interesting and well-planned book, finely printed and fairly well illustrated, but it is, perhaps, rather large for its simple purpose, which is to teach the student or the collector the difference between the various kinds of prints and the processes which produce them." Times (London) lit. sup.

"The first chapter is a short history of the invention of methods used in producing prints. Next are notes by artists who practice the ways they describe, with illustrations of their own work. In the glossary are definitions of terms used, as well as German and French words." Providence

Ivins, William Mills

Prints and books; informal papers. 1926 Harvard univ. press $5; Oxford 21s 760

1 New York. Metropolitan museum of art 2 Engravings 3 Illustrated books 4 Wood engravings 5 Decoration and ornament 26-10857

"The papers here collected bring forth topics from the whole range of the history of the graphic arts, from all periods and all branches of the graphic arts." Sat. rev. of lit.

"These papers by the curator of prints in the Metropolitan museum of art are a happy combination of scholarship, insight and informal literary skill." New republic

"Notes on prints," prepared by W. M. Ivins for a special exhibition at the Metropolitan museum of art (1930 The museum $2.50, pa $2; Quaritch 11s, pa 9s) contains illustrations in half tone which are full page reproductions of prints and book illustrations from the 15th to the 20th century, with informal comments

Lutz, Edwin George

* Practical engraving and etching. 1933 Scribner $2; 7s 6d 760

1 Engraving 2 Etching 3 Aquatint 33-29177

"A book of instruction in the art of making linoleum blocks, wood-engravings, woodcuts made on the plank, etchings and aquatints." Subtitle

"The first half of the book describes materials, tools and processes used in engraving, including information about chiaroscuro prints, color prints and Japanese block prints, color prints and Japanese block prints; the second half deals with etching. Illustrations picture tools and methods as well as types of engraving and etching. For the beginner." Wis. bul.

Pennell, Joseph

Graphic arts; modern men and modern methods. 1921 Univ. of Chicago press $5 760

1 Illustration of books 2 Etching 3 Etchers 4 Lithography 5 Lithographers 22-2229

The Scammon lectures for 1920 published for the Art institute of Chicago

"In the first two lectures the author considers illustration in its beginnings and modern developments, discussing the great illustrators and their methods. The next two lectures are devoted to etching and the etchers, and the last two to lithography and its methods." Book rev. digest

"The vivacious and at times pugnacious nature of the comments on artists and their work keeps the reader interested to the last page. The copious illustration of the book is for the most part happily chosen." Outlook

Weitenkampf, Frank

* American graphic art. new ed rev and enl 1924 Macmillan $4; 17s 760

1 Engraving 2 Illustration of books 24-12503

First published 1912. In the new edition material which helps only the special investigator has been dropped. The whole work has been revised and brought down to date. Many illustrations and an 8 page bibliography
